STATEMENT BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR

His Excellency Mr. John Owen: That marks the end of the administration of Oaths and Affirmations to the newly elected representatives.

Before I leave, I want to refer briefly to the electoral process, the voters and the new Members of the Legislative Assembly.

The election process, from start to finish, ran smoothly and efficiently. This does not happen by chance; this is a direct result of months of hard work by the Supervisor of Elections and his staff. I congratulate him and his team of dedicated volunteers for ensuring that candidates and voters have full confidence in the integrity of Cayman's electoral process.

I want to particularly congratulate the people of the Cayman Islands, the voters of the Cayman Islands, for the high turnout at the polls of over 85%. You are an example to the world of a people who understand the importance of exercising your democratic right to vote.

Finally, to the Elected Representatives, congratulations on your success. The voters have placed a special trust and confidence in each one of you. This puts a heavy responsibility on your shoulders. Not only for those who voted for you, but for all of the people of these islands, serve them well. God bless you all. Thank you.

DEPARTURE OF HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR

*Serjeant-at-Arms
His Excellency the Governor
ADC
Chief Justice*

Clerk: I invite the Reverend Harris Spence to say prayers.

PRAYERS

Rev. Harris Spence: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived; we beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, the Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that they may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of their high office. All this we ask for Thy Great Name's sake.

Together let us pray the Lord's Prayer.

Our Father, who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done, on earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread; and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil; For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine to upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

(Pause) If there are no further nominations, it gives me great pleasure to welcome Capt. Mabry Kirkconnell to be the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of the Cayman Islands.

[Hon. Mabry S. Kirkconnell, MBE, JP, Speaker, in the Chair]

NOMINATION AND ELECTION OF FIVE MINISTERS TO EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

The Speaker: The next item on our Order Paper is the Election of five Ministers to Executive Council. The procedure for this item is laid down under section 5 of the Constitution and under Standing Order 5 of the Orders of this House which govern the proceedings. The Chair proposes, subject to there being no objections, for Members to appoint the First Official Member and the Third Official Member as scrutineers if a ballot is required.

I now put the question that the Honourable First and Third Official Members be appointed scrutineers for the election. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it. The Honourable First and Third Official Members are appointed scrutineers for the election.

AGREED: THE HONOURABLE FIRST AND THIRD OFFICIAL MEMBERS APPOINTED SCRUTINEERS FOR THE BALLOT COUNT.

The Speaker: Before I call for nominations to the Executive Council, I crave the indulgence of members of the public gallery.

I am aware that the general Election, the outcome of which we witnessed on the 20th and 21st of this month, is being eagerly celebrated. The results of this election are also eagerly awaited. But I must ask that everyone refrain from any comments, sounds or other expressions of jubilation or disappointment.

This is a very serious matter, and the process can be more fluid if members of the general public desist from any manner of audible expression. I can assure you that at the appropriate time an opportunity will be given for you to manifest your agreement.

I shall now call for nominations to the Executive Council by voice. Each nomination will require a mover and a seconder. I should say at this time that the names of Honourable Members will be used rather than districts. Members are aware that normally in this Honourable House you are referred to by districts, i.e., the First Elected Member for George Town, or Second or Third; but on this occasion, for clarity, we will refer to Members by name. This will avoid any misunderstanding by the general public.

We are now open for Nominations to the Executive Council.

Mr. Roy Boddan: Mr. Speaker, I respectfully nominate Mr. Linford A. Pierson.

The Speaker: Mr. Linford A. Pierson has been nominated. Is there a seconder for that?

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I beg to second that, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Mr. Linford Pierson.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I respectfully beg to nominate Mr. Kurt Tibbetts.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: I beg to nominate Mr. McKeeva Bush.

The Speaker: Mr. McKeeva Bush has been nominated. Is there a seconder? Mr. Dalmain Ebanks.

Mr. D. Dalmain Ebanks: I beg to second that nomination.

Miss Heather D. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I beg to nominate Mr. Anthony Eden.

The Speaker: Mr. Anthony Eden has been nominated. Is there a seconder? Mr. Bush.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 10.50 AM

(Preparation of Ballot Papers)

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 11.00 AM

SECRET BALLOT

The Speaker: Please be seated.

I will now ask the Honourable First and Third Official Members to take their place at the Clerk's Table. We will then distribute the ballots to all Members.

I will now say a few words about the procedure. I think I am right in saying that there are nine persons who have been duly nominated. The procedure for this election is that (and this I am saying for the benefit of the public) the Standing Orders decide or declare that we shall have a ballot. Members will vote by secret ballot, and the Clerk is handing out the names of those who have been nominated and seconded.

Under the present Constitution there are five Members to be elected, so you will only vote for five Members. You should not sign your paper. There should be no mark other than the 'X' on your papers. Your papers should not be identifiable. I am suggesting that perhaps you may fold the paper so that it will remain a secret ballot.

The Serjeant will then return the box to the Clerk in front of the two Scrutineers. The Clerk and the two Scrutineers will count the number of votes. They will then pass the list to the Chair for reading out. If there are five of the nominated Members receiving a clear majority of votes over the others, then those five will be declared duly elected.

This is how I plan to carry out the proceedings, and I ask that the gallery remain as quiet as possible.

The Speaker: If all Members have now completed their vote, I would ask the Serjeant to collect them in the box. Please fold your papers small enough so that they fit easily into the Ballot Box.

Will the Scrutineers begin the count?

Hon. James M. Ryan: (The Honourable Member read out the result of each Ballot Paper.)

The Speaker: The scrutineers may take their seats.

I shall now read out the number of votes received by each nominee:

RESULTS OF THE BALLOT

Mr. Roy Bodden	3 votes
Mr. Linford A. Pierson	3 votes
Mr. W. McKeeva Bush	11 votes
Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts	3 votes
Mr. Anthony S. Eden	10 votes
Mr. Thomas C. Jefferson	10 votes
Mr. John B McLean	8 votes
Mr. Truman M Bodden	9 votes
Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly	4 votes

DECLARATION OF ELECTED MEMBERS TO EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

The Speaker: I therefore declare the following Members elected to Executive Council, and ask them to take their seats on the Government Bench. At that time you may show your appreciation by applause:

- Hon. W. McKeeva Bush
- Hon. Anthony S. Eden
- Hon. Thomas C Jefferson
- Hon. John B. McLean
- Hon. Truman M. Bodden

(Applause)

The Speaker: I have called these names as they were listed on the ballot paper, not necessarily by the number of votes received. If the Honourable Members want to seat themselves according to the votes received, that is for their discretion.

Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

THE HOUSE WAS SUSPENDED AT 11.16 AM

THE HOUSE RESUMED AT 11.56 AM

NOMINATIONS FOR ELECTION OF MEMBERS TO THE STANDING PUBLIC ACCOUNTS COMMITTEE

The Speaker: Please be seated. The next order of business will be the nomination of Members to the Standing Public Accounts Committee. This is a Standing Committee which exists under Standing Order 74 (2), therefore there is no need for a motion to be created.

First of all, I will ask the Honourable First Official Member to read the terms of reference of the Standing Public Accounts Committee.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Standing Order 74 (1) deals with the terms of reference for the Public Accounts Committee. It reads as follows:

"74 (1) There shall be a standing select committee, to be styled the Public Accounts Committee, to consider reports of the Auditor General -

- (a) on the accounts of the Government;
- (b) on such other accounts required to be laid before the House as the Committee may think fit; and
- (c) on any matter incidental to the performance of his duties or the exercise of his powers as the Committee may think fit.

(3) Upon its receipt by the presiding officer, a report mentioned in paragraph (1) shall be deemed to have been referred by the House to the Public Accounts Committee for consideration and shall forthwith be distributed on a confidential basis to all Members."

Mr. Speaker, that covers the terms of reference. There are other sections pertaining to the operational side, but that effectively covers the terms of reference.

The Speaker: Thank you, Honourable Member.

"73A. (1) There shall be a Standing Select Committee to be styled the Register of Interests Committee for the consideration of matters relating to the Register of Interests referred to it by the Registrar of Interests.

(2) The Committee shall consist of nine Members including the Chairman. The Chairman shall be nominated or elected in accordance with the provision of Standing Order 69(2). [Standing Order 69(2) simply says, "The Presiding Officer may nominate the Chairman of a Select Committee from among its own Members. If he does not make a nomination the Committee shall elect one of the Members to be Chairman."]

(3) The quorum of the Committee shall be five Members including the Chairman.

(4) The Committee shall be appointed at the beginning of a new session following a general election."

NOMINATIONS

The Speaker: I shall now call for nominations to the Register of Interests Committee.

The Honourable Anthony Eden.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Mr. Speaker, I beg to second the Motion.

The Speaker: Are there any other nominations? We have four names nominated.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I nominate Mrs. Edna Moyle to that Committee.

The Speaker: The other Member nominated is Mrs. Edna Moyle.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I second that, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Are there any further nominations?

If not, I move that Mr. Truman Bodden, Miss Heather Bodden, Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly, Mr. Dalmain Ebanks and Mrs. Edna Moyle be appointed to the Standing Business Committee.

Mr. Truman Bodden will be Chairman.

The Speaker: The next item is Government Motion No. 2, Appointment of the Standing House Committee. That will consist of five Members.

The Honourable First Official Member.

GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 2

APPOINTMENT OF STANDING HOUSE COMMITTEE

Hon. James M. Ryan: Thank You, Mr. Speaker. I beg to move Government Motion No. 2 in connection with the appointment of Members to the Standing House Committee. The Motion reads as follows:

The Speaker: I will now ask for nominations to the Standing House Committee.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Mr. Speaker, I beg to nominate the following persons to the Standing House Committee:

1. Miss Heather Bodden
2. Dr. Frank McField
3. Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly
4. Mr. Linford Pierson
5. Mr. Roy Bodden.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr. Speaker, I beg to second the nominations.

The Speaker: Five Members have been duly nominated and seconded. I declare these Members elected as members of the Standing House Committee, and I will ask that they appoint a Chairman at their first meeting under the guidance of the longest serving Member of this Honourable Legislature.

The next order of Business is Government Motion No. 3, Advance Expenditure prior to the Appropriation Bill, 1997.

The Honourable Third Official Member.

GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 3

ADVANCE EXPENDITURE PRIOR TO THE APPROPRIATION BILL, 1997

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Speaker, I beg to move Government Motion No. 3 dealing with Advance Expenditure prior to the Appropriation Bill, 1997.

I would like to preface the terms of the Motion with the following remarks.

As this is an election year, the Budget for 1997 will not be presented to this House until March of next year. As a result, this Motion seeks to obtain the necessary authority in order to incur the expenditure by various Government Departments for the period the 1st of January until the Budget is presented, which should be before the 31st of March.

The sum total being requested here represents approximately one-quarter of the 1996 Recurrent Budget, however a sum of $3.5 million is also being sought under Capital. This is to cover, in part, expenditures relating to continuing projects which will be carried over from 1996, and will be kept into 1997. These projects will be kept active until the Budget is presented.

The terms of the Motion are:

"BE IT RESOLVED that this House, acting in accordance with the provisions of section 7(1) of the Public Finance and Audit Law, 1985, in advance of an Appropriation Law, authorises the expenditure of CI$48,227,917 for the services of the Government in respect of the 1997 financial year, the sum to be charged on revenue in accordance with the Public Finance and Audit Law, 1985, and to be used for the purposes detailed in the Schedule –

PORTFOLIO OF FINANCE AND DEVELOPMENT

Head 13. Portfolio of Finance and Development	$ 6,211,972
Head 14. Financial Services Supervision	NIL

The reason for this 'Nil' provision is because the Financial Services Supervision together with the Currency Board are being rolled up into the Monetary Authority which will become operational as at first of January, 1997. Accordingly, this $6.2 million includes approximately $1.3 million which will be going towards the Authority, also the Stock Exchange.

Specifically, inclusive in the sum for Finance and Development is approximately $941,000, as I mentioned earlier. Of this, approximately $689,000 will be to meet the expenditure relating to ongoing operational costs, while $252,350 will be to cover the cost of furnishings; $390,733 is being provided in order to fund the operational cost of the setting up of the Stock Exchange. These two amounts total $1.3 million, which is included in that sum.

To be allocated under various items appearing under Capital Acquisition is a total of $1 million, and under Capital Development, $2,500,000. The sum that is being sought is $3.5 million under Capital. The total recurrent from Capital Expenditure requirements, for which approval is being sought at this time, amounts to $48,227,917.

A Member asked earlier if an update on Government's financial position would be given at this time. It is not normal for this to be done at the seeking of approval for allowing an advanced warrant in relation to expenditure in the subsequent year. However, there will be a meeting of Finance Committee which will be held, hopefully within the next fortnight. At that time, all of the information being sought by the Members of this Honourable House will be provided.

Thank you.

The Speaker: Government Motion No. 3, has been duly moved and is now open for debate.

Mr. Roy Boddén.

Mr. Roy Boddén: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Notwithstanding that this is an election year, and it is customary for these kinds of advanced accounts to be requested, I have to remark that in my tenure, sir, this has been the largest such request.

I also wish to say that it is unfortunate that, having such short notice, we have been requested to vote these funds, when we do not know what the current financial position is. I want to say that, responsibly, I have to vote this request; but I want to make my position known: My support in no way means that this is the kind of behaviour that I am prepared to tolerate in the future.

I will recognise that the Government must be in a position to continue, and that March is still some months away and we have commitments. I, again, take this opportunity to say that we in the Cayman Islands Government must seek to change our system from a cash system to an accrual system if we are to get better and sounder financial management.

That is my position. I have echoed that before. Indeed, in the previous Parliament I brought a Motion to the House. I lay out this as a challenge to the National Team Government to seriously consider in the upcoming Budget Session.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I will briefly comment on this Motion, and in so doing I would like to say that I support the Motion. I am quite aware of the procedure that has to be followed, having been a Member of Executive Council myself, and also a Deputy Financial Secretary.

I am comforted by the fact that the Honourable Third Official Member has given the assurance that the official financial position of this Government will be given in a fortnight's time in Finance Committee, since there have, indeed, been so many versions of what the correct financial position is.

In providing that information I would hope to see the adjusted Surplus and Deficit Account, which would include the amendments recommended by the Auditor General in his Report on the 1995 Accounts, as well as the true position of the General Reserves and the public debt figure.

There are just one or two items which concern me. Under the Portfolio of Finance and Development, item 18: I am somewhat concerned as to what the $3.2 million represent, and whether that is, in fact, to cover the overdraft position of Government. Item 38, under the Ministry of Education and Aviation, of almost $5 million also creates some concern.

I am surprised that we are asking for additional funds of $44 million when Government has been telling the public that they have some $60.3 million in recurrent surplus. I thought it would have been very easy to have taken $44 million from that.

Nonetheless, I am pleased to support this Motion.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Boddén: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I shall be short. I will deal first with the points that have been raised. First, this House has just been convened for a matter of an hour and a half. Therefore, to the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town, there could be no more notice given because there was no House to give notice to. There were no Members of the Legislative Assembly. Taking the point on notice, this is now an impossibility. I mention that to the Member.

This is not, as the Third Elected Member for George Town said, 'extra money'. All this is, is an appropriation into next year, because there will be no Legislative Assembly and no budget coming until February. If this is not voted, then there is no money to pay civil servants or to do anything else. It is not 'extra money'. This is a part of next year's budget, and it will be for the first quarter, because during that period we will be able to bring the budget, in February, possibly.

It is not unusual, Mr. Speaker. This is done every four years at this time, and it is a common sense approach. You have no money for the first quarter of the year. What are you going to pay civil servants with?

Beyond that, what is normally done, and this was a matter for the Honourable Financial Secretary, is that a quarter's amount of money is appropriated from January to 31st March. It is not extra money.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Is there any further debate? The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I rise in support of this Motion also. I would merely like to make a brief comment. I would anticipate a larger vote for the Sister Islands Administration for the last three-quarters of the year. I trust that the indication for the first quarter is by no means a fraction of the annual allocation.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Elected Member of Executive Council.

Hon. John B. McLean: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

First of all, let me publicly welcome you to the Chair. I look forward to working with you for the next four years.

Mr. Speaker, the Motion before us to deal with the finances of this country is nothing new. Unless certain Members believe that the Government should shut down right now and not continue.... It is unfortunate that this sort of attitude is displayed in our very first meeting. I think it shows us the trend they will go on. The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town has been in here a long time, and should realise by now that when there is a change in Government we have a gap that has to be dealt with.

I would like to commend the Honourable Financial Secretary for coming forward with this Motion allowing the services of this country to continue. At this point in time we cannot afford to do anything which will rock the boat. I trust and hope that from now on what we are trying to do here will be understood, and that we will not have a repeat of this, especially on the first day.

The Speaker: If there is no debate, I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 3 PASSED.

The Speaker: Before I call for a motion for the adjournment, I would like to express my appreciation on behalf of the House to those in the public gallery for their kind attention, and for the good behaviour we have seen here today.

I ask the Honourable First Official Member if he would move the adjournment.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. James M. Ryan: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I beg to move that this Honourable House do now adjourn Sine Die.

The Speaker: The question is that the House do now adjourn. But before I put the question, I am sure that Honourable Members would like to take this opportunity, some in making their first speech in this Legislative Assembly, to express their appreciation. At this time I would like to give that opportunity to any Member who wishes to speak.

The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I would like to welcome you to your new and exalted position, and to pledge my support and cooperation. You will recall that in an earlier Parliament, I supported you for the position of Deputy Speaker. I hold you in the highest regard, and you can expect my conduct to be of such a nature.

I would like to begin by thanking God for giving me the grace, the strength and the will to once again put myself in the position to come forward to represent my people. Secondly, I would like to thank the people of Bodden Town who displayed wisdom, good sense and confidence in my service. I would like to say that I will continue, with God's help, to serve them to the best of my ability. I look forward to working to bring them the best representation I can.

My position in this Legislative Assembly at this time is a little different from four years ago, but I have to proclaim at the outset that I see myself as an Opposition Member. In the Westminster System, the position of Opposition Member (Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition is how it is referred to) is a very important position because it is the Opposition that holds the Government to account.

I am but an ordinary Member of the Legislative Assembly, and I can only convey to the Government the requests, wishes and desires of my constituents. I shall continue to do that, as I have in the past. It is up to the Government whether these requests will be granted.

I have, in the past, carried out my duties responsibly with dignity and decorum. I intend to continue that. I intend to argue when it is necessary, and to conduct myself within the confines and parameters of civil debate. But I do not for one moment promise anyone that I am going to cave in and be run rough-shod over, irrespective of the numbers the Government has. I have never been afraid of putting forward my point of argument, even when it was unpopular. I shall always continue to stand for what I believe is right and proper.

We have just finished a taxing election campaign in which we had the full gamut of all things, such as mudslinging and personal castigation. At one stage we even had the masquerading of a rat! I do not know what significance that bore in the ability or inability of a person or persons to be selected to represent constituents in Parliament. I suppose to some it was intended to be humorous. I have to say that I do not have such a puerile sense of humour. I take the dimmest view of such tomfoolery.

I reserve my most serious comment, however, for that kind of action which leads one to destroy paraphernalia and aids of others. In a system which touts responsibility, I have to wonder if we are going to tolerate such behaviour, irrespective of not wanting our opponents to win. I want to be clear and unequivocal that I view this kind of malicious behaviour as but the beginning of political violence, and I want to say that I cannot stand to condone that kind of behaviour.

I believe that as educated, responsible, upright people who set ourselves up for leadership, we have to find more sensible and acceptable ways of expressing our dislike or opposition to people who stand and vie for the same office.

The Caribbean is scattered rife with examples of political behaviour which we should not emulate. I say that there is no office in the land worth our making those kinds of sacrifices. I hope that it is the beginning and the end.

We all tout that we are a democracy. I believe that we are, irrespective of the differences of opinion among us. But I have to express my concern that the issues which I believe affect this country going into the 21st Century were only aired by a few. Certainly, this election campaign should have been fought on a far broader number of issues than it was. Maybe the National Team knew something that the rest of us did not know when they fought the campaign solely on their record of the past four years; while, at the same time, left issues which beg answers for the future unspoken of.

I am talking about issues that we often hear about, like corruption in society, dredging, the reckless spending and fiscal responsibility of the Government, short notice on Bills, intimidation, and the politicisation of the Civil Service. In my opinion, far too little attention was paid to these issues in the last election.

We can see that the composition of Standing Committees, as far as the Parliament is concerned, shows no change - because the Public Accounts Committee which, according to Erskine May, should be headed by an Opposition Member, has no opposition Member in it.

We, as Elected Members, have to find a way to work with the Government; but the responsibility goes beyond the precincts of this Parliament and, indeed, great responsibility lies with the media. Somebody called it the 'fourth estate'. I am disillusioned at the coverage and the obvious bias of the media during the last campaign. I would hasten to say, particularly the printed media. We cannot have a thriving democracy if bias and disregard is exhibited toward some element. Whether some people think they are fringe elements or not, as long as they operate within the confines of the law, they deserve to be mentioned and not taken for granted.

Like many other Members in this Chamber this morning, I was somewhat surprised by what I call the banishing of the previous Speaker. We were under the impression that a situation existed where things would have been different. I can only say that I hope it was not as a result of high-handedness on the part of the National Team or any other entity. Mr. Speaker, I look forward with interest to a sensible and acceptable explanation. I think the country is owed such.

In the final analysis let me conclude with a Biblical reference: The prophet Habakkuk lived in a time much like our own. Public corruption, social injustice and chaotic violence were the order of the day. In frustration he pleaded to God for some clarity and direction. He climbed up a tower to wait and to listen until he finally heard a clear word. The prophet wrote, and I am quoting from Habakkuk 2:2-3 (The Revised Standard Version), "And the LORD answered me, and said, 'Write the Vision, and make it plain upon tablets, that he [or she] may run who reads it. For still, the vision awaits its time. It hastens to the end. It will not lie. If it seems slow, wait for it; it will surely come. It will not delay.'"

"The vision awaits its time..." Today the visions we most need have not yet appeared, or have appeared but have been snuffed out. The next four years will prove that the National Team Government is not what this country deserves.

Thank you.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member of Executive Council.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr. Speaker, perhaps I can declare myself too. I am a Minister of the Government.

Once again, the people of these islands have spoken - and very loudly, indeed! They have given all of us the opportunity to serve them for four long years. The voice of the people is the voice of God. This is a great privilege given to us, but an awesome responsibility. It means and demands nothing less than the giving of the whole self.

Regardless of what is said, we live in a wonderful country. The great Creator has richly blessed our Cayman Islands. In a time of strained nerves, we forgot about our democratic process and, significantly, no guns were shot, no tanks rolled in the streets, no demonstrations, except for symbolic sweeping of streets - meaning a clean sweep for that particular district.

Yes, in these times our people are a blessed people. While some tension was in the air at times, we must now all move forward to forget the campaign and build the bridges to the 21st Century and prepare our people, this country, for the 21st Century.

Fifteen of us, chosen as we are, must now do the things we promised. We must do it without interference of selfish agendas.

I want to thank those Members who elected me once again to serve as one of the Ministers. I promise this House and these islands to work as hard in the next four years as I did in the past. But we must join hands and work together. This is what it will take to cure those problems spoken of.

From where I stand, there are several major issues which must and will be addressed as a priority in my Ministry. Training - We must complete our plans and begin a joint Ministerial strategy to train our people to meet the needs of the future. This strategy will continue in partnership with the private sector, but one and all must understand that we must do what is necessary to train those Caymanians who are handicapped in their upward mobility.

Housing - We must come to grips with several schemes to afford our people in the lower income bracket the chance of owning a home. Mr. Speaker, I know what it is to need good shelter; I know what it is to be under a leaky roof. God willing, and with the help of the National Team and the independents in the House, regardless of political flair, we will continue to build schemes to assist our people.

In Culture, we will make the necessary changes so that our culture is not overshadowed by any other so that our people are more aware of it. This includes the completion of the writing of a new history of these islands for which preparation was recently started.

There is the expectation of better wages in the hotel industry. No longer should anyone expect to pay $2.90, or $3.90 per hour for ten years without a raise. This will be rectified. The Minimum Wage Advisory Committee, which was set up some time ago, will continue its work on this matter soon. Coupled with that will be an initiative to stop the blatant stealing of gratuities which belong to our people. This has been a rough road for my Ministry and the Government, but we will do what is necessary to come to grips with it. I invite, not only our Backbenchers, but all Members to join hands in this matter.

We will address the needs and changes that will be highlighted in the study on the Caymanian family and the crime study which has been completed. The Sports Office will be restructured into a Sports and Recreation Department. More emphasis will be placed on the maintaining of sporting facilities and enhancement of programmes. We will seek to secure the financial assistance now given to our elderly by putting in place a Law to guarantee its continuance.

These are the major priorities of my Ministry over the next four years. These are the bread-and-butter issues of this country; ones that we must not neglect.

In the broader scheme of things, and for those issues which do not fall within my Ministry, is an Immigration Policy that seeks to satisfy our people both in the protection of their business and safeguarding these islands for the future; a policy which also contains common sense and is humane to those who must live here amongst us. I hope that a Committee of this House will be put in place early next year to take on this task.

I also will do what I can to support the Governor and the Civil Service in the public sector reform, or the 'Re-invention' (as it is better called) that is taking place at this time.

I believe that we have good civil servants. Whether I can get along with anyone in particular is not the important matter. But what counts is that performance is given to these islands for the job before the Civil Service. They always have my support and they will continue to have it. Where changes need to be made, they will have to be made.

I believe that we do have to thank God that we do have such a high calibre of people in our Civil Service in middle management, mainly, and in the top bracket. Of course, they could not do their job without those at the lower level.

The specter of dredging has not only caused in this House... and I am not going to refer to anything anybody said anymore than this particular matter. When it came down to the closing days of the campaign in West Bay, there were some dirty tactics, as usual. Not only in West Bay, it was seen all over. The perpetrators know who they are, but they did not hurt us because the people of this country know truth from fiction. As the old people used to say, they know who is who - who they can trust from who they cannot. People spoke in loud terms in my constituency.

As for dredging, I do not know where they are going to get fill from, or how they will carry on development. Those of us, and I include myself now, who are against it will have to come to grips with it. But it will not be the North Sound that will be dredged. The Governor has said that from a long time ago. The National Team made it a campaign promise, and we will retain that. My constituency would be the hardest hit in any catastrophe emanating from damage in that North Sound. So let one and all understand where McKeever Bush sits on this issue. I have never been afraid to say what I believe and to stand up for what I believe in. They will have to come to grips with what they want done in development.

I also have a dream to see these islands become what I term the Hong Kong of the Caribbean in terms of business. We will continue putting in place the structures which we already started, such as the Stock Exchange and the Monetary Authority; beefing up our regulatory systems to assure the International Business Community that we are serious about quality business.

Certainly, in building for the 21st Century we must follow some kind of plan, that is, short-term, medium-term or long-term, that we can realistically work toward. Last, but certainly not least, we must put our heads together to come up with ways and means of finding revenue to supply all of the needs of the people. This is, perhaps, one of our greatest challenges, for who can deny the people of these islands roads? Who can deny schools? Who can deny medical and recreational facilities? All of these things call for money. Prioritise, they say. We will wait and see who comes with the longest shopping list.

These are the challenges that lie ahead, as far as I am concerned. It is our job to enlist the will of the people so that they understand what it is that we are doing for them, and so that we can take them along with us. Yes, there will be challenging times ahead.

I wish to express my deepest gratitude for the confidence that the people of West Bay put in me. To get 77.5% of the votes cast says something about a record. I do not want to do any less in the next four years than I have in the past 12. I will not let the people of West Bay down, nor will I shy away from the responsibility to assist in the governance of these islands through this Executive Council. My door will always be open. I will always be the same McKeever Bush. There is a tremendous amount of work to be done. We must now get on with it.

I pray to God, too, Mr. Speaker and Honourable Members, that "swords will be turned into pruning hooks." As for me, "The woods are lonely," sometimes, "dark and deep. But I have promises to keep, and miles to go before I sleep. Miles to go before I sleep."

Thank you for your indulgence, and I thank all Members for supporting me for this Executive Council.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

First of all, let me offer my congratulations to you, Mr. Speaker, on your election as Speaker of this Honourable House. I believe that with your knowledge and experience, and your sense of fair play, you will do an outstanding job as Speaker. I look forward to working along with you over the next four years in this Parliament.

I also want to say thanks to our former Speaker, Mrs. Sybil McLaughlin, for her six years as Speaker; and also to say what an outstanding job she did while serving in that exalted position. I want to say to Mrs. McLaughlin, that I wish her all the best in her future endeavours, and may God continue to bless her richly.

I also want to say a big 'thank you' to the people of West Bay for electing me for a third term as one of their representatives and for re-electing our team as a whole. I want to say that I am proud of the people of West Bay for their loyalty and the confidence they have shown in our National Team Members for West Bay. I promise my people of West Bay that I will continue to work together with the National Team and our Team from West Bay, to look out for their interests and to provide the services that we need as a district and a country as a whole.

I also want to say thanks to the Caymanian people who have spoken so loudly in this election in re-electing a majority of the National Team members. This enabled us to once again put together a Government to lead this country in the right direction. I also want to acknowledge my three National Team colleagues, Mrs. Berna Thompson-Murphy, Dr. Steve Tomlinson and Mr. Tony Powell who were not successful at the polls. We still regard them as members of the National Team. I trust that they will continue to be part of the team and they are welcome to do that over the next four years.

I want to also say a special thank you to Mrs. Murphy and Dr. Tomlinson for their valuable contribution to our National Team as elected members for the constituency of George Town and the country as a whole over the past four years.

I want to give a very special welcome to our two new Members of this House, namely, Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly and Dr. Frank McField. I look forward to working with you over the next four years as we continue to lead this country in the right direction.

I also want to give special congratulations to my colleagues of the National Team who have been elected as Ministers of Executive Council. I look forward to working along with them and the rest of the team to meet the many challenges this country has before it, to ensure that the interests of our people are promoted and protected.

In closing, let me wish for all Honourable Members and their families, and for the good people of Cayman, a very blessed and safe holiday season; may God continue to bless these Cayman Islands.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I would also like to extend a very warm welcome to you and to pledge to you my full support throughout this four year term.

I am, indeed, delighted and honoured to rise in this Honourable House as the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman. I sincerely thank the people of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman for affording me this honour and wonderful privilege to serve them.

Being the first woman elected from my district, makes today not only an exciting day for me, but we are experiencing an historical day. I am eternally grateful to my Heavenly Father who made this day possible, and for the many prayers that strengthened me during a most difficult campaign.

To my son, Kamal, and my daughter, Kimberly, I am forever grateful and indebted for their love and patience demonstrated, particularly during the last five weeks. I pray that today's events will serve as a catalyst and a reminder for them to see that dreams do come true, and that in general all Caymanians, if not before, will now start to believe in themselves to set goals and not to ever let anyone steal their dreams. Remember, it matters not from whence you came, but where you are going. It matters not how rough the road is, just keep your dreams alive. Work hard, and with dedication, dreams do come true.

Mr. Speaker, I also would like to extend my heartfelt thanks to my determined and dedicated Chairman, Mr. Temple Tatum Jr., and to my hardworking committee members. Special thanks to the many persons who graciously nominated me on nomination day for their unquestionable commitment and stamina. My presence here today in this Honourable House is absolute proof that if God is for you, no one can be against you. No matter how minute or how gigantic, it is not ours to fight, but the Lord's.

I also wish to congratulate all Honourable Members here today. I challenge each one to place his trust in God and to daily seek His divine guidance, wisdom, knowledge and understanding as we move towards a bright and positive 21st Century. Let us all humble ourselves before the King of Kings and Lord of Lords; and let us make our requests and petitions known to Him so that together, as an Honourable Parliament, we can formulate the best possible vision as we move into the 21st Century.

As a freshman in this Honourable House, it is my desire that we all work together in love, harmony and unity for the good of our beloved Cayman Islands. Let us stand in the gap, unite, be friendly, firm, and in so doing let us preserve our integrity and thereby present ourselves as shining examples, unblemished for our people and, in particular, our children - the future leaders of tomorrow. Let us all adhere to the conviction of the late John F. Kennedy, and first and foremost ask what we can do for this, our beloved, Cayman Islands, and not ever become submerged in what the country can do for us.

It has been my experience that blame is a destructive vehicle, which, if developed, will take you further than you wish to go. Blame divides and never unites; blame destroys and never builds; blame defames and never edifies. Let us all dare to be brave and free, and may God bless each one in this Honourable House.

The Speaker: The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I would also like to add my congratulations to you on your appointment as Speaker of this Honourable House. Having been appointed as your deputy, I promise that I will work together with you for this Legislative Assembly in these islands. While I congratulate you, I would also like to thank the past Speaker, Mrs. Sybil McLaughlin, for her dedication and commitment to this Parliament over the years.

Mrs. McLaughlin has been a role model to me, and I thank her for her guidance over the past four years. I look forward to working with her on the outside.

I, too, would like to congratulate the Ministers who have been elected this morning and to say to each one, carry out your duties for the entire Cayman Islands, as you have done over the past four years.

I would like to thank my supporters in the district of North Side who stood beside me through one of the nastiest campaigns that has ever been fought in my district. It was nasty because it did not deal with my track record, it did not deal with issues; it was a personal attack on my character. I say, as did the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, if God is with you who can be against you.

Today we have in this Parliament people who have already declared themselves Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition. I say that for any Parliament to operate properly there must be Opposition. But I say to them, remember, we are all representing the same people - the people of the Cayman Islands. So we do not need Opposition for the sake of Opposition. I ask and impress upon you, let us have constructive Opposition to move this country forward.

I say to the people of North Side, to those who supported me, I am here for you; to those who did not support me, that was your democratic right, but I am still here to represent you. Your needs will be dealt with by me as a priority as I did over the past four years.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, and may God bless every Member of this Legislative Assembly.

The Speaker: Thank you.

The Fourth Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. D. Dalmain Ebanks: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I also want to congratulate you on your new position. I wish you all the success I can, and I feel that this Honourable House will give you all the support and help that you will need.

The election is over now. I want to thank the people of West Bay for having the confidence in me to return me to serve them in this House. I do not think a person can enjoy a higher honour than to be appointed by the people to serve them. I feel honoured today.

We are going into the 21st Century. I hope that we will be able to carry on in the way that we did over the past four years, or even better. I hope that we will not be lambasted all of the time, but that help will come from the Opposition. I beg them to join hands with us as we push forward for a better and happier Cayman Islands.

I do not see why it cannot be done. Although we each have our own opinion, we all seek the same goal, that is, a better Cayman Islands. To attain that we will all have to unite and fight for the betterment of these islands. I will give an illustration of what unity means: During World War II the United States and Great Britain fought a hard battle against the tyrant Hitler. It looked as if victory was up for grabs on either side. Do you know what happened? There was another nation standing by watching, and it did not want Hitler to win. That was Russia, which was a Communist country. Russia joined hands with the United States and Great Britain and the war was won.

So, I am asking each and everyone here to join hands today as we move forward into the 21st Century with our beloved Cayman Islands.

The Speaker: The Second Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Miss Heather D. Bodden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I also offer my congratulations to you. I am sure that the people of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman must be very proud of you today. May God guide the Members and Ministers of Executive Council for the next four years.

It has almost been exactly one year since I stood before this Honourable House to be sworn in following the 1995 by-election in Bodden Town. I am honoured to once again stand here knowing that the people of my district put their trust in me for a further four years. As the second woman from Bodden Town to be elected to the Legislative Assembly, I would like to say that no mission could be of greater importance to me than that of serving my constituents. It is a mission which I pledge to fulfill with honesty, integrity and complete dedication.

I said one year ago, and I will say it again today, not just to those people who voted for me, that you can count on me. I would also like to say that I have not reached this milestone solely on my own efforts. Had it not been for the encouragement and support of my family and friends I could not stand before you today. To my mother and father, my sisters, nieces, nephews, aunt and uncles, and to a lady who has been like my second mother, Mrs. Kadie Ebanks, let me say 'thank you' from the bottom of my heart. Because you stood by me, encouraged me and believed in me, I had the strength I needed to keep on going.

I am also extremely grateful to the members of my campaign committee. All the members showed so much enthusiasm and dedication throughout the entire campaign. I often wondered where they got their energy. Fortunately, it was contagious.

A special thanks goes to Mrs. Cecile Panton and Mr. Olsen Levy for nominating me.

My deep gratitude to the National Team Members is very much in order. Since first taking office a year ago, I have found their support to be invaluable. It has been truly gratifying for me to go through this campaign with such a unified group of people. Together we have pursued the same goal, that of making these islands better through vision, dedication and, most of all, team work.

I am truly grateful for the opportunity to continue what we have started. Our country has made significant strides in the past several years on both the economic and social fronts. This election was in many ways a show of confidence in the progress that has been achieved and the desire to see this forward movement continue.

Throughout the election campaign it was particularly heartening to see the younger generation taking such great interest in the future of these islands. For me, it was a very rewarding experience to have so many young people at my side, and to understand the depth of their commitment to this country. They are the future. I hope that in many ways I can serve as a role model for them.

I want to give them every encouragement to stay involved and to work in their communities for the betterment of these islands. You do not have to be in the public eye to make a difference. No matter how busy, everyone can contribute something. I am reminded of the song which says "If everyone lit just one candle what a bright, bright world this would be."

Also at my side throughout this campaign were a number of very remarkable senior citizens whose energy is a tremendous inspiration to our young people. Young and old came together during this election. It is a testimony to the strength of Caymanian society that they all stood on common ground.

I believe that this election also showed very clearly that Caymanians do not just judge candidates by the strength of their political track record, but by the strength of their character. This election also showed that the people of these islands uphold and respect the qualities of honesty, fairness, caring and concern for others.

Mr. Speaker, there is much work to be done, but I feel confident that the women and men of these Islands have chosen wisely with their votes. We, as members of the National Team, will be working on a strong action plan as shown in our Manifesto, which the citizens of these islands have endorsed with their votes.

We must also work with the other Elected Members in a spirit of cooperation and harmony.

I would like to close by saying that I am honoured by the privilege afforded before me. I look forward to serving the people of these islands and my district for the next four years.

Thank you, and may God bless this Honourable House.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Speaker, Honourable Members, Members of the Executive Council, Members of the Legislative Assembly, the Clerks, ladies and gentlemen in the gallery, my mother, my wife, I would like to begin by saying that I, too, thank the Almighty God for having given me this opportunity. I shall be very conservative in the way I boast the name of the Almighty God because in these days people all seem to be giving credit to God, but their behaviour does not reflect that they truly believe this.

I would also like to congratulate you, Mr. Speaker, on your appointment in this Honourable House. I would also like to congratulate and thank Mrs. Sybil McLaughlin for having served these islands in that position. She certainly was an inspiration to me, who, for most of the time, listened to the debates from the public gallery.

I am not one who can explain all that happens in these islands. I do not understand why she is not in the Chair today, but other people have made that decision and I am here to work with what is here.

I would like to thank my mother very much, and I am happy that I have been able to make her proud. I would like to thank my wife for her support. I would like to thank my brothers and my sisters who were really my committee. Many people thought that I would not make this journey, but I have truly made it because of the blessings of the Almighty God. I think if there is anyone who has won who can attribute it to some type of miraculous effort, it is so in my particular case.

I would like to say to my colleagues who have declared themselves as Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition: Remember that I am here as an independent candidate, and that I cannot support any behaviour that I consider to be arrogant, untoward, and directly attributed to the fact that they are seeking power rather than seeking to serve the people. (Some Hon. Members: Hear, hear!) I think that we must clearly distinguish between those who are willing to serve and those who are seeking power, because there is a total difference in conduct.

I am also an Elected Member of George Town. There are three others. This means that I will have to, and hope that I can, work along with the three other Elected Members of George Town, although I did not share their political Manifestos. If I am supposed to work with them, then I am also supposed to work along with the Elected Government, although I did not share their Manifestos.

I think that rather than declaring war we should vote for peace; we should be inspired by the decisions that the people have made and not arrogantly throw back in their faces the fact that we are not pleased with the decisions of the people. The people have spoken. Until we find a Government of this country abusing the power that the people have given them, I think that we should be very reluctant to begin war.

The guns have not stopped smoking and there are already people who appear to be having public meetings. I know that there are people who are also saying that my position as an independent candidate is not an independent position. There are countries in the world that are independent countries, but they are not independent because they are dependent on other people to get things done. There is no such thing as a truly independent position. There is no such thing as a truly independent person.

In regard to politics I will stand in this House and defend Members of the Government when I consider them to be right, and I will defend Members of the Opposition when I consider them to be right. But I will not defend arrogance. I will not defend a blind search for power.

It is obvious in this country that we do have political parties. I saw today in the public gallery members who have not put down their fight. It will continue for the next four years. Although the people rejected them at the polls, they are prepared to go out there and confront this Legislative Assembly and its opinions which means that they are acting as a political party.

I must refer particularly to Team Cayman. I must caution them, as I did previously, because my position was accepted as a result of my believing that the people would choose the National Team. I did not see how Team Cayman's political Manifesto made any sense to people. They must be aware that they are elected (whether or not they were elected with a small margin) to serve all of the people. It also means the people who voted for the National Team. I say that they should be very cautious.

I have never been a traitor. I have come to this House the hard way - through the streets of this Island, through the support of my mother, my wife, and my brothers and my sisters. I have come to this House as a result of suffering and tears, and I am not here to sell anyone out. I am not here to stand by and see petty politics destroy these islands. (applause) My message is not about being the Queen's loyal Opposition; it is that of being the loyal servant of the Queen. I took my oath very seriously, and I made an oath to Queen Elizabeth II to uphold the position of the Governor of this Country and to uphold the position of the Members of Executive Council. Only when I can be convinced by evidence, not hearsay, that they are abusing these positions will I come out and say that I oppose them.

I would like to thank the Speaker for having accepted his position as Speaker, and to compliment the National Team at this particular point for the way in which they have conducted their campaign and for the way in which they seem to treat one another with warmth and respect. I think that maybe those people who are training themselves to take over this country should learn what loyalty and affection really are.

Thank you very much.

(Applause)

The Speaker: Thank you.

Does any other Member wish to speak? Hon. Anthony Eden.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I would first of all like to thank God for giving me the strength to be here in this Honourable House. I would like to thank my family, my very devoted committee members and my people of Bodden Town who chose to send me back to represent them for four more years.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate you, Mr. Speaker, on the position you are now in. I know that the people of Cayman Brac will be very proud of you. You have ascended to one of the highest positions in these islands and have once more demonstrated the type of integrity you have.

I would also like to thank your predecessor, the Hon. Mrs. Sybil McLaughlin, for her diligence, and for the professional manner in which she served this Legislative Assembly and the Cayman Islands wherever she went. We must always look up to the leadership she demonstrated in these islands.

I would like to thank my colleagues in this Legislative Assembly for giving me another chance to sit on Executive Council. I think that the islands on a whole have seen what the National Team has done over the past four years. I would like to remind those who talk about Opposition that in a democracy, the majority of the people rule; and the people have once again spoken in no uncertain terms. We were successful in obtaining nine of the 12 seats we ran for. For those of you who are familiar with baseball, that works out to a batting average of a whopping 750. Compare that to the 110 batting average of Team Cayman. Someone like that would be sent right down to the minor leagues for improvement! (laughter)

As the previous speaker mentioned, I was a bit taken back by the tone set by the first speaker when he declared himself Her Majesty's Official Opposition. I would like to remind those who talk about Opposition that I remember four short years ago when one of their colleagues stood up in the Legislative Assembly and declared himself the Official Opposition. That Member now sits on the outside looking in. I say that we are here to represent the Cayman Islands, not only our districts, but everybody. We come here to go forward.

Everyone talks about building for the 21st Century. We do not build something by criticising and tearing down. Let us unite and go back to what made Cayman one of the most outstanding countries in the world. We must unite with our families, go back to our God-fearing traditions. This can only be done by working together.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Let me first thank Almighty God for His guidance throughout the election campaign and for taking us this far. I trust and hope that all of the commitments we have heard here today from various professing Christians will be lived out in their daily lives. Also, I give a big thanks to my dear wife and family, and, indeed, to my loyal supporters and friends. It would be remiss of me to not mention my very hard-working committee for all of their efforts making this all possible for Mr. Kurt Tibbetts and me.

I trust and hope that I will prove to be worthy of the confidence and trust which has been placed in me by my people who have once again elected me as their representative. This is the third time that my people have bestowed this honour and privilege upon me and I can assure them that as in the past, I will serve them to the best of my ability.

I wish to congratulate you, Mr. Speaker, on your appointment as Speaker of this Honourable House. I look forward to working with you, as well as with my fellow Members of the Legislative Assembly, including the Elected Members of Government.

I must say, however, that it was very disappointing to learn from the evening news yesterday that Mrs. Sybil McLaughlin, MBE, would not be seeking re-election, as she is so well respected nationally and internationally. We would have been most fortunate to have had the use of her experience and knowledge for another four years. Nonetheless, I want you to know, Mr. Speaker, that you will have my full support in matters dealing with the House and, as in the past, you will have my respect. I will do whatever is within my power to make your job as easy as possible.

My three colleagues and I of the Democratic Alliance, are very pleased that we were able to stage a well planned and clean campaign. I am very sorry that we were not able to capture all four of the seats in George Town; but, to my two unsuccessful colleagues, I say that you made a very good showing and you have nothing to be embarrassed about. God willing, the Democratic Alliance will be a viable opposition in the future, as it is our intention to field candidates in all districts in the year 2000. It is a tradition in the Cayman Islands, as well as in the Caribbean and the rest of the world, that Governments change every eight years. We would very much like to be part of the next Government.

Both Mr. Kurt Tibbetts' and my election in the George Town district was a clear message that the majority of registered voters supported the Democratic Alliance. We got a 50% success rate. I am not too sure about batting averages, but I know something about arithmetic. We are, therefore, proud to fulfill our role as the official Backbench supporters.

For those who may not be familiar with Parliamentary Procedure, I would like to mention that there is nothing wrong in having a good Opposition. A good Government depends upon a good Opposition. For anybody to paint a picture that an Opposition means that one is going to stand here and oppose everything that is brought to this House is painting a false picture and reflects a lack of knowledge.

We, that is Mr. Kurt Tibbetts and I, are proud to be a part of the Backbench Opposition considering that there are two types of Backbenchers: one is a Government Backbencher who supports the Government of the day, the other is an Opposition Backbencher. There is nothing wrong with such a system. We are also pleased that Mr. Roy Bodden has indicated his intention to be a Member of the Official Opposition.

I have heard a lot of things leveled at Mr. Bodden, the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town, but knowing the gentleman as I do, I feel that his intentions are pure.

I believe that I speak for the other Opposition Members when I say that our Opposition will be done with class and will be constructive. I can speak for myself when I say that I will not oppose for the sake of opposition. My record in this Honourable House is well known. This is not the first time I have sat here. Some of my colleagues from the past (1984-1988) can vouch that my opposition has always been constructive. There is no reason why I should change such an admirable track record. I will support issues which I feel are good for these islands, and I will oppose those which I feel are not good for our people.

While I realise that the new Government will set its own agenda, I nonetheless feel that there are certain issues which should be given top priority. I said earlier that I trust that the Honourable Financial Secretary will advise this House as soon as possible of the true financial position of Government in view of the many different versions floating around.

I also expect to see tangible proof from the Elected Government that a genuine and well thought out effort is being made by Government to reduce the cost of living in these islands. This is an issue that I will not allow to be pushed under the rug. There are other important issues which I feel must be given urgent attention including, but not limited to, the following: A complete revision and review of the Immigration Laws, Regulations and Directives. I am happy that the First Elected Minister of Executive Council has already given the assurance that he will be doing all in his power on the question of affordable, low-cost housing for this country. This is a matter that I am happy will be given attention because of the number of homeless people and those living in sub-standard conditions in these islands.

A greater emphasis must also be given to developing our education system and in particular the technical and vocational skills in our schools so that all of our young people can have an equal chance to fill their rightful place in society.

Also, in view of the importance of tourism to these islands, I feel that a greater effort and emphasis is needed in marketing this sector more effectively. The protection of our Marine Environment is of paramount importance to the economic well being of these islands. Accordingly, an environmental assessment of the North Sound with terms of reference to include the impact of dredging within the Cayman Islands should be commissioned as a matter of urgency.

Urgent attention must also be given to preparing a suitable roads plan in order to address the increasing traffic problems in these islands. The moratorium lifted by the National Team Government in regard to further hotel development on the Seven Mile Beach should be put back in place as soon as possible.

Openness in Government is a big problem. There is a general feeling that the public is not being properly informed on a number of important issues. There is also a strong sentiment against Ministers of Government sitting on important boards both in the public and private sector.

On the question of Parliamentary privilege and immunity, I recommend that a committee be appointed to examine the many complaints coming from the public regarding the abuse of Parliamentary privilege. Members of the Legislative Assembly should not be allowed to maliciously defame the character of innocent members of the public who do not have the equal right of rebuttal; and who are not even able to take legal action against these perpetrators. The only criminal offence, of which I am aware, which marred an otherwise smooth election campaign (as alluded to by the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town), was the malicious destruction of the Democratic Alliance signs on Halloween night. What is really sad about this whole incident was that the children involved were allegedly instructed by an adult...

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order.

POINT OF ORDER

The Speaker: May I hear your point of order?

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The point of order is that the Honourable Member has just said that people should not be maligned in here and named when they cannot defend themselves. He is getting up and dealing with a matter which I understand may be sub judice.

The Speaker: The purpose of this was to be tributes. I would deeply appreciate it if you would not go into matters that could be sub judice. I cannot say that it is, but I would appreciate if you would desist.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I am sorry that your time was wasted by a previous speaker, as I do not intend to - I have never done so, and never will - sit in this House to defame somebody's character as has been done by that Member in the past.

I just wanted to say on that particular point that I trust that this whole particular matter will not be swept under the carpet, but that the Legal Department will see that it is diligently pursued. While it is not wished for any Member to cause embarrassment to children involved, I feel that it is only fair to this country that the matter be pursued.

In closing, I wish to again thank all of my loyal supporters for once more electing me to this Honourable House. I certainly look forward to serving them and working along with my colleagues in this House, as well as with you, Mr. Speaker, for the next four years.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak?
The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

As have others, I wish to congratulate you on your appointment as the new Speaker of the House.

Let me say that I am deeply honoured to have been allowed the privilege to come back to this Honourable Legislative Assembly for a second term. I have listened to all of the previous speakers, and I paid very close attention to what the First Elected Member of Executive Council said about the many issues which he sees as important, needing to be dealt with immediately. It made me realise that regardless of where we sit in this Honourable House - as an opposing faction, an independent faction, or as part of the Government, that there are not really many philosophical differences. For that reason, I see much hope.

The issues he spoke about in his delivery were all, bar none, issues which I spoke about during the campaign. So there is hope, as I said before.

The people of this country have spoken and they have elected 15 of us. We sit here today. District by district, the National Team Government has been returned. Everyone of us has to respect the people's decision. The people also spoke in George Town, and there are four of us here who have been elected.

Let me quickly say that words fail me in properly expressing my appreciation for the confidence placed in me by the people of the district of George Town. I pray to God that I will be able to live up to their trust.

During the entire process there were times when I was a bit uncomfortable. I am not known to be one who thrives on confrontation and dealing with personalities. That is all over, Mr. Speaker. While I stand here, with all knowing my position, I say to all Honourable Members that even though we will have differences (and have had differences), for the moment it is a time of healing. I wish for us to get on with the business of this country; I wish for us to do what is incumbent on us, which is to lead this country forward.

The Government will easily understand that I am a part of the check and balance. That is my responsibility. In 1992 when I was elected as an independent representative, my whole purpose was to be in the category of a watchdog. That has not changed. There will be times when I will strongly oppose things. That is just natural, and simply because we do not all look through the same looking glass. I wish for all to know that my sole purpose for being here is to simply play my part in ensuring that this country moves forward and that the people move with it.

I am most deeply saddened to know... and let me pause here, Mr. Speaker, to take you completely out of the picture because this has not reflection on you, sir... but I am deeply saddened to know that the former Speaker has not been re-appointed. I understand that the good little lady (I have not heard it, but I understand) did not seek re-appointment. That saddens me because I remember saying to her on the very last day of the September sitting before the House was prorogued, that she really had no idea how much effect she had on the lives of many of us. I wish to let her know today that I am truly sorry that the opportunity was not there for her to continue to have that great positive effect that she has had on my life in these Chambers.

Having said that, I can assure you that your life will be easy with the likes of me. You have no fear, sir.

To the people of the district of George Town, let me say that of the four representatives you now have, you have two that are with one group, one that is independent, and another who is a part of the Government which has been returned. My challenge today to all four of us, regardless of where we sit, is to ensure that when there are matters concerning our district, that we communicate and work hand-in-hand to ensure that the representation which we promised the people of the district continues in the right vein.

What I wish to challenge the Government with - and it will be for them to do so, not me - is to deal with the issues concerning our district in a fashion which is not covert. I do not wish to have to wonder about who gets credit for what, because that is not important. What is important is that it gets done. I want all of us to think about that, because while we each have to pave our own way, it is the greater good that will prevail when each of us goes away.

I said once before, and I am going to say it again: Let us deal with the affairs of this country in a forthright manner. We will never always all agree. The democratic process continues to make strides in this country, and I think it will continue to do so in the future. I have no fear of speaking my mind, and I have no worry about whether I should say something I do not want to say rather than saying what I think is right. I think we should all do that and the consensus of the majority will prevail.

To the people of the district of George Town, I again say thanks, thanks and more thanks. While speaking I have been trying to put the right words together, because I was indeed overwhelmed at the end of the day. I thought I had been a good enough representative to be returned, but I truly had no idea that the end results would have been the way they were. That is not for me to gloat over, that only adds more responsibility to the task.

I cannot forget my family who has suffered the torture of my not being there for many hours. I can only promise them that I will do the best I can to spend my time as wisely as I can while being the best representative that I can.

To the other Elected Members I can truthfully say that I congratulate them all. It was a good fight. Everybody had his personal choices. The people have spoken and I have always respected their wishes. May God continue to bless us; may He stay in our midst. As we all 'fight the good fight' may we remember that it is not what we become at the end of the day, but what the country becomes and what role we play to head it in the right direction.

(Applause)

The Speaker: The Honourable John McLean.

Hon. John B. McLean: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Let me first thank Almighty God for returning me here once again. Secondly, I take this opportunity to thank the people of East End who have once again shown that their confidence remains in John Bonwell McLean, Sr., OBE, JP.

I was indeed touched this morning when I could sit in the seat and look back at my colleagues well knowing that I was going to call upon them to vote for and elect somebody of your calibre to sit in the seat as Speaker of this Legislative Assembly. Let me say, as did my committee, you have served your country well. You have completed 16 years and, in my opinion, you are good for life. Mine was slightly different. They said I had served for 20 years and was good for life.

I would like to say to you, sir, that you have my support. If you would like to tap in on my experience at any time, I am most happy to work along with the Chair. My record here shows that, which brings me to the point where I would like to say that I would like to pay every good tribute to the past Speaker.

Mrs. McLaughlin and I go back a long way. When I came into this Legislative Assembly at the tender age of 26 years, she was the person here to tutor me. I look upon her today as a wonderful woman, somebody who has served this country well. I said no different when I spoke on her behalf quite recently when she was made a national hero. That was something which she deserved, and something of which the Cayman Islands can be justly proud.

So, while she is not here today, and she has been replaced, I can only recall the death of John F. Kennedy, how in a couple of minutes he was replaced. In all of our sorrow, we can only look at this from a positive point of view, and let us take this country into the 21st Century.

As the longest serving Member in this Legislative Assembly, I have been very disappointed in the way this Parliament has started off. I am not blaming all the Members who have spoken. But I am going to be to the point and say that I am very disappointed in the remnants of the National Team Government. The people of this country have spoken... I am sorry, I mean Team Cayman. I apologise to this country for that, because I should not have made that mistake!

I am here to say that while we need Opposition in this House, we need fair Opposition. We do not need Opposition to sit in that corner and believe that everything this Government brings is wrong. The return of this Government was not because of the three Opposition Members sitting in that corner. If we had only gone along with their policies and their ideas, this country would have been worse than Jamaica today.

You know how most Americans say "God Bless America"? I say God Bless the Cayman Islands, because we did not have a team like Team Cayman take our people over. I heard my beloved friend in the corner, Mr. Roy Bodden, quoting scripture. Let me tell you something: I know scripture. Let me refer him and his team to Psalm 33:8 - "Let the earth fear the Lord. For he spake and it was done. He has commanded and it stood fast. The Lord bringeth the counsel of the heathen to naught. The counsel of the Lord standeth forever.". I trust that he can interpret that.

Thank God for the background of the people of this country, that they had enough foresight not to elect people like his colleagues.

This election was based on nothing but ridiculous attacks by that team I am talking about. Let me tell you that I can speak with authority on that because there was nobody as viciously attacked as John McLean. When they stooped to trying to defame me by showing a cheque which was not even connected with me, the people of this country have done this country justice in not electing them. (Applause)

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order.

POINT OF ORDER

The Speaker: May I hear your point of order?

Mr. Roy Bodden: The Honourable Minister speaking is misleading the House and causing malicious information to be spread. Is he saying that the cheque which allegedly bore his name was circulated by any Member of Team Cayman? My information was that the police have been unable to find the culprit.

I am asking you, sir, to ask that Honourable Minister to retract his allegation.

The Speaker: Honourable Minister, did you say a Member of Team Cayman? I did not understand it in that way.

Hon. John B. McLean: You, know, there was a Member who sat on that side sometime ago who bore the same surname as the Speaker today, that was the Honourable Charles Kirkconnell. He told me something that I will never forget. There is a Jamaican saying that when you throw a stone in a pen of swine, the one that hollers hardest is the one who got hit.

Let me say, with the greatest of respect to the Chair, my information tells me that every member of Team Cayman knew about that cheque. So the Member who just jumped to his feet is quite aware that when he heard it he also tried to use it. He was in my district running his mouth... and along with that, he was one of the Members who thought that he had out done me to run to the Governor. But his legs are not that long.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I still stand by my point of order. Let me say that I had nothing to do with either the manufacture or the circulation of that document. I speak also on behalf of my colleagues. I challenge the Honourable Minister, if he has information to the contrary, to go to the Special Branch and let the law take its due process. Otherwise, please make him desist from his dangerous allegations.

The Speaker: Honourable Minister, could we move on to another point?

Hon. John B. McLean: Yes, Mr. Speaker. I give you the assurance that I have made my point. All I have to say is that I invite him and I invite Team Cayman to let us refer to the words of that great president, Mr. John F. Kennedy: "Ask not what your country can do for you; but what you can do for your country." I want them to compare their record with J.B. McLean's. They will see what I have done in my 20 years. I would like, instead of coming in here and starting off the way he has today, to instead speak to the people of Bodden Town in a decent way and show them that he is ready to work with the Government. (Applause)

I want my colleagues to see what we are in for over the next four years. A leopard never changes its spots. It is quite clear by his attitude today, that he intends to carry on in the same way. Let me say that our Government was not returned because we did not do a good job - we did a good job; and we will continue to do a good job. Each one of us on this side has projects which we need to continue.

At this point I would like to say that we are delighted with the way that Dr. Frank McField, who has just come into this place, has been able to scold people like the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town. (Applause)

I would like to thank all of my constituents. I would like to thank the people of this country, and all of my colleagues for what has happened here today. I would again like to say that I thank Almighty God, not for returning John McLean, but for saving this country from the dangers it was exposed to. We must continue to keep the old ship Cayman on an even keel.

I know that I will be ridiculed, but, Mr. Speaker, no one is going to walk the floor and punch me the way they punched poor old Truman Bodden. So that must be understood. I will stand here on behalf of the people of the Cayman Islands, most especially, my beloved people of East End. That is exactly how it is going to be for the next four years.

As I said, you are new in the Chair. We are glad that you are there. We are saddened that Mrs. McLaughlin left, but the most we can say to you now is that we are going to support you in any way we can. I just ask all Members that when we return to these hallowed Chambers we put everything behind us and get on with what we were elected to do here. I do not know about the Opposition in this House, but I know that when I leave here today I have a pile of things on my desk to do which represents all areas of this country. I beg each one to let us bury the hatchet and put politics aside. The people have spoken. God be praised.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.
(Applause)

The Speaker: Thank you.

May I remind members of the public gallery that we are in the Legislative Assembly which is in session. I ask that they desist from applauding as it is not Parliamentary.

The Honourable Truman Bodden.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I would first like to thank God for His wisdom and guidance in these elections. It is with pride and humility that I take this seat in this Honourable House.

I welcome you as Speaker of this Honourable House. You are the first person from Cayman Brac and Little Cayman to hold this position, and also the first Elected Member of this Honourable House to hold this high position. I believe that the people of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman can be justly proud, as can all the people of these islands.

You have had a long and distinguished career as a Member of the Legislative Assembly, one who has championed the rights of your people in Cayman Brac and Little Cayman. You have an impeccable character, you are honest and capable, and I have no doubt that you will fulfill the duties of one of the highest official positions in this country as Speaker of this Honourable House in a good and proper way. I pledge to you my support for the smooth running of this Legislative Assembly and I shall assist in any way possible.

I would like to thank all of my supporters and my constituents in George Town who supported me in this election - all constituents generally, whether they supported me or not. Also all Members of this House for appointing me to the Executive Council. I assure them that I shall do my best and will not let them down.

I am saddened that Mrs. Berna Murphy and Dr. Steve Tomlinson and Mr. Tony Powell were not successful in the elections, but they have pride for having run a clean campaign. I shall miss my two colleagues from George Town, but they remain with the National Team and we will continue to have the benefit of their advice and help throughout the years.

I know my duty here, and that was clearly set out in our Manifesto when we stated that "...we accept that we are representatives of you the people." Therefore we will consult and follow the wishes of the majority of our constituents, including where necessary by referendum.

I intend to represent all of my people, Mr. Chairman, not just those... Mr. President, rather... I mean, Mr. Speaker. I am sorry, it has been a long day, and when you are my size and do not get any lunch.... I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, my duty is to represent all of my people, and I will do that. I intend to work with people of this Legislative Assembly, especially the independent, the Fourth Elected Member for George Town, whom I believe has well earned his seat.

I would also like to welcome the new Members to the House. I intend to continue to be fair and equitable to everyone, and to treat all Members of this House alike.

The past few months have been difficult. I have probably had more leveled at me than I even knew existed. I learned a lot of new things about myself in the rumours that went around. However, it is somewhat unfortunate that the House did begin with what I consider a misconception of what Opposition should be. Opposition in this House... and by the way, it could never be 'Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition,' because they sit in the Parliament of the United Kingdom. But the Opposition in this House, the two Members have started out in a way that has cost them and other Members who were with them seats in this House.

I do not intend to attempt to go into very much in relation to whatever Ministry I may be given, but what I would like to say is that I will do my duty with whatever Ministry I am assigned. It would have been better if at this beginning ceremony today that references to the bitterness by the two Opposition Members in talking about things like political violence and that sort of thing... this does not exist. It is like being in a fairy tale world sometimes when I listen to this. It does not help the country. This is what can destroy the country. That bitterness is what perhaps cost eight of the nine members of Team Cayman seats in this House. I say it has to be put aside.

I believe that I have taken, next to Mr. McLean, probably more abuse than anyone in this House, including physical violence (since we have referred to that). But life has to go on. While not commenting specifically on the matter raised by the Third Elected Member, but speaking generally, I would just like to point out that the political signs were erected in breach of the Planning Law. So they began on the wrong footing and were left up during election day in breach of the Elections Law. In Savannah, East End, Cayman Brac, signs were torn down. Graffiti was written on signs. Just to point out that this happens in every election; why it has been made a specific case, obviously goes back to the bitterness.

I would like to thank my colleagues once again, especially the members of my committee, and the members and staff of my law firm for their loyalty, advice and support to me and to other members of the "A Team" during the campaign. I note that many of my committee members have been with me for over 20 years.

I thank Mr. Kearney Gomez and his efficient elections staff, especially Mr. Philip Barnes and his staff in George Town electoral stations, and to the Royal Cayman Islands Police for a well organised, peaceful election. I thank all branches of the news media, television, radio, press, who worked very hard and who kept the public fully informed on important matters.

Last, but most important, I would like to thank my two little daughters and my mother and family and friends for all their support and patience during the election campaign.

At this time I would like to thank and pay tribute to Mrs. Sybil McLaughlin, our first Speaker. She has been an outstanding Speaker, very knowledgeable in Parliamentary procedures. Her wisdom and guidance has been sought by MLAs throughout the past several decades. I believe that the Legislative Assembly and the Cayman Islands owe her a great debt of gratitude. I believe that as our only living National Hero, Mrs. Sybil will continue to be dear to Caymanians, especially MLAs who will continue to seek her advice on future Parliamentary problems.

The Honourable Sybil McLaughlin has given her reasons for not seeking this high office, and I think it is the duty of people in this country to accept and support them. She is our National Hero and over the next four years, if what we have seen today is an example, I believe that as National Hero she may have well been put in compromising positions. She has many other commitments and I accept her explanation on this and I wish her and her family all the best.

Our mandate from the people of the Cayman Islands to this House is clear. We have clearly set out in our Manifesto details of what policies we will bring in the next four years. The Committees have been appointed and I would also like to add that I look forward to working once again with the Clerk, the Deputy and all staff of the Legislative Assembly. I would also like to congratulate the Official Members for being back, and I once again pledge support to them as we go into Executive Council.

The new Executive Council has to operate for the good of the Cayman Islands, and must function as a team in a spirit of cooperation and trust. Its Members and the Members of this House must bear that trust. The present problems of the Cayman Islands are too large and critical to be dealt with with personal or petty bickering between Members of the Legislative Assembly or between Members of Council. I think we must all now get on with the job ahead of us, as speedily and reasonably as possible.

This hallowed Chamber often, unfortunately, takes the role of Members saying that they are not going to hit on other Members - then immediately after, getting up and doing just that. I think we should not be hypocritical, when making statements about our fellow Members, but should be honest. It is now our duty to pray for God's guidance in the coming years and for His determination of the future of our beloved Cayman Islands. God Bless the Cayman Islands and all of the people.

The Speaker: Thank you. The Honourable Thomas Jefferson.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

We, who today have taken the oath to serve the people of the Cayman Islands, have a tremendous task placed upon our shoulders, to lead the Cayman Islands into the 21st Century. We are known for political stability. We are one of the leading financial industries in the world, we are one of the premier warm weather tourism destinations, our economy is strong, the quality of life in this country is equal to almost any in the world. We have a responsibility to maintain that. I want to thank Almighty God for all of our being here today to take up that task.

I wish to thank the people of West Bay in particular for returning me to the Legislative Assembly. It is a special privilege to serve the people of one's district, and one that I hold very dearly to my heart.

The National Team has served this country well for four years. All of us, whether we wish to say it or not, realise that it is the only reason why the majority of this House are National Team members. We commit ourselves to continuing that good form of Government, caring for our people, consulting with our people, keeping our people briefed and ensuring that issues, such as dredging of the North Sound, do not become a monster around our necks. We have all said that we have no support for major dredging of the North Sound. I believe that I am old enough, big enough and loud enough to say that when the time comes.

I would like to remind all that this country did not come this far by division, or by the grabbing of power; but by people's willingness to serve this country, improving the quality of life, responding in a caring and neighbourly way. It is the cornerstone of this country. I believe that we need to reflect on these few words.

There is hardly a person who comes to the Cayman Islands who wishes to leave. The reason for that is the social harmony and quality of life which exists here. We need to hold on to what we have. Division does not get us anywhere.

There are many issues. Perhaps today is not the day to get into all of them - when we come to the Throne Speech, next year (God willing), that will be the proper time. But there are many issues about which we, as Members of the Legislative Assembly will have to put our heads together, put aside the differences and say this is a national issue and, in the best interest of all the people of the Cayman Islands, we will get it done.

I wish to again thank the constituents of West Bay, our supporters, our committee which was there for us always - every time we needed them, they were there. I do not want single out any particular individual, but they do know how I appreciate them.

I wish to also thank my family, my wife, my children, my mother, my brother and sisters and other relatives and friends for their encouragement and support. It is times like these when you find out who really are your true friends.

I wish to thank the Members who elected me to serve on Executive Council. I appreciate it very much. I give you my word that I am here to serve all of the people of the Cayman Islands as a Minister.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Honourable Members, I, too, would like to say a few words.

I am the first Elected Speaker who comes from the Elected Members of this House. I would like to thank Almighty God for the blessings He has bestowed upon me and this country. I ask for His continued blessing.

I would like to thank my family, my committee and all who supported me throughout the 16 years that I have served. I will be forever grateful to the people of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman for the support they have given me. I want to assure them that even though I am now the Speaker, I am still a representative of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, and, with my colleague, Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly, will give you the representation you justly deserve.

Throughout the years Cayman Brac and Little Cayman have benefited in many ways. We hope that with a united front, with the two representatives working closely together that we will be able to perform well.

I want to congratulate the Members of Executive Council on their election, and my predecessor, Mrs. Sybil McLaughlin. She has been a life-long friend of mine. We go way back. She was my mentor. I thank her today for whatever knowledge and ability I have to hold this high office. When I came into this Legislative Assembly she was the Clerk. She graciously took me under her wing and taught me a lot about Standing Orders, and taught me where to locate additional information.

Mrs. McLaughlin has achieved just about everything that a lady can achieve in her life. Not only has she been an inspiration to me as a Member of the Legislative Assembly, as a very able Speaker, she has also been a great spiritual leader within this Chamber. I shall be forever grateful for that. I wish everything that is good for her. Earlier today I had the privilege of hugging her and saying thanks to her for all that she has done, not only for me, but for the Cayman Islands as a whole.

Mrs. McLaughlin, we wish you everything that is good, including a long life.

As we come to the conclusion of this, I want to thank the people in the gallery for their kind attention and for staying with us. This is an historic occasion and before I close I wish all Honourable Members and their families, the Clerk, Mr. Cline, the staff in the Kitchen, all the people of the Cayman Islands, the very best for the Christmas season. We will not have the opportunity to meet with you prior to that, so I hope that it will be a very joyous, pleasant and peaceful Christmas for all.

A final announcement I would like to make before the adjournment, is that immediately following this there will be a group photograph taken on the steps. I ask that Members do not leave before that photograph is taken.

If there is no other business, I would like to...

The Honourable Third Official Member.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate you as Speaker, and to pay tribute to Mrs. Sybil McLaughlin, MBE, JP, National Hero, for the excellent leadership she provided during her tenure as Speaker in this Honourable House.

I would also like to congratulate every Elected Member of this Legislative Assembly, those nominated to Executive Council and those on the Backbench, equally.

In my estimation, today should be regarded as a day of national reconciliation and healing as alluded to by most of the Elected Members who have spoken. This is a time when all differences and bias are set aside in order for us to unite to move forward, in order to secure what is best for the Cayman Islands. It is not new to Members when I say (as it says in the Bible) "A house divided against itself will not stand." That has been extended further to say, "United we stand, divided we fall."

The finances of the Government are very important. The job of Financial Secretary of these islands is not one that I take lightly. It must be recognised that when each and every Member can get up on a platform and express his views in terms of the state of the country's financial affairs, that I have to maintain an unbiased and objective position. I indicated much earlier that when the advanced warrant was being submitted for approval that detailed information will be provided as to the Government's projected financial position up to the end of 1996. The figures that we have on hand at this time, as prepared by the Treasury, sets out what obtains as at 31st October. I am sure that all Members of this House will be interested in that information.

It was mentioned that this is the biggest warrant for which approval has been sought. Naturally, it would have to be. If we look at trends, in 1992 the advance warrant for which approval was given was in excess of $30 million. I think it was in the region of $34 million. What has been proposed here today, in order to take a prudent approach, is that it be kept at one quarter of the provisions approved in the 1996 Estimates. That is to ensure that the budget is thoroughly examined by the Government and every Member of this House before final consent or approval is given.

It does not pre-empt that all of the requests that are made by controlling officers for 1997 will be allowed. It is also to be recognised that the warrant being sought today will be rolled up in the 1997 Budget. This is a major consideration; it is not a question of the Government being given the authority to go off... and irrespective of the size of the bank balance at this time, not one dollar can be spent unless the appropriate approval is given. So, I think a distinction should be made regarding the question of Government's liquidity position, and the authority to spend money.

I mentioned also that provision was being sought to ensure that a grant be provided to the Monetary Authority. I can assure Members at this time that the Budget for 1997 will be much bigger than what it was previously. The reasons for that are: First, the Currency Board and the Financial Services Supervision Department are being rolled into a single unit, and secondly, the strength of the staff complement will be increased significantly.

Interestingly, I am now hooked up to the Internet. I am not a proficient user of that technology as yet, but what was interesting yesterday, when it was being demonstrated to me, was that practically every country in the region is now professing to be an international financial centre. Our laws have been copied, our practices emulated, and there are individuals out on fact-finding missions coming to the Cayman Islands, coming into my office and gleaning information. This is being compounded by the fact that we have representatives of major international corporations coming into my office, visiting the Inspector of Financial Services Supervision Department in order to glean information on the Cayman Islands; because all indications are that we are a very secure financial centre.

This we will have to continue to nurture. We will have to be very careful as to our approaches, and how we shape ourselves for the 21st Century. It is not a matter that we can take for granted any more.

Speaking of the Internet, when we talk about this world being a "global village," in the literal sense of the word it is. You can sit at a desk and see what is happening in Hong Kong, in Singapore, in Bermuda, the British Virgin Islands - all of the countries within this region, in Europe, Asia, wherever. All of these countries are putting out information about themselves.

As I mentioned earlier, we did not achieve this position by accident. As a result of that, we will have to take a proactive approach. This is what we have been doing. We introduced Mutual Fund Legislation back in 1993. To date, we have over 1200 funds registered as Cayman Islands Funds. We have funds being traded on major international stock exchanges. We felt that having done all of this, it naturally follows that rather than having all of these funds going off to register elsewhere, that they should be on a Cayman Islands Stock Exchange. I am thankful to Honourable Members for having given their support to the necessary funds. I trust that the approval processes required to ensure that the funding will be put in place for this activity to become operational will be allowed.

We are also rolling up our Monetary Authority. This is to ensure that the Cayman Islands not only says that it is a leading international financial centre, we want to be able to tell everyone of questionable intent who would attempt to abuse the Cayman Islands to take their business elsewhere. We want business that is credible and genuine, reflecting economic substance.

All of these are factors which we have to take into consideration. To achieve this we must have the necessary competence by way of a regulatory regime to sift out dubious business and to also welcome what is credible to the Cayman Islands. This will not only help our position, but will ease our conscience knowing that we have done everything to ensure that we operate as a credible and well-established financial centre.

A final point I should make is that introducing the stock exchange will mean more work permits. This is a sore subject, but I take the view that every job created in Cayman is a job held in trust for Caymanians who are presently off at University at this time training. It will be necessary to employ the necessary expertise on a temporary basis; but whenever our people develop the competence to move into those positions so that we can continue to operate our financial industry with the degree of excellence desired, which every member of the Cayman Islands community would endorse, we have to make sure that those job opportunities are available.

We also know (and it is not a light subject) that this carries with it financial and social costs; financial from the point of view that we will have to expand the capacity of our infrastructure. Every additional person or family which comes into Cayman will translate into more teachers, more medical services capacity, the roads, everything. On the social side it impacts on the indigenous way of life. But I think that we will have to cultivate and streamline our policies to ensure that a balance is maintained. We cannot really throw up our hands and say that nothing should be done. We have the minds of 15 Elected Members in this Honourable House (which includes you, as Speaker), the three Official Members of Executive Council, the senior administration of Government, His Excellency the Governor, and all of the persons within the community who will critique the policies of the Government. This brings together what I would call a harmonised approach. No one person knows it all. I would not put myself forward to say that I am an expert on everything. I think that wise counsel is important because the Bible alludes to it and we should all take it.

We have to look very carefully at how we want the Cayman Islands to go into the 21st Century. At the end of the day what is important is that the good life, which I have enjoyed as a Caymanian, should continue for my children, and their children, and every child in the Cayman Islands - all future generations, regardless of how far into the future. I would not want for it to be put on record that "Once upon a time...". Therefore, we will have to put our minds together, pool our ideas and our resources to ensure that we secure the future of these islands.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: The Honourable Second Official Member.

Hon. Richard H. Coles: May I add my congratulations to you, sir, as Speaker of this Honourable House, and also give my best wishes to your predecessor, Mrs. Sybil McLaughlin. I would like to welcome back to the House those Elected Members who served here in the Legislative Assembly previously, and to give a special welcome to the three new Members.

I would like to congratulate those Elected Members who have been elected to Executive Council. I look forward to working with them and to participating in debate in this House which is fair, honest and stimulating.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I rise to congratulate you warmly, and to welcome you following your election to the high office of Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of the Cayman Islands.

In so doing, let me also offer my congratulations to the Member of North Side for being re-elected as Deputy Speaker. She has served in the Chair on past occasions in the absence of the Speaker, and she did an excellent job. I am certain that she will complement your role ably.

I would also like to congratulate the five Honourable Members who have been returned as Ministers of Executive Council. I pledge to them my continued support and I look forward to working with them in the times ahead.

I also congratulate all Members who have been returned to the Legislative Assembly. I welcome the new Members, especially the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mr. Speaker, as a fellow Cayman Bracker, I am delighted at your appointment to the high office of Speaker. I am sure that I speak for all the people of the Sister Islands when I say that we are immensely proud to see you in this lofty position. Your wife and family here in the gallery and those listening by radio will be very proud of you, and rightly so. You have served with distinction as a master mariner, and I have no doubt that your years on the bridge of a ship will put you in good stead as Speaker of this House. I pledge my full support and cooperation to you.

Your Christian stand is strong, and for this I am very happy. I wish to thank the former Speaker of the Legislative Assembly for her distinguished service to this country in many capacities, but especially as Speaker. I wish for her continued good health and long life.

Finally, I would like to refer to the words of our Lord when he said, "Whoever shall be greatest among you must first be your servant." In other words, show humility. Your life has always reflected humility and today it is gratifying to know that you have been exhaled to this high office.

Again, my warmest congratulations and all the best as you serve in your new role. I thank you.

The Speaker: I would like to say to all Members how much I appreciate your having supported my appointment as Speaker of this House. I shall do everything in my power to uphold your trust, and I ask each and every one for his support.

I now move the adjournment of this House sine die.

AT 3.14 PM THE HOUSE STOOD ADJOURNED SINE DIE.

FRIDAY
7TH MARCH, 1997
9.42 AM

The Speaker: I will invite the Rev. Randy Von Kanel to say prayers.

PRAYERS

Rev. Randy Von Kanel: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that we may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of our high office.

All this we ask for Thy Great Name's sake.

Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, forever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

The Speaker: Please be seated. The Legislative Assembly is in session.

The Speaker: The question before the House is that the House do now rise to await the arrival of His Excellency the Governor and to receive a gracious message from the Throne.

The Deputy Clerk

His Excellency the Governor: Please be seated.

The Speaker: Your Excellency, I have pleasure in inviting you to address the Honourable House.

THE THRONE SPEECH DELIVERED BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR MR. JOHN OWEN, MBE

Honourable Speaker, Honourable Members of the Legislative Assembly, it is with great honour and humility that I present the Throne Speech.

Cayman has graduated from being an offshore financial centre to one of the world's major international financial centres which competes for business with London, New York and Tokyo. Cayman has also set an example, not only to the Caribbean region, but to financial centres world wide, of a jurisdiction which is committed to the fight against dirty money. We hoisted this signal when we passed the Proceeds of Criminal Conduct Law. We have since reinforced this with the creation of a Monetary Authority which will strengthen our regulatory capability.

I am pleased that Cayman continues to enjoy success not only in financial services but also in tourism. A key factor in our success is the strong and constructive partnerships between the private and public sector. This partnership concept has extended to the review teams which have been set up as part of my Review of Public Services which includes both public and private sector appointees. I am grateful to all those civil servants and private sector individuals for their support for this important exercise, some of the results of which we will see this year.

But success brings with it challenges. One of our major challenges is maintaining our identity and sense of community. Whilst the financial institutions and tourism underpin our economy they do not underpin our society at its most fundamental level. This fundamental level is the sense of community which has existed since the days when Cayman was "the islands which time forgot".

Although a community needs money for support services, such as health, a sense of community does not need financial wealth. Many of our older citizens remember the days when they were financially worse off than they are now, yet were sustained in their sense of self worth by their position in their family or local community structure.

It is our job, in these rapidly changing times, to balance the most basic needs of the whole Caymanian community with those necessary modern day developments which go hand in hand with increased standards of living. So called progress is only true progress, if such developments do not conflict with the values which sustained our nation in the past. It is the job of every one of us, therefore, to achieve a balance, to move forward with that which will benefit Cayman in the future without compromising those values on which our proud heritage is built.

We are fortunate indeed to live in these Islands whose economy is the envy of the Caribbean and whose marine environment is unsurpassed. But we hold these Islands in trust for future generations. It is the future generations of Caymanians who will judge our stewardship. I hope that when they come to do so that, as in the parable of the talents, we will have earned the accolade "Well done thou good and faithful servant".

Let me now proceed to report on the intentions of the various Ministries, portfolios and departments.

THE JUDICIARY

The additional Court premises at Kirk House, will soon be brought into full operation. Legislative changes to improve the efficiency of the Courts will, subject to approval by Executive Council, be presented to this Honourable House. Legislation called for by the Constitutional requirement that the emoluments and allowances of a judge of the Grand Court shall be prescribed by law will also be presented. Existing ties with the Commonwealth Judicial Education Institute in Canada and the Judicial Studies Board in the United Kingdom will be developed with particular emphasis on the training of Justices of the Peace.

The recommendations of the Court Administration Consultant in particular the introduction of computer programmes, Court reporting systems and training of staff will be implemented.

The Consultant will continue to focus on reducing the waiting time for court appointments and decisions and modernisation of all administrative procedures.

THE CAYMAN ISLANDS AUDIT OFFICE

The goal of the Audit Office is to complete all audits and issue its opinions on the 1996 financial statements by 31st July, 1997. The Office proposes to charge fees for the 1996 audits of Statutory Authorities and other public sector bodies. The Office also continues its commitment to professional and technical training for Caymanians.

THE PORTFOLIO OF INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

The exercise of evaluating all jobs in the public service is nearly complete. I have however called for a comparative evaluation of posts in the public service with similar posts in the private sector. I have also appointed a Salary Review Committee to carry out a full scale salaries and allowances review for implementation on 1st January 1998. The review will also consider the question of performance pay.

If the three month trial of flexible working hours which has been introduced for some government departments is successful it will be introduced to all departments on an optional basis. This could go some way to helping reduce the traffic congestion at peak hours.

The Immigration Law, the Trade and Business Licensing Law and the Local Companies (Control) Law will be sent to a Select Committee for review during this meeting of the House. The Elections Law will also be subject to a review by a Select Committee.

THE ROYAL CAYMAN ISLANDS POLICE

The key objectives of the Royal Cayman Islands Police Service for 1997 are:

- a) To implement further proactive policing initiatives, including expansion of community policing, crime prevention, road safety and drink/driving campaigns.
- b) To commence construction of a combined Marine Base Station and Drugs Task Force Office.
- c) To provide suitable office and lock-up accommodation for the police on Little Cayman.
- d) Establish an efficient and reliable vehicle replacement system.
- e) Implement modern and efficient computer/communications systems.
- f) Establish and publish a 'Policing Charter' setting out standards and performance indicators for the Police Service.

PRISON DEPARTMENT

A new multipurpose building is to be added to the security block. This will reduce the need for maximum security prisoners to have access to other areas of the prison and will result in a higher level of security for these prisoners. An administration building is also proposed. It will partly serve as a visiting area for families coming to the prison. Three new classrooms are proposed to be added.

THE DEPARTMENT OF IMMIGRATION

The Immigration department will continue to concentrate its efforts on the efficient delivery of quality service to the public.

The introduction of the three shift system at Owen Roberts International Airport, aimed at speeding the processing of passengers, and reducing the amount of overtime paid, will continue to significantly improve the level of customer service in 1997.

The Immigration department is committed to providing quality, friendly and efficient service to the public.

BROADCASTING DEPARTMENT

The process of digitalising the station's commercial production and delivery, traffic and billing system will be completed in the first quarter of 1997.

Training will continue to be given a high priority. The transmitting system will also be further improved.

DISTRICT ADMINISTRATION

CAYMAN BRAC

The economic outlook for Cayman Brac in 1997 is encouraging. Land sales and development have been stimulated by government incentives. An increase in planning approvals holds a promise of full employment in the construction industry and new employment opportunities for 1997. This year should also see more new residents and visitors.

Strategies to diversify the economy and attract new business will be developed by the newly appointed Project Manager, and a marketing campaign will promote Cayman Brac as a high quality investment and residential destination.

The sinking of a Russian destroyer to create a new dive site has attracted international publicity, and indications are that the site will become a major tourist attraction in 1997.

LITTLE CAYMAN

Little Cayman should continue to draw visitors. Diving is still the chief attraction. Construction of a new dive resort is scheduled to begin early this year.

The second phase of Government's multi-purpose building will be completed this year, providing additional space and facilities for use as a hurricane shelter and for community activities.

PERSONNEL, TRAINING, MANAGEMENT AND COMPUTER SERVICES

In 1997 the Personnel and Training Department will provide management development programmes for senior managers, middle managers and supervisors.

In conjunction with the Community College training and education programmes will be provided to increase the number of Caymanians employed in the Clerical and Executive officer grades. The first course for potential Clerical officers has started. Ten participants will complete the programme in August and a second intake of ten will commence in September.

The integrated Financial and Human Resources Information System will be commissioned. This will increase the efficiency and effectiveness of all departments.

COMPUTER SERVICES

Major projects are planned for 1997. The full implementation of a government-wide internal Intranet is expected to go 'live'. A high speed link to the government network using new Laser technology is to be completed in early 1997. Additional high speed fibre optic upgrades or connections to 13 locations will also be introduced.

Departments who will introduce new PC applications this year include the Department of Tourism, General Registry, Lands & Survey and Legal. The analysis, design, and implementation of several major modules of the Integrated Financial and Human Resources Information System package will also be completed by the end of this year.

THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

A Register of Interests Law is now in effect and a Register of Interests Committee has been appointed. The Committee will consider matters referred to it by the Registrar of Interests who is the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly.

GOVERNMENT INFORMATION SERVICES

Government Information Services will continue to develop its desk-top publishing service and its weekly television show. It is proposed that the unit will be relocated this year, to enable it not only to operate more efficiently, but to reflect an image more appropriate to its role, particularly with regard to overseas media and other visitors.

THE PORTFOLIO OF LEGAL ADMINISTRATION

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S CHAMBERS

The Mutual Legal Assistance (1988 United Nations Convention) Bill has been drafted to enhance co-operation between signatories to the United Nations Convention in drug related matters. Further measures will be proposed during 1997 to extend the ways in which the Cayman Islands can both give and receive assistance in the area of international co-operation in law enforcement matters.

CAYMAN ISLANDS LAW SCHOOL

Five students should graduate from the Honours degree programme this year bringing the total number of degree graduates to 65. Approval will be sought for the construction of a purpose-built Law School at the Community College campus.

THE PORTFOLIO OF FINANCE AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Objectives for 1997 include the establishment of the Public Service Pensions Fund on a self-sustaining basis, the presentation to this House of the new Customs and Excise Legislation and consolidated and amending legislation to cover Public Service Pensions, Merchant Shipping and Stamp Duty. A review of the Public Finance and Audit Law and the Financial and Stores Regulations will be carried out in 1997.

INTERNAL AUDIT UNIT

In 1997 the Internal Audit Unit will continue its independent appraisal of internal controls focusing mainly on public service procurement practises and expenditure controls. The Unit will continue to encourage the professional training and development of its staff and develop a centre of expertise available for consultation in financial matters

PUBLIC SERVICE PENSIONS BOARD

The Pensions Board has contracted Watson Wyatt & Company to carry out an actuarial review of the Pensions Fund as well as other consulting services required by the Public Service Pensions Law Review Committee.

The Pensions Board plans to continue to develop its staffing structure, further diversify its investment portfolio by introducing equities and longer term debt, and continue to develop its computerised accounting and records systems.

GENERAL REGISTRY AND SHIPPING

In 1997 the restructuring of the department in particular the introduction of on-line private sector access to the publicly available information held at the Registry will further improve the department's ability to cope more effectively and efficiently with the increased level of business. During 1997 a review of Cayman's merchant shipping legislation will be completed.

TREASURY

The centralised Debt Collection Unit is currently recovering debts at the rate of $400,000 per annum. The implementation in 1997 of the new Integrated Financial and Human Resources Information System, will greatly enhance the management of the Government's financial and human resources into the twenty-first century.

CUSTOMS

In 1997 Customs will lay greater emphasis on training and developing staff at all levels, particularly in areas such as commercial fraud and drug enforcement techniques.

A series of Risk Assessment courses will be held locally. These courses will equip officers with the skills to identify travellers who pose the greatest potential smuggling threat whilst allowing legitimate travellers to clear Customs more freely. The department aims to continue its co-operation with other law enforcement agencies and will remain vigilant in the area of prohibited imports such as illegal drugs and firearms. The department also anticipates the passage of a new Customs and Excise Law during 1997.

THE MONETARY AUTHORITY

The Monetary Authority, a statutory body incorporating the Financial Services Supervision Department and the Currency Board, came into being on 1 January 1997. This single body has the dual function of currency management and related services and regulation of the financial industry. It is managed by a five-member board of directors appointed by Executive Council and chaired by the Financial Secretary.

The creation of the Authority is a further demonstration of our commitment to maintain the integrity and stature of Cayman as a leading international financial centre. By virtue of its level of independence and in particular the ability to attract and retain more professional staff, the Authority's regulatory resources will be significantly reinforced. The current staff complement of 26 is expected to increase to 40 by the end of the year, and the added personnel combined with other measures will ensure that Cayman's regulatory regime for financial services remains robust and on par with international standards.

THE CAYMAN ISLANDS STOCK EXCHANGE

The Exchange was specifically created to specialise in offshore securities listings and trading. Its development was a logical extension of the success of the Cayman Islands in developing other areas of the financial services sector. Establishment of the Stock Exchange means that the Cayman Islands can now offer all of the facilities of a leading offshore financial centre.

The Stock Exchange has recently admitted its first group of Listing Agents. With the admission of these Listing Agents the exchange is now in a position to begin accepting applications for the listing of securities.

MINISTRY OF TOURISM, COMMERCE AND TRANSPORT

DEPARTMENT OF TOURISM

A Cayman Brac Tourism Development Unit will be established within the Department of Tourism and a programme of activities which will further support land and cruise tourism efforts on that island will be developed. Training and development initiatives will continue within the public and private sectors and the wider community.

On the international front, work will continue to complete consumer research aimed at supporting further initiatives in the marketing of these Islands. Locally, the Ministry and Department of Tourism, together with their private sector partners, will continue to examine and develop initiatives to enhance the attractiveness of the Cayman Islands as a premier year round tourism destination.

FIRE SERVICE

The Cayman Islands Fire Service will continue to give priority to the training and development of staff, and maintaining and improving high standards of operational efficiency.

Subject to approved funding a number of new fire fighting and rescue vehicles will be purchased. These will replace existing ones which are coming to the end of their useful life.

The Fire Brigade Law was amended during 1996, enabling the introduction in 1997 of a new Fire Code which will complement and work in tandem with the Cayman Islands Building Code, ensuring that necessary safety standards in new and existing buildings are maintained.

PORT AUTHORITY

The installation of permanent moorings for cruise ships in George Town should be completed in 1997.

To cope with the increasing volume of cargo imported into the islands the Authority will develop as extra container storage the 4 acres of land which it purchased in 1996 adjacent to the Cargo Distribution Centre. In addition, the Authority plans to increase the enclosed warehousing storage space to 20,000 square feet.

QUEEN ELIZABETH II BOTANIC PARK

The Heritage Garden with its early 20th Century Caymanian house that has been restored to its original condition and the Floral Garden will be completed in time for the official opening in early spring.

The Botanic Park is also developing educational classes and special events to increase the Park's role as a tourist destination, and as an educational and recreational site for the people of the Cayman Islands.

PEDRO ST. JAMES CASTLE

Restoration continues on the original building which is scheduled to be completed by late April, 1997. Visitors to the historic site will see the building as it appeared when constructed in the late 1700's.

The contract for the Visitors' Centre is out to tender with an anticipated ground breaking in May of this year. This facility will include a multi-media theatre which tells visitors about the history of Pedro St. James Castle and the social history of the Cayman Islands.

The recently established Tourism Attraction Board will ensure that Pedro St. James is run on a commercial basis and will oversee the effective marketing of the site as a major tourist attraction in the Cayman Islands.

TRANSPORT

The Report on tourism-related transportation will be given careful consideration by government with a view to determining which of its recommendations will be accepted and implemented and their priorities.

THE MINISTRY OF EDUCATION, AVIATION AND PLANNING

The Ministry of Education will continue with the implementation of the Five Year Strategic Plan for Education, and with the site-based plans being developed for each of the fifteen government schools in the system. Three schools have completed their site-based plan, and two more schools have started to work on theirs.

The Schools Inspectorate will continue to monitor standards.

The new Lighthouse School will be a priority capital development project for 1997. Of equal importance is the provision of an administration block and hall for the Red Bay Primary School.

During 1997 plans will be drawn and construction begun for a new hall for the George Hicks High School. This will enable the present hall to be converted to a canteen. This work will complement the new art block, and the expansion of the present administration building. Also during this year, a sewage treatment plant will be installed to accommodate government schools on the Walkers Road site.

During 1997 property will be identified for a new primary school in West Bay. The present John A. Cumber School is almost to capacity, and government does not intend for this school to get much larger, however a new hall will be added to it. A new school will meet the demand for new primary places in this large district, well into the 21st Century.

In Cayman Brac, a new Teachers' Centre, postponed since last year, will be built at the Creek, and new classrooms will be added to the Creek Primary School. At the West End Primary School a new air-conditioned hall and canteen will be constructed on land adjacent to the school.

In 1997, Cayman will host the yearly Caribbean Examination Council meeting, and our teachers will benefit from the workshops in the different subject areas which are a part of this conference.

The University of North London has agreed to accept Community College associate degree students with advanced standing towards the bachelors degree at this institution, and discussions are continuing with other British universities. The University of the West Indies has begun its assessment of the science associate degrees for admission to their faculties of science, including medicine.

The Board of Governors has recently approved the start of the Post Graduate Certificate in Education (PGCE) in association with a British university, to commence in September 1997. Caymanian students with a first degree will then be able to become certified teachers locally, and will be able to do their supervised practice teaching in local schools.

This year scholarship grants will be made to the Community College, for associate degrees as well as to the Cayman Islands Law School. The development of a Careers Service which will assist young Caymanian professionals is an important part of a national training policy, and this will be one of the initiatives taken in 1997 between the Ministries of Community Development and Education.

AVIATION

A decision on the siting of the Little Cayman airport will be made during 1997. The new Airport will include a 3000 foot paved strip, for use with commuter aircraft, only during the daylight hours.

Birds on the airfields continue to be a problem and this will have to be addressed.

During the year the Civil Aviation Authority will complete the automatic weather system network for the three islands. Air traffic communications will be updated to enhance the safety of aircraft operating in the islands.

PLANNING

Following discussion with the various contractor associations, new legislation to regulate the construction industry will be proposed during the year. Similar legislation with respect to architects, surveyors and engineers will also be proposed.

The remaining stages of the Development Plan Review will be completed and the draft Development Plan brought to the Legislative Assembly.

Information on procedures and guidelines for all planning services will be published as a service to the public.

The Planning department will prepare a study of the existing and future requirements for recreational open space, public access to the beach and walking, jogging and bicycle paths. Area plans for each of the five electoral districts and Development Plans for both Cayman Brac and Little Cayman will be proposed. The department will continue to offer certification courses in conjunction with the Southern Building Code Congress.

CAYMAN AIRWAYS

The turnaround phase of the airline has almost been completed. In the coming year the Board will focus on strategies for growth, to make sure that the company is more market focused and to take the newly stabilised airline successfully into the next century.

To ensure that the airline's staff are trained to the highest industry standards, a training programme in management and customer service through the International Air Transport Association (IATA) will continue. So far almost 100 members of staff have been involved in this training.

MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE, ENVIRONMENT, COMMUNICATIONS & WORKS

In 1997 the Ministry will focus on a medium and long term plan for public roads and the protection of our natural resources.

TELECOMMUNICATIONS

A dedicated radio link with the emergency services in the Sister Islands by way of the new fibre optic cable that Cable & Wireless recently activated is planned for 1997. This will allow for an inter-island radio link which will add to our ability to communicate during times of disaster.

Cable & Wireless will also shortly commission the Cayman-Jamaica fibre optic cable making the latest telecommunications technology a part of our advanced infrastructure.

POSTAL SERVICES

A new facility, near the Airport, for bulk mail processing and the provision of approximately 2,000 post boxes is scheduled to become operational in mid 1997. Building plans include refurbishment and renovations to the General Post Office and Sub Post Offices at West End, Cayman Brac, Savannah, Bodden Town and West Bay.

LANDS & SURVEY

In 1997 as part of the wider Land Information System, work on a fully electronic Land Registry will continue.

PUBLIC WORKS

The major capital projects that are in the construction stage during 1997 are the Cayman Islands Health Services Complex; the Central Police Station cell block; George Hicks High School art block & administration building; the West Bay, East End & North Side District Health Centre's and various district playfield projects. Offices for the Department of Agriculture at Lower Valley are expected to be at the construction stage later in the year.

Road maintenance will focus on the backlog of road surfaces that are at, or near, the end of their original service life.

Work will continue on the Harquail Bypass. Preliminary plans are also being prepared for the Crewe Road Bypass. Additionally, the uncompleted road works from the 1996 supplementary approvals will be completed during the first part of 1997.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

The new agriculture office building and slaughtering facility will be commenced at the Lower Valley site in 1997.

The department will continue to provide services to local farmers and the public, including advice and assistance in crop and livestock production, the sale of agricultural produce, emergency after hours veterinary service and control of straying animals.

DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENT

A new initiative to develop a geographic information system for environmental assessment, monitoring and oil spill response will be started in 1997. Following on from the recent successful testing of the Grand Cayman Oil Spill Contingency Plan at the end of February, the department plans to finalise the Sister Islands' Contingency Plan, train initial responders and managers and conduct a Sister Islands Table Top Exercise during the year.

MOSQUITO RESEARCH & CONTROL UNIT

A key goal for 1997 is the location of a suitable site to house the operations of the department. In 1997 the department will give priority to the re-establishment of an Island wide inspection programme for mosquito larvae. Sites that support mosquito production will be either treated with chemicals or modified with physical control.

ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH

During 1997, the department will focus on the development of research and monitoring programmes in a number of areas, such as ambient air quality, ground water, hazardous agricultural chemicals and household waste, noise levels and energy efficiency.

Improvements to the George Town land fill will continue. A waste drop-off point will be completed at the main entrance. The separation and weighing of all incoming waste will be done to help improve the management and utilisation of space at the landfill. It is hoped that a new landfill site can be purchased on Cayman Brac and that this facility can become operational this year. Phase 2 of the solid waste development programme on Little Cayman will also be undertaken this year.

VEHICLE & EQUIPMENT SERVICES

The new computerised fleet management system is scheduled to become operational by June, 1997, which will improve efficiency and effectiveness of the departments' operations.

MINISTRY OF HEALTH, DRUG ABUSE PREVENTION AND REHABILITATION

HEALTH PRACTITIONERS' LAW

A revised Health Practitioners' Law will be presented to the Legislative Assembly for approval in June 1997.

HEALTH SERVICES

New and Improved Facilities

Construction of the New Cayman Islands Health Services Complex will continue in 1997. By the end of the year, facilities to accommodate the diagnostic services and some of the in-patient and out-patient units will be completed and commissioned. The New Health Services Complex, will significantly improve health care services to the community.

Construction work has already started on new health centres in East End, North Side and West Bay. Completion dates for the health centres are scheduled for the second quarter of 1997.

Further telemedicine projects will be introduced in 1997 to add to the teleradiology services introduced in 1996.

Mental Health Services

The 1996 Mental Health Consultant's review of our Mental Health Services will contribute to the long term planning needs for Mental Health Services in the Cayman Islands.

Public Health Services

A district family practice service will be implemented. Each District Health Centre will be assigned a fully qualified family physician. Doctors' clinics at each District Health Centre will be increased.

Emphasis will continue to be placed on health promotion activities with the aim of preventing the potentially damaging effects of diseases brought on by particular kinds of life styles.

The health services provided in Little Cayman will be enhanced with increased visits by doctors and nurses.

Dental Services

With the assistance of the Rotary Club of Grand Cayman, the school Dental Health Programme will be enhanced through the purchase of a new mobile dental van. Implementation of recommendations arising from the Oral Health consultancy carried out under the auspices of Pan American Health Organisation is ongoing.

Quality Assurance

A Quality Assurance Programme has been implemented with the establishment of Quality Assurance Teams in all sections of the hospital.

Strategic Plan for Health

The Strategic Plan for the Health Services will be tabled in the Legislative Assembly in June.

DRUG ABUSE PREVENTION AND REHABILITATION

CAYMAN COUNSELLING CENTRE

Cayman Counselling Centre will be focusing on the direct delivery of alcohol and drug rehabilitation services to the people of the Cayman Islands. This will be done through the design of new programmes and the re-directing of existing programmes to take these services to the clients whenever possible. This includes bringing residential treatment to the Cayman Islands.

NATIONAL DRUG COUNCIL SECRETARIAT

The Drug Secretariat will step up the implementation of the Strategic Plan for Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation. Some key objectives of this plan are:

- 1) the establishment of an Information Centre within the Secretariat;
- 2) the staging of a logo/slogan competition and the production of brochures intended to raise the public's awareness of the National Drug Council's work, and to harness the support and involvement of the public;
- 3) the wide spread promotion of alternative healthy life-style practices through the staging of a week of drug free sporting, fitness, drama and youth activities;
- 4) the production of a directory of service agencies to facilitate coordination and collaboration among such agencies; and
- 5) the holding of a number of educational workshops intended to raise the level of competence of community leaders in drug abuse prevention matters.

The drug menace is already upon us and the Ministry intends to play its part in intensifying and expanding prevention and rehabilitation efforts.

MINISTRY OF COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT, SPORTS, WOMEN'S AFFAIRS, YOUTH & CULTURE

ART DEVELOPMENT

Following the recommendations of the National Gallery Task Force, the drafting of Articles of Association of the National Gallery and Art Institute will commence in the immediate future. A Board will be appointed, and it is proposed that my wife will be the first chairman. The National Gallery will incorporate an Art Institute for the purpose of teaching art and running related programmes. The building will be designed by an architect chosen by competition. Fund-raising for the project will start soon.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

The Ministry will continue to focus on encouraging, funding and co-ordinating resources within government and in the wider community with the objective of creating a partnership amongst all groups and organisations who have an interest in improving community life. The Ministry will also continue to promote healthy family life focusing especially on parenting issues and community participation in activities.

Monthly financial assistance will continue to the elderly, handicapped and disabled persons, ex-servicemen and former seamen locally and overseas. Drafting instructions are currently being developed for a law to cover both of these benefits.

CAYMAN NATIONAL CULTURAL FOUNDATION

The National Cultural Foundation will continue to promote cultural activities and to assist cultural groups throughout the Cayman Islands. One highlight of its 1997 calendar will be the production of the 2nd Annual Cayman Islands Festival of the Arts, "Cayfest", in September. Among the Foundation's ongoing arts training programmes will be Young at Arts for talented youth and workshops in the disciplines of play and poetry writing, sculpting, painting and ceramics. Four stage productions are planned to take place during the year. 1997 will also see the commencement of an art lecture series and the initial phase of the acquisition of the paintings of Gladwyn "Miss Lassie" Bush for the people of the Cayman Islands.

NATIONAL MUSEUM

The National Museum will offer displays of Cayman artwork and exhibitions. The museum will also take its exhibits and lectures to each of the districts as well as the Sister Islands. Utilising a grant from the United Nations Development Programme, a comprehensive five-year Master Plan will be created to guide the National Museum's growth and development into the new century.

NATIONAL ARCHIVE

The project to prepare a new history of the Cayman Islands will begin in 1997 with the recruitment of a noted scholar of Caribbean History.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

This year the new libraries in North Side, East End and Bodden Town will be opened. The Ministry was unable to convert the West Bay Town Hall to a district library as it is still a vital hurricane shelter but when the West Bay Civic Centre is completed the conversion of the Town Hall to a library will go ahead. With the growing technology and need of library services there is a need for a new Cayman Islands Public Library. This year we will identify suitable land and design plans for this new facility.

NATIONAL PENSIONS LEGISLATION

The National Pensions Law is expected to come into force in July, with a 6-month grace period, after which all employers should be in compliance with the Law (that is they should be enrolled in an Approved Pension Plan). Regulations to the Law are expected to be presented to the Legislative Assembly in the June meeting in order to be affirmed as required under the Law.

HOUSING DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION (HDC) AND THE AGRICULTURE & INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT BOARD (AIDB)

HDC - AFFORDABLE HOME OWNERSHIP

Government's Guaranteed Home Mortgage Scheme has been in existence since August 1994. It has achieved a respectable level of success in providing Home Mortgage funding for low to middle income Caymanians with approximately 150 applications already processed - many of whom are now new (and in most cases first-time) homeowners.

AIDB-Agriculture & Industrial Development Board

As a result of the strong demand for loans under the Government Guaranteed Student Loan Scheme, the C.I.$1.75M which was made available as the initial allocation from the seven participating Banks was almost fully committed within the first eighteen months of operation of the Scheme.

HUMAN RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT

In 1997, the Ministry (together with the Personnel Department and the Budget & Management Unit) will complete the re-structuring of the Department of Human Resources. The Department will then be able to more effectively serve the public in labour relations and human resource development.

The Department will consist of 4 Units:

- Secretariat for the new Labour Relations Board & Labour Tribunals;
- Labour Relations and Conflict mediation;
- Career Development, Training & Productivity;
- Inspectorate & Superintendent of Pensions.

There will be close co-ordination between the staff of the four Units.

LABOUR RELATIONS

In 1997 the Department of Human Resources will launch an Apprenticeship Scheme, a Reintegration and Job Placement programme geared to reintegrate ex-offenders of Northward Prison into mainstream society, the improvement of the general Unemployment Register and Job Referral service, and the preparation of entry-level employees for the world of work.

The Department will also co-ordinate the work of the Minimum Wage Advisory Committee, which will issue its report this year.

SOCIAL SERVICES

1. The Children's Law

The Children's Law 1995 will come into effect by September this year. In preparation for its implementation, three Social Workers will spend a three week attachment to the Children's Bureau in the United Kingdom where they will undergo training. The Children's Law is partner to the Youth Justice Law which came into effect in 1996. It is the result of a comprehensive review of the need to protect children and to promote their welfare.

2. Restructuring of the Social Services Department

As part of the Family Study, a management consultant is restructuring the Social Services Department. Selected job descriptions have already been re-written and work is currently being carried out on the establishment of a Probation and After Care Unit to be based in the Social Services Department. The Consultant is also working on the staffing requirements of the Residential Care Homes.

The Social Services department will continue its clinical work with vulnerable individuals, families and communities so that they can function effectively in society.

SPORTS

Sports will focus on the strengthening of the skills of all athletes and volunteers, particularly those who serve in leadership capacities on the various associations. Work will continue on the development plans for each association, focusing on the availability and use of facilities, management of the association's financial and public relations affairs, and the further attraction and development of youngsters to participate in the sport of their choice.

WATER AUTHORITY

The Water Authority will continue to expand its service network during 1997. The Breakers Water Supply Extension which commenced in August of last year will be completed in April 1997 and will provide piped water up to the Frank Sound Road Junction. It is intended to extend piped water to East End as well as in Cayman Brac.

Tender documents were sent out to three pre-qualified contractors in January for the supply and operation of a water production plant to be constructed at the Authority's Lower Valley Reservoir Site. It is planned that the new plant, which will have a daily production capacity of 400,000 gallons, will be operational in January 1998.

The Water Authority is preparing a feasibility study and preliminary design for extending the public sewerage system into the Governor's Harbour and Governor's Sound developments on the West Bay Road. These areas are now served by a private sewerage system which is in a state of disrepair. Construction of this project could start as early as the first quarter of 1998.

The Water Authority has contracted with government to design a centralised sewage collection and treatment system for the Walkers Road government schools, Community College, and Truman Bodden Sports Complex. The supply and installation of the 30,000 gallon per day sewage treatment unit is expected to go out to public tender in the first quarter of this year; it is planned that the system will be constructed during the summer school recess in order to avoid any potential disturbance of classes.

The Authority will relocate its main office in late 1997 from the Tower Building, to its new office building on Red Gate Road.

WOMEN'S AFFAIRS

In the coming year the Ministry will continue with its programme of public awareness and education in issues of relevance to the improvement of the status of women in the Cayman Islands.

The Ministry will also further implement and maintain a Women's Resource Centre located in Elizabethan Square.

CRISIS CENTRE

The Ministry will continue to encourage and support the Social Services Department in developing a project document for a crisis centre which, when established as a place of safety, will provide a comprehensive support system for victims of domestic abuse.

YOUTH AFFAIRS

There will be an expansion of interest on Youth and a National Youth Policy will be developed. Youth Worker Grants will continue to be given to Churches in need of this support and After-School programmes will be supported and encouraged. Youth Development Grants will be given to organisations and groups with the potential to develop and maintain programmes to improve the quality of life of our youth.

Honourable Members, as I conclude my second Speech from the Throne, I should like to record my thanks and congratulations to the Members and Officials who provided the material to assist me in the preparation of this speech. The level and quality of work produced by the Civil Service is first class. They are an asset to the country.

Finally, as you embark on the first meeting of the new Session of the Legislative Assembly, I wish you God's Blessing in your deliberations and debates. And I pray that Almighty God in his mercy and wisdom will continue to bless and guide the people of these islands and all who serve them.

READING BY THE SPEAKER OF MESSAGES AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Speaker: Monday, the 10th of March, was Commonwealth Day throughout the Commonwealth. The Presidents of Commonwealth Parliamentary Associations took the opportunity to read the Commonwealth Day Message in their Legislatures. Unfortunately, this Legislature did not sit on Monday. Therefore, I shall now read the Commonwealth Day Message.

COMMONWEALTH DAY MESSAGE 1997

From Her Majesty the Queen
 Head of the Commonwealth

(Read by the Speaker)

"The Commonwealth Day theme this year is 'Talking to One Another.' It is a fitting choice, because 1997 is a year when more people than ever before in the Commonwealth will have the opportunity to communicate with each other.

"Modern travel has made it easy to meet and talk face-to-face. Many from throughout the Commonwealth will take advantage of this in 1997 for sports tours, youth exchanges, science conventions, and other gatherings. Here in Britain, for instance, the city of Edinburgh will be host to the biennial Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting later this year. At the same time, Commonwealth non-Governmental organisations will be meeting there. So Commonwealth people will be getting together at all levels to exchange ideas.

"But improved and easier travel is only one development. Recent advances in communications technology now enable us to talk to each other and to see each other without even needing to leave home. The Commonwealth uses this sort of technology for its distance education programme, especially through the Commonwealth of Learning based in Vancouver. Through communications like these, the barriers of distance can be removed and we can talk together, almost as if the whole Commonwealth was in one room. Many years ago, my grandfather first spoke to the Commonwealth by radio. Today my message is speeding its way around the world by radio and, for the first time, on the Internet.

"Of course, having more ways of communicating and faster ways of doing so does not necessarily mean that we understand each other better. Technical advances do not automatically bring improvements. 'Talking to One Another' is not a one-way process: we can explain our own points of view but we should also listen to the views of others. Commonwealth countries have an advantage in doing this because we have shared views of right and wrong, and because we use the common language of English. This makes it all the easier to listen, to exchange knowledge, and to share opinions and feelings with others whose daily lives may be very different from our own.

"When we talk to one another, we can meet together in one place or we can use technology to hold discussions across the world. Whichever way we choose to communicate, the important point is that we keep talking and keep listening. By doing so, we ensure that the Commonwealth continues to grow as an informed and open-minded community of nations."

THE SPEAKER'S RESPONSIBILITIES

The Speaker: Honourable Members and Ministers, I crave your indulgence this morning to make a statement as Speaker of this Honourable Legislative Assembly.

First, let me humbly thank each of you my fellow Members for electing me to this high office. I also wish to thank the registered voters of the Elected District of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman for the confidence they have placed in me and having elected me as one of their representatives in the last five general elections (1980 - 1996).

I feel it is my duty to say that as an Elected Member of this Legislative Assembly, and having been subsequently elected Speaker has imposed on me dual responsibilities but responsibilities that are clearly and separately defined.

The responsibilities of the Speaker go back in Parliamentary history over 700 years (1288). In 1642 Speaker Lenthell said to King Charles I, "I have neither eyes to see nor tongue to speak in this place but as the House is pleased to direct me whose servant I am here." It is on such a foundation and in the firm belief that those who are called upon to be Speakers of Assemblies take the Chair. They are the servants of their House and of no other group or body. As Speaker I take the responsibility very seriously and I shall be as impartial as is humanly possible. I crave the support of each Member and I pray that Almighty God will give me the wisdom to do a proper job of upholding the dignity and respect that the position deserves.

As the Second Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, I also take that responsibility seriously and shall perform my duties to my constituents as set down in our Constitution, the Standing Orders of the Legislative Assembly and the Elections Law. I have done much research and I am satisfied that I can continue to represent the electoral district of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman without jeopardising or bringing the office of Speaker into disrepute. To my constituents: I respect you all and give you my assurance that I will continue to give you the best representation I am able to give. You will not be neglected nor do I intend to neglect the high office of Speaker.

The Speaker represents the House. He represents the dignity of the House, the freedom of the House and because the House represents the nation in a particular way, the Speaker becomes the symbol of the nation's freedom and liberty. Therefore it is right that that should be an honoured position, a free position and should be occupied always by an individual of outstanding integrity, ability and impartiality.

While commenting on the duties and responsibilities of the Speaker and his relation with the Legislative Assembly, I should make the following observations:

The fundamental principles that the Legislative Assembly is subject to provisions of our Constitution, is sovereign in the matter of its own rules of procedure and conduct of business, hence, whatever powers have been conferred on him by our Constitution or Standing Orders are intended to serve one purpose, and that is that the Legislative Assembly should be enabled to function at all times in the interest of the Country and the powers conferred on the Speaker should be used by him in the interest of the Legislative Assembly.

The principal duty of the Speaker is to regulate the proceedings of the Legislative Assembly and to enable its members to deliberate on and decide the various matters coming before it in an orderly fashion giving respect to the Chair and fellow Members at all times. Thus in considering the various notices or points raised before him, the Speaker should always bear this in mind, and when in doubt should act in favour of giving an opportunity to the Assembly to express itself.

The Speaker should not so conceive his duties or interpret his powers as to act independently of the Assembly, or to over-ride its authority or to nullify its decisions. The Speaker is a part of the Legislative Assembly drawing his powers from the Legislative Assembly for the better functioning of the Legislative Assembly and in the ultimate analysis is a servant of the House, not its master.

After having said all of that, I think I have answered the question which has been asked since my appointment as Speaker, and that is, "Can a Member who has been playing a political role outside this Legislative Assembly also perform satisfactorily as a Speaker?" If I was asked to write the job description of the Speaker I would probably write down the following: "A mature person of a very high calibre imbued with dignity, diplomacy, integrity, respect, patience, resolute, tolerance, impartiality, flexibility, humour, a sense of fair play and a good deal of common sense."

To try to find a person who meets this job description, is almost impossible and, indeed, he would be next to an angel. However, if he can display some of these qualities at the appropriate time and in accordance with the mood of the Legislative Assembly in a given situation, I believe he can do it, irrespective of his political activities. After all, the main task of a Speaker in the Parliament is to ensure that this high institution discharges its responsibilities as expected of it and is given the full respect that it deserves.

When a general election is over, every elected Member should put aside their differences and together face the task of nation building. It is the responsibility of Parliament, or this Legislative Assembly, under the guidance of the Speaker, to facilitate the task of nation building as smoothly as possible.

May I assure this honourable House that the Chair intends to show favour to none but will show respect to all Honourable Members and expects that each Member will do likewise.

Thank you.

THE BUDGET ADDRESS

DELIVERED BY THE HON. GEORGE A. McCARTHY, O.B.E., J.P.

Mr Speaker, in recent years the Cayman Islands has sustained a healthy rate of economic growth which, in turn, has allowed its people to enjoy one of the highest standards of living in the region. This has been achieved through careful planning, deliberate policy measures and the building and nurturing of a foundation of social harmony. All these, Mr Speaker, have helped us to firmly anchor the twin pillars of our economy: tourism and finance.

While these achievements are indeed, laudable, we should not allow ourselves to become complacent. As we look towards the twenty-first century, we should continue to harness our collective abilities and work together to advance the economic and social well-being of the people of the Cayman Islands.

In the 15 months since the last Budget Address, many new challenges have arisen and we have had to position ourselves to take advantage of new and emerging opportunities. I am pleased to report that the Government, in cooperation with the private sector, has acted swiftly and decisively in this respect.

During the past few months, key initiatives have been implemented such as the setting up of the Cayman Islands Stock Exchange, the creation of a Monetary Authority and Government's adoption of a range of economic and social policies.

On January 2, 1997, the Cayman Islands Stock Exchange formally opened its doors for business to the local and international financial community. This is, indeed, a remarkable achievement and should be a source of pride to the people of the Cayman Islands.

The Stock Exchange is a strategic development of the financial services sector which not only fits very well with our existing service offerings, but positions us advantageously for the future. The Exchange has particular synergy with the mutual fund and structured financing sub-sectors, and in fact, the Exchange's Listing Rules have been tailored to facilitate the listing of the securities of those entities.

The Exchange will also be of benefit to the domestic financial sector, as qualified local firms in particular, will have opportunities not previously available to them, to issue debt securities and equity securities on the Exchange.

The Stock Exchange recently admitted its first set of listing agents. This will allow it to begin accepting applications for the listing of securities. Among the listing agents are several of Cayman's leading legal and accounting firms, banks and mutual fund administrators. The Exchange is also currently reviewing applications from potential broker members, the first intake of these being scheduled for admittance by the end of March.

I would like to acknowledge the unstinting support of the private sector in making this venture a reality. Several individuals in the financial community have worked tirelessly on this project from its very inception and are continuing to do so to ensure that the Stock Exchange realises its full potential. I should also list among these individuals the Assistant Financial Secretary. She has done a fantastic job in co-ordinating the efforts of the private sector in order to ensure that the Stock Exchange became a reality. It is clear that this model of Government-private sector partnership is central to the success of our financial industry and it is one on which we shall continue to rely in the future.

Mr Speaker, efficiency is an important element in maintaining a competitive edge in the financial industry. With this in mind, the Government established the Cayman Islands Monetary Authority which brings under one umbrella the functions of the Financial Services Department and the Currency Board. The Authority represents a timely maturation of our financial services regulatory regime and will help to ensure that the Cayman Islands continues to meet and discharge effectively the responsibilities of a top-ranking, reputable jurisdiction.

It is important to recognise that as an institution, the Monetary Authority will have a favourable impact on the financial industry well into the 21st century. Being an autonomous organisation, the Authority will now be able to retain and compete with the private sector for staff of the highest calibre. A competent and highly-skilled staff will undoubtedly help to strengthen the Cayman Islands' regulatory regime for financial services and ensure that it remains on par with international standards.

Other initiatives to strengthen the financial sector have involved improvements to existing legislation to ensure that it keeps pace with international developments.

In 1996, Government, along with private sector officials, undertook a comprehensive review of the Companies Management Law, 1984. As a result of this, a new law is being considered to bring Companies Management legislation in line with that of the rest of the financial industry. Reviews of the Insurance Law (1995 Revision) and the Mutual Funds Law, 1993, were also conducted.

The Cayman Islands continues to show its commitment to keeping its financial centre free of commercial crime. In October 1996 the Cayman Islands Government was one of the Caribbean countries which signed a Memorandum of Understanding formalising the establishment of the Caribbean Financial Action Task Force, commonly referred to by its acronym CFATF.

The CFATF was set up to develop policies and establish urgent and effective action aimed at combating money laundering in the Caribbean. You will recall, Mr Speaker, that the Cayman Islands was the first to offer itself for a mutual evaluation by members of the CFATF. I am pleased to report that the evaluation concluded that the Cayman Islands was taking all the necessary steps to detect and deter commercial crime.

Mr Speaker, recognising its leadership position within the global financial community, the Cayman Islands sponsored an inaugural Commercial Crime Prevention Conference on 8-10 January of this year. The main focus of the Conference was to sensitise the financial community to the increasingly sophisticated methods used for commercial crime and money laundering and how to detect these.

The Conference was attended by over 150 persons, and included participants from the local, regional and international financial community, as well as members of the Caribbean Financial Action Task Force. This Conference was very successful and received excellent reviews from those who attended. The Cayman Islands Government was praised highly for the timely organisation of a Conference that would undoubtedly benefit all those involved in the fight against money laundering.

During the latter part of 1996, the Cayman Islands was chosen as a site for a number of conferences. "The Fifth Annual International Forum on Offshore Funds" was held in October; and the International Business Conference's "International Winter Forum on Offshore Funds" as well as "The Health Care Sponsored Captives Conference" were convened in December.

Mr Speaker, allow me to update you on another important set of initiatives taken in recent months aimed at exploiting more fully the resources of the Sister Islands.

In mid-1996 Government set up a committee called the "Cayman Brac and Little Cayman Economic Development Committee" to help further economic development on these islands.

Special incentives were introduced to stimulate investment in Cayman Brac. The Government removed all import duties on some building materials and stamp duty for some land transfers; and Cayman National Bank offered lower interest rates on loans to potential investors. These incentives gave a boost to the real estate market in the Brac, and in 1996 numerous applications were received for residential and commercial development. In addition, a Project Manager has been appointed to help identify investment opportunities and further stimulate development.

Mr Speaker, we are well aware that development of our islands involves progress on both economic and social fronts. Economic development in the Cayman Islands has advanced at quite a rapid rate over the past two decades. However, social development has not kept pace. Recognising the need to redress this imbalance, Government has, in recent years, implemented several new programmes aimed at raising the level of social development in these islands.

In July 1996, regulations governing the National Pensions Law were passed; and Health Insurance Regulations are currently being prepared. These major initiatives will go a long way to ensure the social well-being of our people as we move into the twenty first century. Government recognises the need for preservation of social harmony in the Cayman Islands and it is committed to channelling resources to ensure that the society maintains a high level of social development.

Mr Speaker, I shall now turn to a review of the world economy in 1996 and describe the outlook for 1997. This will be followed by a discussion of the 1996 performance of the local economy. I shall then move on to the revenue and expenditure performance of the Government sector in 1996; and finally I shall present the Draft Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for 1997.

THE WORLD ECONOMY

Mr Speaker, in 1996 economic and financial conditions continued to be favourable in the world economy. Global output grew by an estimated 3.8 per cent, compared to 3.5 per cent growth in the previous year. Among the industrial countries Japan, the United States and the United Kingdom performed well, but growth stagnated in several Western European countries.

Growth in the Cayman Islands is closely linked to growth in the US economy. The year 1995 witnessed a slowdown in US growth to 2.1 per cent. It is generally felt that this was needed to reduce the risk of overheating following the strong performance of 1994. In 1996, however, activity picked up again and the economy grew by 2.3 per cent, reflecting a high rate of resource utilisation.

The Japanese economy also slowed down in 1995 but recovered quickly in 1996 with a growth rate of 3.7 per cent. A package of supportive monetary and fiscal policies by the Japanese Government helped with the difficulties in the banking sector and to correct the excessive appreciation of the yen.

The performance in several European countries was disappointing in 1996, with the main exception being the United Kingdom economy which grew by an estimated 2.4 per cent. Growth in France, Germany and Italy slowed considerably to just over one per cent.

In the developing world, growth was quite impressive—an average of 6 per cent. This occurred despite the marked slowdown in Latin America in the wake of the Mexican financial crisis. Strong macroeconomic fundamentals and continuing large capital inflows helped to boost domestic exports in many of the emerging market economies.

It is heartening to report that in 1996 inflation in the industrial countries remained subdued and monetary conditions have generally eased. Consumer prices rose by a mere 2.3 per cent and long-term interest rates remained well below their levels in 1995. These trends are indeed a positive sign for the world economy. Compared to 1996, most regions are expected to achieve higher levels of growth in 1997. In Europe, stronger rates of growth are predicted as the deadline for Economic and Monetary Union approaches and countries shift towards tighter budgetary policies and easier monetary conditions.

The US economy is expected to grow by a faster rate of 2.5 per cent, and the developing countries as a whole are expected to grow by 6.2 per cent, with growth predictions in Latin America and the Caribbean of 4.0 per cent. Overall, then, economic activity is expected to be stronger in 1997, with a forecast global economic growth rate of 4.1 per cent.

THE DOMESTIC ECONOMY

In 1996 the Cayman Islands registered a healthy growth of 5.5 per cent. Our main industries—finance and tourism—performed well and other industries such as construction, commercial activity and real estate also prospered. Our relatively good performance was also reflected in a low inflation rate. Inflation, which reached as high as 8.0 per cent five years ago, dropped to just 2.1 per cent in 1996.

Mr Speaker, I will now take a look at the performance of the main sectors of the economy.

FINANCIAL AND BUSINESS SERVICES

In 1996 the Cayman Islands continued to maintain its position as one of the world's top financial centres. This is, indeed, a salutary tribute to those involved in the success of the financial industry—the Government as well as the private sector.

Each year new jurisdictions are being created and existing ones constantly seek new and improved ways of conducting business. Maintaining a sound and reputable position in the global financial services arena is a great achievement at a time when competition is fierce worldwide.

In 1996 the financial industry continued its outstanding performance in the four main areas of banking, insurance, mutual funds and companies formation. This is excellent news because the financial industry is vitally important to the Cayman Islands economy. In 1996, there were about 4,000 persons directly employed by this industry and it contributed approximately 20 per cent to Gross Domestic Product.

The mutual funds industry, although started just a few years ago, is developing by leaps and bounds. As at December 1996, a total of 124 entities were licensed as Mutual Fund Administrators—an increase of 24 over the 1995 figure. In addition, there were 1,335 regulated Mutual Funds compared to 1,200 in 1995. Without a doubt, enactment of the Mutual Funds Law (1993) has provided a major incentive for growth of the dynamic mutual funds sector.

On the banking side, Mr Speaker, growth was equally impressive. Thirty-seven new banking and trust licences were issued in 1996. Among the banking institutions set up in the Cayman Islands were subsidiaries of two top French banks. This brought the total number of banks and trust licences issued by December 1996 to 572.

Turning to the insurance industry: Forty-one new captive licences were issued in 1996, bringing the total number to 418—an increase of 28 over 1995. The total number of active domestic insurers was 29. It is a well-known fact that the Cayman Islands is the dominant player in the health care market which represents roughly one-third of its total captives.

Mr Speaker, the steady growth in company registrations continued in 1996. As of the end of 1996 there were 37,919 companies registered in the Cayman Islands—an increase of 11.5 per cent over the 1995 figure. In order to further the development of the Company Register, Government has established a Company Sector Consultative Committee comprising persons from both the public and private sector.

I should mention that this Committee is chaired by the Deputy Financial Secretary. I believe that he will bring the same level of commitment to this as he brought to the shipping sector which, today, has grown by leaps and bounds.

The objectives of this Committee are three-fold: to examine legislation in the areas of Companies, Partnerships and Trusts and advise on amendments; to identify marketing opportunities for Cayman Company Registration; and to recommend strategies for the development of the Cayman Company Sector.

Turning to shipping, 1996 was a very active year for the industry. Gross tonnage on the Shipping Register more than doubled the 1995 level and some 177 new vessels were added to the Register. This brought the total number of ships registered to 979.

The Cayman Islands Shipping Registry initiated a number of significant activities in 1996 to assist in the expansion and control of its Shipping Register. It established a London office for the Cayman Islands Shipping Register; inaugurated a Ship owners' Advisory Council; and became a signatory to the Caribbean Port State Control Agreement. The Registry also gained increased recognition through its representation at the world famous Posidonia '96 shipping exhibition in Greece.

A review of the shipping law was begun in 1996 and this important exercise is due for completion in 1997. It is expected that it will help to establish mechanisms for the continuous updating of the law in line with international and UK developments.

TOURISM

Mr Speaker, 1996 was a good year for the tourism industry. The number of visitors to the Cayman Islands—both stay-over and cruise ship arrivals—reached 1.1 million. Cruise ship passengers numbered 682,800—an increase of about 13 per cent over 1995; and a total of 373,200 stay-over visitors was recorded—an annual growth of approximately three per cent.

The tourism industry is becoming increasingly competitive as new destinations open up and countries market their products more aggressively. In 1996, the Cayman Islands continued to market itself as a quality destination by targeted advertising and public relations programmes. It also sought to enhance its image through the development of visitor attractions.

Over the past year, the Heritage and Display Gardens at the Queen Elizabeth II Botanic Park was completed; an internationally recognised dive site was created in Cayman Brac; and work on the preservation and restoration of the Pedro St James Castle is well underway.

In 1996, visitors spent some $375 million in the Cayman Islands, expenditure which directly or indirectly benefited each and every one of us here. Without a doubt, the industry makes a very important contribution to the economic well-being of the people of the Cayman Islands.

AGRICULTURE

Mr Speaker, over the past year the Department of Agriculture carried out a number of programmes geared at increasing local food production which were quite successful. The Farmers' Market had an exceptionally good year in 1996. Gross sales grew from just under $1 million to $1.3 million—an increase of approximately 34 per cent. Steady gains were achieved not only in wholesale operations, but also in retail sales.

The dramatic increase in retail sales was due in large part to the Farmers' Market being granted rights for distribution of the Turtle Farm's edible products in July 1996. Gains were also made in raising the awareness among farmers for the necessity of grades and standards, resulting in higher quality of produce reaching the Market.

Future plans at the Farmers' Market are for the development of facilities for food processing and preparation; and expansion of facilities for the sale of non-perishable items, including plants and agricultural supplies.

REAL ESTATE

Mr Speaker, the real estate sector has grown quite rapidly over the past few years, and in 1996 the industry continued to boom. The value of land transferred in 1996 passed the $200 million mark to reach $267 million. This represented a significant increase over the 1995 level of $191 million. Government revenues from land and property transfers also increased—from $20 million in 1995 to $23 million in 1996.

The development of prime land packages and a buoyant local housing market have undoubtedly spurred on sales in the real estate market. Better financing opportunities have also been a major factor in expansion of the sector.

BANKING

Mr Speaker, in 1996 the total amount of loans and advances made to residents amounted to approximately $910 million. Compared to the 1995 figure of $810 million, this reflects an increase of 12.4 per cent. Personal loans accounted for the largest proportion (46%); followed by loans in the real estate (16%) and tourism sectors (14%).

Total deposits amounted to $367 million in 1996—an increase of 18.9 per cent over the 1995 figure of $308.7 million. The rate of demand deposits grew the fastest (30%), followed by fixed deposits (17%) and savings deposits (14%).

CONSTRUCTION

Mr Speaker, buoyant activity in the construction industry is often a reliable indicator of how well an economy is doing. It also shows strong investor confidence in the economy. In 1996, a total of $215 million of planned new construction was approved—an increase of about 25 per cent compared to the 1995 figure of $173 million.

"Apartments and Condominiums" was the most significant category for planned new construction, with some $77 million earmarked for it. The "Residential" and "Commercial/Industrial and Other" categories also accounted for sizeable amounts—$57 million and $53 million respectively.

There were not many plans put forward for hotel construction in 1996, but approval for expansion at the Hyatt Hotel helped to raise planned construction for the hotel sector to $11.6 million. This is compared with a 1995 figure of $1.6 million. Planned projects in the Government sector amounted to roughly $12 million.

On the Sister Islands, 1996 proved to be a favourable year with approved new construction amounting to $10.5 million. This was almost double the amount for 1995. It is likely that the special concessions available for investment in Cayman Brac helped to stimulate activity there. Planned construction, particularly of apartments and condominiums, in Cayman Brac alone amounted to $8.0 million.

ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

Mr Speaker, growth prospects for the domestic economy in 1997 are quite favourable. Both the financial and tourism industries are expected to perform well and positive growth is expected in all other sectors. For the year ahead, an economic growth rate of around six per cent is predicted.

Mr Speaker, I shall now turn to a review of the public finances.

THE STATE OF PUBLIC FINANCES AT YEAR END 1996

GENERAL RESERVES

The General Reserve Fund stood at $4.4 million at the beginning of 1996. Honourable Members will recall that during 1996 $2.0 million was transferred into the Fund from General Revenue and $1 million from the proceeds of the sale of the Housing Development Corporation's loan portfolio, which, when combined with the interest earned during 1996, results in a year-end balance of $7.6 million.

Mr Speaker, the Draft Budget includes a proposal to transfer an additional $1.0 million to the Fund during 1997. This amount has been included as a line-item in the Budget Document and gives further support to the Government's policy to build up the Fund to equal three months' recurrent expenditure.

PUBLIC SERVICE PENSION FUND

The balance in the Public Service Pension Fund as at 31 December, 1996 was $21.9 million as compared to a balance at the beginning of 1996 of $16.7 million. The 1997 Draft Budget includes an additional contribution to the Fund by the Government of $2.6 million, which otherwise would have been transferred to the General Reserve Fund. This amount is over and above the current annual contribution to the Fund of 10 per cent of salaries which is made up of a 6 per cent contribution from Government and 4 per cent from public servants.

PUBLIC DEBT

Mr Speaker, during the period 1993-96, total repayment of central Government public debt and self-financing debt amounted to $40.5 million, of which $26.5 million was in principal repayments, and $14.0 million represented the payment of interest.

Mr Speaker, as at January 1, 1996 the total public debt stood at $51.5 million, of which $33.2 million was central Government debt, and $18.3 million was self-financing debt owed by the statutory authorities, but guaranteed by Government.

After taking into consideration the total draw-down of $22.3 million during 1996, the repayments of debt, and the currency revaluation made during the year, the total public debt rose to $66.7 million. Of this total, $49.8 million was central Government debt and $16.9 million was self-financing debt.

Mr Speaker, this Assembly should note that the repayment on central Government public debt is expected to consume approximately 4.5 per cent of recurrent revenue during 1997. This figure is well within the 10 per cent limit set by the Government and generally accepted as a guide.

1996 UN-AUDITED ACTUAL FIGURES

Mr Speaker, as the 1996 un-audited figures are now available, I have chosen to use these in my presentation as they are more updated than the revised figures found in the Budget document. Even so, the revised figures are within $0.9 million of the overall figure produced by the Treasury and therefore can be used for comparison purposes.

The un-audited total expenditure for 1996 is $207.6 million. This exceeds the original budget of $202.7 million by only 2.4 per cent, or $4.9 million. This additional amount is primarily a result of the $2.0 million transfer to the General Reserve Fund during 1996. Honourable Members should note, however, that this is more than offset by the positive performance on recurrent revenue, which at $194.5 million, has outstripped the original budget of $184.6 million by 5.4 per cent.

Mr Speaker, after taking into consideration this performance and the brought forward 1995 balance, the accumulated surplus balance at year-end 1996 was $6.1 million which is significantly better than the original budget of $1.1 million.

FISCAL ISSUES

Mr Speaker, since 1992 the recurrent expenditure of the Government increased by an annual average of 8.6 per cent, as compared to a growth in recurrent revenue of 15.1 per cent. However, the initial 1997 Budget proposals submitted by the various areas of Government, if accepted, would have resulted in an increase in recurrent expenditure of 29.3 per cent over 1996, whilst the revenue proposals would only have resulted in a 8.6 per cent increase in recurrent revenue. Clearly this was unacceptable, and various measures had to be implemented to correct this potential imbalance.

In considering corrective action the Government felt that it would not be appropriate to attempt to address this situation by focusing on recurrent expenditure alone. Consideration would also have to be given to recurrent revenue.

The provision of important and essential new services by the public sector since the early 1990s have had major implications on both recurrent and capital expenditure. Furthermore, the 1997 Budget proposals under consideration included the $6 million salary award to the Civil Service, a sum of $2.6 million towards implementing the Public Service Pensions Fund on a self-sustaining basis, and a $1 million line-item contribution to the General Reserve Fund.

Mr Speaker, I suggest that the two latter items are remarkable achievements and ones of which we can all be proud. In particular, the increased contribution to the Pension Fund, when matched by a further contribution by the Public Service equating to 2 per cent of salaries planned for implementation in January 1998, will achieve a level of annual contribution to the Fund that will place it on a self-sustaining basis over the longer term. Honourable Members should note that this additional 2 per cent contribution by the Public Service is to be part of the full-scale review of Public Service salaries, wages and benefits planned for 1997.

Mr Speaker, in recognition of this situation, a three-pronged approach was adopted to address the budgetary imbalance that would have resulted if the budget proposals were accepted. This approach involved implementation of the following three broad policies:

1. Restrict expenditure growth;
2. Implement measures to enhance the recurrent revenue base; and,
3. Raise new loans to finance only major capital development projects with long term implications.

Mr Speaker, to achieve these broad policies, various measures were adopted in the areas of: Recurrent Expenditure and Capital Expenditure, Recurrent Revenue, and Loan Income.

1. EXPENDITURE

Recurrent Expenditure

Mr Speaker, on the recurrent expenditure side, the measures introduced are as follows:

- a) Restrict growth to 3 per cent over the 1996 Approved Budget in the following recurrent expenditure sub-heads: Travelling and Subsistence; Supplies and Materials; Other Operating and Maintenance; Grants, Contributions and Subsidies; and Reference Materials and Other. Reduce by 10 per cent, with some agreed exceptions, all new budget requests that fall under these five sub-heads and under the sub-head of Rental of Sites and Buildings.

- b) Removal of provisions made within departmental budgets for vacant salaried posts except where the justification to fill these positions has been established and the post is in the process of being filled. In addition, growth was restricted in the following classifications: Overtime; Wages; and Temporary and Relief Staff.

Capital Expenditure

Mr Speaker, as far as capital expenditure is concerned, the measures introduced are as follows:

- a) Focus on completing all on-going capital development projects and embark only on the following new projects: all Sister Islands projects; Lighthouse School; Bodden Town Post Office; Cemeteries; safety-related capital expenditure such as the upgrading of electrical mains and fire precautions.
- b) Establish specific expenditure caps for the main capital acquisitions areas including: Computer Equipment, Heavy Equipment, and Vehicles.

2. RECURRENT REVENUE

Mr Speaker, turning now to the measures adopted on the revenue side, these are as follows:

- a) Request contributions from the following agencies: Civil Aviation Authority $3.0 million; Port Authority $1.0 million; Water Authority $1.0 million; and Cayman Turtle Farm $150,000.
- b) Propose revenue enhancement measures in a number of recurrent revenue categories.

Mr Speaker, I would like to re-assure Caymanian residents that Government, in deciding upon a revenue enhancement package, considered very carefully the needs of the community, particularly those of the average Caymanian family. I am accordingly happy to announce that the following measures are being put in place to assist members of the community:

- removal of the 7.5 per land transfer duty on Caymanian first owner-occupied home valued up to $125,000 ...

I am sorry, Mr. Speaker. There is a discrepancy here. The area of revenue that is affected, or the benefit being given is a reduction of the 1 per cent charge. Mr. Speaker, please permit a brief interruption.

(pause)

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. There is a further correction to what I said earlier. Looking at the benefits in question. The first one should read:

- Removal of 7.5 per cent stamp duty on Caymanian first owner-occupied home valued up to $125,000;
- and removal of stamp duty on land for Caymanian first owner-occupied home up to $25,000;

I am going to ask Members to please amend their copy of the Budget Address accordingly.

- no increase in import duty on motor vehicles valued up to C$20,000 c.i.f.;
- no increases on charges for mortgages of land with a value under $300,000;
- abolition of fees for boats under 18 ft;
- removal of plumbing and electrical fees on houses under 1,500 sq. ft. and apartments under 600 sq. ft.
- reduced fees for gun licences for farmers;
- an increase in the duty free allowance for returning residents up to $350;
- removal of import duties on flavoured milk including baby milk, yoghurt, ice cream, cereal and cereal preparations, tea and tea concentrates, and on personal vehicles to transport physically challenged persons.
- removal of bicycle tax and dog licence.

Mr Speaker, details on the revenue enhancement measures are set out in the schedule attached to the Budget Address. But in terms of existing recurrent revenue categories, the main areas which would be affected are: Financial Services Fees; Motor Vehicle Licensing and Related Fees; Other Stamp Duty and Land Registry Fees; Garbage Fees; Law School Fees; Firearms Licences (and Permits); Import Duties on motor vehicles, gasoline, alcoholic beverages, tobacco products and a few other selected items.

Mr Speaker, some new revenue enhancement measures are also to be introduced, and these include: Local Vessel Licences; Environmental Protection Fees; Building Permit Fees; and Development Impact Fees.

Mr Speaker, I encourage the Cayman population to view these measures within the context of the greater level of services which have been provided by the public sector in recent years.

3. LOAN INCOME

The measure being proposed is for a new loan of $8.5 million to finance the construction of the new George Town Hospital.

Mr Speaker, in addition to all these measures, the finalisation of the on-going review of the Public Finance and Audit Law and its associated Regulations will be completed in 1997 with the assistance of a staff member from the National Audit Office of the United Kingdom. The new Law and Regulations are expected to support the on-going initiative of Re-invention of the Public Service and will establish a framework for the management of Government finances into the 21st Century.

DRAFT ESTIMATE FOR 1997

Mr Speaker, as a result of the 1997 Budget measures outlined above, I am pleased to present to this Assembly the 1997 Draft Budget which "stays the course" of the positive trend established over the past several years.

The 1997 Budget totals $254.2 million, broken down as follows: $188 million in recurrent expenditure; $20 million in statutory expenditure; $43.1 million in capital expenditure; and $3.1 million in new services expenditure.

The recurrent expenditure of $188 million is up 18.2 per cent over the 1996 un-audited figure. By way of comparison, the 1997 budgeted recurrent revenue is up 18.8 per cent over the 1996 amount. Total Statutory Expenditure is $20 million, up $5.2 million mainly because of the Government's increased contribution to the Public Service Pension Fund of $2.6 million.

Capital Expenditure is presented in two major categories, i.e., Capital Acquisitions and Capital Development. The total Capital Expenditure budget of $43.1 million is broken down into $35.3 million for capital development and $7.8 million for capital acquisitions. The major capital development projects include: the construction of health care and drug rehabilitation facilities; the continuation of the Harquail Bypass development and the construction and upgrade of various District roads; the continued development of sports and cultural facilities throughout Grand Cayman and Cayman Brac; and the construction of the new Lighthouse School and the expansion of other school facilities.

CONCLUSION

Mr Speaker, before concluding, I offer deep appreciation to the staff of the Portfolio of Finance and Economic Development, the staff of the Computer Services Section and to the Public Service in general for its support.

Although I have made reference to the staff in this section, I would like to single out the Deputy Financial Secretary, who I think went home last night at 2.00 am; the Director of Budget and Management Services and their support staff; the staff in the Economics and Statistics Department and also the staff in the Attorney General's office, particularly the legal draftsman.

Mr Speaker, I recommend the Appropriation Bill, 1997, which proposes $234,203,411 in expenditure for Recurrent, Capital and New Services. Not included in this sum is the statutory provision for loan repayments, pensions and gratuities, amounting to $19,970,138.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank you and the Members of the Legislative Assembly for listening to this Budget Address, and may God guide this Debate and the deliberations on the 1997 Draft Budget.

At this time, I would like to move the second reading of the Appropriation Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The question is that the Appropriation Bill, 1997, be given a second reading. This is a convenient time to take a 15 minute suspension.

SECOND READINGS

THE ROADS (NAMING AND NUMBERING) BILL, 1997

Clerk: The Roads (Naming and Numbering) Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I beg to move the second reading of a Bill entitled, A Bill for a Law to provide for the naming of existing and new streets and for the numbering of existing and new buildings for incidental and connected purposes.

This Bill provides for the official naming of all streets and numbering of all buildings in each street in these islands. The provision of a full address for each building in the Islands will, for the first time, be provided. It will also allow the emergency services in this country to perform in a better way, and in so doing we will be providing a service to this country which is long overdue.

All Members of this Parliament are quite aware of the E-911 system. This system is working quite well. Once we have the street naming and numbering system throughout the Cayman Islands, we will have done justice to the people of these islands. No longer can we identify homes by colour when sending an ambulance out. We have progressed much further than that, and now is the time to move in this direction, especially when catering to so many American tourists each year—the mainstay of our economy here in the Cayman Islands.

I ask all Members to please offer their support to this Bill, and I fully recommend it to them.

The Speaker: The motion is open for debate.
The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I rise to give my full support to this Bill, and to make a short contribution in support of what the Honourable Mover said in regard to the tourists. I have had many experiences right in the heart of town with tourists asking for directions. While that is not the only justification for this Bill coming to the House, I think to have all the streets named and buildings properly numbered is worthy of our support.

It is also noteworthy, in connection with the E-911 system which now exists, that it will be easier to give directions once the streets are all named and homes and commercial establishments are numbered.

On the aspect dealing with the tourists, just as a matter of coincidence one of my suppliers, who visits here probably once per year, calls and asks me twice per month if we have the streets named yet. Within another week or so I can give him the good news, after dealing with him for 16 years, that we are now about to do it.

I support this Bill.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I rise in support of A Bill for a Law to provide for the naming of existing and new streets and for the numbering of existing and new buildings for incidental and connected purposes.

This matter is long in coming, I think it was back in 1991 when I was the Member for this Portfolio that we started putting a committee together. I am very pleased to see that this has now come to fruition and I wish to congratulate the Minister for bringing this matter to the House.

I hope that every effort will be made to have this completed as soon as possible and to have the numbering of buildings and naming of streets concluded as soon as possible. Also, I wish to see the same effort made in Cayman Brac and Little Cayman so that we can have this system throughout the islands.

Mr. Speaker, I am happy to give this Bill my full support.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Mr. Speaker, I, too, rise to give this Bill my full support. I feel that it is quite necessary and quite timely and I would also like to endorse my friend from George Town in that I, too, would like to see this extended into my constituency of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, especially when we are at the cross-roads of development, both economically and otherwise.

We find ourselves in the wonderful opportunity of looking at Grand Cayman and seeing some of the mistakes that they have perhaps made in this area so that we can improve thereon. I give it my full support.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation

Hon. Anthony Eden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I, too, rise to give my support to this worthwhile Bill. As you know, it certainly impacts on the delivery of health care services to the islands. With the E-911 system minutes, and sometimes seconds, can mean the difference in saving someone's life. I am pleased to see the support which this Bill has received.

The Speaker: I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it. The Bill has been given a Second Reading.

AGREED: THE ROADS (NAMING AND NUMBERING) BILL, 1997 GIVEN A SECOND READING.

The Speaker: Second Readings, continuing.

THE ANIMALS (AMENDMENT)(STRAYING AND TRESPASSING) BILL, 1997

Clerk: The Animals (Amendment) (Straying and Trespassing) Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I wish to move the second reading for a Bill entitled, A Bill for a Law to amend the Animals Law (1996 Revision). This Bill will amend the Animals Law (1996 Revision) by including dogs and cats among the animals that are required to be controlled by their owners and prevented from trespassing or straying on to the public highway.

While this Bill may seem to be a simple one, it is a very important one. This problem posed today is that not only have we had attacks on cattle and goats, but we have also had attacks on humans. The reason we are bringing this Bill is to instil in the minds of individuals who own animals the need to have more control.

Last year it cost this country a fair amount of money through the Department of Agriculture trying to control stray animals in Grand Cayman. We collected over 1,000 stray dogs, and almost 500 stray cats—animals that were posing a problem not only to cattle but also to humans.

I am pleased to put forward this Bill today, and I ask my colleagues to give it their full support.

The Speaker: The question is the second reading The Animals (Amendment) Straying and Trespassing Bill, 1997. The motion is open for debate.

The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

This is another Bill I have no problem fully supporting. To discuss the Bill would be to repeat what the Mover has already said. However, I would just like to quickly bring to the attention of the Honourable Minister moving the Bill, especially, that a problem exists which this Bill does not cover.

It is apparent that some homeowners have almost become acrimonious in their thoughts about these stray animals. I have been told of two incidents where poison has been placed in the yard of the owners of animals, even though the animal is within the confines of the owners' property. It is apparent that people have crossed over into the property to place poison there.

There was a specific instance where the father of a young child (19 months old) found this poison. Ten minutes before that, the child was in the yard playing. I do not believe that these people intended to poison a child, but I bring that to the attention of the Mover because a fatal accident could have occurred. I do not have the answer to that problem, but I believe that in dealing with it, where it is incumbent upon the animal owners to keep the animals within their boundaries, by way of education or whatever, people should not put poison within the confines of people's properties to get rid of these animals. Children could be hurt.

I just wanted to mention this at this time. Perhaps the powers that be will figure out something to deal with this matter. Nevertheless, I fully support this Bill.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I also rise in support of this Bill which seeks to give some type of responsibility to pet owners. I also feel that it is important to make a distinction between animals that are of some economic use (animals, for instance, such as cattle, which people consume), and animals which people keep as pets. As far as I am concerned that is a luxury because you have to provide food for those animals. I think the responsibility should extend to where people also ensure that these animals are not nuisances to the public.

We have a situation in this country with a lot of dogs, where people just seem to be compelled to get a dog whenever they see a new dog. A lot of dogs are being accumulated in certain areas. We sometimes find where families have up to six or seven dogs. There is no responsibility being exercised.

Animals, like people, trust us; animals, like people, create disturbances; animals, like people, can be nuisances if they are not forced to comply with some type of civil law. But the problem with animals is that they do not have the type of sense that people have. If you tell a dog not to go into your neighbour's yard, it might prove very difficult at the end of the day to train that dog to behave and keep those type of instructions.

I have six cats. It is a big problem keeping them in the yard or in the house because animals, being the way they are, do not see divisions. In other words, there is no road, no neighbour's property...they do not believe in private property like we do. Whatever we want the animal to do, we are going to have to force the people who own the animals to do.

Like I said, I am an animal lover. I own animals and I accept the responsibility for those animals; I feel for those animals and I do not want to see them mistreated by anyone, including by the people whom Government might charge with the responsibility to collect.

I think that even people who love animals have to realise that there are many people who have possession of animals who do not care for them, or anything else, and allow those animals to become nuisances to the public. In some areas one cannot sleep at night because the dogs are barking continuously all night. They roam around, sometimes in packs of 12 to 24 in some neighbourhoods, terrorising the neighbourhood. After 12 midnight, the dogs take over.

I feel that people have to become responsible for their animals. I welcome this Law and hope that it is somehow enforced and also listen to the complaints by neighbours. I am very sympathetic to the people who feel that their animals are being threatened by people who place poison, I know that is a terrible case. Owners of animals must become aware of the fact that their animals can be the greatest annoyance to other peoples' pleasures and freedom.

Thank you.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to debate? If not I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED: THE ANIMALS (AMENDMENT) (STRAYING AND TRESPASSING) BILL, 1997, GIVEN A SECOND READING.

THE PORT AUTHORITY (AMENDMENT) (MEMBERSHIP) BILL, 1997

Clerk: The Port Authority (Amendment) (Membership) Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I beg to move the second reading of a Bill for a Law to Amend the Port Authority Law (1995 Revision). This Bill amends the Port Authority Law (1995 Revision) by increasing the maximum number of members of the Port Authority by two, by making a corresponding increase to the quorum of the Authority, and by authorising the Governor in Council to designate a deputy chairman of the Authority.

The amendments deal specifically with the Board. Under section 3(1), the present Law reads: "There is hereby established a body corporate called the Port Authority of the Cayman Islands which shall consist of the Member or his nominee which shall be Chairman, the Financial Secretary or his nominee, the Chief Engineer and the Collector of Customs who shall be ex-officio members and not more than four or less than two other members who shall be appointed from time to time by the Governor...." The amendment simply changes the "not more than four" to "not more than six".

It adds a subsection 1(a) which reads: "The Governor shall designate one of the members of the Authority as Deputy Chairman of the Authority, who shall serve as such for a period of up to one year and may be re-designated."

In section 3 (4) of the Law, which presently reads: "The Chairman or, in his absence, a member appointed by the other members to act as Chairman shall preside at all meetings and three members present shall form a quorum...." The amendment before the House simply changes the "three members to form a quorum" to "five members to form a quorum."

It goes on to cause "in the absence" to be deleted from section 3 (4), which at present reads: "The Chairman or, in his absence,...." The words "the Deputy Chairman, or in the absence of both of them...."

So it is really an administrative change to give a little bit more flexibility in holding meetings and to also give a better proportion of the private sector representation on that authority than has heretofore prevailed.

I recommend these amendments to this Honourable House.

The Speaker: The motion is open for debate.

If there is no debate I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

FRIDAY
14TH MARCH, 1997
10.04 AM

The Speaker: I will ask the First Elected Member for George Town to say Prayers.

PRAYERS

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that we may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of our high office.

All this we ask for Thy Great Name's sake.

Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

The Speaker: Please be seated. Questions to Honourable Members/Ministers. Question No. 1 is standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE
MEMBERS/MINISTERS

QUESTION NO. 1

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I recognise an error in the question sir, the question should read:

"No. 1: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning what circumstances led to Cayman Airways Limited/Cayman Aviation Leasing to discontinue its plans to purchase a second aircraft."

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, that is not the question that I have been asked. The question that I have is:

"No. 1: What circumstances led to Cayman Airways Limited/Cayman Aviation Leasing discontinuing its plans to purchase a third aircraft." The Member said a "second" aircraft, and I believe he may have made an error there. I am prepared to answer it as I have been given it.

I will give this answer: Cayman Airways has not abandoned...

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: The Minister can answer the question if he likes, but that is not the question. I stated that there was an error in the question, and I brought it to your attention.

The Speaker: Would the Member allow a deferment of that question until we can seek clarification?

Mr. Roy Bodden: Yes.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, if I may just address you briefly.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I hold in my hand the question signed by the Honourable Member, and I am prepared to lay it on the Table of this Honourable House. This is the question that was asked, and I do not think at this late stage, or at any time the Standing Orders say questions cannot be asked, that it is open for the Honourable Member to vary the question if he has made an error.

I would just like to lay this on the Table of the Honourable House. It is signed by the Member. I think this is what I have to answer—otherwise, we could have a lot of difficulty in this Honourable House if, after questions are asked, Members decide to vary them when they have made mistakes, or when they wish to better position themselves politically.

Thank you, sir. But I will abide by your ruling.

The Speaker: I rule that we will go ahead and have the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning answer the question as set down on the Order Paper. If the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town wishes to, he can set out another substantive question at a later date.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, may I call to the Chair's attention that the Chair agreed that the question may be deferred?

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, in accordance with your wish, may I now answer the question?

The Speaker: Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning, please answer the question.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Cayman Airways has not abandoned its plans to purchase a third aircraft.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, am I to understand that my question, having been deferred, can come again at some subsequent time during this Sitting?

The Speaker: I will make a ruling and discuss that with you at a later date.

Supplementaries? The Third Elected Member for George Town.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I wonder if the Honourable Minister could say if any of the present aircraft are now due for C-checks or D-checks?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: That does not directly relate to this, but every 15 months there are C-checks done. D-checks normally come every seven years. So one C-check is due every year. Where we are with D-checks would be many years off. I was not prepared for this because it really is not relevant. I am trying to supply the Honourable Member with a reply as best as I can.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I wish to thank the Honourable Minister. It is just that it had come to my attention that since the aircraft are somewhat old, they are now due for the D-checks.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Since the Honourable Member has made a statement, may I just reply to that?

These aircraft are very safe, very reliable and the reason why we have these old aircraft is that during the time that the Honourable Member was in Government they sold the 727-200s which were much newer aircraft. All money received for those two jets was wasted.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, we will go on to question No. 2, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 2

No. 2: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation if the Cayman Counselling Centre has any responsibility for counselling at the Cayman Islands Marine Institute.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Cayman Counselling Centre is providing, at no cost to Cayman Islands Marine Institute, drug counselling services via a group process held at the Cayman Counselling Centre offices on a weekly basis. Four youths are scheduled to attend this group.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say when these counselling sessions were instituted and what the duration of the programme is?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: It was decided in January to change the location of the counselling programme offered at the Cayman Islands Marine Institute. It was agreed that the programme would be evaluated after 90 days. Therefore, since a short time has elapsed since the location changed, I will not supply the rest of the information as to where the programme is now.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Could the Honourable Minister state if there are any other types of counselling services being made available via the Cayman Counselling Centre to the CIMI other than drug counselling?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: No, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Would the Honourable Minister be in a position to say if he knows if there are any other requests, even if it is not being done?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: There are other requests.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Would the Honourable Minister be able to say if there are any plans to address such a request?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Only if it is drug related.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Could the Honourable Minister state if there are any other agencies looking into these requests which might be in a position to deal with that type of counselling?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Mr. Speaker, I would prefer to decline from answering that. There are a number, such as EAP, and other counselling agencies that do what he is referring to.

The Speaker: The next question is No. 3, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 3

No. 3: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation how many prisoners are enrolled in counselling sessions held by the Cayman Counselling Centre at Northward Prison.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: There are currently 13 prisoners enrolled in drug and alcohol counselling sessions held by the Cayman Counselling Centre at Northward Prison. The 13 clients are comprised of six women and seven men.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say what the length of this programme is?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: They last from one hour, to one-and-one-half hours.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I wonder if the Minister can advise us whether or not there is a policy that all prisoners convicted of drug abuse take the counselling sessions at Northward Prison, and, if not, why not?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: No, Mr. Speaker. I would assume that this would be a judicial decision. But I would certainly encourage this.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister state what the time span of this programme is, whether it is three weeks or more?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: There is no set time. It is something which goes on all the time.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Since it is not a policy that all convicted drug offenders have to enroll in this programme, could the Minister state the method by which individuals become involved in the programme?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: This is mainly voluntary. They are made aware of what is offered and receive encouragement from their peers.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Does the Cayman Counselling Centre have any plans to try and educate these prisoners about the benefits of counselling in relation to their circumstances?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: This is available when they come to Northward, but we would certainly look forward to advertising the availability of counselling at the prison.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Could the Minister give an undertaking that the management of the Cayman Counselling Centre will liaise with management at the Prison with a view to bringing this process to fruition? It is unnatural to expect these prisoners to engage in the programme of their own volition.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Yes, Mr. Speaker. As a matter of fact, we are working along with the Chief Secretary's office and look forward to dove-tailing and complementing what we are doing here.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Minister say what happens to a prisoner who was enrolled in counselling during his stay in prison upon his release?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Once prisoners are ready for release, they are encouraged to join group and individual counselling which is available at Cayman Counselling Centre.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I wonder if the Honourable Minister can say what options are available to prisoners or other drug abusers who need residential care or treatment?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: The only residential care available at this time would be overseas.

The Speaker: The next question is No. 4, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

No 4: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning if any time-line has been developed for the physical upgrading of existing Government educational facilities in the Cayman Islands.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: All Government education facilities in the Cayman Islands are well maintained and are in good operating order. Each year principals submit a comprehensive report that details what is needed in regard to repairs and upgrading of facilities. These works are then scheduled over the summer vacation and throughout the school year. Additionally, the Education Department and Public Works schedule other capital works, such as re-roofing, re-paving and major additions over a multi-year period so as to ensure the ongoing quality of school facilities.

A number of projects aimed at upgrading the physical plans of existing Government educational facilities have been scheduled for 1997 to 1998. Some of these projects are scheduled to be completed within the 1997-1998 time-frame, while others are scheduled to begin during the said period.

The following is the time-line which has been developed for the physical upgrading of existing Government educational facilities in the Cayman Islands:

- ◆ 1997- the completion of the changing facility at the George Hicks High School.
- ◆ July 1997 completion of the art block at George Hicks High School.
- ◆ 1997- major kitchen renovations at Bodden Town Primary School.
- ◆ 1997- construction of new classroom block at Creek Primary School.
- ◆ 1997- construction of multi-purpose Hall at Spot Bay Primary School.
- ◆ 1997-1998 construction of the multi-purpose Hall at John A Cumber Primary School.
- ◆ 1997-1998 construction of the Administration block and multi-purpose Hall at Red Bay Primary School.
- ◆ 1997-1998 carry out various re-roofing projects at schools as necessary.
- ◆ 1997-1998 implement phase I of the programme to install air-conditioning at all existing schools.
- ◆ 1998 - construction of canteen and Hall at George Hicks High School.
- ◆ 1997 - construction of the Lighthouse School.

In addition, various minor works as recommended by the Education Department and Public Works, including upgrading security lighting, fire alarm systems, bathrooms, hard courts, and other facilities as necessary, will be undertaken within the 1997-1998 time-frame

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Could the Honourable Minister state exactly what the work entails for the major kitchen renovations at Bodden Town Primary School?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: With the help of the Honourable lady Member from Bodden Town and also the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation, we have been able to develop a project which will deal with the extensive renovations. There are some $88,000 for upgrading the kitchen facilities at the Bodden Town Primary School.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: So that the Minister will understand the line of the supplementary question, I know there are monies in the Estimates, and I know that it says 'major renovations'. Does it entail enlarging the facility, redoing the facility, or exactly what does it entail?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I would have to give the Member the actual specific details of that in writing. It will be extensive renovations, replacement of what equipment needs to be replaced, areas within the walls and floor that either need redoing or refurbishing. I understand that possibly better ventilation will be installed.

However, I am a lawyer, not a contractor, and I would have to get the details from the construction specialists at the Public Works Department.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: In the answer provided by the Honourable Minister, the construction of the Lighthouse School was included. I wonder if he can say what this project is now estimated to cost, in light of recent developments which have put a (should I say?) stumbling block in the way of the purchase of the Cayman Foods Building for this purpose?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The estimated project is now some $6 million, a cost that has had to be considerably increased because of the politics surrounding it, and the project has been delayed over the past year or so.

The actual details of the facility, the architectural brief, is being prepared and we have a specialist from the United Kingdom who specialises in schools for persons who are physically and mentally challenged for the Lighthouse School. In fact, that aspect is now going on.

I am also endeavouring, as this project is the number one project for the Government this year in Education, to move with it as quickly as I can.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister describe what is meant by "implement Phase I of the programme to install air-conditioning at all existing schools"?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The National Team Government took a decision, along with at least one of the independent Backbenchers in this Honourable House, to air-condition class rooms in the present schools. This is now going to be undertaken. It will be phased in over a period of time. How long that will be, I am not sure at this stage, some school class rooms are easier to air-condition than others.

It will include Cayman Brac. On my recent visit four or five weeks back, I noticed that some of the class rooms, especially at the primary school, were very hot. This will now be pursued as a National Team and Government policy over the next few years.

While I would prefer to see that the air-conditioning goes first into the class rooms which are the hottest, in which the younger children are, I am awaiting a schedule from Public Works Department.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Would the Minister be in a position to state if any property has been identified for the location of the Lighthouse School?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The last property identified was stopped because of politics, as that Member knows, since another politician's family owned it. Since that time, I have been endeavouring to find five acres of land located beside a primary school. The concept of dealing with the physically and mentally challenged in the strategic planning is that they should be, as far as possible, integrated with children in the schools even it is only for a half-hour, or one hour per week.

The importance of being able to purchase that five acres of land beside the school was very important. Perhaps, through politics, we will have handicapped children suffering. But I am doing my best because this is Government's number one project - to see that the Lighthouse School is built - so that the children who are physically and mentally challenged in all three islands, get every advantage to progress to their fullest abilities, mentally and physically.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: In view of the majority which the Minister enjoyed in this Honourable House during the last administration, and for clarification on behalf of the listening public, can he explain how a minority of Members in this House could possibly have prevented him from purchasing the property for the Lighthouse School?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: That Honourable Member knows the answer. It was bitterly opposed by that Honourable Member, by the Democratic Alliance and by Team Cayman. When we come to the Estimates, it will be shown that the public is going to have to pay a very large and excessive amount of money because they did not take advantage of that property. It was stopped by politics. It was a bitter fight which has hurt the handicapped children and adults of this country. There was so much pressure put on, that it became the topic of constant harassment and pressure on me and the National Team.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Would that Honourable Member state whether any of the Members he mentioned from the Democratic Alliance who were opposing this were sitting Members of this House?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I do not want to prolong this, but that Member knows that at every public meeting, including those on television which that Honourable Member held along with the sitting Member of this House (the First Elected Member for George Town), they got up and bitterly opposed building a school for the handicapped children of this country. That is recorded on television and in the press. It was opposed throughout.

The Speaker: I will allow one further supplementary, the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say if at one of those meetings he mentioned, the current First Elected Member for George Town produced a document which stated that the Lighthouse School was not stopped as a result of any action taken by any Opposition Member, but, rather, as a result of a directive?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I am not too sure where this is going to lead. The fact is that a confidential document of Government was either wrongly taken or stolen and given to the Honourable Member producing it. That Honourable Member had to know it was a confidential document. It was wrong for him to publicly stand up and attempt to use a confidential document between a Permanent Secretary and the Honourable Financial Secretary of this country.

If the country deteriorates to a state where Honourable Members of this House are prepared to take confidential documents of Government and go public with them, and not explain where they got them from, then this country will begin to crumble socially. It is wrong for an unauthorised document, which was confidential and privileged, to be put out publicly.

Perhaps the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town would explain who produced the document, and where it came from, and why he would now support producing and reading a fully confidential document in public.

The Speaker: Question No. 5 is standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 5

No. 5: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning to give an update on the proposed National Education Curriculum.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Following the appointment of a new Senior Education Officer for Curriculum and Test Development, Mr. Herbert Crawford, in September 1996, a philosophy of education governing the national curriculum development works has been produced. A national curriculum advisory committee comprising a representative sample of 16 people from both the private and public sectors has been established. Its role is to provide advice and make recommendations regarding the developments of the national curriculum. Work has also commenced on the core subjects of mathematics and science.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Would the Minister state exactly what core subjects are to be worked on to create the national curriculum?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Maths, Science and Language Arts.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Minister state if there is anyone in the Education Department who has been appointed to deal with the work on Language Arts?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: No. We are moving first with Maths and Science. A national curriculum is a very large project, the largest project in the strategic plan. We believe that to do it right we should take it in a phased stage. These two subjects were chosen first and the Language Arts will follow in due course.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Would the Minister state if at any time anyone had been appointed to deal with Language Arts?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I believe what the Member is asking.... Mr. Beckles was in a post and he has been working on this for a short period of time now.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Minister state if it will be necessary to recruit any overseas personnel for participation in this exercise?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Since under the Constitution I do not get into personnel matters, I would hope that the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town would not push me into that area. As I understand the policy, it is to always recruit Caymanians wherever Caymanians are available and qualified for the post. I would think that will be followed in this instance, sir.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Is the Honourable Minister saying that he is not aware of any of the personnel matters in the Education Portfolio?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, once persons are appointed I know of them. I take no part whatsoever—under the Constitution I cannot—in personnel matters, whether it is an appointment, a termination, for discipline or whatever. So, my answer is, yes, I am aware of certain things in there, but I do not really come into the recruiting process and it is therefore difficult for me to answer questions relating to staff.

As that Member is new here, normally questions on staff are answered by the Honourable Chief Secretary.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I may be new, but what I am asking (and perhaps it is a bit difficult to formulate) is whether or not the policy of hiring is part of the overall policy. In other words, if you have an educational strategy, whether or not the policy of hiring people to carry out that strategy is a part of policy.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The policy in relation to hiring for strategies... and Mr. Speaker, the policy of hiring and the policies related to it, other than the fact that we vote money and posts in this House before Finance Committee, I am not in a position, in fact I do not even interview my secretary with whom I have to work with in my office. The Constitution is very rigid on this in that I cannot interfere or get involved in policy matters relating to staff. I think that if the Member means that if a policy comes in which requires further staff, then that comes to this Honourable House in Finance Committee.

For example, this time there is a section called 'New Services'. If there is a policy on the hospital and new staff is needed, it is put in there. But all we do is approve the posts. Yes, it is known once they are in there, and if they are needed then it comes to Finance Committee.

The Speaker: I would like to say that I think we are straying far from the proposed National Education Curriculum. I ask that the supplementary questions arise out of the answer to the substantive question.

The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The Minister stated in one of his answers to a supplementary question that the core subjects for the National Curriculum are Maths, Science and Language Arts. Can the Minister state where, in fact, Social Studies fits into the whole scheme of things?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The core subjects are dealt with first, what we know as the three "R's" Reading, Writing and Arithmetic. After that, all subjects of the curriculum will be dealt with. The move here has been to first deal with two of the core subjects. The other core subject will be finished with a priority over all of the subjects in the curriculum.

The Speaker: Question No. 6 is standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 6

No. 6: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation to give a progress report on the proposed Drug Rehabilitation facility to be located on the Hawley Estate in Breakers.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: In April 1996, Planning approval was granted for the proposed Drug Rehabilitation Facility which is to be located on the Hawley Estate in Breakers. This approval was for a change of use for buildings which are already on the property. Objections by some residents of the district were made to this approval, hence a Planning Appeal has now been scheduled for Tuesday, 18th March, 1997.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Minister say if the appeal as stated in his answer is a tribunal appeal?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Minister state if work will go on immediately if the tribunal upholds the previous decision of the Central Planning Authority?

The Speaker: I think you are asking the Honourable Minister for an opinion. I cannot allow that.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Speaker, with the greatest of respect, I believe that my question is based on a circumstance which may occur, and it does not have a thing to do with opinion.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Mr. Speaker, as this is sub judice, I think that I should refrain from answering any further questions until after the 18th, which I will then undertake to do.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: In view of the policies and programmes of the Canaan Land project, can the Honourable Member say if any consideration has been given to combining both of these programmes in order to avoid possible duplication of efforts and expense?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Discussions will be held.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say if the need is great enough at this time to support two ventures as is now the case?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: The next question is No. 7, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 7

No. 7: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning how many applicants from Cayman Brac applied for education scholarships during 1996 and how many were granted.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Nine students from Cayman Brac applied to the Education Council for Government scholarships in 1996. Five were granted and four were not. The four not granted were for the following reasons: Three did not meet the academic criteria for a scholarship; and one had no acceptance from college.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say if there is a policy in the Ministry whereby unsuccessful candidates who have gone on to university can reapply, providing they meet the academic standard?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The answer to that is yes. If during the first semester of college the student gets a 3.0 GPA, they are then granted a scholarship. I should point out that for the past four years all applicants who have applied for a scholarship and who have met the criteria set under the law are always granted scholarships.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 8, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 8

No. 8: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning to say whether or not an airport is to be constructed on Little Cayman and, if in the affirmative, when and where.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The answer is, yes. An airport will be constructed on Little Cayman, God willing. It is proposed to begin construction within the year. Preliminary civil engineering surveys have been conducted on various sites, including the existing airport site as well as sites on crown property. The overall cost of the project is now being studied amongst other factors, including the cost to purchase property, if required. A suitable site will then be determined.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say whether or not the residents of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman will have a say in the actual decision-making process as to the precise location?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I will give an undertaking, as the National Team has always done, to consult the residents of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman fully on this matter. We will also involve the necessary Planning and other bodies that should look at such an important decision.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Can the Minister say if any consideration has been given to extending the airstrip and upgrading that in line with the development policies for Little Cayman.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Yes, that is one of the sites under very serious consideration. My reference to the cost of acquiring the property was actually referring to the present site.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say whether or not the concentration of residential properties is nearer to the existing site or the other proposed location?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The present site has some problem in relation to the concentration of residences and other buildings. This is being considered.

I think we first have to look at safety. Buildings nearby create a problem in that respect. Secondly, there is cost, because the public should pay as little as possible for the building of that strip or any other work that Government does. I do know that one of the sites is totally away from both the birds and the residential area. But until we can get a full costing on the alternative sites it will be difficult to say exactly what may happen.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Is the Honourable Minister aware that a document entitled "Immediate Policies and Actions for Planning and Development on Little Cayman" was tabled in this Honourable House in 1991 which suggested that every effort should be made not to extend the airfield in Little Cayman beyond 1,000 feet?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: First of all, the airport in Little Cayman has been beyond 1,000 feet during the whole period that Honourable Member was in this House. It is in the area of 2,500 to 2,700 feet. What will be done, and His Excellency stated this in the Throne Speech, is to keep it within a length of 3,000 square feet. The document referred to was a document which the Honourable Member laid on this Table in 1991. That document, very dangerously and seriously, failed to comply with the Development and Planning Law. Instead of the Member doing what the Law said, which is a democratic process of having the document referred to the public and receiving public input as required under the Law for two months and then going through the process of referring it back to the Central Planning Authority and the Development Authority in the Brac, what appeared to me was that the democratic process set down under the Law was circumvented. That document is void and unlawful under the Development and Planning Law.

Having said that, it is a document I believe can be used (when I deal in the proper way under the Law) with a development plan for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, but it will be in accordance with the wishes of the people of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman after they have had their full representation.

The Speaker: It is now 11 o'clock. If Members wish to continue with Question Time, a Member should move the suspension of Standing Order 23(7).

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Speaker, I move the suspension of Standing Order 23 (7) to enable the remaining questions on the Order Paper to be asked.

The Speaker: The question is that Standing Order 23(7) and (8) be suspended so that Question Time can continue. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8) SUSPENDED TO ENABLE QUESTION TIME TO CONTINUE.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Just to clarify the point made by the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning, if he had listened closely he would have noted that I said "extended beyond what is there now." It was proposed to extend this to the west to ensure safety.

As regards the propriety and legality of this document, I would just like to remind the Honourable Minister that you were, in fact, the vice chairman of the committee...

Hon. Truman M. Boddan: Mr. Speaker, may I just take a point of order?

POINT OF ORDER

The Speaker: Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning, may I hear the point of order?

Hon. Truman M. Boddan: The point of order is that the Honourable Member is making a statement. I would like to point out that I never referred to any members of the committee. I only referred to what that Honourable Member did.

The Speaker: I think the Honourable Minister is correct. You are not allowed to make a statement at this time. Please refrain from that.

Do you have a further supplementary question?

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Would the Honourable Minister state whether he is aware that the document referred to as "The Immediate Policies and Actions for Planning and Development on Little Cayman" was laid on the Table of this Honourable House and accepted by the House?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Boddan: Mr. Speaker, I am aware that it happened. What I pointed out, and it has no reflection on anyone other than that Honourable Member, is that that plan is not a legal development plan. It has not complied with the Law. I appreciate all that the Member has done. I thank him very much. It can be used as a basis for moving on with a further development plan. But the document, because of what the Honourable Member did by not following the Law and going back to the people giving two months for representation, short circuited that process. Laying of that document on the table does nothing for the document legally.

As I said, even though he circumvented or did not understand the process, it is a document that will be useful for what is being done, and I thank all Members who put effort into it.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Speaker, I thank the Honourable Minister for his assessment, but wish to remind him that the Director of Planning and the Deputy Director of Planning were members of this committee. I will turn that now into a question: Is the Honourable Minister aware that the Director of Planning and the Deputy Director of Planning were members of the committee in question?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Boddan: Mr. Speaker, that Honourable Member was in charge then, and if he says that was the position, then I accept that. What I am saying is that he circumvented the Law. I am not saying any of the Members who were on the committee did, but the Honourable Member believed (whether he was wrongly advised or not) that laying that plan on the Table produced a legal development plan.

The previous Government was unable for eight years to get anywhere with development plans. That one cannot be used as a development plan because it is unlawful under the Law. The democratic right of representation and the procedure laid down was not followed.

The Speaker: I think we have gone far from the construction of an airport on Little Cayman. We will go on to the next question, which is No. 9, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 9

No. 9: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning to state how many special education teachers are employed by the Education Department in Cayman Brac.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: There are three trained Special Education Teachers in Cayman Brac and one Support Assistant working with a special child. One teacher works at the High School and two teachers work out of the Teachers' Centre providing services to the primary schools. The Special Support Assistant works with one student at Creek Primary School.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say if there are any plans to amalgamate the students into one central location?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: There has always been, and will continue to be, discussion in this area. One aspect which has been discussed (but is in the very preliminary stage with no decisions made whatsoever) was whether the students would be better served by the equivalent of the Lighthouse School—having the teachers in one centre where they would all give their best to the students who are physically challenged.

This is a highly specialised area. Other than saying that, I would not like to venture into what the decision may be.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say how often assessments are made on the special education teachers on Cayman Brac?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Assessment would be done, to the best of my knowledge, on a quarterly basis with continuing assessment throughout the full quarter, culminating in a report. I may not be fully correct on that, but that is the way I recall it.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say what the procedure is for bringing a concern one might have with a special education teacher to the Ministry?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Any concerns should go into the Chief Education Officer. Like all concerns relating to children and schools, that would be looked at very carefully.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 10, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 10

No. 10: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport to state whether Government is supportive of private sector individuals offering assistance to Cuba in the development of their tourism industry.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: The Cayman Islands' Government has not made any official statement for or against private sector individuals offering assistance to Cuba in the development of their tourism industry.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Is the Honourable Minister aware of any private sector individuals so involved? If so, what action has been taken to discourage such activities in light of the US sanctions against Cuba?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: In order for me to answer that question intelligently, can the Honourable Member asking the question be more specific?

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I will do whatever I can to assist the Honourable Minister. Is the Minister aware of any private sector individual involved in assisting Cuba with the development of their tourism industry, and, if so, what action has been taken to discourage such assistance in light of the US sanctions against Cuba?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I will give the answer I thought to give in the first place since the Member did not shed any light on it: It is a Foreign Affairs matter, and nothing has come to my desk, officially, that points to individuals who are giving any assistance to Cuba in the development of their tourism industry.

The Speaker: That concludes Question Time for this morning.

The Speaker: I have an apology from the Fourth Elected Member for West Bay.

RULING ON QUESTION NO. 1

The Speaker: Before we go on, it is regrettable that the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town is not in the Chamber, as I have done some research on his signed original question. It did state "third aircraft."

We will now go on to Presentation of Papers and Reports. The Draft National Pension Plan.

The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

PRESENTATION OF PAPERS AND REPORTS

DRAFT NATIONAL PENSIONS (GENERAL) REGULATIONS, 1997

-and-

DRAFT NATIONAL PENSIONS (PENSION FUND INVESTMENTS) REGULATIONS, 1997

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr. Speaker, I beg to lay on the Table of this Honourable House a Draft of the National Pensions (General) Regulations and Draft National Pensions (Pension Fund Investments) Regulations.

Mr. Speaker and Honourable Members, I am pleased to be able to release the Discussion Drafts of the Pensions Regulations to you today. These are the first two sets of what is intended to be three sets of Regulations. The two sets which my Ministry is able to release today are the National Pensions (Pension Fund Investments) Regulations, and the National Pensions (General) Regulations. As implied in the name, the first set deals with the Investment guidelines which any approved pension plan or fund operating in Cayman will have to comply with, and the second set of Regulations deal with a number of general and procedural matters.

I would have liked to have released these Drafts earlier, but other considerations and activities impeded this. My Ministry appreciates the work of the National Pension Law Advisory Committee and the Legislative Drafting Department in connection with these Drafts.

As the House is aware, the National Pensions Law which was passed in the Legislative Assembly in July 1996, and is scheduled to come into effect on 1st July, 1997, is very comprehensive and contains many of the provisions which are normally contained in regulations. Therefore, by referring to the Law and these Draft Regulations, employers and prospective Approved Providers will be able to assess the 'state of readiness' of their pension plan, or know what they need to do to comply with the legislation.

I am releasing with the Drafts, a summary of the main sections for ease of reference. Government is seeking the services of outside technical expertise to assist in the Drafting of the third set of Regulations. This set would deal mainly with valuation procedures for new or existing Defined Benefit Pension Plans, as well as various actuarial provisions. I hope to have this third set available for review some time in April. Subject to the results of this public consultation exercise, it is my Ministry's intention to take the Regulations to the Legislative Assembly in June for the Affirmative Resolution which is required under section 94 (6) of the National Pensions Law.

My Ministry would appreciate receiving written feedback by the end of April. If necessary, meetings can be held with associations, employers or individuals during this consultation period. Early feedback is needed as this may impact the drafting of the third set of Regulations. Copies of the Draft Regulations can be collected from my Ministry or from the Legislative Assembly.

Finally, let me say that in tandem with the drafting of Regulations and any necessary tidying-up of the legislation, Government will also be making arrangements for the institutional framework—particularly the Superintendent of Pensions. It is hoped that the office of the Superintendent can be established by June, so that when the Law comes into effect on 1st July we will have ample time to ensure that all employers are in compliance with the Law by 1st January, 1998.

Government has not yet approved or registered any firms or individuals as Approved Providers, however I encourage all employers (including self-employed persons) to review any proposals which are presented to them and to seek advice from my Ministry if necessary.

I trust that before too long we will have the legislative and institutional framework in place which will ensure that all employees who contribute will have proportionate resources to provide a decent retirement for them. This is a noble and prudent objective and my Ministry is honoured to be able to spearhead this long overdue initiative. Thank you very much.

The Speaker: Statements by Members of Government. The Honourable Minister for Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

STATEMENTS BY MEMBERS/MINISTERS OF THE GOVERNMENT

MAY - THE MONTH OF THE CHILD

(11.22 AM)

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: This statement is in regard to the declaration of May as the Month of the Child.

Although the actual origin of Child Month is unclear, the concept of setting aside a month each year in which to focus on issues pertaining to children is widely accepted and practised throughout the world, and has been for many years. In most countries, the month of May is considered as the month of the child and Child Month celebrations therefore take place during this period. There are a few countries, however, where Child Month is celebrated at a different time of the year.

Within the Caribbean region Child Month celebrations are seen as a very significant and important event in the calendar. The overall responsibility for the planning and implementation of Child Month activities usually falls under the responsibility of the local agencies or agency responsible for the care and welfare of the children of that country. Participation in these activities takes place at every level from Government to the community.

Child Month is acknowledged and supported by the United Nations, and in Barbados where it has been celebrated for more than 30 years, the local UNICEF office provides funding for some of the various projects.

In our efforts to better serve the community, especially the children, we have adopted a more pro-active approach with the services we offer. Through our recently developed Child Protection Programme we have embarked on a public education drive which we hope will have a significant impact on the incidence of child abuse and neglect. The implementation of Child Month as an annual event is one way in which we hope to get the entire country to pay closer attention to the children and their welfare. We are seeking to involve the church, the various Government departments, service clubs and other organisations and business houses as well as the ordinary citizen in these celebrations.

Among the things which we hope to have established is the designation of the first Saturday and first Sunday of May as Children's Sabbath and Children's Sunday. Our recommendation is that all church services held on these days be dedicated to children and that children be allowed to participate at every level possible, including the reading of the sermon where appropriate. The Department of Social Services will select a different church each year where departmental staff and invited guests will worship.

It is planned that on May 1st, the month's celebrations will officially commence with an opening address to the country. Also on that day the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning will hopefully address the schools via the school broadcast system.

The Speaker: Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

BUDGET ADDRESS

DELIVERED BY THE HON THIRD OFFICIAL MEMBER, FINANCIAL SECRETARY, ON WEDNESDAY, 12TH MARCH, 1997

(12 Noon)

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

First, let me officially welcome you to your first Session as Presiding Officer. With time and experience I am sure you will do an outstanding job. You will be successful because your heart is in the right place. Let me also be the first to offer congratulations to His Excellency the Governor, Mr. John Owen, and the Honourable Financial Secretary for the positive message reflected in the Throne Speech and Budget Address for 1997.

I would also like to offer my congratulations to the National Team Government headed by the Ministers for the fine job it is doing in keeping the country on the right course. Reflected in the addresses is the message that the country enjoys full employment and all major sectors of the economy continue to show positive growth. I am also proud of the fact that the Cayman Islands have arrived at the position of being one of the major financial centres in the world. As a result of our progress and growth, the Government is called upon to provide more and more services to the general public as a whole.

For example, in the area of health care, tremendous progress is being made with respect to the construction of a new hospital which will be second to none in the region upon completion, and will offer an expanded range of medical services. I visited the compound the other day with a number of my colleagues and I must say that I was very impressed with the magnitude of the project and the progress being made towards its completion. The other good thing about the project is that once it is completed it will be very practical. There has been extensive input from the staff at the hospital and other health care providers in the country.

In addition to that, construction is underway for new health care clinics in West Bay, North Side and East End. I think I am correct in saying that there will be full time doctors designated for these clinics and some of them will offer 24-hour medical service to the community. I am aware that, at least in West Bay, an ambulance service will be attached to the new health care clinic of that district.

In addition, there is also a great demand for roads by the general public because of the tremendous increase in traffic. As a result, Government has begun work on the Harquail bypass and is also working to provide a bypass in the Crewe Road area to help ease congestion.

By way of new schools, there is the need for a new Lighthouse School because the present site has become inadequate. It is estimated that it will cost in the region of $6 million for this new facility. What I would like to add at this stage is that we could have had the property and a building could have been renovated to house the Lighthouse School students, plus the Red Bay Primary School assembly hall, at a cost of just over $2 million. If Team Cayman and the members of the Democratic Alliance, led by the First and Third Elected Members for George Town, had not made such a political issue of the proposed purchase of the Cayman Foods Building.

Due to the population growth in the district, the Government is called upon to look at the possibility of constructing a new primary school in West Bay. West Bay and George Town also need civic centres which will be used as hurricane centres for the districts. The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works has reminded me that the district of Gun Bay also needs a civic centre. The West Bay facility has been estimated to cost in the region of $3 million. There is a need for Government to move on with the required renovating and equipping of the rehabilitation centre at the Hawley Estate. It is estimated to cost in excess of $1 million when completed. Also in the works is the development of a playing field for the district of Bodden Town at a cost in excess of $1 million.

The point I am trying to make is that these services cost money and someone has to pay for the services—either we pay now or we pay later. I will deal later on with the Budget issue, but let me now turn to providing details on the various sectors of our economy.

The first sector I would like to deal with is Tourism. I am pleased to see that tourism is growing at a steady pace, one that can be accommodated by these islands. For example, the number of visitors to the Cayman Islands, both stay-over and cruise ship passenger arrivals, generated $1.1 million in 1996. Broken down further, there were 682,800 cruise ship arrivals; this reflects a 13% increase over 1995. Our stay-over visitors totalled 373,200 which represented a 3% annual increase over 1995.

In 1996, the Cayman Islands continued to market itself as a quality destination by targeted advertising and public relations programmes. It has also made an effort to attract the up-scale visitor by adding additional tourist attractions. Over the past year, the Heritage and Display Gardens at the Queen Elizabeth II Botanic Park was completed; an internationally recognised dive site was created in Cayman Brac; and work on the preservation and restoration of the Pedro St James Castle is well underway.

What is encouraging is the contribution that tourism makes to our economy. In 1996, visitors spent about $357 million. The other encouraging thing is the progress made by the Honourable Minister for Tourism, assisted by me, in creating some tour business for the independent taxi operators. This is going very well. I was told that this group carried some 196 people on tour. That is a far cry from where it started. I think on the first day they had 11 or 13 people. They deeply appreciate what this Government has done in order to create some business for them and to ensure that they also continue to benefit from the prosperity that we enjoy in this country.

I am also aware that the Minister for Tourism is working on a plan to assist the independent small Caymanian water sports operators. Details will be finalised as to the liability insurance the cruise ships require to be in place. Plans are also well underway to establish permanent moorings in the George Town Harbour which visiting cruise ships can tie up to. Hopefully this will reverse the trend of destruction that is presently very evident when visiting the site where the ships land. I believe that even after this is done it will take some time before we see any marked improvement in regard to the marine life or coral.

I encourage the Minister to also look into the possibility of providing permanent moorings in the area of Spotts and the district of West Bay. With the increased number of cruise ship passengers that we now have, the traffic situation becomes much more congested. If we had some of those ships sent to Spotts or West Bay it would ease this congestion.

Real estate continues to move at a very rapid pace. In 1996 the value of land transfers passed the $200 million mark to $276 million. As we are all aware, the Government gets a significant percentage of their revenue from land transfers. In 1996 the Government collected some $23 million from the sale of real estate, as compared to $20 million collected in 1995.

There has been some concern expressed by locals that too much of our property is being purchased by one or two large foreign investors. It has been suggested that we look at the possibility of leasing property on a long term basis as they do in Bermuda rather than outright selling of property. I do not think that is a bad idea, but I think it is a little late for that. If one checks it out, the majority of property being sold was held previously by foreign investors. I do not believe that we can tamper too much with the real estate market because of the tremendous contribution that it makes to our local economy.

I am very pleased with the fact that a lot of construction is presently going on, that is, commercial office buildings, condominiums, as well as a number of private residences that are not only owned by foreign investors living here, but local Caymanians are also moving forward with home construction. In 1996 a total of $215 million of planned new construction was approved - an increase of about 25 per cent compared to the 1995 figure of $173 million. What is also encouraging is that employment in the construction industry is 100% at the present time. I remember when we took over in 1992 that many local contractors and people employed by the construction industry were sitting on their hands because there was nothing to do. The opposite is the case right now where a lot of our contractors have more work than they can handle. That is a good position to be in. I would rather see that than the opposite where people are out of work and unable to support their families and pay their mortgages. This speaks well of the administration of the National Team Government.

The financial industry continues to make a very positive and important contribution to our economy. According to the Financial Secretary that sector now employs some 4,000 people. I also want to congratulate the companies operating here for investing in and training many of our Caymanians. I have noted, especially in the area of accountancy, where quite a few of our Caymanians have received their qualification as CPAs. I think that their training was financed by the companies they worked for in both instances.

The decision with respect to the Mutual Funds Legislation was also very wise. There has been a tremendous growth experienced in that area. At the end of 1996 we had 1,335 regulated mutual funds licensed here, compared to 1,200 in 1995. We also continue to experience positive growth on the banking side. Thirty-seven new banking and trust licences were issued in 1996. Today the Cayman Islands can boast that the world's largest banks all have a presence here in the Cayman Islands. I think that speaks well of the jurisdiction. I congratulate the Financial Secretary and his staff for the fine job they are doing in that area.

About a year ago, this House supported the reduction of company fees brought by the Financial Secretary in light of competition from elsewhere. That has proved to be a very positive and wise decision. As a result of that the Cayman Islands continue to experience a large percentage of new company registration. At the end of 1996 the register showed 37,919 registered in the Cayman Islands, an increase of 11.5% over 1995.

In keeping with our leadership position, the Cayman Islands moved ahead by putting facilities in place to complete the attraction as a major financial centre with the establishment of the local stock exchange and the creation of a Monetary Authority. What this means is that no longer will companies wishing to be registered have to go to London, or New York, or Japan, or one of the other stock exchanges in order to have this service. They can do it right here in the Cayman Islands.

I believe that things are on a good footing, and this country is moving ahead, despite the Opposition's attempt to paint a different picture.

In the area of Sports, we have had much criticism from the Opposition in regard to the facilities we make available to our young people. I find this hard to understand because it has been proven that if young people are provided with wholesome activities where they can expend their energies, then, in the long run, the country will be in a better position to create outstanding and responsible young people.

Presently, we have scheduled an indoor facility for West Bay which is going to cost some $3 million. We have a playing field slated for Bodden Town which is going to cost us just over $1 million, and there is also money to extend and improve the play field in Old Man Bay as well.

Anyone who took advantage to go and see our Cayman Islands National team in basketball compete against the visiting Canadian team will come to the conclusion that our investment in sports has paid tremendous dividends. On Tuesday or Wednesday night I commented on the radio that basketball in the Cayman Islands has arrived. I recall that for many years we dreaded the visit of soccer teams from Jamaica. That is no longer the case. The first few times their basketball team came down to play against our National team (which was shortly after we had put a national coach in place) they beat us. That is no longer the case. We have risen above the level of competition available and now have to look elsewhere for competition.

I must also applaud the Minister for Sports for his commitment in providing the personnel and in bringing forward requests for sporting facilities felt to be in the best interest of our young people. The National Team Government is committed to ensuring that our young people have the facilities they need in this area.

I recall that prior to the National Team Government taking over in 1992, we had a visiting basketball team from Belize. The visiting coaches made some very negative comments with regard to the quality of facilities available for sports in this country, in light of the fact that the Cayman Islands enjoy one of the highest standards of living of any country in the region (probably in the world!). The difference was that the 1988-1992 Government led by the then Member for Education from West Bay did not have any real commitment or interest in providing the facilities that we need for our young people. I want to applaud the Minister for Sports for his commitment in this area.

I also recall that many years ago if we saw a $500 contribution to sports from the Government that was plenty. Today, especially in the area of basketball and football, those contributions to the sporting associations are now in the thousands of dollars. That also reflects this Government's commitment to sports.

Police: I am very pleased with the good job the Police have done in reducing the level of criminal activity in this country. I know that they are vigilant in ensuring that this area of concern is kept under control. The safety of our destination is probably one of the greatest advantages that we have with regard to attracting visitors from the outside.

An employee of mine from Jamaica recently told me that when he went home for a visit he could not wait to get back because of the level of criminal activity in his country. What concerns me, and maybe it is as a result of the influence from television because gangs are a very big thing amongst minorities in the United States, is that this type of activity is being organised here at the present time.

I heard of an instance recently where there was a teenage gathering scheduled at the West Bay Town Hall. Some of the young men from West Bay attended that function. Before they got inside there were some boys, I think in particular from the district of George Town, who actually attacked one particular young man. They not only attacked him, but physically harmed him. It is fortunate that he escaped with his life.

I am quite sure, Mr. Speaker, that you share my concern. That type of activity cannot be tolerated under any circumstances in this country. What we need is for the police to be vigilant in arresting these persons who engage in this type of activity. We also need...

POINT OF ORDER
(Sub judice matter)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order.

The Speaker: May I hear your point of order?

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: It is my understanding that this matter which the Honourable Member is referring to is now before the court, and therefore a sub judice matter. It should not be raised in this Honourable House.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Mr. Speaker, it is my information that it is not before the courts. There are plans in terms of maybe bringing charges against these individuals involved. But at the present time it is not before the courts. That is my understanding.

The Speaker: In view of the possibility that it may be, I ask that you move on to another subject, please.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I would just like to end there by saying that in addition to the police, we also need the support of the courts in seeing that matters of this nature brought before them are dealt with in severity.

In my mind there are still too many persons on the streets, particularly in my district of West Bay, who are involved in drug abuse or trafficking. I would urge the respective section of the police responsible for this area to pay closer attention to the district. I am sure that it is probably the case in all of the other districts, especially the outer ones. We must do everything that we can to eliminate the scourge of drug abuse and trafficking in this country.

Someone told me recently that they do not have a drug trafficking problem in China because their policy is very simple: If you are caught, charged and convicted of drug trafficking, they take you out and shoot you. I am not sure that we have to resort to that measure, but I think it is important to recognise the seriousness of this matter with regard to the survival of our country.

One of the things I have pushed for, and I still do not understand why it has not been done, is for Government to look at providing the services presently being offered by the Central Police Station, particularly the Traffic Department with respect to inspection and licensing of cars in the outer districts. If one were to go by the Traffic Department at the end of the month or the first few days of any month, one would see the chaos that we have there. It does not take much to provide the service in the other districts. I suggest that the model be started in West Bay, as it is one of the larger districts.

I recall when I was in Washington DC on training for the Government, that it was not necessary to go to the police station to get the car inspected and then walk back inside to get it licensed. They had designated garages or service stations that were officially recognised to do inspections. They would inspect the car because they knew what the Traffic Department requirements were. Once those requirements were met, they signed off on it. Then the fees were paid at the Traffic Department. I understand that a survey was taken and the garages said they could no longer do it for $10. I do not blame them. But I would welcome the option to go to a garage in my district and pay $25 to have my car inspected rather than going and waiting in line at the Traffic Department in central George Town for an hour or an hour and a half.

I believe that it can be done, I believe that it should be done, and I see no reason why it has not been done before. I am asking the persons responsible to move forward with that. I also believe that from a revenue point of view that if you provide the convenience for the people, the Traffic Department and Government will be able to more efficiently collect funds owed to them for car inspection and licensing.

In the Budget there is also a provision for adding classrooms for prisoners at Northward Prison. I think this is laudable. While those young men and women are behind bars they should have an opportunity to finish their high school education. The results that I have heard from the prison in this area have been outstanding. Many prisoners have, as a result of the training they received in prison, been able to go on and get a GED, or passes in 'O' levels and other areas. I believe that is one of the reasons they are there in the first place, because of their failure in the academic area they were attracted to crime, and because they were unable to compete with others in the work force for legitimate employment.

The Speaker: I wonder if this would be a convenient time for the luncheon suspension?

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Yes, sir.

The Speaker: Proceedings are suspended until 2.15 p.m.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 12.45 PM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 2.55 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated. I have been asked by the Government to rearrange the Business. I call upon the Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

MOTION TO SUSPEND STANDING ORDER 14 ARRANGEMENT OF BUSINESS

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I beg to move the suspension of Standing Order 14 to allow for the Business of this Honourable House to be interrupted in order to deal with a Bill.

The Speaker: The question is that Standing Order 14 be suspended to proceed with a Bill for a Law to Increase Miscellaneous Fees and Duties.

The motion is open for debate.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I am rising to say something.

The Speaker: First of all, would the Honourable Mover wish to make a statement?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: This Bill follows the Budget Address, which was given on Wednesday, where it was mentioned that certain revenue enhancing measures would be implemented. This Bill would normally have been brought on Wednesday, but time had to be taken to ensure its accuracy. The Bill really enhances the information set out in the schedule to the Budget Address. It does not extend anything new other than to give Legislative effect to those increases.

The Speaker: Before I recognise the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town, the question before the House is the suspension of Standing Order 14, not the debate on this particular Bill. Are you speaking to that, Third Elected Member for Bodden Town?

Mr. Roy Bodden: Yes, Mr. Speaker. Notwithstanding that we have had some prior knowledge that this was an impending Bill, I do not consider the time allowed sufficient for those of us who are on the Backbench to be able to debate this Bill intelligently. I propose, if it pleases the Chair, that we consider suspending proceedings for the rest of the afternoon so that we may have more time to prepare for this Bill. According to what we are hearing, it has far-reaching and widespread implications. It would be good for us to have some time to study it. The schedule we received is significantly different from the Bill as it is here.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

We came here this morning with the understanding that the debate would proceed on the Throne Speech and the Budget Address. I had no knowledge that this Bill was coming to this House this afternoon. The Government has the numbers, and if they so desire they will see the suspension of Standing Orders and the passage of this Bill—but I can promise them, and you, that it will be without me.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak?
The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I also rise to say that if it is the attitude that the Government has the numbers to pass the Bill, then it is quite up to them to go ahead and pass the Bill. But I, as an independent candidate, would prefer if I were given some time to look again at this particular Bill. I think it is owed to the people, that if this Bill passes, it is as a result of intelligent and fair debate.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: What we are trying to accomplish here is not to take away anybody's right to debate the Bill. As I understand it, everyone will have an opportunity to debate its contents, and will certainly be able to express whatever feeling they have on the content of the Bill. It is not that the Government is using any heavy hand, because it is not a movement to stop debate. What we are doing is moving the Bill which every one of them knew was coming. On Friday they were given an indication of what it would contain in the Honourable Financial Secretary's address, and by matters discussed in the newspaper. This is not an attempt to cut debate, this is an attempt to let them have their say.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

It is not unusual under Standing Orders that this procedure would be followed, because the motion brought on Wednesday, 12th March, was brought in accordance with the provision of Standing Order 68A and pursuant to section 74 of the Customs Law. Standing Order 68A states that "Any member of the Government may without notice make a motion for giving provisional statutory effect to any proposals in pursuance to subsection (1) of section 2 of the e Provisional Collection of Customs Duties Law, 1985; and the question on such a motion shall be put forthwith."

If my memory serves me correctly, I believe that the gist of the Customs provision is that the Bill must be brought within a month from the date of bringing the motion. So it is not unusual that the Bill would have come forward as quickly as possible. What I think is of concern is that in the spirit of cooperation Members of this House could have been given notice that it was coming this afternoon so that we could have been a little better prepared. Bearing in mind that the Government has sufficient numbers to pass this Bill, nonetheless, it should have given some amount of notice, and it would have shown some spirit of cooperation.

Some Hon. Members: Hear, hear!

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak?

If there is no debate I shall put the question that Standing Order 14 be suspended. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES AND NOES.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can we have a division please, Mr. Speaker?

AGREED BY MAJORITY: STANDING ORDER 14 SUSPENDED ALLOWING THE BUSINESS TO BE INTERRUPTED TO ALLOW THE PASSAGE OF THE MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS (FEES AND DUTIES) (TEMPORARY) BILL, 1997.

The Speaker: Motion for the suspension of Standing Order 46. The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 46

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I beg to move the suspension of Standing Order 46 to enable a Bill entitled, A Bill for a Law to Increase Miscellaneous Fees and Duties, to be given its first and second readings.

The Speaker: The question is the suspension of Standing Order 46 to enable a Bill entitled, A Bill for a Law to Increase Miscellaneous Fees and Duties be given its first and second readings. The Motion is open for debate.

The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Democracy in this country is being subverted by this process. I have to stand here and say that the system which the National Team insists on railroading down our throats is bound to backfire on them. I have long suspected that the system was skewed, because instead of the processes flowing from the Legislative Assembly to the Glass House, they flow from the Glass House down to the Legislative Assembly.

Let me assure you, sir, that I shall not lose the opportunity to let my constituents and the wider country realise what is happening, because if this is to be the practise, then there was no need for an extensive, expensive, time consuming, energy wasting election campaign which culminated in the November General Elections.

I have to say that I am tired, because I have heard for the past for years that the National Team has the numbers to get any legislation, brought at whatever time,. I want to ask the National Team Government if they are advocating a dictatorship? Or are they prepared to be tolerant and allow time in these circumstances for intelligent debate?

We are the representatives of the people. Those of us who take our positions conscientiously and diligently need time, sir, to read and study and consult—widely in many cases—before we are able to get up and take part in intelligent debate on these and other motions. I contend that the effects of this will be far-reaching and no one in his right mind could expect any legislator who is worth his salt to come here on such short notice and offer intelligent debate.

I am especially appalled that some of my colleagues who are on that side were once Backbenchers and know the struggles we went through when motions were brought, albeit not at this short notice!

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: What? Ask Linford because he remembers!

Mr. Roy Bodden: While I hasten to add that it is no reflection upon the Chair, I call upon the Chair to protect the rights of the minority.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to categorically and unequivocally state that if this is a symptom of, and a prelude to, the future, then I fear the future. This kind of action can have no support from the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

The Speaker: If no other Member wishes to speak, I shall put the question that Standing Order 46 be suspended.. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES AND NOES.

SECOND READING

THE MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS (FEES AND DUTIES) (TEMPORARY) BILL, 1997

Clerk: The Miscellaneous Provisions (Fees and Duties) (Temporary) Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

(3.15 PM)

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

This Bill seeks to give effect to the changes in rates and duties as set out in the Table in the Schedule and as specified in the special resolution of the Legislative Assembly made on 12th March 1997 in respect of customs duties.

In order to effect such changes several Laws and regulations have been amended by the Bill. Such Laws include the Stamp Duty Law, the Customs Tariff Law, the Companies Management Law, the Insurance Law, the Immigration Law, the Traffic Law and the Mutual Funds Regulations.

The Stamp Duty Law has for example been amended to provide that those instruments which convey either land without buildings or land with buildings to Caymanians for their first owner occupied home be exempt from stamp duty. The consideration for the land in such instruments, in the case of land without a building, must be $25,000 or less and, in the case of land with a building, $125,000 or less.

The Bill provides for the imposition of the building permit fee which shall replace those fees charged for inspection of electricity and plumbing prior to the grant of a certificate of fitness for occupancy issued under the Development and Planning Law.

The Tax Collection Law has been amended to repeal the boat licence charged under section 5. This licence has been replaced by a local vessel licence fee which is chargeable on local boats and ships. A member of the Cayman National Watersports Operators Association shall be required to pay only $25 per boat or ship for each boat or ship owned by that member while other owners of vessels must pay the fees according to the rates set out in clause 15. The Port Authority shall be responsible for collecting the fee on behalf of government.

The Bill also provides among other things for -

- (a) the imposition of the development impact fee which shall take effect 3 months after the date of the commencement of this law;
- (b) the environmental protection fee;
- (c) the abolition of licence fees for dogs and bicycle licences;
- (d) the free disposal of animal carcasses;
- (e) the removal of customs duty on vehicles for handicapped persons;
- (f) motor vehicle fees, driver licence fees and fees for vehicle inspection and registration; and
- (g) the prohibition of the importation of the hummer motor vehicles.

As I mentioned earlier, the schedule setting out what these increases were was circulated to Members of this Honourable House, and also made available to the public at large. Therefore, that information is now in the public domain. I will not run the risk of being repetitive by going into the details of these increases, but they remain unchanged from what was circulated to Members and the public.

I should mention, while not going into detail, that in the case of wine and spirits, there are certain items which will not be affected. For example, Appleton Rum, the CI dollar value of that (according to the Customs Department) is less than $4.00. Therefore, the duty on that liquor remains unchanged. I have been made to understand that there are quite a number of other popular drinks that carry a CI dollar value of less than $4.00 which will not be affected.

I should also mention in the introduction of duty on boats, that wherever such would create a financial impact on any commitment that has been entered into by any member of the public at large (for example, where such shipments are now on the high seas) and they would have a difficulty in paying the duty not provided for, a request can be made to my office. This will be determined in consultation with Executive Council in order to extend the necessary time so that it does not become an onerous financial burden. Every effort is being made to cooperate with the public in general.

We know that the introduction of increases in fees at any time (revenue measures) is never a popular event. But it should be borne in mind that when we find ourselves in a society as sophisticated as Cayman, and bearing in mind that we have a limited revenue base with no direct taxation, in order to maintain the standard of living to which we have become accustomed, it is necessary to introduce revenue measures from time to time. Obviously, what would have cost one dollar five years ago cannot be bought for a dollar today.

Another thing, the Government has looked at quite a number of these fees very carefully. The reason why some of them have not shown any increases over the past five, six or seven years is not because they have been deliberately overlooked. Every attempt is being made to contain the cost of living. For the year ended 1996, the inflation rate was much less than 3%. That is one of the lowest for any country in the region. I do believe that this low inflation rate is going to be maintained.

Therefore, I suggest that persons providing consumables, who will be affected by these increases, closely examine the CI dollar value, especially, and not blame the Government unnecessarily while using this opportunity to impose increases into the market place themselves. For example, I cannot tell you how many drinks can be poured from a bottle of rum. But take a bottle of rum with a CI dollar value of less than $4.00; let us say that the bottle makes 20 drinks. If you were to spread that cost over the 20 drinks, you would see that the effect of it would be quite negligible.

Obviously, some areas will be affected more so than others, but throughout the entire Cayman Islands community, fees have been examined in order to minimise the impact. There are others, such as Gun Licences, where the increases have been very steep. But I think that goes beyond a revenue issue. It is an area which has to be examined very carefully.

What we have in front of us is no surprise, because all of these increases were set out in the schedule attached to the Budget Address. This schedule was made available to Members of the Legislative Assembly and the public at large. If there is any specific category contained in the schedule which members of the public have difficulty with, my office can be called upon to provide the assistance necessary to get the interpretation as to what those increases are. As I said, anyone who can demonstrate that these increases would have an unanticipated adverse impact, which can be reasonably demonstrated, the Government will be fully prepared to examine and assist those persons in order to minimise the impact.

As this Bill is not a surprise to Honourable Members, I commend it to this Honourable House.

The Speaker: The Bill is open for debate. The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

(3.25 PM)

Mr. Roy Bodden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Let me preface my contribution by saying that I beg to differ with the last speaker's observation that this Bill should not be a surprise to anyone—it most certainly is! Not only is it a surprise, but I would describe it as an unpleasant surprise! I am saying that this will indeed be a difficult pill for this Parliament and this country to swallow.

The urgency with which the Government is moving with this legislation leads me to conclude that there is a certain desperation. Let me retrace the order of business. This morning we started with the Throne Speech and Budget Address Debate. We were not told that there was likely to be any digression. Consequently, we were unprepared when this was sprung upon us. I have to say that I am alarmed, given the fact (as I understand it) that there is some controversy surrounding this whole measure.

Be that as it may, there are certain peculiarities which I feel compelled to point out to the Honourable House. It is unusual, if not unprecedented, for the Government to bring a tax package such as this one without a total. So, we are left to speculate, conjecture and guess as to the total amount. When the last Government (the one the National Team succeeded) brought a $10 million tax package, the National Team flogged them. At least we were able to calculate that it was $10 million. This one is open to speculation, conjecture and guess work. One can quite logically conclude that it must be in the vicinity of $50 million, for our last budget was $202 million, and this one is $254 million. There is one glaring peculiarity: We are presented with a tax package for which we do not know the total amount.

Secondly, while I take note of the Honourable Mover's sympathy, in that anyone who is suffering undue hardship can apply to his department and the Government for an easement, that easement does not alleviate the suffering and inconvenience—it only spreads it over a certain time.

Let me take a moment to illustrate a point. Yesterday morning, by mere coincidence I happened to have been in a place where a transaction was taking place between a young Caymanian entrepreneur, who was importing motor vehicles, and a young Caymanian businessman who had such a commercial vehicle. The gentleman who was purchasing the vehicle came to the importer and he said, "Although you have given me a deposit, I have here a schedule and I have to regrettably inform you that the price I quoted you has now gone up. I will now have to pay more duties on the vehicle."

I make the point that the National Team Government cannot say that this tax package is not going to hurt the small man—it most certainly will! I am reminded of Leona Helmsly's infamous quip, when it was brought to her attention that she owed some taxes, "Only the poor pay taxes." I want to say that even though the National Team is claiming that this package will not hurt the small man, it will.

I am going to further argue that this package penalises those in our society who are doing well by placing onerous restrictions on them. A case in point: If someone works hard in this country, is an honest businessman and feels like he should be driving a Mercedes Benz, a Lamborghini, an Alpha Romeo, or a BMW, and it costs $30,000, he will have to pay 40% import duties. If he wants to live in a grand house, he has to pay a whole lot more money. What are we doing? Are we trying to make everybody poor?

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: You have a grand home, too, don't you?

Mr. Roy Bodden: No. I am just a good capitalist!

I want to say that if someone is enjoying economic success and wants to (shall we say?) indulge a little materialistically... we have to be careful what kind of message we are sending.

I will tell you, Mr. Speaker, what some of the small men are saying. I was also out of place yesterday. I am a non-smoker and a non-drinker. But I respect the fact that people who work hard must, particularly on the weekends (if for no other reason than to keep their sanity), indulge in some legal pleasure. Some people drink a little liquor or a little wine; they have a palate for fine wines. Some people like to soothe themselves by smoking a cigarette. So I was out of place when a gentleman, one of the proverbial 'little men', came to buy a pack of cigarettes. He was told that the price had risen. I did not want to get into the argument about the cost per pack. The gentleman bought the cigarettes after some argument. I will give you the gist of the argument. He complained about the price and accused the merchant of price-gauging. The merchant asked how, if he sold out the current stock at the old price, he was going to be able to buy it at the new price. I have to admit that there is some logic in that.

Similarly, those people who have a palate for wine or exotic drink...

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: They have to pay for it.

Mr. Roy Bodden: While it is true that they should pay for it, this taste is not exclusive to the high, the mighty and the rich. Some of the 'little people' like to drink fine wine and liqueurs too.

I understand that throughout history, taxes, in whatever form they have been administered, were unpalatable. The history books are rife with examples of societies that complained—and some took it further than complaining—about taxes. So there is no easy way.

What I am alarmed about in this case is the urgency with which the measures are being brought in. The National Team cannot blame the previous Government—they were the previous Government! Someone must have known that we were in this state before we had to resort to this kind of urgency.

I realise that we have to pay for our sophistication, but there comes a point when we might price ourselves right out of the market. Remember, we are a competitor with other Caribbean countries, whose currency may be worth far less than ours, but whose natural beauty is comparable to ours, for the tourist dollar. There is a point where people will say, 'I'd love to go to the Cayman Islands, but the prices are unaffordable. I have to take a chance and go to Mexico (or Jamaica), where I may not be as safe as I would be in the Cayman Islands, but where my money will stretch much further and I will be able to stay longer at the kind of resort I like to stay at.'

I worry about what this is going to do to our tourism industry, just as much as I am worried about the trickle-down effect on the proverbial 'little man' on the street—whom we politicians like to say we are protecting—whose interest we claim to have at heart.

Some items in this are really creating precedents. This whole business of an environmental tax of $2.00—which, according to the Bill, is to be levied on every traveller on every outbound vessel and every tourist in a cruise ship—there is no provision for where this money is going to go. There is no escrow account bearing the title of an 'Environmental Protection Fund'. There is no designation of what aspect of the environment these fees are going to be used to protect, preserve or keep. You do not have to be too mischievous to wonder if this is not a glorified title for an increase in travel tax.

(Inaudible voice from across the floor)

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I have not made an assumption. I have posed the question. Given the lack of information, we are left to speculate and guess.

I also want to say something about impact fees. In fairness I have to say that many people have been calling for these for some time. But let us remember that impact fees are a direct form of taxation. I suspect the reason why these fees were not implemented before is that hitherto we had no direct form. While it is true that certain areas are being over developed while other areas are starving for development, again, the implementation of these fees sends mixed signals.

In the Cayman Islands, people like to boast (because it goes beyond just a simple remark) that we have a society that is cosmopolitan in the sense that we have people at the top levels who are very wealthy, and who can afford ostentatious life-styles. Then we have those of us who are lower down, who are more humble and less ostentatious. It is perhaps that element that makes our society so unique, that makes it so different from many other places and allows us the kind of existence that we have. If we strip it of its ability to attract the top end people, then we are taking away some of its uniqueness; we are robbing it of some of its ability to be attractive, and are removing the opportunity for upward economic mobility.

I think it is safe to say, given the diversity of our society, that it is not far-fetched to think that the trickle-down effect of these measures is bound to affect the standard of living of the man on the street. Remember, too, that in July we have Pensions coming on line. Coming to this Honourable House in June will be the Health Insurance proposals. These are the things to which the proverbial little man will also have to contribute. To this point there has been no assessment of the inflationary trends setting these things in motion is going to generate. Some of the concerns I hear are that we are being asked to bear too onerous a burden in such a short time. There is much credence to that argument. I contend that it will be six months before we feel the full effect of this tax package we are debating.

Without being able to adjust to those upsetting effects, we are going to have to prepare ourselves for the cost of pensions and health insurance.

Please understand, Mr. Speaker, that I am not debating the relevance or the effect, or the necessity of these. I am debating the timing. Let me be crystal clear in my position: I am not saying that I am against health insurance and pensions. I am saying that its timing, coupled with this, is going to be onerous on the very people whom the National Team Government is saying it wants to protect.

There is a section in here (part VII) which I understand some persons claim is discriminatory—Licence fees for local vessels. It reads that Members of the Cayman National Watersports Operators Association are levied a fee of $25, but non-members are levied significantly higher fees. My position is that if it is discriminatory, we should not have it. From my position I can only ask that this be given further consideration so that those persons who now claim they are being discriminated against can be treated on equal terms.

I note that some of the Planning fees have been waived, the reason being that this is going to benefit the little man, particularly the first time home builder/owner. On the other hand, cement has been levied a 25% increase. So what we are doing is giving with one hand, but taking back with the other. The little man uses cement too. Almost all of the houses constructed here are made from cement blocks, with cement figuring highly in the equation.

Let us not forget the rise in gasoline, going from 25 cents to 50 cents per gallon—doubling. That will also affect the little man. In a country where there is no organised system of public transportation, the majority of the working population here are motor vehicle owners. Those who do not own a motor vehicle and take the public transportation (however rudimentary it may be) will also be affected because the bus driver and bus owner (if they are good businessmen) cannot but pass on the increase to the fare-paying customers. Remember now, it is not just the doubling of the duty on gasoline, it is also increase in licence fees on the bus, inspection fees, driver's licence—all of that adds up to a significant package. It is going to have an immediate trickle-down effect on the little man.

There is one item, that when taxes are levied on it everyone is going to feel, and that item is energy. The previous Government came with a 25 cent surcharge on diesel. That Government was hounded out of existence because of that.

I do not know what we want to do in this country because when I see packages like this I am left to wonder if we have not taken leave of our good senses. Restaurants are going to be hit, bars are going to be hit, condominiums are going to be hit, hotels are going to be hit... Mr. Speaker, it is not far fetched to say that a year from now we may have to use a magnifying glass to find a tourist!

I am but one person, an insignificant player, because the National Team has the numbers. But I can say that I cannot—and I have searched my heart—find it in me to support this package.

The Speaker: The Member for North Side.

(3.56 PM)

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise to give my support to a Bill entitled, The Miscellaneous Provisions (Fees and Duties) (Temporary) Bill, 1997.

We have heard much about the National Team having the numbers to do this and that. We have heard that they are advocating dictatorship. We have heard that when the 1988-1992 Government put the surcharge on diesel it was the downfall of that Government. I believe that the National Team consists of men and women who are looking for the betterment of this country and a way to provide facilities, rather than a way to be re-elected, although that does play a part also.

As far as my memory serves me, the procedure taking place here today has been the procedure for many years in these islands. The need to bring about the increase in these (let us not call them) 'taxes' (but we must for want of a better word) is due to the fact that the general public is constantly crying for better roads, better education facilities, upgrading of the present education facilities, for better hospitals and health care centres in the districts to be open eight hours a day, staffed by doctors. I would like to ask the question: How is the Government going to provide these facilities without the people contributing?

No Government likes to bring about new tax measures, and the National Team Government is no different. But we have to bite the bullet in order to provide these facilities. There are one or two areas that I would like to briefly speak on, one being motor car import duty. I will read from the Hansard, 3rd March, 1977, the last occasion when this duty was increased. We all remember that in 1974 that percentage was 33.3% and the Honourable Member from East End in 1977 brought a motion to lower that to 27.5%. I will read the words from his winding up on the debate of his motion:

“Mr. President,...I now ask leave of this Honourable House to amend the motion by requesting that we lower the percentage from 33.3% to 27.5% instead, for two years from the time the law can be amended with a view to increasing to 33.3% two years from the date of the amendment coming into effect.”

The Honourable Vassel Johnson said: “...I am willing to support the motion as amended that the import duty be decreased from 33.3% to 27.5% for an interim period of two years by which time it is reintroduced to 33.3%”

It is now some 20 years later, and we are looking to put an increase on a certain priced car. We have heard so much today about the ‘little man’, and I include myself among those considered the ‘little man’. We can all afford a CI $20,000 car. I believe that if I am in a financial position to afford a motor vehicle for CI $30,000, I should not quibble at paying the additional duty: because I am the one who wants the asphalt roads—not chip and spray, because that would damage my expensive car! The only way I can get that is if I am prepared to bear the cost of providing it. If I know I cannot afford a $30,000 car, then I should not buy one.

We must get our priorities straight. If we can only afford a $20,000 car, but we buy a $40,000 one, and then later on seek assistance to get a house... I cannot agree with that. Those are my feelings on the motor vehicle duty.

The other area I would like to speak on is in the area of the 25 cents being imposed on gasoline. I implore the Government to give some consideration, particularly to the people of my district who have to travel the longest distance for employment—because there is none for them in our district—and most social events are held in George Town. It is my intention to move a motion that this 25 cents be reduced to 20 cents at the committee stage. I ask this Honourable House to support me in that motion.

We have heard that we are going to kill the tourism industry. I, too, had concerns when I saw the new measures on alcohol and cigarettes. But if it is my choice to smoke, then I must be prepared to pay for that habit. We get the impression that the tourists come to the Cayman Islands for one reason—to drink, get drunk and have a good time. That is not my belief. I think we should stress that the Caymanian people are the ones who make the tourists return year after year, not the cost of an alcoholic beverage.

The people in the tourism industry must look fairly at the increase in cost per bottle of alcohol which Government is adding, and not pass that increase on to the tourist by 5,000%. They are the ones who will lose in the long run. They must be good business people and make the increase a fair amount.

I support the measures presented by the Financial Secretary. I would like to thank him for saying that he, together with the Government, would be giving consideration to those persons who ordered motor vehicles before these measures came into effect. I think they should be given some consideration also because they no doubt went to the banks and arranged for loans (there are not too many of us on this Island who can buy a car without a loan), and made arrangements for the price with the duties as they were.

In opposing this Bill (as is their right), some of the Members have also opposed the measure the Government has taken of lifting the 7.5% stamp duty for young Caymanians buying their first homes. I am certain that all of us here in this Parliament would be proud to see all of our young Caymanians move into their first owner-occupied home.

I support the Bill. Thank you.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

(4.04 PM)

Dr. Frank McField: I rise to make a few comments and observations in regard to A Bill for a Law to Increase Miscellaneous Fees and Duties. In an attempt to reaffirm my position in this Legislative Assembly as an independent candidate, and because of my dislike for any form of intimidation—whether it be outright or indirect—and because of my love of the concept of freedom of association, freedom of choice, and freedom of speech, I am making my comments not to criticise the National Team Government in its attempt to give this country the type of social and economic direction it badly needs; nor am I making these comments to take advantage of the fact that perhaps they had no other alternative but to introduce revenue raising measures. I will not attempt to play politics here and confuse the people of these islands who badly need some type of explanation as to what type of system they really do live in and how they can best afford to live in this system.

I realise that ‘tax’ is a bad word. It has always been a bad word because, given the nature of a human being, we are all selfish and would prefer to keep all that our labour affords us. Even back in the days of Moses, it was noted that without the people themselves reinvesting in the social contract, in the covenant, in the relationships, it could not be sustained at the level God himself demanded that contract, covenant, and social relationship be sustained and upheld. So, in all of history there is some fairness to give credit to those people who perform the dangerous task of introducing measures that will become unpopular among the people.

It was said by an earlier speaker that the rich do not pay taxes, only the poor do. I tend to agree. I tend to also be a critic of indirect taxation. I tend to believe that as long as we support an archaic system of taxation we will always be inflating the cost of living and therefore hurting the poorer people—the people who can least afford to pay.

I think, though, that since there has never been any attempt to truly examine this system, or the ways to perhaps bypass it and therefore spare the 'little man', it would be unfair on my part to come here today and say that I totally disagree with these measures because I have no alternatives. I believe that the Government must have money to run the country. I believe that this is a beautiful country—though I believe the picture painted by the Financial Secretary is not the picture that I really know.

I believe when the Honourable Member talks of this country being a prosperous country, where the standard of living is the highest in the Caribbean, he is talking about special people but not all the people—not a lot of the people I know. These islands have not really changed very much for a lot of people, in fact. That is why any attempt to raise revenue in this country will hurt them. They will be crying out to their representatives asking, 'How can we bear the burden of this glorious country you all talk about, where the rich can feel rich and live in first world standards, while we are living in third world standards?'—because the burden of taxation has been placed upon the poorer people in this country. There is no escape from that unless we re-examine our methods of taxation.

I heard one Member say that an impact tax is a form of direct taxation—implying, of course, that this is wrong. But we must also see that those persons who can most afford it, should be compelled by moral and spiritual obligation to contribute to the upholding of our moral and social order. I think that is only fair, and I would not take any opportunity to criticise any Government (be it the National Team Government, or the Dignity Government, or the Unity Government) because they are all put in the very difficult position of having to make provisions for collecting revenue for the general benefit of the country.

I think it is important for me, as a new Member of this House, to express my lack of understanding on how it is possible that we are asked to speak on these issues without really having had the time to think about them and to get feedback from our constituents as to how they really feel these issues will affect them. In the final analysis, it is not how I feel about these measures, but how the people, the voters in this country feel about it.

I am no different than a shopkeeper. The customer is always right—the voter is always right. Regardless of whether the Government finds that these tax measures are correct or not, the people are always right. If the people are going to feel that they are inconvenienced by these forms of taxation, then it is my obligation to hear that and express it to this Honourable House. I believe that it is also time we understood that the Parliament is a collective institution, and dialogue and discourse should continue to flow between the different sides and positions. But if positions are so well taken outside of the Parliament that debate does not have to happen in the Parliament, then, Mr. Speaker, I do not know why I am here.

I am here because I believe that by debating and asking people to lend me their ears and consciences I can effect some type of reasonable and rational change in this country. But if our positions are made outside of this House, then there is no reason to come here—it becomes only a formality.

With regard to the increase in terms of cigars, for instance, where we are moving from 85% to 150%—and I am going to mention this because it was mentioned to me by a constituent—somehow this does not seem to have been well thought out. The Member for North Side said that she would like to see something done about the price of gasoline because her constituents travel further than my constituents. I would like to see something done about the 10% duty on leather, for instance, because leather is also a part of our 'duty free' concept. I do not understand at this time why that particular duty free item was imposed with a tax.

I do not understand why we pay duty on butter and eggs. Why is ice-cream duty free when we pay for butter? I know that in some countries people eat bread and butter because butter is very tasty, especially if you put salt on it. I do not understand the logic of our taxation system anyway, and I was hoping that in my debate on the Budget Address (which I had hoped to give before this debate), I would have had the chance to give a contribution on the logic of some of the things we do in this country.

I have always been a firm believer that there should be no duty on foodstuffs. As a credit to the National Team for what it has tried to do, I appreciate the fact that they are taking the duty off some of the foodstuffs (one, or two items); I do wish they would take it off all items.

I want to also say that since I was not responsible for policy over the past four years, I am not going to take responsibility for the money that has been spent over the past four years. I am not going to take responsibility, simply because I was not involved in determining the priorities of this country. The Member for North Side said that the people want, and want, and want. Sure the people want. But we must also be brave enough, bold enough and man (or woman) enough to tell the people sometimes that their wants will cost them. Therefore, it is our obligation as Members of this Honourable House to see that the desires and expectations of the people do not go above what the people can afford without hurting their very existence.

(Some Members - Hear, hear!)

Dr. Frank McField: We must keep this whole thing in perspective. It is unfortunate that the political institution being what it is, means that somehow the politician's ego can only be supported if the politician does; and the politician can only do if the politician spends. Once the politician spends, money must come from someplace to pay for how he spends, and it must always come from the people—and in the end, it must always come from the poorer people.

I am not going to say 'No' to this Bill—although I might debate later on that the pension and insurance should be staggered and not brought in all of a sudden, and that perhaps we are getting a little bit too ambitious. At this particular time I am not going to vote against this Bill. I am going to vote for this Bill with the consciousness that we cannot continue to develop this form of taxation any further. Forty-five percent of the Government revenue comes from indirect taxation. If we put the price of anything up it will affect the consumer whether or not that consumer is a resident of the Cayman Islands or a tourist. Eventually it affects everything.

There will be repercussions, but I am not saying that there would not have to be some law with regard to revenue measures. I am not saying that somehow I am not going to support the Government's attempts to balance their budget and to pay for these things. But I am saying that this is the last time.

We have to find other means of raising money. We have to put our thinking caps on. I am asking the Honourable Financial Secretary to do whatever he can with his department to find other ways of raising money. The people of the Cayman Islands have paid enough! The poor people in this country—although getting something back by way of social, educational and health development—should be able to decide whether or not they should spend.

I vote for and support this Bill, Mr. Speaker, with the hope and a prayer that the Government will do all within its power to see that this type of taxation is eradicated.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak?

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak, but there are just ten minutes left.

The Speaker: Would anyone like to speak for a short period of time?

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that there is a Commonwealth Parliamentary Association function this evening, and that we are well into the afternoon, could we entertain a motion for the adjournment at this time, sir?

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr. Speaker, it seems that Members are willing to adjourn at this time. Accordingly, I move the adjournment of this Honourable House until 10 o'clock Monday morning.

The Speaker: The question is that the House do now adjourn until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye... Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it. The House is accordingly adjourned.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATHS OR AFFIRMATIONS

OATH OF AFFIRMATION

MR. DONOVAN W. F. EBANKS, MBE

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: I, Donovan Ebanks, do solemnly and sincerely affirm and declare that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, her heirs and successors according to law.

The Speaker: Please take your seat, Mr. Ebanks, as the Acting First Official Member. On behalf of all Honourable Members of this Legislative Assembly I welcome you during your period of service.

Questions to Honourable Members/Ministers. Question No. 11, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE
MEMBERS/MINISTERS

QUESTION NO. 11

No. 11: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Acting First Official Member what is Government's policy and procedure regarding the placement of returning graduates in the Civil Service.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: Government provides financial assistance for study overseas at the tertiary level, primarily through the Education Council. The ambit of the Education Council is to support the development of skills based on national needs, and not merely on the needs of the Public Service as an employer.

Forty-eight Caymanians are scheduled to complete their tertiary studies around the middle of this year. Of these, 47 were assisted by the Education Council and one was assisted by the Personnel Training Unit on behalf of a particular agency of the Civil Service. As a condition of providing assistance, the Education Council requires beneficiaries to agree to make their services available to the Civil Service for periods of up to four years. While there is no written policy on the placement of these returning graduates within the Civil Service, every effort is made to ensure that all agencies of the Government are afforded the opportunity to employ them.

The procedure for placement of returning graduates in the Civil Service is as follows:

- ◆ a list of returning graduates is obtained from the Secretary of the Education Council;
- ◆ possible positions are earmarked based upon vacancies in the Service;
- ◆ returning graduates are requested to submit an application form, résumé and an indication of their preferred area of employment;
- ◆ returning graduates are interviewed by a panel set up by the Public Service Commission;

- ◆ the Public Service Commission then advises the Governor on the appointment to the Civil Service;
- ◆ the Governor approves the appointment which is subsequently formalised by the Personnel Department.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say what the timeline is for submission of an application by these returning graduates?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: I am not certain what the Member means by 'timeline'. I can say that individuals are requested to submit their applications prior to completion of their studies, preferably sometime during their final term or semester.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Is the Honourable Member in a position to say if upon submission of these applications any informal discussions are held with the graduates, and if the graduates are informed of any inability to meet the wishes of their employment in any particular area of the Government?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: Graduates, or students prior to graduation, are encouraged to meet with a representative of the Personnel Department their last year of study. Indications as to what is available would normally be given, but no formal offer is made until the applications are considered and the advice of the Commission is given and decisions taken as to who is to be employed.

The Speaker: The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Would the Honourable Member say what the procedure is if a graduate with, say, a degree in civil engineering returns and there is no vacancy in the Civil Service, seeing as the students are bonded to the Cayman Islands Government?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: In the event the skills of a particular student are not required within the Civil Service that information is conveyed to the Education Council. The decision as to what to do in respect of the bond is a matter then for the Council.

The Speaker: The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: As we know that the Civil Service cannot absorb all of the students to whom we are now giving scholarships, can the Honourable Member say if any procedure is being put in place to allow these returning graduates to work in the Cayman Islands rather than be employed in the Civil Service?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: That is a matter for the Education Council to consider, but I would expect they are cognisant of the situation in terms of the demands on the Public Service as an employer, and that they will make alternative arrangements for immediate graduates as well as for those in the future.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say if there is any orientation offered to the returning graduates who are successful in gaining employment in the Government sector?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: There is not much offered at the current time in terms of formal orientation, but it is something that is being looked into. The Service realises that a better job needs to be done.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I wonder if the Honourable Member can confirm whether or not Government has an entry level salary for these young returning graduates.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: There are varying entry levels, depending upon the area of study. Many of the graduates are placed at what is called an Administrative Officer - 3 position. Students who are qualified in architecture, engineering, law, etcetera, are placed in a slightly higher level at AP 1-2 scale. Graduates in medicine and veterinary science are placed a bit higher than that. It varies.

The Speaker: The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: I wonder if the Honourable Member can tell us if this one scholarship holder who is being assisted by the Personnel Training Unit is studying for a degree to head up that particular section of the Civil Service eventually?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: That assistance relates to studies in the field of architecture. Certainly, with that the individual would have the potential, subject to his continued development, to head that section eventually.

The Speaker: The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: I am a little bit confused that the Personnel Training Unit on behalf of a particular agency of the Civil Service is training someone in architecture when we really need training for that particular unit itself. I wonder if the Honourable Member could say why the Personnel Training Unit has taken upon itself the responsibility to train someone by offering assistance in a field other than Personnel?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: The Personnel Training Unit serves as an agency to oversee Government's training investments. As such, in respect to this individual it has simply provided the services of brokering, in effect, the arrangements with the institute abroad where the person is studying. Monies for the training are provided in a centralised vote under the control of the Personnel Training Unit. As such, they make the arrangements for the individual's study.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8)

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Mr. Speaker, on a point of procedure. It is now 11 o'clock, I think we need to suspend Standing Orders in order for questions to continue.

The Speaker: Thank you for calling that to my attention. Would a Member please move the suspension of Standing Orders?

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I so move, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Third Elected Member for George Town.

The question is that under Standing Order 83, Standing Orders 23(7) and (8) be suspended to continue Question Time after 11 o'clock. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: The restoration of the Castle building itself is due for completion in about one month's time. The completion of the entire project will take additional time because we have out to tender at the moment the visitor's centre, which includes a multi-media theatre, restaurant, gift shop and wash rooms with parking for 150 or more vehicles.

The visitor's centre estimated cost is in the region of $1.5 million, and the remaining cost for the Castle itself I will undertake to provide in writing to the Member.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 13, standing in the name of The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 13

No. 13: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport if any of the building materials stolen from the Pedro Castle restoration project have been recovered.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: The incident has been reported to the Police but the missing buildings materials have not been recovered to date. However, the Cayman Islands' Government did not bear any loss in reference to this incidence. The contractor submitted a claim to his insurance company for which settlement was made in full.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister tell the House what steps have been taken to prevent a recurrence of this theft?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: We have added additional security to the area.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 14, standing in the name of Fourth Elected Member for West Bay.

I note that he is absent, so I ask that a motion be moved under Standing Order 23(3) to defer that question. The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

DEFERMENT OF QUESTION NO. 14 STANDING ORDER 23(5)

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I beg that under Standing Order 23(5) Question No. 14 be deferred until a later Sitting.

The Speaker: I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. QUESTION NO. 14 DEFERRED.

The Speaker: The next question is No. 15, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 15

No. 15: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning to state if there are any immediate plans to establish a Primary School in Little Cayman.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: No, there are no immediate plans to establish a primary school in Little Cayman, but the situation continues to be reviewed from time to time.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say whether any private institutions have expressed an interest in establishing such an educational institution on that island?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Yes, the established church there, the Baptist Church, has expressed an interest to do so. We would be very happy to work with them if they find after doing a survey that it is needed, and if they wish to go on with it.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say if there is a minimum number of students required before the Education Department would consider establishing a school in Little Cayman?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: There is no specific number. I guess there would have to be a reasonable number of students there. The other matter that would have to be looked at is whether or not it is catering for younger children in primary school, which may be easier to do. As you go higher and higher in primary and high school it becomes more difficult. However, I think that it probably may well be worth it for the church to investigate a Kindergarten into early primary, for example, as normally it would be people who go there from Cayman Brac who would like their children to be there during the week.

I am not certain about the actual number, but what I would say is that we are always happy to work with Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, and with both of their MLA's, to assist in any way that we can. This is one area where I would be very happy to assist.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 16, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 16

No. 16: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation to say whether or not there are plans for the provision of a full-time or part-time physiotherapist for the Faith Hospital in Cayman Brac.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: I am pleased to say that a full-time Physiotherapist's post for Faith Hospital in Cayman Brac has been requested under "New Services" in the 1997 Budget.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say how patients from Cayman Brac and Little Cayman are being treated at this time if they are in need of Physical Therapy services?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Visiting Physiotherapists from the George Town Hospital go over at present. But this is not good enough, as we know Physiotherapy is one of the procedures that needs continuation. That is why we are asking for a full time therapist for Cayman Brac.

The Speaker: The next question is No. 17, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 17

No. 17: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation to say if there are plans for a nurse to be stationed in Little Cayman.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: A project proposal for the enhancement of health care provision in Little Cayman is currently being discussed by Senior Managers of the Health Services Department and by staff in my Ministry. This proposal includes increased frequency of doctors' visits and the stationing on Little Cayman of a resident registered nurse with emergency room experience.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say how frequently a doctor and/or nurse now visit the island of Little Cayman?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Once every two weeks at present. It is intended to increase that to weekly visits by May of this year.

The Speaker: The next question is No. 18, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 18

No. 18: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport to state whether Government has officially, or unofficially, entered into any form of arrangement with Cuba to assist them with the development of their tourism industry.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: The answer is no.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Would the Honourable Minister say whether any consideration is now being given to providing such assistance?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: There is no consideration being given to this matter at all.

The Speaker: That concludes Question Time for this morning.

Statements by Members/Ministers of Government. The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

STATEMENTS BY MEMBERS MINISTERS OF THE GOVERNMENT

SELECTION OF A MALE AND FEMALE FOR THE AWARD OF SPORTS PERSONS OF THE YEAR

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr. Speaker, at the beginning of each year the Ministry announces the name of the person (one male and one female) chosen as Male and Female Sports Person of the Year. The selection process starts in October when every national association as well as members of the public are asked to submit the names of suitable candidates. These nominations are screened by the Selection Committee and sent to the Ministry of Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture to be released early in the new year.

The criteria for selection are as follows:

1. Outstanding performance in their sport in the preceding year.
2. Must have assisted or contributed to the development of their principal sport or another sport in the proceeding year.
3. Must be a good role model.
4. Must be Caymanian.

I am very pleased to inform this Honourable House that the Female Sports Person for the year 1996 is Cydonnie Mothersill, whose sport is Track and Field. She won gold medals in the 100m (11.38 secs); and 200m (23.48 secs) in the CARIFTA Games and was awarded the Austin Sealy Trophy for her outstanding performances in that tournament. She represented the Cayman Islands at the Olympics in Atlanta in 1996, and the World Games in Sydney Australia the same year.

The Male Sports Person of the Year is Charles Whittaker, whose sport is Boxing. To date, Charles has had 13 fights. He won nine and lost four. He has won seven of these fights by knock-out. On the 17th of November, 1996, Mr. Whittaker fought for the vacant World Boxing Federation Middle Weight International title, but lost this fight on a point decision.

Both of these athletes are currently based in the USA, but assist their respective sport whenever they are on the island. I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate all the other nominees as well as Mr. Whittaker and Miss Mothersill, and to implore all of our young people to strive for excellence and to be the best that they can.

The Speaker: Government Business, Bills. Continuation of debate on a Bill entitled, Miscellaneous Provisions (Fees and Duties) (Temporary) Bill, 1997.

The Third Elected Member for George Town.

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS

BILLS

SECOND READING

THE MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS (FEES AND DUTIES) (TEMPORARY) BILL, 1997

(Continuation of debate thereon)

(11.26 AM)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I rise to make my contribution on a Bill for a Law to Increase Miscellaneous Fees and Duties. I propose to discuss this matter in three sections, trying to point out the purpose for these increases, dealing with the effects these increases may have on the economy and the people of these islands and the negative trickle-down effect, along with certain recommendations.

On the purpose of the Bill, the Memorandum of Objects and Reasons states:

"This Bill seeks to give effect to the changes in rates and duties as set out in the Table in the Schedule and as specified in the special resolution of the Legislative Assembly made on 12th March 1997 in respect of customs duties.

"In order to effect such changes several Laws and regulations have been amended by the Bill. Such Laws include the Stamp Duty Law, the Customs Tariff Law, the Companies Management Law, the Insurance Law, the Immigration Law, the Traffic Law and the Mutual Funds Regulations."

It also states, inter alia, "The Tax Collection Law has been amended to repeal the boat licence charged under section 5. This licence has been replaced by a local vessel licence fee which is chargeable on local boats and ships."

What I find strange is a statement which reads as follows: "A member of the Cayman National Watersports Operators Association shall be required to pay only $25 per boat or ship for each boat or ship owned by that member while other owners of vessels must pay the fees according to the rates set out in clause 15." I find this somewhat discriminatory as there could be other Caymanian operators in their own private businesses that should be given a similar concession. It amazes me that this particular group would have been pulled out of the group of operators and given special concession.

Before getting into the meat of my discussion, I wish to point out that under the Memorandum of Objects and Reasons, "The Bill also provides among other things for - (a) the imposition of the development impact fee which fee shall take effect 3 months after the date of the commencement of this law;...” What is strange about this is that instead of encouraging development in areas other than the Seven-mile Beach area, it seems that this impact fee will discourage development on the Queens Highway and in other areas. Therefore, I am quickly led to believe that this whole exercise was somewhat rushed.

The other purpose of the Bill would seem to be to provide sufficient expenditure for the Capital expenditure of Government, which is some $43 million. I will point out as I go along that the Government (perhaps with the best intention) is asking for too much, too fast.

In support of the horrendous Government increases and taxes they have said (and it seems somewhat simplistic) that the people want new roads and sports centres, therefore they must pay for them. One has only to walk on the street and talk to individuals and it will be quickly seen that people are very concerned about these massive increases; and that the very people they are purporting to help will suffer from these massive increases, especially the middle- and low-income individuals.

I was surprised to hear a very influential Member of Government say on Friday that the middle- and lower-income individuals will not suffer but benefit. With respect, I think that anyone thinking along those lines is taking a very simplistic view of the negative effects these massive increases will have on the economy and the people of these islands. One has to ask whether the wishes of the people are of paramount importance in this exercise and, if so, why are the politicians not listening to the people; or is it that the politicians are more interested in their political agendas?

The point I wish to make in my contribution is that as a past Member of Executive Council and past Deputy Financial Secretary that I am well aware of the way in which Budgets are prepared. As a past civil servant, I wish to make the point that I am not in any way blaming the Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development for this Budget and these increases. I do not regard this as ‘his’ increases, because I know the procedure which is followed in the preparation of Budgets. He is given a job to do, and so far he has been doing a splendid job. If he wishes to take responsibility for these increases, and indeed for the Budget, that is completely up to him. But responsibility for this horrendous and massive increase in import duties and other taxes must lie firmly and squarely on the Elected Members of Executive Council, the Ministers of Executive Council.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: You can’t put the blame on any of us. You know how it’s done.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Nothing seems to have changed in this Legislative Assembly, because certain people still enjoy interrupting others when they are speaking. Well, I am used to that. It is no problem.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I’ll show you four years.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: The question is: Are the people’s wishes of paramount importance, or is it the fulfilment of the political agenda of Ministers of Government? The answer to that question has to be, when one looks at the $43 million in Capital Expenditure, that the Elected Ministers of Government are trying to chalk up monuments unto themselves, without any consideration to the damage that can be caused to this country.

They will tell us that removal of the 7.5% land transfer stamp duty on Caymanian first owner-occupied homes valued up to $125,000 and removal of stamp duty on land for Caymanian first owner-occupied homes valued up to $25,000 is a major benefit to the people. But they are short sighted. What they are giving on the one hand (and it doesn’t take a rocket scientist to figure out that 7.5% on $125,000 is approximately $10,000), they are taking back with the other hand through the increases on cement that will be used for building the homes. They have increased taxes on the heavy equipment trucks that will be used to transport the material, and so on, and so forth. The same benefit they claim to be giving to the ‘little man’ they are taking back with the other hand. They have increased cement from 20% to 25%—not to speak of the indirect cost that will hit that same person, whom they purport to be helping, with the increase on motor vehicle tax. I have not touched the high cost —100%!— on gasoline, and so on.

They will say that they are looking after the ‘little man.’ They only think of the ‘little man’ when it suits them.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Oh...

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: While they have not increased duty on motor cars up to $20,000, they have slaughtered anybody who would save money for a car slightly more expensive. They are controlling the way in which you should live. They decide what is best for you. So, they are saying that they will make life a bit more bearable for the little man but will soak the rich.

I wonder if they have the slightest inkling that the rich did not get rich by being stupid? They were very prudent with their money. Can you imagine that any Government would increase gasoline, which is necessary for all of us, by 100%? If we had a public transportation system in this country I could understand why they would increase gasoline. But having a motor car is not a luxury in this country, it is a necessity. Instead of making life more difficult for those of us who have to use a motor car to get to work, and this stretches across a spectrum from the poorest to the wealthiest, they are making life more difficult.

I have not yet touched on the tourism and financial industries, I am just speaking first on those areas where they claim to have given something to the lower-income individuals, to show that they are giving with one hand, but taking back with the other.

In addition to the 100% increase in gasoline and the horrendous increases in the duty on motor cars, they have also increased the duty on motor car parts and accessories. This Budget is an inflationary Budget, it is a bad Budget and the Ministers of Government should take this back to the drawing board. Anyone supporting this Budget is just as bad.

They have stated as one of the benefits that no increased charges will be levied on mortgage of land under $300,000. It was already too high at 1%. They have abolished fees for boats under 18 feet. I think their crowning glory has to be the abolition of taxes on bicycles and dogs. It has to be that they have another policy for the people of this country because they are making it so difficult for them to use their motor cars. Now, in their good conscience, they are making it easier to ride bicycles so that we can become a bicycle-riding society!

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Are they expecting the people of East End and North Side to ride their bicycles to work?

They have removed plumbing and electrical fees on houses under 1,500 square feet, and apartments under 600 square feet. As I stated earlier, that little benefit they give there has already been taken back in increased duties on cement and other increased costs.

They reduced fees for gun licences for farmers. That is a good thing. But the question is: How many farmers have gun licences and how many will benefit from this? But I must admit that this is a good thing.

The increase in duty allowance for returning residents from $300 to $350 has again been taken back in certain ways. They are talking about an environmental impact fee of $2.00. This is a glorified addition to the travel tax. So what they have given with the one hand, they are taking back with the other.

They preach 'Buy Cayman' but they do things that encourage people to go abroad and shop. They are confused. This is due to a lack of proper planning. There is no planning in Government. In their five years they should have by now had a fiscal and economic plan. But they are a Government of management by crisis. This is not only the view of the Third Elected Member for George Town. This is generally felt throughout the islands.

They will tell you that they have done a lot of good for the people. They have taken the duty off ice-cream and yoghurt. These people have to be joking! Why not take it off of fruit and vegetable juice and butter and other such items? How many people are using ice-cream as a staple food? This Budget was rushed. It has no sensible basis to it. One only has to look to see if they even took the time to quantify the increases.

I will take my seat right now if a Minister of the Government can get up and tell me how much these increases are purported to raise in revenue.

(pause)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Speaker, I hear nothing but silence. They do not know. This was a hurriedly put together Budget and the enhancement measures were hurriedly put together. What they did was take a lump of Capital Expenditure and go around scrambling for revenue to support it. That is why I say there was no plan. This is a Government of management by crisis.

One Member asked if I was not ashamed of myself for making these remarks. My position in this Honourable House, although it has been very difficult for me to get here, is to represent my people. Until the day I leave this Chamber I will do that to the best of my ability, without any personal vendetta against any Member. But I will speak on issues as I see them.

Let us now have a look....

The Speaker: I wonder if this would be a convenient time to take the morning break?

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 11.48 AM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 12.21 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated.

The Third Elected Member for George Town, continuing the debate.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

When we took the break, I had just moved to the part of my contribution dealing with the effects of the horrendous increases on the tourism and financial industries. I was about to make the point that these two sectors comprise our economy. Each is believed to contribute equally to the economy.

Before speaking on the effects on the tourism industry, I wish to acknowledge that I am aware that certain Members of Government will take advantage of my position on this by suggesting that I am encouraging drinking and smoking. They are hoping that they will be able to get the support of the churches in this matter. It is amazing how many people know about the church when it suits them. But I think it is well known that I do not smoke and that I drink very little, if any. So it is not going to benefit me whether or not I can go into a hotel or restaurant and get a drink.

I believe that we have to move away from the simplistic side of this whole Budget and the enhancement measures we are now discussing, and look at the much bigger picture. We hear about the benefits being given to the little man. But if the Ministers of Government had taken the time to sit with their experts in the Finance and Development Department, they may have learned that there is such a thing as the 'trickle-down' effect. This trickle-down effect can be a positive one or a negative one. I am suggesting that this Budget will create a negative trickle-down effect for the people of the country, and will negatively impact on the middle and lower income individuals.

Let me explain what I mean by that. Because of the very high increases in taxes relating to the tourism industry, the net effect will be that many of those businesses will have to close down, or they will have to cause a retrenchment of their employees in order to keep afloat. What is keeping the tourism sector businesses alive is the amount of support they get from the tourists.

It is a well known fact that we cater to the upper end of the tourism industry market. But those same people would not be in the upper economic end if they had been fools. We need to learn that there are other tourism destinations where tourists can go. We are already pricing ourselves out of the market. These increases, I submit, will have the effect of killing the goose that laid the golden egg.

There are many destinations out there competing for the business that we have in the Cayman Islands. If the restaurant operators and owners, the hotels, guest houses, etcetera, are put out of business, then the ultimate negative trickle-down effect will be that the employee will be negatively affected. It will have a negative impact on those individuals. It does not take a brilliant economist or accountant to figure that out. If the prices are so high that the restaurants are unable to carry the same amount of business they were before, then the profits will be smaller. In order for the owners and operators to maintain a healthy bottom line, they will have to cut back on overhead. One of the first areas that is usually cut back is the staff.

The little benefits being derived from the 7.5% exemption on the home, will be taken back; worse still, many people receiving that exemption will be out of a job and unable to pay in any case. Banks will be calling upon them for payments they cannot make and their homes will be taken away from them. That is the negative trickle-down effect we are talking about.

A naive and simplistic approach taken by many Governments is that higher taxes equates with higher revenue. This is not the case. People want value for their dollar. They will go wherever they feel they can get the best value for their dollar.

We are talking about an already high tourism product. A glass of wine, costing something like $4 or $5, could go to $7 or $8. That is a situation that deserves very serious attention. The situation is so bad that I feel it is time that the Governor himself should take note of the public outcry in the interest of good Government.

I understand that there will be a meeting this afternoon of the Council of Associations. This is across-the-board representation of people in the hotel industry, the condominium industry, the restaurant association, the heavy equipment, the Chamber of Commerce...you name it, they will be there. How can the Ministers of Government ignore that kind of representation?

They can sit back and say, regardless of what merchants or anyone else says, that they are not changing these measures. But I suggest that in the interest of this country and the people of this country that they seriously listen to the public outcry. If this Budget with these enhancement measures are intended to assist the people, then they must realise that they should listen to the people. If they ignore the wishes of the people, one has to believe that these enhancement measures are to meet their own political agendas; that they are not looking at the national good of this country, but at the next election.

Mr. Speaker, I know that after I sit down you will not have to wait for somebody to get up and speak. I have already been told that I will be reminded about the 1988 to 1992 Government in which I was a Member of Executive Council. But there was a change in 1992, a landslide, and again in 1996. That suggests to me that the people were not happy with the last Government (1988 to 1992), and that this present Government would have learned from any mistakes made by that Government. This present Government was now the 'last' Government. This is their fifth year in power. It is time that they start to get things right.

When I speak about the Ministers' political agendas, I am speaking on the basis of information contained in the Capital Budget. I have taken the time to analyse their Capital Budget. I want to make quite certain that I understand this. There are certain necessities and essential services that must be met, continuing capital expenditures which have to be completed—I am speaking about such expenditures as improvements and building of new schools, certain roads, the hospital and so on. But if we do not have the funds, there is no need for us to rush everything in 1997. We can try to spread this expenditure over a longer period.

Why are we rushing ahead to spend over $4 million on civic centres and sports clubs if the country cannot afford it at this time? Why not defer it until next year? What about the Harquail bypass? Is this regarded as so essential that it could not be deferred? What about purchase of certain lands for development of certain roads? What about the $1.5 million that has been estimated to be used on the Pedro St. James Castle during this year? Can that not be deferred until next year?

When one considers (according to an answer to a question this morning) that the Government has already spent $1.8 million on this Pedro St. James Castle, and that there is another $1.5 million in the Capital Budget which equates to something like $3.3 million, is this an essential service that cannot wait?

Let us give the Government the benefit of the doubt and say that we need these expenses. Why did they not quantify the revenue they hope to derive from these increases so that somebody would have an idea of what they are talking about? It is a true indication of this Budget and these enhancement measures being rushed. They were not properly thought out. The Ministers insisted that they wanted certain things done, so it was up to the Financial Secretary to get a Budget to accommodate them.

It is time that the Government move away. A previous speaker mentioned that the Budget process was somewhat behind the times. I have to agree. We are now considered a premier financial centre. We are number five in the whole world, after such places as London, New York, Tokyo and Hong Kong. Yet, our financial system is still in the 1970s. We are still trying to get revenue enhancement through increases in import duties and taxes.

One Member also mentioned that it is an inefficient system. I would not go as far as to say inefficient, but it is a well-known accounting and economic fact that an indirect form of taxation is the most regressive form. I would like to make it abundantly clear, before I am misquoted, that I am not advocating any form of direct taxation. I am just making the point that an indirect form of taxation is a most regressive form. My reasoning for that is that the indirect form of taxation has to be borne by everybody equally, regardless if they are able to pay or not. The individual with the lowest income must pay the same price in the supermarket as the richest person in the country. That is the theory behind it.

Perhaps the Ministers of Government will now take note of what I have to say. There are other ways of raising revenue. I know there are some in Executive Council who know that. One does not always have to go to an increase in import duties or other forms of taxation. Why has the Government not looked at more sophisticated ways to raise revenue? I know a few, but they have not asked me. There are such things as, what I heard a Backbencher behind me say, treasury bonds. There are such things as ordinary bonds also. There are other areas of loans. They are proud to tell you that loans are divided into three categories: We have what is called local loans, financing from local revenue, we get financing from local loans and from external loans. The loan position now shows that the total public debt is being serviced by only 4.5% of our recurrent revenue. Has the Government thought of looking at that side of the picture to get an increase in their revenue?

Have they given any thought to the overall damaging effect that these increases are having, and will have, on the economy and the people of these islands? Look at the financial sector. Did the Government follow the recommendation of their Private Sector Consultative Committee? Or did they follow any recommendation from the Executive Advisory Group? Did they go to the Council of Associations and ask for their advice on any of these measures? No. They were hurriedly put together and dumped on the people of this country. We are being told that they have the numbers in the Legislative Assembly to pass these measures, and that we must take them or leave them. There is nothing that the people of this country can do except show their displeasure through meetings.

The only Members of this House who voted against these horrendous measures were the First Elected Member for George Town, Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts, the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town, Mr. Roy Bodden, and me. This is an indication of where this Bill will go. So the people are being told 'You elected us and put us in the House, but we will do as we please. We know best.'

What was the criteria behind the increases in the duties on motor cars? How did they justify the increases in wine coolers? They were already paying $1.50 per litre on a product that was already too expensive. What they have done now is add 100% on the c.i.f. value, thus making the product twice as expensive. This is before they added any profit onto the product. I want to make it abundantly clear that I am looking at the macro side of this issue. I am looking at the effect it will have on the tourism industry and on the economy on a whole; not from a personal point of view (because I do not drink or smoke), but because it is going to damage this country.

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: You must be looking at the macaroni side!

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: One Member does not seem to know the difference between macroeconomics and macaroni. No wonder we have so many problems!

When we go down the list on wines, high priced items, Champagne and so on, very exorbitant prices have been placed on all of them. They have told us by their very action that there is a veiled attempt for the philosophy of soaking the rich. When we squeeze the upper-income individuals too much they will take so much and no more and then go elsewhere.

It is true that they did give something back in return. They have made yoghurt and ice-cream duty free. Tea and tea concentrates are duty free. I do not know how many people will benefit from this. I believe that their crowning glory must be that they have abolished taxes on bicycles and dogs...

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order.

POINT OF ORDER
(Repetition)

The Speaker: May I hear your point of order?

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: The Member has repeated that line item about ten times in his debate. He is not getting anywhere with it, it is just repetition.

The Speaker: Honourable Member, you have used that analogy several times. Please move on.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I know my Standing Orders very well, indeed. So I have to tell that Honourable Minister who just interrupted me, that it was not really a valid point of order. But I would like to say to him that repetition bears emphasis. I know it hurts him when I point out the wrong things he has done. But, Mr. Speaker, this needs to be done.

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order. I am calling the Standing Order that deals with repetition which is perfectly correct. He says that he knows he is repeating, yet he tells me that I have not put the right Standing Order.

The Speaker: Third Elected Member for George Town, I understand what is being said, and I understand that you are trying to emphasise. But you have repeated the bicycle part of it on several occasions. I ask that you move along.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I will abide by your ruling. I always do. I knew that bicycle part would hurt some people. But I will leave that alone.

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: It takes more than a gun to hurt certain people.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: And red Volkswagens also kill people.

There has been an across-the-board increase in financial service fees on banks, trust companies, mutual funds, insurance and company management. While increases in some of these may not directly affect the local residents, others will. For example, the banks and insurance companies will most certainly pass on their cost to all of their customers, including local customers. So, when they decided to increase the fees on 'A' banks from $42,000 to $80,000—some 90%!—one has to ask what the basis was for that consideration.

When one looks at the revenue position of Government, one can understand why there is need for caution. Rather than getting involved in such high increases in taxes at this time, I would have thought it more prudent for the Government to come forward with a Budget for 1997 that would have been good and acceptable in these islands. The revenue in 1996 was $194 million. This year it has increased to $231 million—an increase of some $37 million!

Worse than that is the expenditure of Government...

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order.

POINT OF ORDER
(Relevancy)

The Speaker: May I hear your point of order?

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The debate on the Budget is coming at a later date, the Honourable Member seems to be going into that now. On the point of relevancy, he should reserve his debate on the Budget for later on.

The Speaker: Previous speakers have rambled quite a bit, but let us attempt to stay as near on course as possible. Please continue.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. As I said, I knew that a lot of people would be jumping up and interrupting me during my debate.

Mr. Speaker, I am not debating the Budget. They will know when I get to the Budget, because I have quite a bit to say on the Budget. I am still dealing with the reason for these increased taxes, showing what the revenue position was before these apparent 'good measures' were brought into effect, and what the expenditure position of Government was.

I am not surprised that they have brought these horrendous tax increases because since 1994 they have operated a deficit budget; they have been living beyond their means and it is no wonder that they have now had to bring such horrific enhancement measures to this House. They know that this is relevant to what I am talking about. There is nothing irrelevant about it! They are just trying to create mischief by stopping me and attempting to throw me off track.

I call upon each Member of Executive Council, especially each Minister, to give serious thought to withdrawing this Bill. It is a bad Bill, it will create hardship on the people—not only the rich people whom they seem to want to soak, but it will have a negative trickle-down effect on the 'little people' they so often speak of. In my estimation these enhancement measures will create an additional burden by increasing the cost of living by some 15% to 20%. If what I am saying is not correct, I call upon any Minister of Government to prove me wrong.

We are only three on this side; and there are 12 other Elected Members, plus three Official Members. So the chances of our voices being listened to is very remote. But we would be remiss in our duties if we did not stand up as the champions of the people. As Representatives we have that job to do. We are not casting any personal aspersions on anybody, we are just dealing with the issue before this House. I want to make that abundantly clear. Whatever I say in this House is not meant to be taken personally.

In closing, I wish to again say that I do not regard this as a Civil Service Budget; I do not regard this as the Budget of the Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development; I put this responsibility fairly and squarely on the Elected Members of Executive Council.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Proceedings will be suspended until 2.30 PM.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 12. 55 PM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 2.43 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated.

Debate continues. The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: I have listened to the various speakers on this Bill. I heard much criticism from the Opposition saying that this Government did not know what it was doing, and that we just grouped this together and put it out. According to the Opposition, we needed to plan this better.

The Members of the Opposition have had their say. So far, I have not heard any workable alternative offered by them. They have criticised and cast all kinds of aspersions, but they have not come up with any alternatives. If they have a workable alternative to what is being proposed in the Budget or in the revenue measures, they should now put it on the Table of this Honourable House.

I have heard no alternatives, but I have heard them holding arguments against their own argument. If any better alternative can be put before the Government by the Opposition, we would be glad to jump on it. Only a dead man cannot change his mind—if you have something good to offer, offer it!

In dealing with this briefly, we listened to the Third Elected Member for George Town. He has come back here with his old style of talking out of both sides of his mouth. "One does not always have to go to raising fees to raise revenue," he said. "I know," he says, "what to do," but we did not ask him. "I know," says he, "treasury bonds are the answer." Well, how is it that the Third Elected Member for George Town knows so much now, but when he was in Executive Council he did not put those things in place? That was not such a long time ago. Four years. Not a long time. If there were good things, he certainly could have put them in place. Why, then, did he choose to go the other route twice, in 1990 and 1991? Why did he choose to increase everything when he was in Executive Council? We know that that Member does not have the answer, because he did not have it then. Certainly, over the passage of four years he did not seem to have learned what to do, even though he had the time to learn.

He complained about our taking the duty off of tea and tea concentrates. But who reduced it from 20% to 10%? Was he not part of the Executive Council that did that? He wonders who is drinking it now. The same people who were drinking it then! How short his memory is!

He talks about fuel. We did not raise duty on all fuel. There is an increase suggested by us now of 25 cents, and there is a proposal from the Elected Member for North Side that we should go down to 20 cents—and I think we should. I think it is something we can look at. But what did the Third Elected Member for George Town do when he was in Executive Council? He raised diesel—something which hit every person in this country! It even hit the dogs! He did not do it just once, he did it two years in succession.

He comes back in here again with the same smile and the same ability to talk out of both corners of his mouth. They went up on tobacco goods from 33% to 50%. They went up on Champagne and beer, two years in a row. They increased every item they could, simply because they did not have the management to bring the country around from the existing stagnation. Do you know what brought the stagnation? The bankrupt policies put forward by their administration.

I know that you will hear "that was in the past." If his presence here means that he is going to take over again, then history should teach us a lesson. They went up on unsweetened spirits, including liqueurs and table wines, on dessert wines, port, sherry, vermouth, Champagne, mineral oils and their products.... Not only did they go up on gasoline, they went up on diesel also, from 13 cents per gallon to 25 cents per gallon.

You talk about macroeconomics? If you know so much about macroeconomics, check out what that did to the public at the time. If you think that I do not know the difference between macroeconomics and macaroni...! (Laughter).

Then, as if that were not good enough, in 1990 they planned to hit us in 1991. They went from one slam-dunk on us in 1990, right into another one in 1991. Electricity—everything in the world that they could hit the little man (who he keeps referring to).... And he comes back in here with that language, when we know it means nothing to him because he was in here before and he did not help the 'little man' except to increase fees until he nearly forced him out of existence. He increased telephones and telephone equipment from 3% to 20%! Maybe that was the time he re-negotiated the contract to give Cable & Wireless the increase.

I do not think that the Third Elected Member for George Town (while he says he is representing his constituency) should come here with this halo, saying "Put me back in charge because I did you no harm. I'm a good little boy." Oh yeah? I don't think so. I think he was a big part of it. And the biggest joke of all is his explanation regarding the Honourable Third Official Member—"This is not his Budget," you know, "this is the Elected Members' Budget." Yet, in the campaign he was 'kicking' my colleague, the Minister for Tourism, saying that it was he who put those items up, not us. Well, if that were so then, how come the present Financial Secretary has nothing to do with the Budget?

He says he knows the system. He should know, he was there. He was a senior civil servant, so he should understand quite well how budgets are put together.

I well recall his debate on the 1990-1991 Budgetary proposals. In those years they did not only tax the people, they transferred from the General Reserves and borrowed large sums of money. They hit us three ways: they took out of the savings account, hit us on what we were paying and then borrowed from the bank too. That's good management? I don't think so, Mr. Speaker. They still have not shed their cloak of irresponsibility.

In those years they spent $13 million on capital projects. That is what they had budgeted. At the end of the day there were at least several more millions added to their capital budget. Yet, they complain now. Show me what they did for their capital budget. If they had done so much with it, we would not need to do some of the things we are doing today. Roads were neglected in spite of the grandiose schemes that they put forward. I say without fear of repercussion from anyone, that only their friends' roads, and only certain people's roads were fixed at that time. I know how much I pleaded and begged them—when fire trucks were still getting stuck between light poles, and people's houses were burning down because we could not get roads for them. If you cannot get roads for your people, who are you going to do it for? What are you collecting money for? What is this 'wellness of life'?

Don't talk about bad stewardship today. You know what is true, Mr. Speaker? We did not increase any fees to the general public in the four years that we were in Executive Council, 1992-1996.

Now, to get down to the best part. He feels that the present system of taxation is improper and not right for the country. Then what is the Member proposing? If this present system is archaic (as he says it is), then what is the Member proposing? Is he talking about income tax? Property tax? Capital gains tax? This is what he is talking about. He certainly cannot be talking about the system that makes contributions on the ability to pay; because if that was what he is talking about, he should have said that.

I believe that was what the Fourth Elected Member for George Town was talking about when he spoke about a contribution made on the ability to pay. According to the Third Elected Member for George Town, we are taxing the rich people out of existence. He cannot say that we are hurting the little man and then hold an argument that in this Budget we are against the rich. It is either one or the other. That brings me to my feelings on what is proposed.

I have been here for 13 Budgets and at least the same number of Throne Speeches. This is the first time that the working man (the 'small man', the 'little man', whatever you want to call the average Caymanian) has had a break in the budgetary measures put before him. This is the first time it has happened. I have had my say, but everyone, including civil servants, made the Budget. Not just Elected Members.

My feeling is that we have not proposed a budget that will be to the detriment of average Caymanians. In fact, what has been done in some instances is to make people who can afford to pay. If you can own a Cadillac, a Volvo, a BMW, an Infinity, or a Lexus, and you want good roads to drive it on, then you need to pay a little bit more than the person who owns a Toyota Tercel. That is the hard fact of life. That is the system we should have had for years. I pled for it in 1985—when the Third Elected Member for George Town was in Executive Council—and they threw us to the wind. Today there is a move toward that end, but let's look at some of the things he criticised.

He has the audacity to come here and talk about the Council of Associations. I am not scared of the Council of Associations because if it comes up with a good idea it is the Government's responsibility, if it is better than what we have, to deal with it. I know that there are some good people in the Chamber of Commerce, and some bad people. I hear now they are telling their employees that they have to go to the great meeting planned for this afternoon. It is a pity that in 1994 and 1995, when I was trying to get benefits for the working man, those same people did not take them down to the Clarion, where they had another great meeting (but invited me!). They did not take them then, but they want them to assist today.

They incite the workers, as the Third Elected Member for George Town was attempting to do, to make them believe that this whole Budget is going to kill them; that it is too much of a burden on them. I can not see that, and I do not believe it from what I understood when we sat down with the civil servants and they advised us. If there is something wrong and they have a better idea, have them lay it on the Table. We are duty bound to listen.

He criticised the boat fee. He said that he found it discriminatory. Other boat operators should have been given the same relief. Does he not know what is happening in this country? Does he not know that the same people criticising this exercise are the people who are in full control, and have the monopolies at the hotels? Does he not know that the small man who operates in the North Sound is having to sell his boat?

I know you are going to hear that I have a boat. Sure, I have a boat which my brother runs. It's the family boat. I had that a long time before I got into Executive Council. Of course, you are going to hear that. Never mind, Mr. Speaker, they have said worse things about me before.

The truth is that an attempt is being made to relieve the small operator who is not getting the business in comparison to Red Sail Sports and a few others who have the main hotels, where the small man cannot go, tied up.

Let me tell you what goes on and why we need to do these kinds of things: We passed a regulation saying that a rack to hold all the brochures of operating Caymanians must exist in the hotel foyer. Do you know what they did? Instead of putting it in the hotel foyer—you had to get a compass to find it. Why? Because in the hotel foyer sits a desk that is manned by the dive operations to which they have given the monopoly to. In other words, the tourists could not even find the brochure, and would not know any other operation existed beside the one sitting in the foyer. That is the kind of thing that is going on in this country.

There is no desire on the part of the big business people in this country to allow the small businessman to operate in certain sectors. That is a fact. I stand here without fear of contradiction. He finds the boat fees discriminatory? The fact is that the vast majority operating anywhere else in another association already have it made. They have the cash, they can advertise, they can buy the bigger boats, they can advertise on the ships.... And they do it—not only on the ships, but in the market places where little Tom Brown out of Boatswain Bay, can't! I have no problem with that. I did not suggest it, but I have no problem with it.

The impact fee: How long have we been hearing in this country about an impact fee? Every time the Budget comes up, or the Throne Speech is debated, there is a major debate in the country about revenue or about over-development. We hear that we should put on an impact fee. I ask the Third Elected Member for George Town: How many times did he promise an impact fee and not put one in? Look at the budgetary speeches, and you will see the Third Elected Member for George Town promising it time and time again. He was going to make them pay—especially when it got close to 1992. Every word out of him was that he was going to create an impact fee. Well, this is what has happened.

The truth is that if people come here and they build a hotel, or a commercial centre, they create an impact. I get 'ragged' for talking about the stress on the country—on the roads, on the hospital, and on all of our infrastructural services—by immigrants coming into the country. Do you know what they say? I am not going to repeat it because Team Cayman might find another full page ad and print it. But it's the truth: The more people who come in, whether it's a school teacher, an accountant, or a clerk in an office doing mutual funds, they create a stress on our infrastructure. Big development is one of the main causes. Why should they not pay?

I cannot see this as discouraging development anywhere. If they believe that activity on the Queen's Highway is not full speed ahead, then they should go and check. There is no need to invite anyone, or give anyone an incentive to go up there to develop. It is developing hand-over-fist, as it is everywhere in this country.

He said that we were creating a hardship on the little man. On motor cars and station wagons, motor vehicle tax has increased $30 for the year. So when a person goes to pay his motor vehicle licence, he will pay an extra $30 on the year, from $130 to $160. They do not represent any more grass-roots people than I, and I do not believe that this is a hardship on anyone. People want better roads. What are we supposed to do? Everyone is talking about the roads.

I do not necessarily agree that we should increase fees for taxis because there is a disadvantage to taxis, especially local taxis in this country. I say that without any fear of contradiction. I do not believe they should, until the situation where the cruise ships are giving the buses all the business is corrected. I don't buy the argument that we cannot tell them what to do. I have to be shown the facts on this, and I have not seen any. They come here and anchor in our port. We tell them where to anchor. Don't tell me that we can't tell them what goes on in our island!

I should say, quite rightly, that the vast majority of taxis will go out in that circle and will be there all day and hardly make anything, while the buses pile up with people. I am not saying that some taxis do not get business, but I am saying that the vast majority do not. It is an appalling condition, and I am saying that it is time for Government to take the bull by the horns and tell the cruise ships that if they want to come here they should abide by our rules and regulations. They cannot set the rules. That is my opinion. I do not have to ask anybody, sir. I know first hand. I see it.

When we look at the motor car fees, which the Third Elected Member for George Town complained about, look at what will hit the average Caymanian: He will only pay an increase of $30 per year. His driver's licence has moved from $45 to $60, and that's an increase of $15. It is an average of $5 per year. You want to tell me that this is too much? I don't think so, Mr. Speaker.

The truth is (and some people will not like it) that they buy $25 tickets to go to the Lions Centre, they buy cigarettes—things they do not need. They need roads to drive on. They have to work. I am not deriding anybody, or taking anybody's pleasures away. What we are saying is that these are small increases. As I said, the Third Elected Member for George Town does not represent any more grass-roots people than I do. He cannot stand in this House and tell me that I do not have any respect for the grass-roots people. One has only to check my Ministry and see what I have done for them. No one listening to this debate can say that I have tried to push them down. I have forever tried to lift them up in everything that I have tried to do. And this Budget—which I will be supporting—and these fees which I support (except for some areas that I think should be looked at, such as that suggested by the Member for North Side)... they cannot say that they are faring badly with this Budget.

So, when a person goes once per year to have his car inspected and licensed, he will pay something like an extra $30 or $40 in fees. Is that too much, Mr. Speaker? I do not believe so. It has been some 20 years... maybe I am wrong in that. There may have been an increase in 1985, I don't recall. But it has been many years, maybe more like 12 years, since these fees were increased.

Where else in the Budget can the Member find cases of the small man being hit? Garbage fees for private homes and apartments costs the Government a lot more than what it is receiving. We have chosen not to go up on private homes and apartments simply not to affect the average Caymanian. Tell me where we are hurting the average Caymanian.

You go out there and stir up the people and talk about marches? For what? Now he says the environmental protection fee is only a glorified travel tax. Call it what you will, the fact remains that it needs to be paid. It is something that is not going to hurt anybody. If you are going to Miami to spend $1,000 or $1,500, you can pay $8.00 or $10.00.

The truth is that a lot of our people are calling for services and they do not realise how much it costs to provide them. We all want to live and have a better quality of life, but to have that we are sometimes called upon to pay more than we are paying.

I don't want anyone telling me that I am a rich person. My wife has to work too. The fact remains that they are not getting very much out there.

On the building permit fees: The plumbing and electrical rate is presently $60 for a house of 1,000 square feet. What we are saying is that they will not pay anything for a house under 1,500 square feet. Does this not help the average Caymanian? If the Third Elected Member for George Town is blind, then let him put on some glasses and see!

On houses 2,500 square feet, it is still the flat fee of $60. A house 2,500 but not exceeding 4,000 is 20 cents per square foot for all the Planning fees. So for a 4,000 square foot house it would be $800. You want to tell me that if you are building a 4,000 square foot house you can't pay $800 to get Planning for plumbing and electrical inspection? Those services have to be provided, otherwise we would be operating a country where everyone did what he wanted to do. You have to have Planning and these kinds of services. So if one is building a 4,000 square foot house, one is asked to pay $800. That is not a burden for anyone who can build that house. Even if they build it over a period of years it is still not too high.

They know I have no qualms about the hotels and large commercial condos paying more than what they used to pay. Look at what the fees for hotels were: 239,204 square feet, paid under $4,000. Look at the stress on the infrastructure. For an ordinary business of 8,000 square feet, $316, plus $30—under $400. Service Stations, 4476 square feet, under $200. Warehouses of 6,000 square feet, under $300. Planning was operating and not getting back the cost for that operation. Yet everyone says that Government is spending too much money. Oh yeah?

I believe that is a fact in certain areas. There must be some reduction in expenditure. But the fact remains that when you offer services like garbage collection and you are subsidising people, businesses and houses—because the fact remains that Government was not only subsidising the average Caymanian's dwelling house, but it was subsidising businesses up to 25% on garbage fees. In other words, it was costing Government $100 but all it was getting back was $75 on businesses. That is an example.

They say that Government must reduce its expenditure, but if Government is going to reduce its expenditure, if the country is going to develop hand over fist, then how is it going to reduce its expenditure when Government is a service? I am dealing with Planning now. You want all this development and you want Planning to be the regulatory body for it, but then Planning does not get its fees; they spend $100 but only get back $25. That is why recurrent expenditure is up. The facts must be stated.

In comparison to the import duties which the Third Elected Member for George Town raised when he was in Government... I heard him up there jumping up and down, saying "You are going to hurt the little man." Show me what in the import duties is going to affect the little man. He did not say; he just made a broad, sweeping statement.

I look at cement which is presently 20%. It will be 25% after the recommendations go into Law. So we are raising it 5%. Is this going to hurt Caymanians? That is an average of 14 cents per sack. The truth is—and let me deal with the Council of Associations and those MLAs who want to go to their meeting this afternoon to 'kiss up' to them—what has been happening in this country is a tremendous and appalling price gouging. That is the problem. The quicker we admit that—and the Third Elected Member for George Town alluded to it, but would not come out and say so—the truth is that those same people now gearing up to fight Government include all those who ran against us, and those who don't like us (and will never like us). It's no big thing. I have been through many storms before!

At the present rate a sack of cement costs $2.88 per bag to import. I understand that the price is $6.50. If that is not a downright disgrace, then you tell me so. If the Third Elected Member for George Town wanted something to rant and rave about, that is what he should have been saying, but the fact remains that the people importing it are his supporters. Of course, he would not touch that. He would make broad, sweeping statements.

Monuments to politicians? I do not believe in them. People see the type of monuments that McKeeva Bush proposes. We have one statue out there. That is what I am all about—not building grandiose schemes for anybody. I am about building people. A monument that was frightening was the Master Ground Transportation Plan for $300 million.

So, if we put 5% more on cement, it is a further 14 cents. That would be $3.02 first cost. If they put on 40%... someone do some quick arithmetic. How much would 30% for overhead be? He's an accountant, and I am relating my discussion to his discussion. Maybe he can tell me how much it is. I am sure that he did the exercise, but he will not come out and say so. The George Town people ought to know who is looking out for their benefits, when he comes to this House talking about all the increases but cannot say anything about the price gouging.

On arms and ammunition; sure, we have gone up—excluding farmers. Is that hurting Caymanians? No it is not. Leather goods, excluding footwear and furniture are now duty free, we are putting 10% on that. Does that hurt Caymanians? No. Those are things which are not absolutely necessary. When you look at the prices... and I have some supporters in that field and some small operators that I have a lot of respect for. But the fact remains, that when you check their prices they are absolutely ridiculous. The truth is that they have no call whatsoever to get riled up about anything. They are doing good in this country today.

They talk about the increase on boats, how it is killing tourism. Mr. Speaker, if a person can come in here with a big boat... let us look at the situation today. The average Caymanian bringing in a 14' or 20' boat has to pay import duties of 20% on that. The rich man comes along and brings in a 40' boat under its own power and it comes in duty free. It is still coming into the country, what is the difference? Oh, you must charge the little man but the rich can find a way to get out of it. I do not support that.

Everything creates a stress—on the road, on land and on the sea. Dredging is not the only thing that creates stress on the marine environment, it's the amount of business, the amount of diving and everything else. How much more can we do? So that cannot hurt the little Caymanian, as he said.

Let us look at motor cars: Up to $20,000 value, the same duty is charged as at present. If you want to buy a Chevy or a Cadillac (a used one), or a used Dodge under $20,000 value, you pay the same amount. Does that hurt the little man? If you thought that 27.5% was too high, why did he not reduce it when he was there? Exceeding $20,000 and up to $25,000 the duty goes up to 30%, and so on. These are high-end cars. The rich people (if you want to call them that) who can import Lincoln's, Infinities, BMWs, Mercedes Benz, Volvos or Cadillacs, should pay. They are creating a stress on the roads. In relation to this tax, it has not been increased since 1977.

I think we have done well with the amount of road work that is needed. Just look at the amount of work that has to be done, and the number of new roads needed. Maybe we can look at a system where revenue is derived (and my friend, the Honourable Third Official Member may not agree with me) to pay for the roads, then we will get better roads quicker. So, I have no problem in supporting that.

Vehicles to transport the handicapped: Those Members got up and spoke about the things they could mislead the public with. The truth is that it is really not hurting except in one area, that is, the increase in car licensing. They will feel it, but it is not over-burdening.

They would not look at the areas we removed duty from because they know those areas pertain to the average Caymanian. If they had the average Caymanian at heart they would jump up and down and clap their hands with glee saying "We are proud the National Team did this, even though we don't support the National Team." But they did not do that.

They asked, "who eats ice-cream and yoghurt?" and "who is drinking flavoured milk?" What they would not say to the public is that it means we have taken duty off all baby milk. Who is that designed to not help? Even the rich will benefit because they have children too. They would not tell you that we removed the duties on vehicles to transport the handicapped. Who is that designed to help? The average Caymanian will benefit more because he will not have to pay. Even the people who can afford to pay will benefit.

Mr. Speaker, I have already dealt with the environmental impact fee, and I do not think that the 1.5% is too much. If someone can show me a workable alternative, as a Minister of the Government I am quite willing to sit down and look at it. But nobody has done that as yet.

How can the immigration fees hurt the average Caymanian? There is no increase on maids, which is something most all Caymanians have today regardless of what income bracket they are in. There is no increase. They will still pay the same amount they did before.

What has increased is the area of permanent residence. Look at the areas that have increased - "Persons of independent means, $15,000." That means the very rich. What were they paying before? They were paying $400. They say we are selling the country, selling away our birthright. Oh yeah? Well, if you sell it for $400 to whoever, that is selling away your birthright. But if you charge $15,000 you are doing something wrong? Why? The truth is that we have been charging too little for too long in this area.

There is no other place like the Cayman Islands! The world is beating a path to our door. Now we have competition in certain things, but the fact remains that with the low incidence of crime in this country and all of the other positives—the good telecommunications and good atmosphere, the good Caymanian people who have made this country what it is (and it is still a friendly country)—people are beating a path to our door! They want to be here. We welcome them with open arms, but will say to them, "You can stay here as long as you want, but you must pay more than $400 for your permanent residence."

What else have we done? We have split permanent residence up into categories: A person with a right to work with Caymanian connections still pays $400. So average people are not overburdened. They still pay the $400. For persons with a right to work without Caymanian connections, unskilled (that is the very small man)... and the Member for George Town should be happy for this because he has a lot of people in this category (unskilled), $400. Skilled, $1,500. These could be Jamaicans, Hondurans, Nicaraguans, whoever has been here so long they are trying to get permanent residence. Professionals, $5,000. They are going to curse this kind of move? I don't think that this is wrong. This is good. We should have done it years ago. I pushed for it for many years. Since 1980 I have been saying that we should have done something like this. If we had, we would have a lot of revenue today.

What have we done here that will kill the little man?

The Speaker: Would this be a convenient time to take the afternoon break?

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 3.47 PM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 4.17 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated.

The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture, continuing the debate.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: When we took the suspension I was dealing with immigration fees and firearm fees. I want to revert for a moment to the fees on cigarettes. A while ago I was talking about the price-gouging that is going on, and the complaint that the increase by Government is going to destroy the tourism economy and hurt the small man.

The increase on cigarettes amounts to about 2 cents per cigarette. I don't smoke so I do not know how many are in a pack, but I believe it is some 20 cents per pack. To show you what goes on in this country....

(inaudible voice from across the floor)

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I have been corrected. It is an increase of 40 cents per pack.

But to show what goes on in this country, yesterday someone bought a pack of cigarettes from a store and it cost him an extra dollar. He pointed out that the duty had not gone up on what was in stock. The shopkeeper said he did not care about that, it would be $1 extra if the customer wanted it. That is what is going on in this country—price-gouging. They do not care about the little man. It is not Government that raises the price to the consumer, be it Caymanian or tourist. The drastic increases are put on by the merchants themselves. They should learn to take a little bit less.

Years ago, when Cayman was beginning to develop, people were willing to wait for years and years to get their profits. They took their time, built their businesses and made their money. Now, it seems like everyone must get his money back today—thus we have these high prices. There is no means by which Government can control that, except to put on some sort of control. Let me say to the world that I believe in that. If we in this House talk about protecting the smaller man, the man who cannot afford to pay more—and we mean that—then we should support some sort of price control. But, do we have the political gumption? Do we care about people enough to do it? That is the question. As for McKeeva, I say, yes!

Continuing with immigration fees: We now pay $10 for a visitor's extension. What we are proposing in the first application is $25, with subsequent applications increased to $100. If it were left up to me, I would charge $200 because when you go to the Immigration Department just look at what we have—the long lines with people getting extension, after extension, after extension.

Everybody in Cayman talks and complains about Jamaicans, yet everybody wants a Jamaican gardener; everybody has a Jamaican friend coming in who wants their stay extended. Everybody wants a Jamaican maid. You cannot have your cake and eat it too, and it is time for Legislators in this country to be men enough to stand up and say, "Ladies and gentlemen, we represent you, but this is what you will get if you do this. This will be the fall-out from it. Don't talk about over development if you, yourself, are developing hand over fist. Don't talk about too many cars on the road if you are already importing 200 cars per month." It is sheer hypocrisy!

We all want to have our cake and eat it too! We need to take some hard decisions. But then when we start to do something, the same Council of Associations that is gathering now will be asking, "Are you going to tell me how to run my business?" That is what they will say. They will say, "You mean you are going to tell me that I can't have a maid? You're going to tell me that I can't drive a big American car? You're telling me that I can't drink all the liquor that I want?" No, we are not telling you that! What we are saying is that if you want to do that, then you must pay your share.

As far as the immigration fees are concerned, there is no increase on work permits, so it cannot hurt the average Caymanian.

Firearms licences: Each user of a shotgun pays $15 now. For farmers only $50 is recommended, and all other users pay $500. If you want a shotgun, you should pay to have something like that in your house.

I know the general run-of-the-mill excuses about illegal guns. There is a Law in place and those who are supposed to see that the Law is carried out are the ones we will have to hold responsible. But they are doing a fairly good job of it, although I am not saying that they catch everybody. But for the ones we know of, should they be free because some illegal gun is there? I don't believe that. Handguns are $15 now. We are moving that up. Why not?

The Third Elected Member for George Town says that we did not listen to anybody. Does he not know that the Financial Secretary brought some people in and spoke with them? He knows, yet he got up and made a sweeping statement saying that the Financial Secretary did not consult anyone. The very people whom he said we should have consulted, the Financial Secretary did consult. I want to ask him who he consulted when they put on the heavy increase when he was in Executive Council.

The financial services fees could have probably been higher. All of my colleagues know how I feel about people coming here to work. They must pay. If they come here to do business, they must pay. That is how I feel. It has to be balanced with other things, but maybe some of these fees could have been more. I trust the Financial Secretary, I find him to be a prudent man, and he talked to the people in the know.

The Third Elected Member for George Town, in his criticism of Government's revenue measures, did not make any offer as to what banks, trust companies, or financial institution could pay. Is it because he does not know, or is it because he does not want them to pay? Which is it? I believe he knows. If I remember correctly, he is a director. So he knows about banking. He understands quite well what needs to be done. But dare he do it? Dare he suggest it?

I hate to revert, but in this talk of price increases to the extent that it will kill the tourists and the smaller man, let's look at one of the most popular drinks. It is not being increased by anything, but I am using it as an example of what the merchants do. The liquor distributors are all in the same category, the Council of Associations.

The most popular drink, rum and Coke—let us say Bacardi Rum and Coke—presently costs the hotels and restaurants $4 per litre, with duty of $10. That is $14. When it gets to the retailers, the restaurant and hoteliers (and I checked with at least two—Holiday Inn and Treasure Island) a rum and Coke costs CI $4.50. They make $144 off one bottle of rum, with roughly 32 drinks per bottle. Their cost is in the region of $14.08 (I don't think I worked in the profit). That is something like $129 on one bottle of liquor. Is it the Government's fault that a drink costs $4.50 at the hotel?

Let's get some facts straight here. There is no better time to bare your soul than in front of your people. What is all of this crying over killing this, that and the next thing, and hurting Caymanians? How many Caymanians do you find in the restaurants? Tell me! How many Caymanians do we find? Do you know what they pay? Some $3.00 per hour. On top of that, they take the gratuities the worker is supposed to get. Now, if that is not highway robbery, if that is not a crying shame in this country, you tell me what is.

If we want to do something about helping the little man, wait until I bring the measures for minimum wage. I want to see who on the Opposition bench is going to jump up and say "I support you."

(Inaudible voice from across the floor)

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: Well, I hope you support it when it comes.

Mr. Speaker, this is the situation which exists in this country. These are the imbalances which are going to hurt us if we don't do something about them—$129 on a bottle of Bacardi. I see that even the Opposition is weeping tears of sorrow.

MOMENT OF INTERRUPTION Standing Order 10(2)

The Speaker: Will you be finished in a short period of time, Honourable Minister?

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: I don't think so, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: I will entertain a motion for the adjournment of the House.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: Mr. Speaker, I have permission from my colleagues to move the adjournment of this Honourable House until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The Speaker: The question is that the House do now adjourn until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye... Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it. The House is accordingly adjourned.

AT 4.32 PM THE HOUSE STOOD ADJOURNED UNTIL 10.00 AM WEDNESDAY, 19TH MARCH, 1997.

EDITED
WEDNESDAY
19TH MARCH, 1997
10.46 AM

The Speaker: I will ask the Third Elected Member for George Town to say prayers.

PRAYERS

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that we may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of our high office.

All this we ask for Thy Great Name's sake.

Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

The Speaker: Please be seated. Proceedings are resumed.

Questions to Honourable Members/Ministers. Question No. 19, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE
MEMBERS/MINISTERS

QUESTION NO. 19

No. 19: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Acting First Official Member to state how many incidents of illegal drugs were uncovered at Northward Prison during 1996.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: There were 50 findings of marijuana at Northward Prison for 1996. I might add that 20 of those were findings on the outside of the prison.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Would the Honourable Member state if all of the 50 findings were concerned with inmates, or were some concerning other persons.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: None of the findings could be linked to other persons. Obviously, there is a strong likelihood that the findings on the outside were placed by other persons.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member tell the House what measures have been put in place to curtail or discourage this craving for illegal drugs, and curbing of the trade in illegal drugs at Northward Prison?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: There have been increased surveillance and searches and increases in the disciplinary penalties levied, as well as increased promotion of counselling for people involved.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say whether these finds consisted of quantities which could be deemed, for the most part, for personal use; or were the quantities sufficiently large enough to have been taken advantage of by persons trading within the prison system.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: All the findings were of a relatively small quantity. Particularly within the prison, it appears that the unit of trade or use is, indeed, extremely minuscule.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Would the Honourable Member state if any consideration has been given to random drug testing of inmates?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: There is that facility to confirm whether or not someone has consumed, but I am unable to state to what extent it is utilised.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Could the Member give an undertaking to determine the status of that situation and supply the answer in writing?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say what measures are in place at the prison to ensure that visitors who visit, especially prisoners serving sentences for illegal drugs, are screened to ensure there is no traffic upon visitation?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: It is my understanding that visitation always takes place in the presence of prison officers. To what extent visitors are searched, I am unable to say, but I can enquire and provide an answer to the Member.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say if any form of electronic surveillance is implemented at the prison compound?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: There is surveillance of the boundaries. From a containment perspective there is no electronic surveillance in the other adjoining areas such as the farming area. One possibility being considered is the extension of that facility into that area.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 20, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 20

No. 20: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Acting First Official Member what the current inmate population at Northward Prison is, according to gender.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: There are 196 males and eight females.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Can the Honourable Member say if there are any programmes in place to ensure that prisoners have some form of constructive activity upon release, so that they can at least have an alternative to recidivism?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: The Prison Department has been making some efforts in that area. It is an area which is being considered currently with a view to how it can best be effected, in terms of who can best be responsible for it, and what this type of programme would involve.

The Speaker: We have reached the hour of 11 o'clock. I will entertain a motion to suspend Standing Orders to continue Question Time.

The Third Elected Member for George Town.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: In accordance with Standing Order 83, I move that Standing Order 23 (7) and (8) be suspended to enable questions to be taken.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I beg to second that Motion.

The Speaker: The Motion has been duly Moved and Seconded. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8) SUSPENDED TO ENABLE QUESTION TIME TO CONTINUE.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 21, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 21

No. 21: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Acting First Official Member if Government has any plans to reinstate the use of the Immigration Embarkation/Disembarkation Card.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: Government has no plans to reinstate the use of the Immigration Embarkation/Disembarkation Card.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Could the Honourable Member state if there is any thought being given to some method by which the comings and goings of the Caymanian population can be recorded by the Immigration Department?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: The processing of passengers is an area that is attracting much attention and development in the information technology field. I would expect that there will soon be methods available to provide the information which the Member alludes to without the reinstatement of those manual cards. At the same time, any decision to introduce a system will obviously depend on the extent to which the need for that information is demonstrated. Certainly, I am not aware of any representation to my portfolio for the need for this information.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Would the Member give an undertaking to examine the situation which the Immigration and the Police are faced with regarding the lack of information of people considered criminals leaving and entering the islands?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: I would be happy to consider their views on the matter.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, question No. 22, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 22

No. 22: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Acting First Official Member if the Personnel Department engages in any type of specific succession planning within the various Government Departments.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

DEFERMENT OF QUESTION NO. 22 Standing Order 23(5)

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: In accordance with the provisions of Standing Order 23(5), I beg that the answer to question No. 22 be deferred until a later Sitting. The answer is not yet ready.

The Speaker: The question is that the answer to question No. 22 be deferred until a later Sitting. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Speaker, if I may, I would just like to ask one question before you take the vote.

The Speaker: Certainly.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Does that mean during this Meeting?

The Speaker: Just not today.

The question is that the answer to question No. 22 be deferred to a Sitting other than today's. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. QUESTION NO. 22 DEFERRED.

The Speaker: Question No. 23, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

As the Member is not in the Chamber, we will proceed to question No. 24, standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 24

No. 24: Dr. Frank McField asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation to state what services will be offered by the Forensic Laboratory and the Morgue at the George Town Hospital which is proposed to be completed in April of this year; and from whom did the recommendation come to include these services.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: The answer will deal first with those questions relating to the Forensic Laboratory. Those relating to the Morgue will follow:

The Forensic Laboratory will offer only tests relating to drug analysis and toxicological analysis of body fluids. It will therefore help the Drug Squad to analyse all seized drugs such as cocaine, opiates (such as heroin) amphetamines, LSD, ganja and any other suspected drugs of abuse or illicit substances.

Confirmatory tests with results for evidentiary purposes would be provided to the prosecution. The laboratory would also be able to analyse drug-taking utensils for traces of such illicit substances.

Analysis of urine samples for drugs (including alcohol) would be provided in the Forensic Laboratory. This service would be available to the Police (Drug Squad, Traffic and CID sections) and Cayman Islands Counselling Centre. It would also handle the random urine samples periodically collected from officers of the Police, Customs and Immigration, Fire and Prison Services.

Body fluids collected during forensic autopsies, will also be able to be analysed for the presence of drugs or other toxic agents.

The proposal to set up a drug testing laboratory in specific Caribbean countries was made in 1991 by the United Nations International Drug Control Programme (UNDCP), following which it donated some equipment to the Cayman Islands. The Pathologist at the George Town Hospital in 1994 suggested the need for the country to have a forensic laboratory service that would not only analyse drugs, but also provide forensic services to the Royal Cayman Islands Police. In 1995 the Police (through the Head of CID) and the then Senior Crown Counsel (Criminal Division), met with the then Medical Director to discuss the need for having a Forensic Laboratory locally.

In the light of those discussions, the decision was taken by the Ministry and Health Services to set up the said laboratory. More recently, the Honourable Attorney-General has indicated his strong support for this facility, citing the long delays experienced at present while waiting for the results of analysis of substances sent to Dade County in Miami.

The Morgue will be used to store bodies on which post-mortem examinations are to be conducted before transferring them to the Bodden Funeral Home for storage.

No, recommendation to provide Morgue services came from any specific person or group, but it is standard practice for any hospital to have a Morgue to store bodies prior to burial. A funeral home is not an ideal place for conducting autopsy services as it contains only a dressing room.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: In light of the answer provided by the Honourable Minister, I would like to enquire if the Forensic Lab will fall under the jurisdiction of the Hospital and his Ministry, because there seems to be several different departments, for example, the Attorney General's Department and the Chief Secretary's Department. In terms of the Police, will they be involved in the actual administration of the forensic laboratory, and will the cost for running this also be taken into account with regard to their budgets?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Yes, Mr. Speaker, the Honourable Member has a good point there because for security reasons and credibility, discussions are now ongoing with these departments as to how to handle this section. The fees would be collected from the departments that require the services.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Could the Honourable Minister say if it is calculated to make a profit, or will we be providing a service that will also have to be financed by General Revenue? Will the laboratory be self-sufficient?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: I hope, at the very least, that it can defray its costs.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 25, standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 25

No. 25: Dr. Frank McField asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation (a) What is the storage capacity of the proposed Morgue; and (b) If there are any economic potentials in having a Morgue at the George Town Hospital and, if so, what are they.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: The answer is: (a) The proposed Morgue would have capacity to store six bodies; one of the chambers would be designated for highly infectious bodies. (b) It is necessary for the Hospital to have a Morgue. There are no proposals to operate the facility on a commercial basis.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Could the Honourable Minister say if the lack of consideration to operate the morgue on a more economic basis was the result that the Bodden Funeral Home is also in direct competition in regard to storage and preparation of bodies for burial?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: The morgue actually fulfils a necessity and with the knowledge that the Bodden Funeral Home has provided storage for up to 30 bodies, we did not feel that we needed to make it any bigger.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 26, standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 26

No. 26: Dr. Frank McField asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation how the Forensic Laboratory will be financed after its completion.

WITHDRAWAL OF QUESTION NO. 26.

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Speaker, the Member has sufficiently answered this question with supplementaries to Question No. 25. I beg to withdraw Question No. 26.

The Speaker: We will revert to question No. 23, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 23

No. 23: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning to state the number of teachers (including teachers in the private sector) currently teaching in the Cayman Islands with a breakdown by nationality.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The total number of teachers teaching in the Cayman Islands is as follows: Government Schools - 330; Private Schools - 128, with a breakdown by nationality as follows:

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Minister say how the qualifications are assessed for those teachers who come from outside of the Commonwealth and who have studied outside of the United States, in regard to the Government system?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: While this seems to be a long distance off from the number of teachers, what we look for is that they have a teacher's qualification - that the teacher, is a teacher. I think that is very obvious.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say what the Government's policy is in regard to encouraging more Caymanians to enter into the teaching profession so that, ideally, we can get more of our own teachers into the Government schools?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I am very happy to say that this is the highest percentage of Caymanian teachers that has ever been in the Government system. I do not know what the policy was in the past, but our policy is very clear—Caymanians are taken first. Secondly, in the Education Council in granting scholarships, every applicant who qualifies to go away and study to become a teacher gets a scholarship. By and large they get the full amount granted.

We have also encouraged them by having them as teacher's aides when they are just out of school so that they can get a good look at the profession before they go off for training.

Also, while this goes a bit beyond where I can talk in detail, the review being done by the Civil Service and the initiative being taken by His Excellency the Governor in relation to the planning within the Service should also increase the number of Caymanians here.

I would just like to repeat that there are 122 teachers out of 330 in the teaching profession in the Government schools. They are good teachers, not just the Caymanians, those from abroad as well. I fully support them and I hope that in the future the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town will attempt to encourage [Caymanians] to go into the profession. One of the things that discourages them is when they are battered around within this Honourable House. Perhaps that, too, is one way of seeing that the young people do not get exposed to problems of that sort.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Would the Honourable Minister say if any thought is being given to any type of review of the salary scale of teachers?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: That Honourable Member well knows that under the Constitution I, as a politician, have nothing to do with the salary scale. As he also well knows, it is the prerogative of the Public Service Commission and His Excellency the Governor to deal with a review. At such a stage when that is dealt with it will come before this Honourable House to vote the funds for it.

If he wishes he could put a question next time to the Honourable Chief Secretary or his Deputy who can perhaps give him the answer. I do think it is outside my ambit anyhow.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Minister state if teachers wishing to teach in the Cayman Islands have to comply with any Government requirements and, if so, what are those requirements and how are they recognised?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I repeat, they have to be qualified teachers. We find that out by the Public Service Commission or Personnel asking for their teacher's certificates.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Would the Honourable Minister say if the Government has any plans for the establishment of a teacher's training college in order to improve the output of Caymanian teachers? If so, does the plan stem from the Associates of Arts degree at the Community College?

The Speaker: I think the question goes a bit outside of the scope, but if the Honourable Minister wishes to answer he may. The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I am always happy to accommodate Honourable Members of this House.

Yes, the question posed is a very good one. The Community College will be running a post graduate teacher's training certificate from the United Kingdom; so that persons who have a bachelor's degree can then go on to do the large part of their training through the college. The United Kingdom certificate will be granted and they would be able to come within the system.

I should say that it has moved on and is a reality, but we are working out some of problems. Beyond that we just go to associate's degree.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Minister state if upon the assessment of teaching certificates and documentation presented by the teachers, the Cayman Islands Government gives any recognition of the person's ability to teach in the Cayman Islands? If so, what form does this take?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: With all due respect, sir, this is getting into the Chief Secretary's area. I do not deal with fixing increments or salaries. I am not even given the opportunity to interview a temporary receptionist coming into my office.

The Member should not push me to answer a question which he knows, under the Constitution, does not come under me. I should not be mixing in it, nor should the Honourable Member be getting into the conditions of service. If he would look in section 9 or 7 of the Constitution he would see that.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Is the Honourable Minister saying that his Ministry is not responsible for issuing teaching licences in the Cayman Islands?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: With all due respect, that is not what he asked. He asked me about increments and how we go about giving them...

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order.

POINT OF ORDER
(Misleading the House)

The Speaker: Please state your point of order.

Mr. Roy Bodden: The Honourable Minister is misleading the House. I asked no supplementary about increments, sir.

The Speaker: Would you repeat your previous question then, please?

Mr. Roy Bodden: Most certainly. I asked: Upon assessment of the qualifications of a person applying to teach in the Cayman Islands, does his Ministry issue any documentation which would state the person's ability to teach in the Cayman Islands?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning, will you answer that?

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Yes, Mr. Speaker. I misunderstood. I guess that sometimes, one gets so many supplementaries it is hard for one's mind to keep up with the divergence of questions.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Point made, Mr. Speaker.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Presumably, since the Honourable Member is walking out he does not wish to hear it.

The Speaker: That completes Question Time for this morning.

Government Business, Bills, Second Reading of The Miscellaneous Provisions (Fees and Duties) (Temporary) Bill, 1997. The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS

BILLS

SECOND READING

THE MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS (FEES AND DUTIES) (TEMPORARY) BILL, 1997

(Continuation of debate thereon)

(11.30 AM)

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr Speaker, as is true at any time when revenue measures are proposed, there is a lot of activity on the part of those affected, there is a lot of exaggeration and uneasiness. The measures before us today are very much in the same position—there is much exaggeration and uneasiness and, of course, there are areas that have been blown out of proportion. There are also areas of genuine concern by genuine persons.

For some time we have heard that Government was not meeting with the people responsible. It is true that only the Financial Secretary met with the financial sector. We depended upon figures given to us by the various departments involved in the Budgetary measures and the Budgetary process. Government has to depend upon those areas for advice. It is equally true that after the measures were announced the Council of Associations did not meet with Executive Council. As usual, they, in militant style, gathered their troops. Of course, this type of situation only gives those persons with personal gripes against Government (or particular Ministers) a chance to say all manner of evil and to stir matters up and make it look as bad as possible.

Two wrongs do not make a right. I have been told that since I was a child. Nevertheless, as a Government we are not about confrontation—a partnership must exist for the country to run as smoothly as possible. But we cannot allow people to hold a heavy stick over the head of Government every time it presents measures for raising revenue. This is what usually happens.

In this instance, the very people we set out to assist in this Budget, because of the misrepresentation and misinformation which has been spread, are very much concerned. All of us have had much representation in the past few days about the impact of the measures before us. There is much (and as far as I am concerned, too much) misinformation put out. Let me say that it is good to see, in any democracy, a group of people get together to discuss matters. I think that is healthy for democracy. But when scare tactics are taken, it becomes a different matter.

When, for instance, what is being said to the ordinary man on the street is that the Government is increasing work permit fees...this is not so. That is a serious misrepresentation that will affect everybody, because everybody in Cayman (the vast majority), be they the rich, the middle income or the very low income (sometimes), has a maid.

They are being told that the permit fee for a maid is going up from $150 to $400. That is not so.

Looking at Immigration, item 15 talks about the grant of permanent residence. When it says 'for a person with a work permit with Caymanian connections, $400,' it means $400 for the permanent residence. It means it stays the same. For a person with a work permit without Caymanian connections... they split the category, or they categorised it. Unskilled is still $400. Skilled is $1,500. Professional, $5,000. For those of us in the know, some of the fees for work permits for skilled people are much more than $1,500. So we would know that it is not work permit fees we are talking about. But the ordinary man in the street does not understand that. I would say that Government did not do a good job of getting this message across to the public. That is why there is so much misrepresentation in the country.

What happens in Government is that in the Budgetary process we sit down—and this is not something that is done overnight, as was said by the Third Elected Member for George Town. This is something which takes weeks and weeks. If I brought the test Budgets, it would amount to a stack this high of test Budgets. The minute that Government sits down... the fact is that Government leaks like a sieve. We cannot do anything because all of the information goes out. If the true information went out it would not be so bad, but so much misleading information is ingrained into the minds of the public.

A constituent came to me long after the publication of the measures. He said, "I supported you. I believed in you because you said you were for the working person. How do you expect me, when I only make $180 plus tips [he's a hotel worker], to pay 75% on import duty for a car?" The man was quite upset. I had to sit him down and tell him that there was no such thing as 75% import duty. I went through it with him and told him that if he wanted to buy a car, he could probably afford a $5,000 or $6,000 used car if he went to the United States to buy one. He agreed. I showed him the proposal and explained that he would not have to pay any more than he would pay today. Of course, that is the philosophy I believe in, and the philosophy that Government went on.

But, the leaks, the rumour-mongering took it to that extent—75%. And the people believed it because Government, as I said, did not do a good job of explaining what the measures were all about. There was some attempt on our part, but, again, it is a situation that I have found from the day I was put in Executive Council: We do not have the wherewithal, as far as funds are concerned. We can call the news media, but they will print what they want. As much as they complain, every one of them has his own spiel and if they like you, it will be printed, and if they don't like you (unless it makes you look bad) it will not be printed. I must say, however, that sometimes good jobs are done.

If Government had a mechanism where it could get this information out as quickly as it is dealt with, rather than waiting until we came to the House, then our people would be much better informed and we would not give those against us (who are ready to spread evil) the chance to upset people with misinformation. This is the position that Government has found itself in.

We began a Budgetary process, first of all, not to raise any fees. But looking at what is needed we had to raise fees. Now, we have been told that we are spending too much. In fact, we have been told to cut back on schools. Education is one of the most important things in this country. The fact remains that Government's equipment plant needs constant upgrading and maintenance and the fact remains that it costs. If it costs the private sector, then why would they believe that it does not cost the Government? The Third Elected Member for George Town said that there is no need to spend on certain schools now. But if we were not spending, he would be the one saying that we did not care for children.

We are being told to cut back on recurrent expenditure. I agree that there are areas that should be cut. I am not saying anything here that is out of place because I am bound by collective responsibility to support it. But then I make my position clear that there are expenditures that I do not think we can make this year. We should make some later on.

When we come down to that line the first position taken is to cut sports, parks, schools, cut those things. Let me say, as His Excellency said in the Throne Speech, that "...we in Cayman must consider, first of all,"... and I will put it in my own language... the 'wellness of life.' Making money is not the only thing that must happen in the country. We must carry on our social development. I am getting into this part of the debate because I have a copy of recommendations made by the Cayman Islands Hotel and Condominium Association. In their proposal they said "We must reduce the capital expenditure budget by 20% by paying particular attention to sports and parks." And they named the pages.

Every time that Government attempts to do something for the people (as I said, for the 'wellness of life'), there is a group that pitches on the attempt. I am told quite often that my Ministry does not make money, it spends money. I want to say, Mr. Speaker, with all seriousness this morning, that we have two sectors of the economy in this country which are strong pillars - tourism and finance. But the day that we stop spending on the needs of the people for 'wellness of life' (we can spend millions of dollars as we have to do now), we will not save ourselves. The importation of people from all over the world puts stress on everything in this country. The need to spend on tourism impacts and brings forward a need to spend on the people who are stressed out because of tourism.

In our small island, it is a fact that people are working two jobs to keep things going. Parents are away from home and the children have no place to go except to sit down in front of a television. We do know that what we get over the airwaves is not that good for the young elastic minds of our children. We know that it is affecting our culture. But if we do not have a proper playing field or a park in the community, or some other social amenity that gives 'wellness of life', the child is going to go out... and what will happen? A good example is the criticism I received on the Marine Institute. The fact remains that if I had not taken the steps to have an avenue for some sort of rehabilitation for those young people, we would be worse off today.

When we did that, juvenile crime was 320, and today (as of the end of last year) it was down in the 80s or 60s. If spending on the social infrastructure is not progress, then you tell me. I do not expect the business people in the tourism sector to agree because we are asking them to pay. But we are the people who the constituents elected to get these things for them. We cannot do it overnight. We put it in our Manifestos, we go on the platform, we talk about it and tell them about it. The television shows them, sometimes the newspaper tells them and they know all about it and they asked for it. We are not overdoing it in that sector which they say we must cut. We are not overdoing it! We are playing catch-up after 30 years of neglect and not even having a public park in the capital called George Town! Fifteen thousand people (maybe more), but not even a park for people and children to play in.

Our culture and background is Cricket. Regardless of what anybody else likes, that is historically ours. It is Caribbean, it is English, it comes from our roots. That is what we are. Where do we expect our children to play? Must they go out on the road to kick a ball? Must they go on the road to bat a ball? No, not in the 21st Century. I want to make it abundantly clear that I do not support that recommendation, and I would hope that people in here are not going to spend $23 million on tourism, yet cannot spend a few thousand (even a million) dollars to build a play field in Bodden Town or a cricket facility for the Cayman Islands, or to put cricket pitches in the schools as we are proposing to do.

It gets my ire up when we have people who believe that the only thing to do in Cayman is make money and we must facilitate them in that mad rush all the time.

When we sit down on a Budget, all these things are looked at. One big fault with Government (if we can be faulted) is that we do not react quickly enough and help people understand what is happening. I said in my acceptance speech here in November, that when we do something we have to take our people along and let them understand what we are doing.

The very people we are trying to help have been misled to the extent that they believe that it is going to hurt them. In fact, they believe that we are doing things that we are not even doing. That is a sad state of affairs.

In putting on the different fees and revenue measures, we kept the people who could least afford to pay in mind. But, as I said then, and I think it was the Fourth Elected Member for George Town who said that one of the problems we have even in reduction of duties (let alone when we increase them) is that we do not have a mechanism which ensures that the people at the lower end are not going to be the ones to suffer. This is what is coming out of this whole thing now: We have been told by the Council of Associations' meeting on Monday evening that they are going to pass this right down - even though we know that there is price-gouging and serious over-pricing.

For instance, we know that the proposal on liquor could be out of whack. There has to be a reduction. But we also know that there is serious over-pricing - 100% in some instances. In some instances over 100%. But what did they say? They said they would start laying off Caymanians, and they would start with the elderly. That is what they said.

We could counter that by saying that if they do that, we will ensure that they do not operate because they would not be issued work permits for outsiders. But we are not about confrontation. That is not how we are operating. There has to be some dislike in some things that we do, but we are not about confrontation. We have to sit down and be reasonable. There is no mechanism to ensure that the high prices that will come about will not affect the people we are trying to help.

One thing we do know: There are people in this country who are not in the best of positions salary-wise. In the hotel industry we have people working for $3.00 and even under $3.00 per hour. They say that he gets gratuities. Never mind, that is not a wage. A gratuity is a tip. So, the very people we are trying to help are the ones who will be hurt.

We know that today in Cayman's economy, the people who need to be helped are those who have not had a decent raise for years, in spite of the booming economy; in spite of the vast majority of businesses doing well. There are people who have not gotten a decent raise to keep abreast of the cost of living for years. For instance, there are those who received $20 recently on their monthly income in the form of a raise in pay. These are the situations we have to now consider. Many of our people have not been kept (far too many) abreast of the cost of living in their salaries. Those are the people who are being most threatened today.

We know that we are presently in an excellent position. The economy is doing well. There is a continuous inflow of investment in this country. We do not need to do anything to kill that. Because the economy is doing so well, there cannot, and must not be (due to any fault of Government) any basic grounds for economic fear in Cayman. People are doing well and we do not want to kill that. So we are going to have to take some measures here to see that it does not happen.

In regard to what was said by the Third Elected Member for George Town about the Harquail bypass when he said we should cut back on roads, and that maybe we should cut back the Harquail bypass. There is an argument out there that we do not need to spend on the Harquail road because it is not going to help. People should not make that kind of assumption. The analysis given to us by the people dealing with it says that our existing average daily traffic at Eastern Avenue and West Bay Road is some 28,177 vehicles per day. The preliminary analysis shows that following completion of the Harquail bypass at least 50% (that is, 14,000 per day) of those vehicles will use the new road. Two main factors they say for this are the reason for trips, where people are coming from and going to, and the fact that the new road will offer a more appealing route in the form of reduced travel time. Further immediate benefits expected from the new road will be improved level of service and better traffic flow along the West Bay Road from the Cinema to Eastern Avenue and Harbour Drive.

So, the people in the know say that it will better the situation.

The Speaker: Honourable Minister, would this be a convenient time to take the morning break?

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 12 NOON

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 12.35 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated.

The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture, continuing.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr. Speaker, on the misinformation on vehicle import duty, which seems to be the worst part of this exercise, is not a matter that is new for the country. Back in 1975 there were proposals for an increase in import duty on vehicles. There was some outcry about it in 1977 when the late James Bodden, our National Hero, had this to say, and I quote from the Hansard of the Budget Debate of 1976:

"I could agree, Mr. President, on us doing something about this if it was done on a sliding scale based on the cc's of the car. In my estimation, this would be an equitable way of solving the [problem], because the low income bracket person could still import his car and pay 20% tax on it because that is all he could afford to pay. The more affluent person who wished to have a bigger car, or a little more sportier car, could pay 27%. The most affluent of the group who wished to drive in a big car and has the money to do so, would then have to pay 33.3%. To be frank with you, in that case I would also be willing to see it increased to 40%. But, I cannot sit idly by and agree that we should raise this on a blanket deal over all to where the man who can afford to bring in a 1975 Rolls Royce would pay the 33.3% duty that a man bringing in a Volkswagen would pay. I do not think that is quite fair, and I think we are put here in order to promote fairness to the people."

Today we are just attempting... and I should say that it has been my philosophy to do just that. As I explained earlier, nobody is trying to put a 75% import duty on cars. So, we want to allay the fears of the public on that particular item. There is no such import duty.

Cars go from $130 to $160. I believe that in the correspondence I have from the Cayman Islands Hotel and Condominium Association they said that we should do several things: "Consider a road toll of 25 cents for each vehicle, each way, to supplement the proposed gas tax, or assign a yearly road usage fee of $25 per car, estimated at 50,000 vehicles which would generate $1.25 million. This fee could be tied into the granting of licences, they could also be increased for trucks and heavy equipment." That is their recommendation.

But they make another recommendation: "Change the car duty to 30% across the board." And they have in brackets "need to put a number on this." That would go back to the present situation where you bring in a Rolls Royce at the same price that a gardener would bring in a Toyota Tercel.

Why is it that we have people in the country who cannot accept that there are people who can afford to pay a little bit more than others? And that they should pay it, as in this case. We must be balanced. Those who can afford a Lexus, or a Cadillac or any expensive sporty car—and there is something on the road now that frightens me when I see it. I think they call it a Hummer, or a Humbug, something like that. Why should we not charge more for something like that when it takes up a whole lane? Why shouldn't we?

Sometimes I travel down the road and I see a truck, with probably 12 wheels, loaded to the scuppers, swaying as it goes along. That's people doing business. But it takes a heavy toll on the road infrastructure. So, what are we going to do? I can't agree with them on this. Maybe we could do a road toll. I believe that was considered in 1985 to 1988, but it bore no fruit. I do not know why, because I have not studied the reasons. Maybe it could work.

What I object to is this group of people proposing that because they can afford to pay the heavier expense, the 'little man' (as the Third Elected Member for George Town likes to call him) must pay the same. I am sure that not even that Member would agree with that. He knows it would hurt the little man. But, we are not going to get away from the fact that we have to raise funds for the road development that is needed. I said on the radio Monday morning that more tourism means more toll, more wear and tear on the road infrastructure. The more cars Caymanians get, means the more wear and tear on the roads. I do not agree that at this time we should suspend expenditure on roads—we are not spending enough.

Returning to where I left off, Mr. Speaker, suspending development of the Harquail bypass cannot help allay the fears of what I am hearing out there, nor will it assist in the road development programme. It puts it back that much further. At this time we cannot afford to have the situation with the roads that everybody is screaming about. So we have to pay something. Thirty dollars more per year on licensing, and a few more dollars on whatever the next fee would be in connection with cars, as far as the car you have, is not bad.

Let no one mislead the public by saying that we are not doing the right thing here. We all know that is what is needed. We need to pay our way a little bit more in this instance. It is not overbearing.

The worse situation I am acquainted with is when the people in my constituency tell me that the merchants are going to increase the price of their items by 100%. I say, don't let anybody tell you that, because this has nothing to do with the merchants. The merchant will only pay for his car increase as much as you pay for yours. Unfortunately, we have some believing that the merchants are going to put 100% increase on the fee when they go to pay that to Government. I do not know how they came to that deduction, but that is the sort of misinformation that is out there.

One matter that was raised was pensions. I thank God that we finally have some consensus on pensions. I will say, before I move on, that I believe that Government would be inclined to look at some sort of arrangement to assist persons who already have a vehicle on the way, and who have borrowed funds to pay for that vehicle, and made arrangements before the increase was announced.

Getting back to the matter of delaying the pensions again—because at least one or two Members have said that the timing is bad—I believe that no matter when we bring these benefits there would be some excuse not to put that benefit in place. We have to do it now. I do not need to go into any long rigmarole on it—everybody knows that we need to do it. What I will say (even though it has already been said) is that it is not 5% or 10% coming on at one time. This is the important point. They can start at 1% of their salary. So, if they are starting at $200, they can start (some age groups) at 1%, and the employer will pay likewise. It is not something that we are saying they must pay 5% or 10% now.

While I admit, because I run my own business, that it all adds up, it will not have that kind of detrimental effect. We should not frighten the man who does not understand. We should not frighten him by saying that it will be bad. Probably by June we will hear “Let’s disband pensions and not worry about that. It will cost too much.” There is a price to pay for this sort of procrastination. While some of us are making money, and will continue to make money in our businesses, we will pay in one form or the other later on. Enough said.

Mr. Speaker, we have heard at least one Member say in his debate that this Budget is not the Budget of the Financial Secretary. I think the newspaper even carried that. I believe it was the Third Elected Member for George Town. He said that the Elected Ministers must take full responsibility for this Budget because it is not the Budget of the Financial Secretary, or of civil servants. Of course, it is politically correct, or expedient, for the Third Elected Member for George Town to try to lay wholesale blame on one group of people. That is the order of the day. In fact, I hear that the blame is on McKeeva Bush, because he is building too many sports centres and parks. I wonder if some of those people who are complaining have children in school somewhere where they can afford nice parks?

This Budget, as in any budget, is the work of all concerned at the administrative or policy-making level of Government. That Member knows better than to try to blame me, or any one Member on this side and hold them solely for the Budget. He understands, because in 1991 that same Member who said that these outrageous increases are due to the Elected Members said, and I quote from the 1991 debate on his revenue measures: “The preparation of the Budget is not something which is done by any one individual, it is a joint effort. I think it is important that the listening public should know that the operation of this Budget, like any other budget, was the joint effort of all Members of Executive Council as well as their support staff. So when Members get up in this Honourable House and say that it is the Budget only of the Elected Members of Executive Council, I trust that members of the listening public will know that this is just political rhetoric and that most of the Members saying that are not fully aware of the process that is followed.”

Well, I knew better (he was talking to me and to others at the time), and although he was correct in what he was saying, I trust that the Member has not forgotten that that is the process that is followed, and that what I heard coming that day was nothing but pure political rhetoric.

Do you know what is true? No matter how much we banter back and forth, it does not help the situation. As I said on Monday, I am willing and ready to listen to any credible alternative. We must be open and ready to sit down and discuss it. While there are some in the Council of Associations who talk down to people, at my age I am not about confrontation. I can take a fight as good as anybody else, and I have been through these storms before, but it will do the country no good to get into that type of confrontation.

What I have not heard as yet are any new ideas that will generate the needed revenue to move the country forward, bearing in mind that it is not only one area of Government that will get the expenditure, not finance nor tourism, or any other area, it has to be shared. I stand behind the philosophy that the social infrastructure of this country must move forward. We cannot be in a position where our people have no social amenities. That is not good for the ‘wellness of life’ that we talk about. So far, there are no great ideas.

In the letter from the Cayman Islands Hotel and Condominium Association, the 25 cent road tax (for whatever reason one Government could not put it in) was proposed. They also proposed to keep the rental cars (the 2400 cc’s) at $250; Omni buses over 40 passengers, reduce from $1,000 to $450. I do not see any recommendation for the small person with the taxi. We have increased taxes for him too. I really object to these sort of things because it is so one sided. Why reduce the Omni buses with over 40 passengers that are obviously fairly large sized business operations, but not reduce the taxi? That is who is really hurting in this country today—they cannot even pay their insurance. That is the group that we must do something about, not the people who have the monopoly with the cruise ships. But this is what we get from the Hotel Association. God bless them.

I have great sympathy with the measures on revenue stamps. They said “We have strong concerns regarding the inflationary impact on the tourist and defer to our water sports colleagues,” that is on item 6 the local vessel licensing fee. Some people are up in arms over that and I understand they are blaming the West Bay representatives for that, claiming that we are only looking out for the people in the water sports operation categorised as paying $25.

Again, the truth is that most of those people operating in the North Sound are operating at a disadvantage. They cannot get into the hotels because of the people with the monopolies. So, what do we do with them? Run them out of business? I have no apology about offering any kind of relief for that sector because they are the ones who are disadvantaged. I guess the revenue stamps will be looked at.

Garbage Fees: They know that the Government has not increased garbage fees to the private dwelling homes and apartments. But their recommendation is to increase private houses and apartments as well. They do not take into consideration that these people are already at a disadvantage, and that there has not been any increase in salaries to come up to the cost of living in this country. No.

I already mentioned reducing the capital expenditure budget on sports and parks. It is hard to sit down and hold discussions with people whose policy is to keep down a certain section. Its hard, but we have to do it. I am not of that makeup. My position is that you must be fair across the board, taking into consideration who can pay and who can't. Let's wait and see whether Members of Government are inclined to cut back expenditure on these. You will not find any out-of-place expenditures on sports.

A member of my district asked me where I am going to put the new sports stadium. I asked him what he was talking about. He understands that we are going to build a 5,000 seat stadium in West Bay and he wants to find out where it is going to be because he has a piece of land he can sell us. That is the kind of misinformation that is being spread. There is no such thing. We are completing what was started in North Side, Bodden Town and the Cricket Oval—and I understand they are banging that one pretty hard. That has been going on since 1993, yet we must not finish it.

Building permit fees: They said that they are strongly concerned about the impact, but they have deferred this to their real estate and contractor and architect colleagues. If they are talking about the planning fees, I have already explained that planning is not receiving fees in accordance with their outlay. The same people who are complaining that we should not raise the fees on planning, are the same people who are saying that our recurrent expenditure is too high. Well, then, what do you expect? If you are receiving that service, if Planning has to spend $500 per visit, but is only collecting $100 from you, who makes up the other $400? They understand that, though. They are good business people.

Import duties: They said that disinfectants and insecticides should be duty free. A lot of the hotels and condos import these things on their own. They do not buy them through the local people here, but they want them duty free. Some of them have the gall and the audacity, when you consider the outlay by Government to put in place the Westin Hotel—and I wonder if they are buying anything locally? What about the impact they have made on the roads? And you hear that we gave them permission! It is a fact! We gave them permission. What is true is that I curse the day and damn the hour that I agreed with it. If I had known then what I know today, it would never have happened.

Shellfish: "Duty should be reduced to 5% and allow the free market to dictate competitive pricing." I do not know if that is true.

They say that cement should remain at 20%. I think I gave some figures on that the other day. One of the gripes they have that I agree with is the Development Impact Fee. I believe that we do need to look at that fee. I believe that we should reduce it. In fact, I believe that we should remove the 1.5% for Caymanians with over 4,000 square foot homes.

I support that big boats pay what they can pay and that what we are offering now should be reduced.

We want to be able to work with the private sector. To operate a country there must exist a partnership. Because of the tremendous feedback over the last few days, as the Representatives of the people, we must take their opinions into consideration. As a result, we have agreed that the revenue measures proposed will be reviewed. There are certain aspects in the current proposals that have been accepted by the general public, however, there are other areas that must be reconsidered.

In the many weeks discussing the Budget and the revenue measures between us and the arm of the Civil Service responsible for Budgetary matters, one thing has been very clear to me (in fact since 1993): There needs to be ideas and deep analysis of any proposal that would impact on long term growth and development. The truth of the matter is that no such mechanism exists. That is a fact. Operating in the 21st Century in a sophisticated economy, we need that mechanism.

In order to facilitate the needs of the people whom I say will bear the brunt, the very people we are trying to help will be hit because no mechanism exists to stop overpricing, price-gouging, and other matters that impact upon prices. We need to bridge the gap between the Government and the private sector. I feel it is necessary to tap into the experience of knowledgeable people in the private sector to create some form of communication between these two lines. At that point I believe we will facilitate the continued betterment of the islands without large scale confrontation—not that we are going to agree at all times.

Before closing, I want to propose that we create the economic council we talked about right away; that it consist of the private sector and all Elected Ministers. This matter of going to one Minister, with one Minister saying one thing, then going to the next Minister and he says something else, cannot facilitate proper communication. I believe that this economic council should be created forthwith.

So, what I propose is that we suspend debate on these measures. We have agreement to do that. I propose that we lay it over for as long as is necessary to have consultation with deep analysis of certain things, like impact fees. Putting 1.5% across the board sounds good, and all of us had a bite at it. The fact remains that it can inflict, probably recessionary measures on the growth. Some of us may not agree, but at this point I am speaking my opinion.

One and a half per cent is high. We might as well accept that, as well as some of the other areas, such as liquor. So, we are tired of people blaming individuals. It is all of Government that has put these measures together. We need deeper analysis of them. Our proposal is to suspend at this time so that we can meet with those concerned.

Hopefully, we will have some good ideas. I have heard some ideas like, why not create a national lottery. These are the kinds of ideas we have coming across. The country might not accept that either. From an economic council ideas could come across. We have to be careful that we do not appoint all the people with self-interest to such an appointment, but other people who can give reasonable and rational debate and put forward reasonable and rational ideas that can work.

So, in order to assist our people—all of them—we propose to adjourn the revenue measures that we will discuss now with the Council of Association Members and others as to how we can come to an agreement on this. This is being done in the best spirit of cooperation.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Speaker, on a point of elucidation.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I know the debate is going to suspend. I just wish the Minister could clarify one question: If the measures are being put on hold until all of the discussion takes place, since the Government resolution was passed and some of the measures have been put in place, does it mean that they will continue as they are until the situation is resolved? Or does it mean that those measures will return to the way they were before the Government resolution was passed?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: The Financial Secretary has the authority to deal with that. What we are doing is suspending so that we can discuss the revenue measures in an atmosphere of debate for the good, not to say that we are coming back with the same thing. I do not know.

I will say that I hope that the discussion will be concluded quickly. But we must give it as much time as necessary. Tomorrow we propose to come back, but not to debate the revenue measures. The revenue measures are suspended as of now until we get back from discussing it with the private sector. I think I have made myself clear.

As I understand it, the proposed order of business is that, tomorrow being Thursday, we go on to Private Members' Motions.

The Speaker: Will you then move the motion for the adjournment?

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: I move the adjournment of this Honourable House until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The Speaker: The question is that the House do now adjourn until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye... Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, is it not necessary for some Member of the Government to move a motion for the suspension of the debate on the new revenue measures before we leave here now?

The Speaker: It is my understanding that debate on the second reading has not concluded.

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: Mr. Speaker, you are correct. We are in the process of the second reading debate and accordingly that is suspended which means that nothing goes forward until we complete the exercise of talking to the private sector on those matters. It is the same adjournment as at 4.30, except that we do know that this will take a longer time. At least for me, I do not aim to go and sit down with anybody to rush measures through, I want to hear the deep analysis.

The Speaker: To clarify the matter—we are still debating this Bill, other Members, I am sure, will wish to speak, and the Honourable Third Official Member still has the right to reply. So we are simply suspending in the middle of a second reading debate.

The House is now adjourned.

AT 1.18 PM THE HOUSE STOOD ADJOURNED UNTIL 10.00 AM THURSDAY, 20TH MARCH, 1997.

EDITED
THURSDAY
20TH MARCH, 1997
10.07 AM

The Speaker: I will ask the Honourable Third Official Member to say prayers.

PRAYERS

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that we may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of our high office.

All this we ask for Thy Great Name's sake.

Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

The Speaker: Please be seated. Proceedings are resumed.

READING OF MESSAGES AND ANNOUNCEMENTS BY THE SPEAKER

APOLOGIES

The Speaker: I have apologies from the Honourable First Official Member. He will be a bit late this morning.

Questions to Honourable Members/Ministers. Question No. 14, standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for West Bay.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE
MEMBERS/MINISTERS

*SECOND DEFERMENT OF QUESTION NO. 14
Standing Order 23(5)*

Hon. Anthony Eden: Mr. Speaker, since the Member is absent (he's been ill), I think that the answer to Question No. 14 should be deferred until a later Sitting, and I so move.

The Speaker: Thank you. I was wondering if any other Member had been asked by him to present the question?

If not, I shall put the question that question No. 14 be deferred. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. QUESTION NO. 14 DEFERRED UNTIL A LATER SITTING.

The Speaker: Question No. 27, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 27

No. 27: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning if Cayman Airways Limited had been successful in selling its surplus spare parts.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Most of these spares are for 737-400s, 737-300s and the 727-200s which were purchased by Cayman Airways Limited (CAL) during the 1988-1992 Government's term, and were part of the cause for the horrendous loss of some $35 million by CAL in the early 1990s.

Cayman Airways Limited is frequently engaged in discussion with potential buyers, and the Board has directed that the spares should be disposed of. The market for spares is an uncertain one—the demand for certain spares is quite high whilst for others there is little or no demand. Cayman Airways preferred option is to sell all the surplus spares as a package rather than have buyers 'cherry pick' the most attractive units.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say what the amount is of such spare parts in inventory at the present time?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: It is approximately $2.3 million.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say if there is any significant depreciation on any of these spare parts?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: When the disaster with the economics occurred and the 737-400s were found to not be suitable, that would have been the best time to have sold these spare parts. Some depreciate and others appreciate in value, depending on whether they are in demand or not.

The way the airline business is, Mr. Speaker, there are times when an airline needs a part and whoever has it can basically ask a higher price than they could have if it were a rarely used part.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say if any attempt has been made to off-set the cost of some of the items in this inventory against those years when CAL may have had a good business year?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I do not quite understand the question. It seems to be asking if the spares have been off-set. Off-set against what?

The Speaker: Third Elected Member for Bodden Town, can you repeat the question?

Mr. Roy Bodden: It is usual for auditors to recommend that when a business has a successful year that the cost of some of the stores in inventories such as this, which are not moving and may be unusable according to the current equipment, be written off and removed from inventory so that in the future, when business might not be so good, the volume of unusable spare parts against the ledger sheet does not unnecessarily skew it in a bad light.

The Speaker: Can you then end that with a question, please?

Mr. Roy Bodden: Has this been the practise?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: What the Honourable Member is talking about is called depreciation. Yes, depreciation is, in accordance with the auditor's recommendations, carried out annually and taken out of the accounts whether the year is a good one or a bad one. However, depreciation is never put back in when the year is bad. It is not used as a reserve. Depreciation is written off to profit and loss annually. Yes, these spares are depreciated.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Is the House to understand, then, if depreciation is the practise that the value of these spare parts will decrease yearly and will eventually be completely removed as a hindrance on the ledger sheet?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The depreciation that is written off annually.... First of all, the spares are not a hindrance on the balance sheet. They are depreciated annually, but that depreciation may not have any relevance to the value one gets if and when one gets a sale. Therefore, as time goes on they are being written down to less and less.

However, when we go on the market, we are obviously trying to get the highest price we can for those spares. That is why I am saying that when the Government from 1988 to 1992 found out the serious financial problems they had with the 737-400s, they should have tried to sell the spares then. There were not a lot of 737-400s flying then and it would have been much easier to sell them. In fact, no effort was made even on the 727-200 spare parts after that disastrous sale in the year when CAL made a profit for the first time of nearly $1 million. They sold them then. We still have a few spares going back to the 727-200s.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Would the Honourable Minister state whether the spare parts on the balance sheet of Cayman Airways Limited is represented as an asset, and would that off-set the expenditure on those spare parts?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: They are an asset on the balance sheet, but an asset that produces no income. Therefore, they are a diminishing asset. Back when the 737-400s came in (back during the sale deemed 'too good to be true') was the time the Government then could have marketed the 737-400 parts. As time goes on, more and more parts are out there, because there are more 737-400s flying. It is more and more difficult to sell the inventory as a whole.

I would like to repeat that we sell the items that are in high demand, but then we are stuck with—and will never get rid of—the items that are slow moving.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Minister say if Cayman Airways engages in the leasing of any of these spare parts?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: We do lease some of them, but it is only a small part of the inventory.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Having said that, can the Honourable Minister state if the experience so far has indicated that it may be worth pursuing at a higher level?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: We can only lease what the market will take. I repeat: A lot of spares were purchased for the 737-400s which are not normally in demand. In other words, the inventory that the 1988 to 1992 Government built up comprises spares that are extremely slow moving, if they move at all.

For example, some parts are always in high demand. Those can be leased. But there is no market for leasing parts which are only rarely used. While we can try to lease as much as possible, the same principle applies to leasing as it does to selling—some parts are sold quickly, but one may be stuck with the balance of the inventory.

The Board's decision was to try to sell all of them at one time, if possible, rather than selling a small percentage and being stuck forever with the balance.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Since it appears that this attempt to sell the spare parts as one package has been an on-going affair, and because the spare parts continue to depreciate, might it not be worth considering selling the parts singularly, rather than having all of the spare parts stay there until they are worthless?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I would just like to point out that when you depreciate an item it does not necessarily mean that the value of the item on the market has decreased by that amount. I think it would be a straight line depreciation on different blocks of parts (I don't have the accounts before me). The Board is of the opinion that trying to sell parts of the inventory is not the route to go. What we will be left with, even though they will have a value on the books, may have no value on the market and would ultimately have to be totally written off. Whereas, they feel that if they are sold as a package then they would get a higher value for them.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Are we then to understand that up until this point there has only been depreciation and no write off of any of these spare parts?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, the parts are still useable. One only writes off when it reaches a stage where they are valueless, or they are written down to the residual value. They are depreciated every year because that is good accounting practise. I do not see how I can take this any further. The Board has made a decision on it, but it was a problem which they inherited after the deal that was 'too good to be true'—the sale of the 727-200.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 28, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 28

No. 28: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning what is Cayman Airways Limited's load factor on the Orlando route.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: If you know the load factor on a route, all you need is the number of flights and type of aircraft and you can easily work out the total number of passengers carried. This kind of market intelligence is useful to competitors who can then actively pursue your market, as American Airlines has aggressively done. We should not release any information which can be used against us by our competitors. I will give this information to the Honourable Member privately.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: I am sure that this type of information would be available to any intelligent competitor. I am sure that American Airlines knows exactly what the load factor is because it would be easy to find out. I am asking the Minister if he is in a position to say whether it is 10% of capacity, 20% or 35% of capacity. I am not interested in hearing it privately because it is not a private concern.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, the problem that Cayman Airways has faced throughout is that the Opposition in this Honourable House is bent on giving the competition all the information on CAL they can to sink it. The Government is attempting to keep Cayman Airways economic and to keep it flying. What I can assure you is that American Airline (or any other airline) does not have the load factor which is a breakdown stating passengers that have come on frequent flyer miles, those who have flown free. Therefore, they cannot calculate what our load factor is.

It appears that it would be dangerous to give the information to that Honourable Member privately. I therefore withdraw that undertaking.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Let me try to ask this supplementary in a way in which the Minister can understand and then relate to: Is the load factor such that Cayman Airways is breaking even, making a profit, or losing money?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Every year I lay on the Table of this Honourable House the audited accounts for the company. At that stage the Honourable Member will be able to see where the airline stands. He has the accounts from last time, because I diligently lay these each year, despite what might have been the practise prior to my taking over Cayman Airways. At that stage he will have the financial position on Cayman Airways Limited.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: The Honourable Minister's answer is not good enough. I draw his attention to his answer to me as per the Hansard of 5th July, 1996 when he said that the route was doing very well for a new route with a loss of only a few thousand dollars. I am asking the Minister, as a representative of the people, if that is the situation to this point, have the losses increased or have they decreased? I would like an answer, sir, there is no escaping—I am about the people's business.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, the question that was asked has nothing to do with losses. It asked what the load factor was on the route. With respect, sir, if he wishes to find out whether he can get an answer, it should be asked as a full question. I do not see how balance sheets, profit and/or losses on a route arise from a question on the load factor.

The Speaker: I will say to the Member that if you want an answer to that you should set down a substantive question in regard to that.

Mr. Roy Bodden: My question now is what has load factor to do with, if it has nothing to do with the propensity to earn or lose money? I am not an accountant or economist, but I have good Caymanian common sense.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, sometimes I really wonder about the authenticity of that statement. The Member asked me about load factors. Load factors relate to many, many things, not just losses or profits. What I am saying is that I did not come here prepared today to deal with losses or profits. I have answered this question as fully as I can, dealing with load factors.

The Speaker: I will allow one more supplementary. The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say if the only objective of Cayman Airways is to make money on any particular route?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The substantive objective of Cayman Airways is twofold. First (and this may not be the order as the Board may see it, but I am stating the two principles), overall on all of the routes to serve the people of the Cayman Islands and to make a profit or take as little of a loss as possible, but to ensure that in crises, such as we just saw with American Airlines. If they withdraw, and if Cayman Airways had not been operational, then we could have seen the Cayman Islands actually close down as some of the other dependent territories unfortunately do.

Cayman Airways can be looked at as an insurance policy to keep these islands, and the residents thereof, being cut off from the North American continent and Jamaica.

The Speaker: The next question is No. 29 standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 29

No. 29: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation what is the cost of construction and other ancillary costs to date associated with the construction of the George Town Hospital.

Hon. Anthony Eden: The expenditure on construction and other ancillary costs on the new hospital project as of 4th March, 1997, was:

(1) Construction	$7,363,000
(2) Consultant Fees	1,223,000
(3) Project Management	457,000
(4) Medical Equipment	229,000
(5) Furniture & Furnishings	153,000
Total:	$9,425,000

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say if the construction costs are the result of any modification of the original plans, or do they emanate from a smooth following of the original plans?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: To this point there are no major cost implications.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Are we then to understand that there have been no modifications or alterations to the plans as they were originally laid?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: No. Mr. Speaker, that is not what I said. I said that the costs would have been built into the contingency if there were some minor changes.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 30, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 30

No. 30: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning if the Government plans to build another Primary School in the District of George Town in the near future.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: With the Red Bay Primary School at capacity, and the George Town Primary School at near capacity, it is anticipated that a new primary school will be needed in the George Town district within the next few years. The Ministry is in the process of identifying an appropriate site for this new school.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Based on the answer given, and considering the fact that at this time the Red Bay Primary School has three different classes for year One, and it is not expected to be the same way next September (and I am sure the Minister has considered what will happen in September), can the Minister state exactly how it is planned to accommodate the new students come this September?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: There is still some capacity left at the Savannah and George Town Primary Schools. While it is not always easy to predict with absolute certainty, we feel that within the three schools we will be able to accommodate the students.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Before I continue, I need the Honourable Minister to understand that any other supplementaries are totally genuine so we don't have to fight this morning.

I understand what the Honourable Minister just said, but is the problem purely related to cost? Or is it that planning the whole process takes a bit longer? because in the answer he said 'within the next few years.'

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The First Baptist School within that catchment area will be coming on stream in September. We will also be getting the enrollment figures fairly shortly, and there will be an assessment of that information. What we have tried to do, because Education is one of the largest expenditures, is assist private schools in an effort to give some of the students the option of going to schools such as the First Baptist School.

Within a few months I think we will be able to see better where we are going in that area. When I say that, I mean within the George Town/Savannah area. But we have taken into consideration that it is a very fast-growing area and the earlier efforts I made to alleviate problems at the Red Bay School unfortunately did not come to fruition.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 31, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 31

No. 31: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation to state the process by which the contracts were awarded for the furnishings, including cabinetry and appliances, for the new George Town Hospital.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: The supply of furnishings, cabinetry and appliances to the new hospital involved three separate contracts. These are as follows:

(1) Cabinets: It is standard practise in the construction industry to have the construction contractor responsible for the supply and installation of cabinets. As a result, no separate tender documents were issued for the supply of cabinetry to the new hospital. Instead, cabinet requirements and specifications were included in the tender documents issued by the main consultants, Ellerbe Becket, for the overall construction of the new hospital. Tenders were received and opened by the Central Tenders Committee and the construction contract was awarded in March 1996 to McAlpine Ltd who was the lowest bidder.

(2) Furnishings: Tender documents for the supply of desks, chairs, tables, file cabinets, etcetera, for the new hospital were prepared by Ellerbe Becket and made available in January 1996 to interested local and overseas' companies for bids. Tenders were opened by the Central Tenders Committee in April 1996 and contracts were awarded to three local bidders for various furnishings 'packages.'

(3) Appliances: There were no separate tender documents issued for the supply of appliances for the new hospital. Appliances such as refrigerators, stoves, dish washers, etcetera, were included in the Medical Equipment Tender documents prepared by Ellerbe Becket and sent out to tender in January 1996 to interested local and overseas' companies. Tenders were opened by the Central Tenders Committee in September 1996 and five contracts were awarded to the lowest bidders for various 'packages' of equipment. Of these lowest bidders, one was local and four were from overseas.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Would the Honourable Member confirm that every opportunity was given to local businesses to bid on these contracts?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Yes, Mr. Speaker. As a matter of fact I encouraged the contractor to use Caymanian suppliers wherever possible.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 32, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 32

No. 32: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture to say whether or not the usual 50 Cayman Islands' dollars ($50) given to indigents at Christmas time was distributed in December of 1996, and, if not, why not.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The Ministry of Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture decided not to issue the CI$50 Christmas cheer cheque in 1996, due to the substantial increase in the monthly cheques given, which is now $200 per month.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Would the Honourable Minister say if it was a fair assessment that this decision applied to all three islands?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Yes. When we took the decision to increase the assistance to the elderly from $50 to $200 we increased it in all three islands. We did not renew the $50 Christmas cheer for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman and Grand Cayman.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, that concludes Question Time.

PRIVATE MEMBERS' MOTIONS

PRIVATE MEMBER'S MOTION NO. 1/97

ESTABLISHMENT OF A BULK STORAGE FOR PROPANE ON CAYMAN BRAC

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I beg to move Private Member's Motion No. 1/97, The Establishment of a Bulk Storage For Propane on Cayman Brac, which reads:

"WHEREAS the utilisation of propane is a popular and necessary source of cooking fuel on Cayman Brac,

"AND WHEREAS there is constant shortage of propane on this Island,

"AND WHEREAS there are a number of variables which presently affect the supply of propane,

"AND WHEREAS the present method of supply of propane to Cayman Brac is resulting in undue hardship for the residents therefrom,

"BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that the Government further investigate the reasons for this said shortage and that Government encourage the establishment of a bulk storage propane facility on Cayman Brac."

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I am pleased to second the motion.

The Speaker: Private Member's Motion No. 1/97 having been duly Moved and Seconded is now open for debate.

The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

(10.46 AM)

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. The majority of my constituents on the island of Cayman Brac utilise propane as a means to provide the requisite cooking fuel. There are some households using electrical stoves, but this means of fuel has proved far too expensive for the majority of residents, as our local electrical company adds a fuel factor of at least 25% of the total bill.

Presently, propane is shipped in cylinders on the Thompson's barge towed from Grand Cayman. Upon arrival, a local distributor is responsible for the sale of propane and the collection of empty cylinders. For years there has been a long and unnecessary waiting list, and it is quite obvious that the demand far exceeds the supply. Consequently, undue hardship is inflicted upon my people.

There is a constant shortage and the alleged reasons for this are numerous. I am made to understand that a normal shipment on the barge consists of some 90 cylinders, but that apparently varies from shipment to shipment. Once they arrive, the hotels and other commercial ventures are given priority, I am told. Often, the private households have to do without. What this translates to is that some of our people have to resort to using firewood as a means of cooking fuel. Those of us who can remember having to do this no doubt will be quite aware of the many inconveniences this poses.

Another apparent contributing factor to the constant shortage of propane on the Brac is the sporadic schedule of the barge which transports the propane cylinders. For the most part, the weather plays a major role in determining the frequency of trips to and from the Brac. If there is inclement weather, as experienced last Christmas when no ship was able to transport propane, then the already unbearable shortage was only intensified.

Another apparent contributing factor to the obvious propane shortage is that the number of full cylinders shipped to the Brac largely depends upon the number of empties that are returned to Grand Cayman. The method of collection used now is that the distributor drives around and picks up the empties (which are placed around the roadside), and then whenever the barge arrives he ships them back to Grand Cayman for filling. More times than not, I am made to understand that there are not sufficient empties available for collection, therefore causing a greater shortfall in the next shipment. This has a snowball effect.

Some households have managed to purchase more than one cylinder and both are connected to the stove. When one finishes the extra one serves as a substitute. Therefore, there is no immediate rush to disconnect the empty one and place it on the roadside. As a result there is at least one less empty cylinder to return for refilling.

In times past, in endeavouring to keep up on the return of empties the distributor would go to private residences and disconnect the empty ones. However, he has now had to take the decision to stop this practise—in my opinion rightly so because on more than one occasion customers have made the accusation that the cylinder was not empty. Being the peace-maker he is, the distributor has provided out of his own pocket another full cylinder which means he has moved from the position of making a profit to subsidising his customers.

Based on the representation I have received from my constituents, it is the general view that if the bulk storage facility for propane is installed on the island of Cayman Brac, this would alleviate the problem of constant propane shortages. Years ago, before the installation of bulk storage for gasoline my people experienced similar unnecessary shortages. Luckily, such a facility has been put in place now in the Creek, and the supply is on par (or above par) with the demand. Therefore, the wellness of my people has been much improved.

On behalf of my fellow Brackers, I implore the Government to fully investigate the reasons for the propane shortage, and, once their findings have been collated, to make all possible efforts to encourage the establishment of a bulk propane storage facility on Cayman Brac.

The suppliers of propane in the Cayman Islands are, in my respectful opinion, very reasonable people and have a very strong connection with the electoral district of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman. I am confident that if the right approach is taken by Government, a suitable solution can be achieved. I assure you that the people of the Brac will be eternally grateful.

I trust that all Honourable Members will give this motion their full support.

The Speaker: The Motion is open for debate.

The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

(10.52 AM)

Hon. Truman M. Boddien: I support this Motion. I believe that as the lady Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman has outlined, that talks should be entered into with the suppliers to see if this can be dealt with. I believe it is very much in the interest of the people of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman that this matter be dealt with. It has to be looked at as a necessity to have sufficient supply of propane for cooking purposes on Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

As we have recently seen, there has been a move to put the storage of aircraft fuel on Cayman Brac and this will undoubtedly assist with having prices possibly lowered, because it can be taken over in bulk. Also, it will assist by ensuring that there is a continuous supply.

I believe that this is a move in the right direction. It has my full support. In any way that I can assist both Members from Cayman Brac and Little Cayman with this, or any other matter which will assist those two islands, I will always do so. I have always had a close affinity with those two islands having worked there as a banker over the years and being associated with one of the two banks that are still there. This, coming along with the other concessions that we have assisted the two Members with, I believe will undoubtedly help the people of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman. Whatever I can do in this matter, I am prepared to do.

I fully support it.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

(10.55 AM)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I rise in support of Private Member's Motion No. 1/97 entitled, Establishment of a Bulk Storage for Propane on Cayman Brac. I am well aware of the problems experienced in the Sister Islands, as during my term as a Member of Executive Council I was instrumental in correcting some of these problems. I can fully appreciate the wish of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman to also have proper propane supply for the people of Cayman Brac.

Although it might be said that it is not economically feasible to provide certain facilities and amenities to the Brac, I think that we need to understand that Cayman Brac and Little Cayman are very much a part of the Cayman Islands. As in the case of Cayman Airways Limited, the Water Authority, the fuel terminal and other facilities that have been provided in Cayman Brac, one cannot expect that there will be a profit in the first few years. Nonetheless, it is the responsibility and the duty of the Members of this Honourable House to ensure that the proper facilities are provided for those islands.

I think it was in 1991 that I spearheaded the water programme for Cayman Brac, and today it is serving a very useful purpose indeed. Before that was implemented there was a very dangerous situation with potable water in Cayman Brac. Today the residents of that island have the same facilities as are available to the people of Grand Cayman.

Although Cayman Brac may have a small population, it deserves the same services as those afforded the people of Grand Cayman. That is why I entered into negotiation in 1990 (or 1991) with Texaco Caribbean Ltd. to provide a bulk storage terminal on Cayman Brac. At that point it was said that it was not economically feasible. I mention that only to say that it might also be said that to establish a bulk storage propane facility on Cayman Brac may not be feasible. Regardless as to whether it is or not, I feel that the people involved in this type of business should enter into negotiations with the Government for providing that facility.

My contribution on this will be relatively short because I see no reason at all why this should not receive the full support of this Honourable House.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

(11.00 AM)

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I am pleased to be the seconder of this resolution. I seconded it because we are cognisant of the needs of the people of Cayman Brac. When the water was put in it was not making a profit, and when I took over the Ministry there had to be some matters regulated and management decisions made to turn that around. We did that, and we can expect a small profit in the water distribution there.

We are cognisant that in relation to water there is a need and the request to extend that water. I hear that it is costly, but it must be done to facilitate the development of Cayman Brac. I gave my word to the people of Cayman Brac that we will do it and I believe that Government is in support of this.

In this day and age can we imagine that we still have people using firewood? Not that this is something to be ashamed of, but it certainly, at this point in time does not say anything for our development, that people in our Sister Islands are doing something that has been abolished since the advent of modern facilities. I have witnessed this myself. I see some of the serious needs and shortages, and I say this in respect of some areas, not all, of Cayman Brac, especially the eastern districts—Spott Bay, Watering Place and those areas. Not to say that there are no needs elsewhere, but when I visit there as the Minister for Social Services and see these kinds of atrocities, I have to wonder where we are going and what we are doing.

Imagine people with young children who might need hot water in the middle of the night. They have to go back to pre 1960 to get this sort of amenity. We cannot allow this to go on.

I would like to offer a word of congratulations and praise to the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman for taking this action. It shows that although she is new in this House she is well aware of the needs of her people. She is prepared to do what is necessary as far as she, as their representative, can do.

Whatever we, as a Government, have to do to see this matter rectified, we will do, as the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning has said.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

(11.04 AM)

Mr. Roy Bodden: I rise to give my support to this Motion which is most reasonable. Certainly those of us on Grand Cayman who are conscientious are very concerned about the inconveniences and development problems experienced by our brothers and sisters in Cayman Brac. This is a more than reasonable request, one to which any well meaning legislator should lend support.

It has been pointed out that there may be some sensitivity as the Government may have to enter into discussion with the suppliers of this product. Business being what it is, people are primarily propelled by the profit motive. Nevertheless, it seems from all that has been said, and from my bit of knowledge about the circumstances on the Brac that if this request were to be met and a venture entered into, it would not be long before the investors realise a good rate of return on their investment.

We are always cognisant of the needs and requests of the people on Cayman Brac which have always been practical and relevant. I hope that both parties, Government and the suppliers, are able to come to a reasonable and amicable agreement so that we may have this glaring inconvenience alleviated as soon as possible. It has my support as I am always seeking opportunities to improve the quality of life for the people of these islands.

(11.06 AM)

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I am also pleased to lend my support to this request. I am aware that Government implemented some provisions and policies last year which I believe have helped the economy in Cayman Brac. I believe that a storage facility for propane there will also greatly assist development, not only on a residential basis, but also commercially.

I have a lot of respect for the people of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, and anything that I can do in order to assist, I am prepared to do.

I congratulate the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman for her interest in her people. This Motion has my support.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

(11.08 AM)

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I, too, rise to give my full support to this Motion. While not trying to be repetitious, I think there are a few small points which have to be considered which have been (and probably still are) stumbling blocks and why this effort has not occurred before.

I think without having to go into too much depth, the obvious stumbling block is the financial feasibility of such a storage facility. I just wish to take this opportunity to suggest that while it may not be a viable operation for the company that is supplying the gas, Government may well have to take the position to do it no matter what the cost and allow for a lease purchase of the facility over a certain period of time. Regardless of who engages in this type of business, while there is a certain responsibility for them to provide the service as efficiently as possible, the economics also have to be taken into consideration.

I believe that if the storage facility does become a reality, the other inherent problems with regard to supplying propane to Cayman Brac can be worked out. So, while what I suggest is not necessarily the best answer, I think it is the approach that we will have to take for it not to be another five or ten years before it is done.

I just thought I would air that, but I lend my full support to the Motion and point out that it is good to know that Cayman Brac has a representative like the lady Member who is very conscientious and wishes to do what she can for her constituents.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport.

(11.13 AM)

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I rise to support Private Member's Motion 1/97 for the establishment of bulk storage for propane on Cayman Brac. I believe the first thing that I should do is offer congratulations to the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman for bringing this Motion to the floor.

I have always tried to assist the people of the Brac in any way that I can, and I believe that all who live in the Cayman Islands should benefit from the prosperity we boast about from time to time. If there are areas of their quality of life that does not seem to be at the appropriate level, then we should do everything to assist the constituents whether they are in Cayman Brac or otherwise.

I find that the people of the Brac do need substantial help and I believe that the initiatives put in place last year by this Government will benefit them significantly. I hope that this Motion will have unanimous support in this House so that Government can look at the possibility of encouraging the multi-national corporations, as I call them in some cases, to establish a bulk storage for propane in the Brac. Sometimes when you get accustomed to a particular facility you fail to realise how important it is until it comes to an end. We take for granted even the electricity sometimes. The day the power goes off we realise how dependant we are on it. The same is true for propane gas. Many of the kitchens on Cayman Brac and on Grand Cayman depend upon that source for cooking, and hungry people are normally not happy people!

We are going to do everything that we can to assist the Motion put forward by the lady Member for Cayman Brac. I offer her congratulations again.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

(11.17 AM)

Hon. Anthony Eden: I also rise to give my support to this Motion. The significant improvements which have taken place in Cayman Brac recently are on the records. As an earlier speaker said, there can probably be nothing worse than a young child waking up at night needing something warm. Sometimes the inclement weather prevents the boats from going to Cayman Brac. Then it is like going back to the days when most of us grew up and had to use wood. The Cayman Islands are certainly beyond that in this day and age.

Watching the programme "Destroyer at Rest" last night showed what this Government is doing to try to make things better in Cayman Brac. We must all realise that we are all Caymanians, Grand Cayman should not have better service than our Sister Islands. It is not fair to provide new infrastructure over there, when something as basic as warm food is denied.

I would also like to extend my congratulations to the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman for taking this initiative. We would not want to be sending visitors to the hotels and restaurants over there and have them wait two or three days to get a meal. I ask the entire House to give support to this wonderful Motion.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

(11.19 AM)

Dr. Frank McField: I also rise in support of this Motion. Since I am not very familiar with the physical and economical conditions of Cayman Brac, I am going to take this opportunity to point out the type of consciousness which is at work here when Members of this Parliament support such a Motion that will not end in profits, but will in fact, cause another expense to the Treasury of this Government.

The reason why I am mentioning this, is that when we are supporting a Motion such as this, we are not saying that profit is ultimately important; we are saying that the well being of the people of these islands is what we are all about. I think at a time like this I would like to stress this type of decision because tomorrow, when we have to pay for it, I hope that all Members of this House will remember that we need money. I hope that the very nice words, especially by the Third Elected Member for George Town, will be remembered when the time comes to pay the Bill.

The Speaker: If no other Member wishes to speak, would the Honourable Mover of the Motion wish to reply?

The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

(11.21 AM)

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I am delighted with the overwhelming support that I have received from all Members, including the Second Elected Member for Cayman Brac who heartedly supports this Motion. I am sure that my constituents will be extremely grateful for the support shown here this morning and also for the extended support for future projects.

The Speaker: The question is Private Member's Motion No. 1/97. "BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that the Government further investigate the reasons for this said shortage and that Government encourage the establishment of a bulk storage propane facility on Cayman Brac.”

I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. PRIVATE MEMBER'S MOTION NO. 1/97 PASSED.

The Speaker: This might be a convenient time for the morning break. Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 11.22 AM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 12.02 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated.

Private Member's Motion No. 2/97, Establishment of an Immigration Board for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman. The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman

PRIVATE MEMBER'S MOTION NO. 2/97

ESTABLISHMENT OF AN IMMIGRATION BOARD FOR CAYMAN BRAC AND LITTLE CAYMAN

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I beg to move Private Member's Motion No. 2/97 which reads:

“WHEREAS there is now established the Development Control Board, the Planning Appeals Tribunal, the Education Board and the Liquor Licensing Board for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman;

“AND WHEREAS there is an increased demand for work permits an other licences for persons to work in those Islands;

“BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that Government considers the amendment of the Immigration Law to provide for the establishment of an Immigration Board for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.”

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to second the motion.

The Speaker: Private Member's Motion No. 2/97 having been duly Moved and Seconded is now open for debate.

The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Although the Sister Islands are an integral part of the Cayman Islands, they are nonetheless separated by some 90 miles of Caribbean sea. For the avoidance of doubt, let me hasten to say from the very beginning that the creation or establishment of an Immigration Board will in no way set a precedent, as already there is established on Cayman Brac a Development Control Board which deals with all Planning matters relating to the Sister Islands. There is also for several years now the existence of the Planning Appeals Tribunal.

We also have our own Education Board with two of the Members sitting for representation on the Education Council here in Cayman. There is then the Liquor Licensing Board which has also been established for a number of years on Cayman Brac dealing with liquor licensing applications in respect of those two islands.

Presently Cayman Brac and Little Cayman has one Member on the Immigration Board here on this island and there are many occasions when she finds herself in a position where she is unable to attend the various meetings of the Immigration Board here on Grand Cayman, through no fault of her own. I am duly informed that on many occasions she has gone to the airport and Island Air has bumped her and replaced her with a tourist, or various reasons which I choose not to go into at this time in this particular forum. Suffice it to say that when this happens in Grand Cayman it leads to unnecessary expenses being incurred for an additional day of car rental and hotel accommodation, among other frustrations.

There are times, therefore, when the Immigration Board sits in Grand Cayman when Cayman Brac and Little Cayman have absolutely no representation. Further, it is a well known fact that the Immigration Board in Grand Cayman is overworked. I respectfully submit that based on the anticipated revenue as set out in this year's Budget there is no doubt that this workload will decrease. To further compound this we expect more development on Cayman Brac in the next few months, and already applications within the Planning Board has increased significantly. I have no doubt that the same will obtain within the Immigration Department and its related Board.

I am also confident that if an Immigration Board were established on the Brac it would speed up the application process. This would enhance expediency. Moreover, such a Board would comprise of Caymanians from the Sister Islands who are familiar with the specific needs of our community and would be in a much better position to deal with the applications. I am cognisant of the fact that the applications should be dealt with and not the applicants, but it is oft times necessary to look at the applicant and the extrinsic circumstances because granting, or not granting such a permit can sometimes have grave results.

Further, I believe that establishing an Immigration Board on the island of Cayman Brac would also prevent many constituents having to travel to Grand Cayman at their own expense whenever there are queries or when they are desirous of an audience with the Immigration Board. The creation of an Immigration Board would also provide some additional work for people in that it would require at least two additional staff members to the grossly understaffed Immigration Department as it presently exists.

Having additional staff would not alleviate the many problems experienced with the delay in issuing work permits, but would allow the Immigration Department to create and implement an enforcement arm for which there is an alarming need on the Sister Islands. It is the general feeling that when documents have to be sent over to Grand Cayman they are not given priority. Whether this is factual or perceived is not for me to say.

Investors, in particular on the island of Cayman Brac, are looking for a one-stop market which is efficient and reliable with an element of accountability. Therefore, I believe that the establishment of an Immigration Board for the island of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman would be a move in the right direction. I therefore urge all Members of Government to support Private Member's Motion No. 2/97 resulting in an amendment to the Immigration Law to make provision for the establishment of such a Board.

I trust that all Members will support this Motion.

(12.10 PM)

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I rise to offer my support for this Motion calling for the establishment of an Immigration Board for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman. I think it is essential because we are now trying to encourage development, especially on Cayman Brac. With development will come demand for additional work permits and other licenses for people wanting to operate on Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

I recently had the experience of establishing a business on Cayman Brac. It was a real pleasure to work with Planning and the Fire Department and all the other related agencies in order to make it become a reality. I think it is unfair for the development of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman to be dependent upon the situation we have here in Grand Cayman where we sometimes have to wait six or eight weeks for a work permit or Trade and Business licence.

I believe that we can find responsible people within those islands who will serve as the Board members of that establishment. They will ensure that applications are dealt with in an objective manner, and will be in no way skewed towards special interest groups.

I believe that the communities of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman deserve this consideration. I believe that it will prove to be a wise decision with regard to Government establishing such an entity. The only thing I would express caution about is ensuring that some care is taken in the selection of the Board members of the Immigration Board in Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

I am pleased to support this request and urge my colleagues in the House to do the same.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

(12.14 PM)

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Government is prepared to support this request. We realise that proper facilities and mechanisms are needed to facilitate and advance development in the Sister Islands. While we say that we want development, we have to be prepared to put in place the things that are needed.

Cayman Brac and Little Cayman in this day and age need to have this Board, as much as they need to have the Development Control Board. They need what I think is one of the most important Boards to work along with that Immigration Board, to give people the feeling that if they want to develop in Cayman Brac they do not have to run to Grand Cayman to get a work permit and then back to Cayman Brac for permission from the Development Control Board. I believe that is not working in the best interest of development for the Sister Islands.

I am glad that the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman has brought this to the forefront and we are prepared to put this in place as quickly as possible.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

(12.17 PM)

Dr. Frank McField: I would like to make a brief contribution to the debate on Private Member's Motion No. 2/97 calling for the establishment of an Immigration Board on Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

My problem is that I do not understand the physical and economic conditions of Cayman Brac, but in trying to look at the three islands as parts of the same whole (and not separate entities), my question at this moment is whether or not it is expedient and good for all to develop divisions in terms of our concept of self and in terms of our abilities to solve problems collectively.

To be more specific, Immigration has to do with the concept of nationality. It has to do with the definition of who belongs and the borders within which we are to belong. My debate in terms of establishing a separate Immigration Board with regard to what I consider to be the powers of the Immigration Board, which are pretty extensive, is based upon the assumption that there would be a duplication in terms of functions. The functions of this new Immigration Board would be the same as the one which now functions for the three islands. In fact, this Immigration Board would have the same type of power to determine questions of residency or belonging, and therefore the rights of those people to belong or not to belong, to work or not to work.

I am questioning the whole idea of decentralising. At this particular time when we are at a cross-road in the concept of who belongs we have to try to come to some agreement as to what kinds of changes will occur with regard to our Immigration Laws. I think I would prefer to debate those things before I go on to decide about establishing a separate Immigration Board for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman at this time.

I think we are all in good conscience trying to do what is right to improve the physical and economic developments in Cayman Brac, but we must be aware that as a nation we must prevent a repetition of the conditions in Cayman Brac as we have seen develop in Grand Cayman over the past 20 years. Progress should not come at any cost. Although I, as a Grand Caymanian, do not like to be telling the people in Cayman Brac how they should develop, I still realise that we have one Parliament, one Law and therefore we should have one intention, regardless of whether or not we are separated by water.

Unless there is great inconvenience there should be no attempt to further decentralise the authority of the Immigration Board. The question of Immigration in this country is too important, especially when we realise that not only people with capital are coming here asking us to make a place for them, but also people who are not bringing capital, people who are not even bringing skills are coming here asking us to make a place for them. So it is a consideration that should not be made by any specific district, it is a consideration that should be made by the country as a whole.

I am afraid that if decentralisation takes place at this particular time in regard to Immigration we will have no way of guaranteeing that the decisions being made in Cayman Brac are in sync with the decisions being made in Grand Cayman. We should strive to preserve a cohesiveness with regard to the decisions made by Immigration.

As much as I would like to make it convenient for people trying to do business in Cayman Brac, they must realise that the question of development is a very difficult question and we in the Cayman Islands at this particular juncture realise that we have let certain things get out of control simply because certain people wanted certain things at certain times. As the Governor said in his Throne Speech, if we are going to lose our identity and sense of community at the end of the day, can we consider that to be real progress?

I am not saying that people should not be free from the whole idea of having to cook with fire wood; I am not saying that people should not have jobs provided, and I am not saying that people should not be able to afford maids. I am not saying that people should not be able to see the same big cement buildings going up in Cayman Brac as have gone up in Grand Cayman, but at the end of the day it is a sight that will affect all of us, not only the people of Cayman Brac. Whatever goes on there will affect all of us.

If tomorrow the social balance between the people who are not from here, the people from here and Cayman Brac gets out of sync, that is also the responsibility of the people of this country as a whole. Therefore, I cannot see why we would want to give up the say which we need to have in terms of this very important legislation.

I will close by saying that the problem I have in supporting this Motion is that I would like to have time, and I think other Members should take time to think about the possible ramifications—not saying that the people sitting on the Immigration Board in Cayman Brac would not do as good a job as anybody else—but think about the ramifications it might have on the entire concept we have as Cayman and Caymanians today. These are the questions that the Immigration Board will have to be making, whether or not to grant a work permit or allow a person residency, would have to benefit the community as a whole, not just the community of Cayman Brac.

Although some people may be willing to live with certain things in Cayman Brac, we may not be able to live with it in the Cayman Islands. The Immigration Board must remain under the control of the Government of the Cayman Islands as a whole and decentralisation at this particular time will weaken the authority of the Parliament and the Government of this country.

I have seen the effects of this type of decentralisation policy. It will mean that the Immigration policies of this country will possibly come under the influence of special interest groups. Unless we can secure the Immigration Board from coming under the influence of these special interest groups, I say let us be cautious about this. I saw a demonstration in this country yesterday that frightened me because it made me aware of how powerful special interest groups can be.

We have to balance the needs of the people against the ability of people to corrupt and manipulate those needs. When we give an Immigration Board the power that we will be giving them in Cayman Brac, we must make sure that it will not be influenced and dictated to by special interest groups which use economics to intimidate and manipulate.

We are doing much to subsidise the development of Cayman Brac. This will not only benefit the people of Cayman Brac, but will benefit the people who will emigrate to Cayman Brac. So, if we are willing to put out with one hand, we would like to remain in control with the other hand.

Until we find a better way of solving this, I suggest that what we look at is changes that we might be able to make in our Immigration Laws and how the Immigration Board might speed up the process of granting work permits. The question of whether or not Cayman Brac is separated by 90 miles of Caribbean sea.... Communication throughout the world is improved every day—a person can work in Hong Kong while being in the Cayman Islands. Somehow I believe that with Cayman Airways Limited, and the dedication of the Minister to improve the transportation between Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, these problems could be overcome much more easily than those that might be created by special interest groups trying to take over and influence the new Immigration Board in Cayman Brac.

For these reasons, I will say that I cannot support Private Member's Motion No. 2/97.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

(12.30 PM)

Mr. Roy Bodden: I have listened to the positions put forward in regard to this Motion and I have to say that I have been impressed by the position taken by the Fourth Elected Member for George Town. His arguments have been persuasive indeed and I would only add one significant point to what he has said, in that, shortly there will be coming before this Honourable House a Bill to take the Immigration Law to a Select Committee.

I would therefore respectfully suggest that any decision on this momentous request be left until this House has had a chance to carefully weight the potential impact of this decision and can air it thoroughly in the Select Committee. It may well be that in granting this request we will be allowing what has already happened in Grand Cayman—which may be irreparable—to happen in Cayman Brac. Therefore, I cannot offer my support at this time, taking arguments such as these into consideration.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

(12.32 PM)

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Private Member's Motion No. 2/97 as explained by the Mover is based upon the wish for convenience among other things. I, too, have listened to the arguments put forth regarding the pros and cons of whether or not Cayman Brac and Little Cayman should have their own Immigration Board.

I think that one of the things we have to look at carefully is whether it is envisaged that the operations of that Board will be totally parallel with the Immigration Board existing today in Grand Cayman. The Mover of the Motion will have an opportunity to explain that in her winding up, but my understanding is that it is not intended for that Board to be able to make certain types of decisions, for instance on residency, status and matter such as that. I think that the whole purpose of the exercise is to allow the people in Cayman Brac to do the day-to-day affairs, which they presently have some encumbrances dealing with as the Immigration Board is in Grand Cayman, in a fairly autonomous fashion.

Let me say that the people of Cayman Brac are as resilient as they come. While I understand any questions which may come to mind, for instance, what the Fourth Elected Member for George Town spoke of, special interest groups, it is my humble opinion that the people of Cayman Brac are as well equipped as anybody we can think of in-house or out of house to deal with matters like that. I personally do not have any problems in that area.

While we talk about looking into the review that is supposedly going to shortly take place in Select Committee, once the Government Motion is passed, about the Immigration Law, there was a sitting Member of this House (who is no longer with us) who I heard say, "If you want something to die, put it into a Select Committee." The reason I mention that is that, while it would be very good (if I thought it were going to be a realistic situation), it is my humble opinion that if we hinge this Motion with the Motion to shortly be proposed, this Motion will never be dealt with. That is the position I take based on the short experience I have had.

The Mover of this Motion will have the opportunity to explain the questions that have arisen during the debate, but let me say, before I go any further, that I sincerely appreciate that people are trying to think things through. That is the only way the group of us sitting in this House can end up with the best results. So it is always good to hear the drawbacks one might see. But I am certain that the Mover of this Motion will be able to clear the air as to how she would envisage the situation to operate if it were to be passed.

The other question I raise is: If there were to be an Immigration Board in Cayman Brac, there are certain administrative processes which would naturally have to take place. I think we need to think of that to ensure that it is not something that is going to create more of a problem than the one it is supposed to be solving. I am not suggesting that it cannot work itself out. I am just saying that we need to make sure that when we are dealing with it that we think it through, that it is not a difficult situation to put into place and is not something that what exists in the Brac now cannot accommodate.

With regard to the people in the Brac being able to operate that Board properly, I have no problems with that at all. I think we simply need to ensure that while solving the problems it is hoped to solve, will not be creating others.

I would like to ask the Mover of the Motion to respond to the questions coming to the minds of those of us who have debated. I firmly believe that at this point in time each and every one of us who has debated wishes to bring about the best result. I think the onus now comes to the Mover to prove her case. I think that we will just listen to what she has to say, and I am certain that she can prove the case. Unless I have a different view based upon what the Mover says in winding up, I support the Motion.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

(12.39 PM)

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I have listened carefully to what all of the Members have said. The Motion itself refers to an amendment to the Law. What will happen is that an amendment would be prepared and brought back to the House so that Members' concerns can be dealt with at that time.

I take the very salient points raised by the Fourth Elected Member for George Town. As I understand, the Board will be working with work permits for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman. I did not understand, nor do I believe it was intended that it would go beyond that. I believe that could allay the fears of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town. He is quite right that the Board's powers are extensive. This is really meant to be the equivalent of the Development Control Board and also of the Education Board. Together, they do not have the full power that exists in the other substantive Boards.

I think the reason for this is really a matter of expediency. As I said, it will only be for work permits relating to Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, but in any event all Members of this House will have an opportunity in the near future to debate this. If Members feel that the powers extend too far, then, by all means, it can be dealt with in this Honourable House.

This Motion basically gets Government in gear to start looking at this and to prepare legislation that will then come back to this House. It is true that there is further legislation coming up relating to the Immigration Law, but it is not intended to piggyback on this by any means. Members will have an opportunity to look at it.

I believe it will bring benefits and I believe that the legislation can be so drafted to take care of the fears raised by the Members who spoke. While we are three islands, I believe that if this is drafted very precisely, I have found both the Development Control Board in Cayman Brac and Little Cayman as well as the Planning Appeals Tribunal and Education Board to work well. The Immigration Board would naturally be subject to the directives, regulations, application forms and other matters relating to it, but I do agree that the drafting has to be precise so that some of the fears of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town are properly taken care of.

I believe that the lady Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman can probably also allay those fears. I hope that in the end, since Members realise that it will be coming back—and we give that undertaking that it will come back—they can then make any changes that they wish.

I support this and I believe that it will help Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? If not, would the Mover wish to reply?

The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

(12.44 PM)

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I would first like to thank those Members who rendered their support in this regard and make other submissions in respect of the other comments.

It is true that Cayman Brac is separated by some 90 miles from Grand Cayman, but that is not only a geographical problem, but one only has to be resident on Cayman Brac for a minimum of one day to be fully cognisant of the fact that 'out of mind' is often metamorphosed 'out of sight.' As the Indian proverb says, you have to walk in one's shoes to appreciate the difficulties. Moreover, if the Fourth Elected Member for George Town has somehow directly connected the presence of what he terms 'special interest groups' in this Parliament to the composition of the Immigration Board here in Grand Cayman, then, for the life of me, I cannot comprehend why he would want that same Board to have jurisdiction over Cayman Brac.

I can also say, like the First Elected Member for George Town, that I have no fear whatsoever about the mental competence of my fellow Brackers in making decisions in accordance with the directives, Laws and regulations set down by this Honourable Parliament and/or Executive Council. I should also hasten to say, like the First Elected Member for George Town, the people on Cayman Brac have a very different approach to many issues and I can safely say that if it were left to them the number of persons now possessing Caymanian status would not have reached the level it has in Grand Cayman.

We, on the Brac, view that as a very sacred possession. Although the Motion in no way envisages dealing with residency and/or status, but merely with work permits and Trade and Business licenses which I am confident my people are capable of handling.

In addition to that, although most of the world has entered into the computer era, until now it has not been seen fit to connect the Immigration Department to a level which would render expediency with the Department in Grand Cayman. I can say as Chairman of the Development Control Board for the past five years, even when a Board is established on Cayman Brac the difficulties experienced on a day-to-day basis are unbelievable. There are applications which have been sent to Grand Cayman—all in order, I might add—and it is not unusual for a year to pass without any reply whatsoever. That is what I refer to when I say you must walk in the shoes before being able to feel the pinch.

I am also fully cognisant that coming before this Honourable House is a move for the Immigration Law, among other laws, to go into Committee stage. I have to agree with the First Elected Member for George Town again, in that if there were ever a mechanism put in place to stagnate what one would like to see happen because time is of the essence, then put it in committee. I still adhere that the best committee is a one man committee.

As mentioned in my initial submission, we have every confidence that due to the economic incentives the Government of the day has put in place, there will be an increase in applications in respect of work permits and Trade and Business Licences. In order to create and foster an economic atmosphere we believe that it is necessary to establish such an Immigration Board.

When one looks at the track record of the people of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman there is no question as to our potential. This brings me to something which was said recently by Nancy Reagan. She said that a woman is like a tea bag; one never knows her strength until she is put into hot water! If ever that is evident it will be with this Member when remarks are made in a discriminatory fashion about my constituents, the people of Cayman

Brac and Little Cayman. I believe that when placed on an equal level with any other district within the Cayman Islands, there is not one circumstance where we would fall below par.

I believe that the establishment of this Board in due course will bear this out. As always, the people of Cayman Brac will be extremely grateful for due and careful consideration by Members of this Honourable Parliament. In addition they will be extremely grateful for proper and detailed research prior to the voicing of thoughts, as words can often cause irreparable damage and undue hardship.

Mr. Speaker, I thank you.

The Speaker: The question is Private Member's Motion No. 2/97. "BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that Government considers the amendment of the Immigration Law to provide for the establishment of an Immigration Board for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman."

I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

SECOND READING

THE MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS (FEES AND DUTIES) (TEMPORARY) BILL, 1997

MOTION TO DEFER SECOND READING DEBATE

Hon. George A. McCarthy: In accordance with Standing Orders 24(9) and 36(2) I would like to move a motion that debate on the Bill be temporarily adjourned, or suspended, until the Government has concluded its discussions with the various Association representatives.

Yesterday, Ministers of the Government and I met with the various representatives to review the proposed measures as set out in the Bill. While we were able to come to an agreement on the majority of the measures as set out in the schedule, there were some areas that required further review and the Association representatives asked for time in order to meet/consult further with members of the private sector to agree on these or to continue further discussion on these.

The ones in question that they would like to consult further are the measures relating to impact fees. It is hoped that the Association representatives will be able to communicate their views to the Government during the course of today and, if that is the case, the Government should be in a position to advise this Honourable House by tomorrow what amendments will be made to the proposed measures as set out in Government Motion No. 3/97. If this can be achieved, then the continuation of the debate on the Bill can then be reactivated.

Also, until discussions are concluded and the Bill can be recommitted, the Collector of Customs has been instructed to continue the collection of duty based on the tariff rates in the Customs Law as set out prior to the introduction of Government Motion No. 3/97 which was passed in this House last Wednesday. The authority for this action is obtained from that which is vested in the Financial Secretary under the provisions of the Public Finance and Audit Law, specifically section 54(1)(a) which authorises the Financial Secretary to abandon, remit or waive any claim by or on behalf of the Government.

This is the approach which had to be taken as the current measures as set out in Government Motion No. 3/97 are in effect, and will remain in effect, until rescinded by a further Government Motion which would have to be brought hence the reason why, as Financial Secretary, I have had to resort to the provisions of the Public Finance and Audit Law in order to give the necessary instructions to the Collector of Customs. Therefore, for clarity, those enhanced measures, or increases that would have come about, or changes to the rates in the Tariff Law, based upon Government Motion No. 3/97, are temporarily suspended until the further changes are advised to this House.

The Speaker: The question is that debate on the Miscellaneous Provisions (Fees and Duties) (Temporary) Bill, 1997, be deferred until a later sitting. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. SECOND READING DEBATE ON THE MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS (FEES AND DUTIES) (TEMPORARY) BILL, 1997, DEFERRED UNTIL A LATER SITTING.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I move that this Honourable House be adjourned until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The Speaker: The question is that the House do now adjourn until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye... Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it. The House is accordingly adjourned.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

THE CUSTOMS TARIFF LAW (1996 REVISION)

Hon. George A. McCarthy: In accordance with the provisions of Standing Order 68A and pursuant to section 74 of the Customs Law, 1990, the following resolution is moved:

"BE IT RESOLVED this day by the Legislative Assembly under the powers conferred upon it by section 74 of the Customs Law, 1990;

"THAT Government Motion No. 3/97, passed by the Legislative Assembly on 12th March, 1997, respecting the exemptions from and variations of the rates of Customs Duty and new charges of Customs Duty under the first and second schedules of the Customs Tariff Law (1996 Revision) be rescinded and that the following exemptions from and variations of rates of Customs Duty and new charges of Customs Duty under the first and second schedules of the Customs Tariff Law (1996 Revision) be made:

"AND THAT it is hereby declared that it is expedient in the public interest that this resolution shall have statutory effect under the provisions of the Customs Law 1990."

Mr. Speaker, in order to give clarity to the understanding now reached between the Government and the community at large through their representatives who are members of the Council of Associations, after several meetings with these representatives we have now come to a very good understanding on all of these measures.

Accordingly, the following joint press release will now be made.

"The Cayman Islands Government and the Council of Associations representing the private sector are pleased to announce that talks have been fruitful.

"After further consideration of the revenue measures agreement has been reached on all measures in the schedule. All development impact fees have been removed and will not be imposed on existing projects approved by the Planning Department. All efforts are being made to re-evaluate alternative revenue sources.

"The talks were carried out in an orderly and constructive way and we believe that the agreement reached is both reasonable and in the best interests of the Cayman Islands and its people.

"Dated this 21st Day of March, 1997, signed by a representative on behalf of the Council of Associations and by the Leader of Government Business on behalf of the Government."

I should mention for the benefit of Members that a new schedule will be circulated which will reflect the agreed changes. This gives the most up-to-date position. As Members would have noticed, there is to be no reference in the schedule to the section dealing with impact fees.

In order to properly reflect these amendments the Legal Department is presently preparing an amending motion which will show the various amendments to be made to the Bill presently being debated.

I would just like to say that I am thankful to you, Mr. Speaker, for allowing the Government to introduce this Motion, and to thank Members for their patience.

I think that the community can now feel at ease as the issues causing some agitation and concern have been addressed. As usual, the Government—being responsive and receptive to the ideas advanced by the community at large—took the time out to consider these carefully and to take them on board; hence, this substitute motion.

As Financial Secretary I would like to thank the Ministers of Government and also the members of the Association for the time taken in order to come to an amicable solution.

I apologise for overlooking the other Members of the Legislative Assembly who participated in this discussion. They all did. Their contribution helped to achieve this amicable solution.

GOVERNMENT BUSINESSBILLS*SECOND READING*THE MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS (FEES AND DUTIES) (TEMPORARY) BILL, 1997

(Continuation of debate thereon)

(3.39 PM)

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: When we adjourned the debate on the revenue measures before the House, I said at that time that we hoped to conclude discussions with the private sector as early as possible. I am relieved to be able to say that negotiations have taken place and there has been fruitful discussion. While everybody might not be happy, I believe that the people with the gripe on the Council of Associations are, indeed, happy.

Many times we hear that democracy is not alive, and that this is not a democratic country. But in what country in the world today can the public raise its voice about a matter and have the Government not only take the time to stop and listen, but take action that all can live with? I say that I do not believe such a country exists except for the Cayman Islands. While many use that word 'democracy' a lot, the truth is that democracy is alive and well in the Cayman Islands.

I think I can refer to the fact that I am being criticised (and I am dealing personally here) for the action taken on Wednesday. But as a politician I have never been one to bury my head in the sand. I am always prepared to listen, and when alternatives that are in the best interests of the country are given, then I have always been prepared to go along with that action. That is where I stood last Wednesday morning, and I am glad that my colleagues were able to take that position with me.

I did not agree with many of the things that were said, but I believe that I covered quite a bit of it between Monday and Wednesday. I do not have to get back into that.

The Council of Associations and others met with us on Wednesday, and a decision was taken to work with them in several areas. They wanted disinfectants, insecticides, etc., to be duty free, as they currently are. We know that a lot of the hotels and condos buy them overseas. Some buy here, but far too many do not give the business to local business people importing these things for local distribution. Since our people would not get benefit to any great extent, the rate remains the same.

The other change was leather goods which were duty free. We had proposed 10%. It is still all duty free. Personally, I did not agree with that. I felt that we could charge some percentage. I do not know what their mark-up on that one is, but I do know that leather goods are very costly. But this is a democracy and the majority must rule.

They asked that we come down on shellfish, shrimp, etc., and we agreed after hearing different explanations. They wanted it duty free, we came down to 10%. That was a major item.

Another area of contention was cement. We have not increased anything on that.

I know that I have been speaking for a long time, but I still have the right to continue. I will not go through all of the items because I prefer to leave some of the matters to other speakers.

There are some areas that I do not personally agree with, but consensus rules because this is a democracy. While we had gone up too high on the importation of liquor, after they showed us their point of view, we went back to the old position. As I understand, there is no increase on liquor. I thought that we could have had a small increase, but, again, the majority ruled here.

As I said, I am not happy about everything that has happened, but that is why we suspended and held discussions. The majority rules, as I said. This is a democracy. I believe that in the end the country is best served this way.

As far as the general public is concerned, we are not going to please everybody. What we have said—and it has been said quite a bit—is that the impact upon those who are least able to afford it should be less. They are the ones who should get the benefit. I hope that is what will happen. That is what we set out to do, and I hope that is what will happen after this exercise.

One matter that I would like to draw reference to is my suggestion for an Economic Council. It seems that the Department of Finance has received calls from people making all sort of accusation. This is not the first time this has happened. People will try to stir things up and cause unnecessary strife. So that is not new to me. But I would like to get one matter straight. When I was referring to the need for an Economic Council—which I hold to—I said nothing about the Finance Department. I was simply referring to the budget process, and said that the time frame in which we do the budget does not lend itself to getting all of the necessary information which might lead to the deep analysis we require. I make no apologies about that. But to say that an aspersion was cast on the Finance Department is a bunch of nonsense. I hope that no one takes it otherwise.

I hold that an Economic Council at this time in this day and age would be good for this country. It would give us the chance we would not normally have in the budget process, to have discussion with the private sector groups. We did not raise any fees in the past four years of our administration. This has been a learning exercise as far as I am concerned.

The public definitely wants to have a say. I do not agree with what Mr. Miller and Mr. Benson Ebanks used to say, "The public can have its say, but the Government will have its way." That is not my style of governance. We must listen. We must avoid confrontation because it does the country no good. An Economic Council would prevent our getting into that kind of trouble.

We could get all kinds of ideas on certain things. For instance, we have been hearing about bonds. I do not know a lot about bonds, but if we had a chance we could learn. I don't know if anybody in Government knows anything about it. Maybe they do. Certainly, those kinds of ideas could flow from an Economic Council. Other revenue-raising ideas could come forth. I believe strongly in having an Economic Council, and I don't mind saying that I have already said to the Governor that it must be set up, and set up quickly. It must be as bipartisan as possible, as far as I am concerned. I will hold to that.

I have had enough say on these matters. To recap: I have no regret over stopping the debate on the measures the other day. I think that nothing but good has come out of it. I do not agree with everything that has been done, but I believe the Cayman Islands are more at rest today because of that action.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education Aviation and Planning.

(3.54 PM)

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I am very happy to also endorse the joint press release dealing with the agreement between the Council of Associations, the Government, and the National Team Members who participated, and to say (as the Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture has said) that it was a very clear demonstration of democracy in operation. We were prepared to sit down, and there was give-and-take on both sides.

As the release states, negotiations were carried out in a very orderly and constructive way, and both parties agreed that the agreement is both reasonable and in the best interest of the Cayman Islands.

I would like to thank you, Mr. Speaker, for your tolerance in giving us time during this period. I think it has been very fruitful. What the Government is now going forward with after the negotiations is what we believe is in the best interests of the people. The measures are still geared to avoid direct impact in areas where the ordinary citizen of Cayman would be affected. There are some specific areas that I would like to deal with that have been of specific benefit to young people and Caymanians generally.

The areas where new revenue measures have been introduced have to be looked at against what is gained. I will deal with the many projects in the Budget because I believe that the public has to see something in return for its money and it has to be money that is well spent and fully accounted for.

We have retained in the revenue package the removal of the 7.5% land transfer duty on Caymanian first, owner-occupied homes and condos up to a value of $125,000; and the removal of the 7.5% stamp duty on land for such homes up to a value of $25,000. There are no increases on mortgages and charges of land under $300,000. We have also retained the abolition of fees for boats under 18 feet, and this is bound to help fishermen and people who make a living from their boats.

[We retained] the removal of plumbing and electrical fees on houses under 1,500 square feet, and apartments under 600 square feet. There is an increased duty free allowance up to $350 for returning residents. So it has been increased $50 even though there is a $2 increase on the fee when a resident, or anyone, leaves the island by plane. That far more than off-sets that.

We have removed import duty on flavoured milk, including baby milk, yoghurt, ice-cream, cereal and cereal preparations, tea, tea concentrates. We have also added to this cocoa and chocolate beverages (I believe that is the way it was defined).

We have removed the import duty on vehicles used to transport physically challenged persons. For a long time, they had to bear the expense and burden of these duties, but I think it is humane and in the interest of the public that these vehicles have import duty removed. We have also removed bicycle tax and dog licence fees, which were very small fees. I understand that numbered dog licences will be retained.

There have been changes in the package as mentioned earlier. Some things have moved up (very few) over what was originally put out. Many of them have decreased. The new areas that have been added relate to cruise ship passengers—an extra $2 to the $2 recommended by the Council of Associations. While that will not really assist us very much this year, if at all, it will be a substantial fee that will come to Government in the future.

Government has stated that the many areas relating to schools and to the hospital—the very new, modern and efficient hospital—and to district clinics (because I think one's health is the most important earthly thing one can have), are ongoing. While the Loan Bill was going to be small this year (some $8.5 million), that will have to be increased somewhat (not very much, I hope) once the impact of the amendments that resulted from the negotiations have been taken into account.

In relation to the motor vehicles, no import duty has been increased. It is still 27.5% for cars under CI $20,000 c.i.f. (in other words, the landed cost). Only if they are over CI $20,000 landed, and between $20,000 and $25,000 there is an extra 2.5%. It is graduated as it goes up.

While on this, Mr. Speaker, I would like to dispel a rumour that is going around. The present motor car I have is 12 years old. I bought it second hand. I did purchase a vehicle many weeks ago. It came into the island about two weeks ago. But I gave a clear undertaking to His Excellency the Governor, the Honourable Financial Secretary, and my colleagues, that if the import duty which this House ultimately passes would have imposed a higher import duty on that car (and it is a 1995 second-hand car with 45,000 miles), then I will pay the increased import duty. I am not legally obligated to pay it, but I am too old to have fallen into a trap of that sort.

I gave an undertaking some time ago—before the car actually came to the island, and in the very early stages of this—that if my car would have attracted increased import duty, and if it came in after this Bill went through, that I would pay Government the increased value. I make that abundantly clear. I have no qualms with that, because while I legally do not have to pay it, I am very happy (morally) to pay Government any extra duty that would have accrued on it, had it come in, say, in another two or three weeks.

I believe that the public knows I have tried to deal with the public's funds the way in which I deal with my own. I am very careful with my spending. I only spend when it is absolutely necessary. I guess my driving the same car (which is a 1985) for the past 12 years is a good indication—really, if Government followed my example and bought some second-hand vehicles, it could probably have 30% to 40% more vehicles than by buying new ones. I have nothing against buying new vehicles, but I just point out that sometimes one has to do what is economically feasible, and with Government we have always tried to do this. I must say that in the past few years Government has purchased several vehicles second hand.

So, what has been added in the area of import duty is really for cars that, when landed, will exceed $20,000. That is a fairly expensive car. I do not believe that this is going to impact on the ordinary, normally income bracket Caymanian family.

The Bill will go into the Committee stage. I believe that when Members see the amendments to the Bill (of which a schedule representing what those amendments are will be circulated sometime soon, if it has not already been) they will see, for instance, in relation to garbage fees, that there is no increase for private houses and apartments. That remains at $50. But there has been a removal of any fee in relation to the removal of dead animals and also the removal of derelict cars because this will assist in cleaning up the island. Whereas, with a fee ranging from $25 to $60 for the removal of dead animals... many times they were just left there.

I believe a lot of thought went into this from both the Committee negotiating this with us, and ourselves. I should say, Mr. Speaker, that I would especially like to thank Mrs. Gailya Hall who did the majority of the speaking on behalf of the Association's members, of which there were about 25 or 30 in on the talks.

While there has been some increase on the Law School fees, there has been none since about 1986. There has been no increase—and never has been any increase put out by Government—in relation to Trade and Business Licences or work permit fees. That is another rumour (like the one about the car) put out by people who are mischievous. Work permit fees and Trade and Business Licences remain the same as they were. The increase that refers to work permits is under a category headed 'Grant of Permanent Residence', so everything that falls under that relates to permanent residence and the work permit fees the person has in that category. But there has been no increase in work permit fees. This is a payment for permanent residence. It is a $400 fee (for permanent residence for those with Caymanian connections) that is scaled upwards depending upon the category if the person does not have Caymanian connections.

The application for the grant or renewal, and the processing part of this, reflects slight increases, but the fees set out in this—which have, unfortunately, been mistaken for increase in work permit fees—relate to permanent residence only. There are three categories of permanent residence. I can see that if one read a line without reading the heading that it may have created that impression.

There has been very little change in relation to Item 1 of the schedule dealing with Motor Vehicles except to remove the category for vehicles with over 2400 cc engines.

I believe that the revenue package that is here now has come at a time when we are in the middle of an economic boom. This differs very considerably from the revenue packages brought in 1990 and 1991 which were brought when there was one of the most serious economic recessions in the islands. That had some very drastic increases put through—I should say without any negotiation or dialogue with the public. I am not going to dwell on it, only to say that in both 1990 and 1991 the increases ranged, for example on diesel, from 13% to 25 cents in 1990, which then doubled in 1991 to 50 cents. Increased revenue went on all liquor, all cigarettes, all beer—in both years. One after the other, tobacco products and gasoline went up. In fact, it doubled! We had this at a time when the country was in an economic recession.

On this point I would just like to add something that I will deal with in depth during my debate on the Throne Speech. In only two years in this country's history—1990 and 1992—this country actually had a deficit on its recurrent account. In other words, the recurrent revenue was not sufficient to pay for recurrent expenditure which is mainly salaries and repayment of debt, etcetera. Notwithstanding the economic recession and the bad condition of the country, the very heavy import duties and taxes added did not sufficiently clear the deficit that existed the year before and it created a deficit in that year as well. It was not a lot, but it is the only time that there was no contribution to the capital account of Government from the recurrent revenue of the country. This year we have some $23 million surplus on the recurrent account.

Just for the sake of clarity, quite a bit was said about what is deficit budgeting. In my view, deficit budgeting is when the difference between your recurrent revenue and your recurrent expenditure produces a deficit. In other words, what would be a true profit and loss produces a loss. We are far from that, and we are not in the position we were in 1990 and 1992.

Beyond that, I know that time has moved on. I would like to finish by merely mentioning, again, that I am very pleased to know that an agreement has been reached on this important matter of revenue measures. Once again, I wish to thank Members of this Honourable House and you, Mr. Speaker, for your patience. I believe that the time has been well spent and we are now going to move forward with revenue measures which are acceptable to the public as a whole.

I support this Bill. When it reaches the Committee stage there will be the amendments made. An amendment to that effect will be circulated in due course.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

(4.19 PM)

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I rise to make my contribution to the debate relating to the proposed revenue measures this afternoon. In my respectful opinion, we have once again seen the amalgamation of special interest groups, with popular opinion emanating therefrom, with a view to attempting to reform the public policy of the Government of the day. I am not against this unification, per se, as long as the people who elected us are not organised, and as long as they face the Government as separate, unrelated, individuals, the chance of successful opposition to specific Government policies is, to say the least, minimal.

Having made this observation, let me also hasten to say that the formation of intelligent popular opinion also requires a steady flow of reliable information from many independent sources—a free press and other mass media—being responsible to the public in order to create an environment for responsible Government.

I have had my ear to the ground, as it were, and there appears to be a lot of misinformation disseminated for various subjective reasons. As a representative of the people—and, more significantly, as a Caymanian—I would implore all and sundry to think twice before speaking or acting, as the Cayman Islands of today has reached a level in its development where we have much of the world as our audience. We have waited a long time and paid a dear price to be where we are today.

Government's world wide have to seek means of raising revenue in order to run their countries. This Government is no different. Being a freshman in this Honourable House, the last thing I wanted to be debating is revenue measures. Not only is this a controversial issue, but if not handled correctly it can be political suicide. I stand in a most precarious position in that my constituents on the islands of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman are still in the process of shaking off the economic quicksand which has beset them since the early 1980s.

Today I can truly relate to Queen Esther of old. By way of explanation, I will briefly refresh our memories. Her uncle, Mordecai, commanded her not to think that she would escape the treatment being meted out to her people merely because she was resident in the King's house. He proceeded to tell Queen Esther that if she held her peace at that particular time there would be no deliverance for the Jews from elsewhere, and that she would not escape. He further challenged her that she was specially placed in the King's palace for a time such as this. Consequently, Queen Esther made her choice unilaterally to represent and defend her people. She decided to mitigate on behalf of her people and to plead their cause—being fully cognisant that if she perished, they too perished.

I feel likewise today. Although I believe in the concept that if the people are desirous of having various services, they must also appreciate the fact that they must be paid for, let me make it abundantly clear that I do not subscribe to 'Robin Hood' economics, nor do I believe in manipulation of the poor or the ordinary working man or woman. With any revenue measures there must be a balance in order to ensure the economic and social stability.

Further, the Government as well as the people must be aware of circumstances of novus actus interveniens, which in my respectful opinion should alter the case. In May of last year, Executive Council took a very wise decision to commence the economic restoration of Cayman Brac, in particular. I believe that His Excellency, Mr. John Owen, hit the nail on the head when he recognised the neighbourhood principle and stated that the three islands making up the Cayman Islands are, indeed, a family. If a family member is hurting, it is only natural to immediately run to that member's assistance.

To further illustrate that point, Mr. Speaker, it is natural that if one sustains a cut, the immediate reaction is to try to stop the bleeding, not to make the wound bigger. I therefore submit that the same principle must apply to my constituents, and I urge the Government to concur.

We have already taken judicial notice that the Brac, in particular, is in need of economic and other assistance from its bigger and more prosperous big sister, Grand Cayman. The Honourable Third Official Member and his able staff have, in my opinion, been quite instrumental in endeavouring to steer the good economic ship Cayman Brac back to economic recovery.

Last year, excellent economic measures were introduced to the Brac with the implementation date being 1st July. As a result of these efforts, we on the Brac have at long last begun to see some degree of development. There has been an increase across the broad spectrum.

I believe that the distinguishing feature mentioned yesterday in respect of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman is the fact that we are indeed separated by some 90 miles of Caribbean sea, and do not have the option of jumping into a motor car and going to another district in order to reap the benefits here in Grand Cayman. I am therefore of the opinion that having these proposed revenue measures now applied to the Brac, in particular, would have a negative effect on our economy. It would certainly thwart Government's terrific economic incentives put in place some eight months ago.

On behalf of my constituents, I therefore beg that Government give careful consideration to my request. Should they wish to entertain an element of compromise, then might I suggest the Brac be exempt from these proposed revenue measures for a specified time? At the expiration of such a time, the economic situation can then be reviewed and a decision taken at that time.

The records show that although the import duty on building supplies on the Brac was waived in July last year, the aggregate annual intake of duties for Cayman Brac has not decreased, but has in fact (generally speaking) increased. The Caymanian Compass dated 24th May, 1996, included an article relating to duty fee reductions in the Budget in the Bahamas which occurred at about the same time the economic incentives were introduced for Cayman Brac. Permit me to read what transpired in that country:

"Bahamas Finance Minister, Bill Allen, announced major reductions in the import duty on construction material, electronic equipment and household appliances in a US $724.4 million Budget for their new fiscal year. Allen said that by reducing the duty on building materials they were bringing down the price of everything. Fifteen percent duty on cement and nails was eliminated; the duty on sheet rock, roofing tiles, was reduced from 30% to 15%; the duty on plywood was cut from 25% to 15%; and in an effort to encourage computer literacy, the Bahamian Government cut import duty across the board because it was expected to have a beneficial social and cultural impact. In addition, 24% duty on spectacles and contact lenses was also eliminated."

So, we will see that the request I am airing in this Honourable House today is not an innovative one, but has been tried in other Commonwealth Parliaments—and has, I daresay, been successful.

If these general proposed taxes are made applicable, to the Brac in particular, it is my respectful view that all that will happen as a consequence is that the Government's Social Services Department and the Ministry responsible will once again be called upon to subsidise the people of Cayman Brac. We are a proud people who, I further submit, would never want to structure the foundation of our economic recovery on future Government handouts. We would rather not receive a fish for the day, but would rather have the lesson on how to fish.

I trust that the brief but profound submissions I have tried to make on behalf of my constituents will fall on receptive ears. I feel confident that the same element of generosity, compassion and concern which the Government of the day showed in May of last year will once again become a reality, and that the Government will use this as a necessary catalyst in respect of my electoral district. Again, I stress that Cayman Brac be exempted from the proposed new revenue measures.

Before I take my seat, I add that I sincerely pray for the guidance of Almighty God as the Government makes room and gives due consideration for what, in my humble opinion, is a most reasonable request for my constituents.

The Speaker: We have now reached the hour of 4.30. I will entertain a motion for the adjournment.

The Honourable Minister for Education Aviation and Planning.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I believe that possibly all Members have spoken, and I am wondering if we could just complete this part of the debate and then on Monday— Oh, there is one Member left to speak? Two Members? I'm sorry. I will put the motion that we do now adjourn until Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

The Speaker: The question is that the House do now adjourn until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye... Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it. The House is accordingly adjourned.

AT 4.33 PM THE HOUSE STOOD ADJOURNED UNTIL 10.00 AM, MONDAY, 24TH MARCH, 1997.

MONDAY
24TH MARCH, 1997
10.19 AM

The Speaker: I will ask the Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport to say prayers.

PRAYERS

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that we may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of our high office.

All this we ask for Thy Great Name's sake.

Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

The Speaker: Please be seated. Proceedings are resumed.

READING OF MESSAGES AND ANNOUNCEMENTS BY THE SPEAKER

APOLOGIES

The Speaker: I have received apologies for absence from the Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture, and from the Second Elected Member for Bodden Town who will be arriving late this morning.

Questions to Honourable Members/Ministers. Question No. 33, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE
MEMBERS/MINISTERS

DEFERMENT OF QUESTION NO. 33
Standing Order 23(5)

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I am ready on the other two questions, I am not fully ready on this one, and I ask that the answer to Question No. 33 be deferred until Wednesday, 3rd April, 1997.

The Speaker: If there are no objections, we will go on to question No. 34, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 34

No. 34: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning when the Education Development Plan (1995-1999) will be tabled in the Legislative Assembly.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The Education Development Plan (1995 -1999) was tabled in the Legislative Assembly in March 1995 when the Member asking the question was a Member. I am astounded that the Member does not remember such an important matter that happened just two years ago and takes up the time of this Honourable House to ask a question to which he knows the answer.

Since the Education Development Plan has already been tabled, I do not have to table the Plan.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Will the Minister categorically state that what was tabled was the plan, or was it rather an extrapolation from the plan of strategies arrived at by those persons on the Strategic Planning Exercise?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: To the best of my knowledge, it was the plan. If the Honourable Member is asking about the 'Action Plans' that come under that, the answer is, no, they were not tabled with it.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: The Action Plans are exactly what I am enquiring about, as it seems to me that they are of significant importance.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Those contain several hundred pages of details. What has been acted upon is updated and altered as the action teams go into operation on them. I will consider what the Member has raised, but I am not too sure how practical it may be. For example, costing on those are updated and altered as they move on. The actual periods of implementation would be noted. I think 84 are now beginning implementation.

What I plan to do is to deal with tabling the results of that in due course. For example, when the national curriculum is completed, I will table it. But I think the results of the major ones could be tabled, depending upon the length of them.

The Speaker: Before I go to the next question, I would like to put the question on the deferment of Question No. 33. I shall put the question that under Standing Order 23(5) question No. 33 be deferred until a later sitting. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. QUESTION NO. 33 DEFERRED UNTIL A LATER SITTING.

The Speaker: Question No. 35, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 35

No. 35: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning to give an update on the 'A' level programme of study since it was transferred from the John Gray High School to the Community College of the Cayman Islands.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The first intake of 'A' level students at the Community College was in 1994. These students opted for the following subjects (the bracketed figures indicate the enrollment for the subject):

Accounting (4)	English (5)
Art (4)	Geography (7)
Biology (2)	History (10)
Chemistry (5)	Mathematics (13)
Computing (15)	Physics (10)
Economics (9)	Spanish (3)

Thirty-three students (including a part-time student) were enrolled in this programme. As we are aware, the level of achievement of these students, both in quality and quantity, exceeded that of any previous year in the history of 'A' level offerings in the Cayman Islands. Twenty of the full-time students were Caymanians. The breakdown on what they are currently doing is as follows: U.K. University, working (2); American University (12); Local Institutions (2); Working (4).

In 1995 there was a nil intake of 'A' level students because of the raising of the school leaving age by this Honourable House. In 1996 the college began to offer associate degrees and the board decided to offer the following subjects at 'A' level: Chemistry, Economics, Geography, History, Mathematics, Physics.

Four students, 3 full-time and 1 part-time, are currently enrolled in the 'A' level programme (3 Caymanians and 1 non-Caymanian).

Enrollment by subject are as follows: Chemistry (2), Economics (2), History (1), Mathematics (3).

Associate Degree Enrollment:

Major	Total	Full time	Part-time
Accounting (AA)	16	7	9
Accounting (AAS)	15		15
Business Administration	23	11	12
Computer Science	9	8	1
Hospitality Management	7	3	4
Literary Studies	2	1	1
Physical Science	10	9	1
Secretarial Studies	2		2
Totals:	84	39	45

In 1997 the college will again offer Chemistry, Economics, History, Geography, Mathematics and Physics 'A' levels.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Would the Honourable Minister explain the benefits of the associate degree programme as compared to the 'A' level programme?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The 'A' level, as the Honourable Member knows, is an external examination based on the United Kingdom education system. If the Member will look at my answer, at the top of the second page he will see that out of the 20 full-time students, 12 went to American universities, and only two to the United Kingdom. Those going to the United Kingdom need 'A' levels.,

Those going to the United States get an associate of arts degree. In those colleges where there has been an articulation agreement and accept the Community College exams, students get credit for those two years and would therefore be able to complete a bachelor's degree in a further two years.

So, the advantage of the associate degree is that the vast majority of our students go to American universities and they receive credit for the two years. That is not to say that if they did 'A' levels they would not also receive credits, but the associate of arts degree normally carries more subjects than the two or three 'A' levels taken at any one time.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Could the Honourable Minister go on to explain how many universities in the United States accept the associate's programme? Are the students limited to two or three of the universities?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Boddan: Presently there is an articulation agreement which means there is a definite acceptance of the associate of arts degree by the University of Tampa only. That does not mean that other universities will not accept some or all of the credits; as some universities accept 'A' levels, some do not. Talks continue with other colleges in the United Kingdom and the Caribbean. When there is a firm agreement, we know exactly what is and what is not accepted.

I should just point out that the associate degrees are at their very early stages. We chose to go with the University of Tampa because at the time it had the largest amount of students. There were 29 registered at the University of Tampa. So, I would say to you that that University takes the most and we do have an articulation agreement.

As time goes on, and it does take time because we look at all of the courses, and as other universities accept, then it becomes easier to get the articulation agreement with other universities and colleges both here and in the United Kingdom. In fact, we are well along with one in the United Kingdom and also with the University of the West Indies (UWI).

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Minister state if there were many enquiries by students who were more interested in doing the 'A' level programme who then reverted to the associate programme? Or, is it obvious from the students' demands that the associate programme is the preferred one?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Boddan: While I cannot honestly give a reply to that question because I do not know, all I can say (and I am not supposed to give opinions in here) is that it would appear that those students who opted for the associate degrees are probably going to US universities. Those students taking 'A' levels are probably going to the United Kingdom or UWI.

We are now well along in talks with the UWI.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Out of the total of 84 enrolled in the Associate Degree programme at present, can the Minister state how many of these are school leavers as compared to others who have taken up the programme but who are not directly just out of school?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Boddan: I cannot honestly give the Member that answer. I can get the information and send it to him.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Boddan Town.

Mr. Roy Boddan: Can the Honourable Minister say what the minimum number of students is for an 'A' level class in order to make it economically feasible?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Boddan: That is an opinion. All I can say is that for the last 20-odd years it has probably been four. The Community College, upon my request, has actually allowed 'A' levels even when there are only one, two or three in a class. We did this, as that Member knows, because there was a lot of political pressure over these four students not being able to take the 'A' levels.

If the question is whether or not it is economically feasible, I doubt if it is. In fact, I doubt if four per subject was. But it does assist these students and they are entitled to the opportunity. I am happy that both the Community College and my Ministry have bent over backwards to assist these students to get their 'A' levels.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Boddan Town.

Mr. Roy Boddan: Can the Minister say if the articulation agreement with the UWI will cover students wishing to enter the faculty of medicine, or will those students wishing to enter medicine still have to pursue studies in chemistry, physics and the natural sciences as well as mathematics at the advanced level?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I really cannot say what the outcome will be. It would be good if this could be covered. I think the Cayman Islands has shown that it can produce extremely high quality, well qualified lawyers through to full qualification. I believe that Cayman has the ability in its associate programmes to get a sufficiently high level to permit them to go on to study medicine. After all, it is probably only two years out of the first degree and then they do a second degree as you, Mr. Speaker, well know, having studied in that profession earlier.

What the results will be, I do not know. All I can say is that the universities jealously guard their right of entry. It has really only been in recent years that we have seen a movement such as this where there is some flexibility to accept subjects taken in other areas.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 36, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 36

No. 36: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works whether Government is considering erecting a facility for the fishermen in George Town who sell their fish on the iron shore in front of the Tower Building, similar to the one provided for the fishermen in West Bay.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: Upon an earlier request from the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning and Mrs. Murphy, this matter is being now checked into.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: As I would not have known about that request, I have raised the question on my own merit. Would the Honourable Minister be able to say at what stage the "checking into" is?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: As the Member is quite aware, property on the water front in George Town is not easily found. The present property mentioned happens to be privately owned. Government did, during 1981 or 1982, provide a similar facility that a subsequent Government actually changed and leased out to another company. Therefore, we are presently trying to see if we can work something in on the same property, but the matter is under consideration.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: For purposes of clarity, is the Minister saying that negotiations are now taking place with the owners of the property mentioned in the question as to the possibility of erecting this facility there?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: No, I did not say that. I said that the matter was under investigation.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Minister state if this is one of the steps being considered?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: I wonder if the Member would just repeat that question?

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Minister state if negotiating with the owners of the property mentioned in the question is one of the steps being considered?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: That will be a decision taken by Government.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Reading between the lines, am I to understand then that the Minister is saying that the first choice is for Government to identify either property already owned by Government or property which Government intends to purchase, before considering creating the facility on property which may be owned by private individuals who have allowed these people to operate for as long as we can remember?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: I can think of areas that I have walked over for 47 years. That does not give me the right to own it. The problem is, with the setbacks in Planning in regard to the piece of property that the Member is referring to, that I do not think we would be able to erect anything. It has been used for a long time, but it is still privately owned. This is the reason why Government needs to investigate the matter, and I will give him an answer in due course.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The Honourable Minister will understand that I was not suggesting that because they used it, it gives them the right of ownership. I was simply asking the Minister if Government might consider negotiating with the owner who might be quite willing to give permission for the structure to be erected.

In regard to the situation with Planning and setbacks, if my memory serves me right, I believe that the other facility (and I am not quite sure, but it is possible) may have been considered a temporary structure, for that may not have met the setbacks either.

The Speaker: Please state that as a question.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Speaker, it ended up not sounding like a question, and if the Minister does not care to continue that is fine; but I am sure he understood the question I was asking him.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Before I ask the question I would just like to state that it is not my intention to try to solicit from the Minister any type of answer he is not in a position to answer at this particular point, but it is important for us to bear in mind that Mrs. Berna Murphy is no longer a Member of the Legislative Assembly and that George Town has four elected Members that need to know what is going on in regards...

The Speaker: Would the Fourth Elected Member for George Town please turn that into a question? I cannot allow statements.

Dr. Frank McField: Yes, Mr. Speaker. I would like to ask the Honourable Minister if he could say whether or not his Ministry will be able to resolve this situation within a six month period or in a year?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: I think I should respond to the Member's statement. As Minister responsible, I have a right to state the facts as they are. Indeed, the answer I have given to this question is correct: I did have requests from Mrs. Berna Murphy when she was a Member and from the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning, who was also a Member at that time.

With regard to my Ministry completing this process in six months, the most I can say is that we will continue to investigate and see if it is possible to find a location. If a location is identified, I will then ask the Legislative Assembly to give me funds to purchase the property and along with that, funds to construct the building.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Is the Minister categorically stating that there is no chance of their trying to negotiate with the owner of the property where the fishermen presently sell their fish?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: No, Mr. Speaker, I did not say that. What I said was that I believed that under the Planning Law, which the Member should know because he served on the Board, the set backs are not sufficient to construct a building such as he is requesting.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 37, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 37

No. 37: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works if there are any immediate or future plans for proper street lights to be installed in the major sub-divisions in George Town.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: Presently, street lighting exists in all major, and most minor, sub-divisions on Grand Cayman.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The answer given states "Presently, street lighting exists in all major, and most minor, sub-divisions on Grand Cayman." I am assuming, from what I heard, that it includes George Town.

The question was if there are any immediate or future plans for proper street lights to be installed, namely, for there to be a sufficient quantity. The answer does not state that, so I am asking the Minister if he can answer that part of the question.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: All street lights that have been installed since I have placed the policy of street lighting in Grand Cayman, have been proper. They range from 100 watt, 175 watt to 400 watt. Here in George Town, I would think that they have received a greater portion of what has been installed thus far. My figures show 350 100 watt, 150 175 watt, 431 400 watt. It is a known fact from police statistics that this has actually curbed crime in this district.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: So that the Minister will have no misunderstanding, on behalf of the people of George Town I express gratitude for what has been done. My question simply is, What else can be done to fill the existing void, because there is an existing void in certain areas. I am simply asking that question to the Minister for Agriculture, no one else.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: Mr. Speaker, it seems as if the Member is saying that my lawyer who is sitting along side me should not advise me. Well, I would be a foolish client...

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I am saying that he must do that on his own time, Mr. Speaker, this is my time.

Hon. John B. McLean: Mr. Speaker, we have requests all over Grand Cayman for street lights. As that Member knows, he has actually placed requests with us that have been filled, but he must realise that we also have requests coming from every Member in here. I have a programme in place, and I am trying my best to fulfil it. If the Government wishes for me to do this overnight, just tell me how you want it done and I will try to make the arrangements. But we must remember that it is going to cost the country more. We are just trying to follow the programme.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I thank the Honourable Minister for his answer.

Again, so that he does not misunderstand my intentions, I appreciate the fact that the requests are coming from all over, and I am also part of that as I try to fulfil my responsibility as a representative. The question is based around reality. I understand that nothing will happen overnight. I am asking, after all of this exchange, if Government has the ability to do something about the void I am referring to over and above the requests that come in? In other words, the requests coming in are usually individual requests, but I am asking if Government is in a position to look at certain areas on a whole, rather than just fulfilling the individual requests that come in.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: I will again draw the Member's attention to his district. One of the reasons the programme has been disrupted is because I have had to move the crew to work on special areas here in George Town, such as the hospital and the water front where we had a lot of problems with crime a few months ago. It is our intention to follow the programme as closely as we can. But, should there be an urgent request, especially in a drug or crime related area, I would be most happy to recommend that CUC put the men there to install the lights in that area.

We need to realise that it is not the Government that is actually installing the lights. The requests are made to my office and then passed on to CUC which utilises some of their staff (not all of their staff, only a certain group installs the lights), and it is my understanding that it is done at a special time. That is as much as I can say to the Member at this time.

The Speaker: The Elected Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: I wonder if the Honourable Minister would say whether requests for these street lights are done on a first come, first served basis, or is it the Government's policy to look at these areas to see which ones need lighting as a matter of priority?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: I just made that point. If it is considered a priority, especially if it is related to crime or drugs, as I just said, they would be installed as a matter of priority.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 38, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

DEFERMENT OF QUESTION NO. 38 Standing Order 23(5)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Speaker, I note that the Honourable Member to whom the question is directed is not present today. I do not know if he has asked anyone to answer this question. Otherwise, I would suggest that the question be deferred until a later Sitting.

The Speaker: Under Standing Order 23(5), I will put the question that question No. 38 be deferred. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. QUESTION NO. 38 DEFERRED UNTIL A LATER SITTING.

The Speaker: Question No. 39 is standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 39

No. 39: Mr. Linford A. Pierson: asked the Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works what total amount of royalties/revenue have been received from Cable & Wireless (CI) Limited since the revised franchise came into effect, showing the annual payments made to Government and the formula used for calculating same.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

DEFERMENT OF QUESTION NO. 39
Standing Order 23(5)

Hon. John B. McLean: I have spoken to the Member and asked that this question be deferred until a later date in this Sitting.

The Speaker: Under Standing Order 23(5), I will put the question that question No. 39 be deferred. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. QUESTION NO. 39 DEFERRED UNTIL A LATER SITTING.

The Speaker: That concludes Question Time for this morning. Would Members prefer to take the morning break now, or proceed with Government Business? I am in your hands.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I move that we take the suspension so that we may proceed with Government Business uninterrupted until the luncheon break.

The Speaker: Thank you. Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 11.01 AM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 12.02 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated. Government Business, Bills, continuation of the Second Reading Debate on the Miscellaneous Provisions (Fees and Duties) (Temporary) Bill, 1997.

Before we continue the debate, I wish to call to the attention of Honourable Members that the House is debating the Bill as presented in type form. The Schedule (amendments) will be introduced at Committee Stage. I ask Honourable Members to keep the debate on the Bill as presented in the written form.

The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS
BILLS
SECOND READING

THE MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS (FEES AND DUTIES) (TEMPORARY) BILL, 1997

(Continuation of debate thereon)

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I rise to offer my contribution to a Bill for a Law to Increase Fees and Duties, which is presently before this Honourable House. This Bill touches on a number of areas in our economy—tourism and financial services, among others. Recalling what you said before I began to speak, I would just like to say that we have only two pillars of the economy for future and present generations to prosper from. I offer those as the tourism and financial industries.

We said on many occasions that whenever the public had a view, that we would undertake to listen. I believe that I am qualified to speak on raising additional revenue. I spent 21 years as a civil servant working in the financial industry, or as Financial Secretary (with Finance and Development now being the nomenclature of the Portfolio). I spent six years as the First Official Member of this Honourable House. I have been in some of the most influential positions of this country, so I need no further power to deal with revenue measures or any other item as we go forward.

On Sunday of last week, Members of the Hotel and Condo Association and the Restaurant Association called to say that they had some concern. Remembering that we told the public we would listen, I said let's meet at 8.30 on Monday morning. But I was not going to do it on my own because it affects the Honourable Financial Secretary. I asked him to be present, and he agreed. I am the Minister for Tourism, so I have every right to meet with anyone in the Tourism industry, I need no clearance for that at all.

We met on Monday morning and took their input. We agreed to meet again on Monday afternoon and took further input. The group had expanded to also include representation from the Merchant's Association and Watersports, among other organisations. I am also the Minister for Commerce, so I have every right to talk to any of them I may wish to talk to. I believe that with my background in dealing with revenue measures, budgets or anything else in this country, I have as good a knowledge as anyone past, present or maybe even future, about these matters.

The representation made was in three areas: liquor, annual fees for boats, and development impact fees. Those areas remained to the very end the principal areas of concern. Those meetings with private sector individuals were to hear their views and to allow them to register all of their concerns with the remit that we had no authority to say yes or no, but would have to return to the Government and make their representations known. That was the process followed, and in all of my experience that is the correct process.

In all of my years, I have never seen any Minister, Executive Council Member or anybody else given the authority to go out and ask questions about whether or not an import duty which the Government wanted to put on was acceptable. And there is good reason for that. If you do (and we are all human beings) the possibility is there for that individual to leak the information, and for somebody to take advantage of the situation. We know the ability is there for anyone in the Cayman Islands to charter a plane and bring in cargo before the import duty is put in place, thus causing a substantial amount of the proposed revenue intake to be lost.

I make all of those remarks to clearly put forward the process that should be followed when dealing with revenue measures and the Budget. No one has any authority, specifically on items appearing on the import duty Schedule, to go out and ask whether a 2%, 5% or 10% increase is palatable to an individual company, or a car distributor, or the chap selling the liquor, or anybody else. Let us not have any doubt about whether Thomas Jefferson met with anybody on the importation duties on liquor or not. The answer is no, I did not. The answer is that I had no permission to do so, and the answer is that I have never done so in my life. So, if you want me to do it, you have to specifically give me the authority to do so.

The items mentioned in this Bill have created much concern. I believe a couple of scenarios can be made when we are dealing with the amounts in the Bill, whether it is the homeowner, or whether it is the garbage fees. For a person who owns his home, does not have a car, does not smoke, the question is: What is the increase in this Budget directly to him or her? I see no increase in the garbage fee to that household. I do see a number of duty free items, or items that were previously dutiable now becoming duty free. We heard about them before—flavoured milk, yoghurt, ice-cream, cereals and cereal preparations, vehicles to transport the handicapped not for commercial use, cocoa and drinking chocolate, tea and tea concentrates.

So in the scenario I have just painted, there is no increase to that particular household. In fact, if those in the household eat some kind of shellfish, whether it is lobster or something similar, the duty is reduced from 15% to 10%. We realise that there are several homes in that category.

There are also homes in another scenario: Let's take that same scenario and add a car to it. Well, if we add a car, where is the increase (if you own a car and you own a home)? An additional $30 per annum for the vehicle registration. You take $30 and divide it by 12 months and you get $2.50. Personally, I do not think that is exorbitant. That car will also have to run on gasoline. When we originally put forward the cost of gasoline, we were increasing it by 25 cents. But, with representation from the lady Member for North Side, we agreed to reduce it to 15 cents.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Speaker, on a point of clarification.

POINT OF CLARIFICATION

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I just heard the Honourable Minister refer to two items in the Bill. One was to do with shellfish and crustaceans, which he just said had been reduced to 10%. The Schedule in this Bill says that the recommended rate is an increase from 15% to 20%.

He also mentioned the gasoline tax, which in the Schedule is recommended at 25 cents more. He is now saying that it is less than that. It was my understanding that you said that the House was discussing the Schedule set out in the Bill—not the second Schedule which has been given to us. My understanding is that this would be at Committee Stage.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town is correct, Honourable Minister. I would appreciate it if you would not go into too much detail. I understand that you are covering a wide spectrum in your debate and I will allow that, but try not to deal with too many of the increases as that is a Committee Stage amendment.

Please continue.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I agree with all that you have said, but I think it is important as we deal with this particular piece of legislation, that we have at least one or two scenarios to illustrate what passing this Bill will mean to the individual. What I was trying to do was to say that it was presented in a particular way, but, as a result of the representation that we listened to, this is the final position.

I am going to abide by your ruling and not go into great detail on every item. But if you will allow me, Mr. Speaker, gasoline is an item that at least one of us should say to the public as they listen to this debate what the present position is as regards this Bill coming before the House. I feel that if we do not do that we are going to end up with a very confused public as to what the increase is. That is the reason why I mentioned gasoline. Mr. Speaker, I beg you for a little more tolerance as I finish this item and move on.

I will not go over what I said about the lady Member for North Side, because that is factual. The present proposal which will come before the House in an amendment form will put the cost of gasoline with an increase of 15 cents rather than 25 cents. When we multiply this, assuming that the average car gas tank is 15 gallons, we are talking about an extra $3.00 each time you fill up the tank. Most people, except for the districts of East End or North Side, fill the gas tank once per week. If we look at it along those lines, this increase adds $156 a year to the individual who owns a home and a car.

You may ask: What is he getting for it? Well, he is getting improved roads—the Harquail bypass is going to be finished in 199, the Seven Mile Beach from the Governor's residence coming into town is going to be three lanes in about six month's time with the middle lane being a turning lane.

Members would like to talk about what is before the House? It also talks about raising the duty on liquor. If we put all of these changes which are presently before the House through, then the cost is going to go up. The little fellow on the street—whom we are all trying to protect—would pay a much higher price for his drink, be it vodka or whiskey or something of that sort, including wine. But the amendment coming forward will clarify that too.

When this Bill was presented to this Honourable House, it was seeking to raise $14 million in additional revenue. I quote this figure because some people on the street are talking about $50 million. That is absolutely not correct. The correct figure is $14 million. When you need to improve the quality of your hospital, you need money.

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Excuse me, Honourable Minister, will you give way to the Fourth Elected Member for George Town?

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Mr. Speaker, if he seeks clarification, I will sit down.

POINT OF CLARIFICATION

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Speaker, I thank the Honourable Minister for giving way. I am having a bit of a problem with the proceeding as I am not sure what it is we are really discussing. I am not sure if we are debating the Bill as originally presented, or a Bill that has been amended.

I would just like to know what we are actually discussing.

The Speaker: From the Chair I will say, as I said when we started, that the House is discussing the Bill in its original form. The Honourable Minister has established a few scenarios to explain what position the Government took on the situation. The Honourable Minister has given the House his assurance that he will not deal with that in any depth, and I have given him the latitude to make a couple of scenarios which he has about completed.

Does that satisfy you?

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Speaker, I am not completely satisfied since I believe that I, having debated the Bill already, am now being placed at a disadvantage, since my discussion related to the original Bill and not to the changes (amendments).

The Speaker: I understand what you are saying, and that is why I made the statement I did prior to starting the continuation of this debate. I understand your concern, but I also understand the executive position in which the Honourable Minister finds himself—it is his opportunity to explain not only as a representative for West Bay, but as a Minister of ExCo responsible for Tourism, Commerce and Transport. I have given him a certain amount of latitude which I feel is absolutely essential in order for the public to understand it. I do ask him not to go too much further. Thank you.

Please continue Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On page 9 the Bill talks about the increases to wines and dessert wines, and on page 10 it deals with spirits. It was that area I was referring to for the benefit of the Member who wanted clarification.

There are virtually very few items in here dealing with import duty. So the impact to the average Caymanian should be small from that point of view, provided he has his own car. If he does not, and he brings one in that is CI $20,000 or less, he pays no additional duty, it remains as it is at present. So, for the average person there is very little in the import duty section that would cause a substantial increase, which seems to be the concern of some of the Members of this Honourable House.

I believe that the Bill which is presently before the House... maybe I should put it a different way. I have a deep fear that if we speak only on the Bill which is presently before the House, we are going to end up with a confused public because they are not going to know what the final position is in this country.

I am going to abide by the ruling and thank you for your tolerance. I must say that the debate I had in mind is going to be shortened, but I give fair notice that when the Budget Address debate comes around, my debate will be, with your permission, wide and ranging.

Mr. Speaker, I am going to close my debate in the hopes that we will finish this particular aspect of the exercise and then determine where to go from here.

The Speaker: Thank you, Honourable Minister. Before I call on the next speaker, I would like to thank you for abiding by my ruling. I would once again like to say that I am simply trying to establish an even playing field, giving benefit to those who have spoken previously to the Bill as originally presented. As you have so rightly said, the debate on Throne Speech and Budget Address will follow and every Honourable Member will have ample opportunity to express his opinion and to quote figures as presented. This is in no way an attempt to deprive anyone of his right but to simply establish an even playing field.

Does any other Member wish to speak? The Third Elected Member for George Town.

CLOSURE OF DEBATE Standing Order 38

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: In accordance with Standing Order 38 I move that the Question on the debate be now put, mainly in view of what has been mentioned by the previous speaker. It seems a waste of time for any Member to get up and now debate this if they are not able to refer to the amendments that have been made—especially in view of the publicity that has been given to this, as it has been printed in our local news media.

I agree with the Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport, and I suggest that the question now be put on this debate and that we then discuss any further matters relating to the amendments in Committee Stage.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: That being a motion, Mr. Speaker, I second that.

The Speaker: Before I put the question, I do not feel that we should deprive the minority who have not spoken from doing so if they desire. Does any other Member wish to speak to the Bill in the type written form?

(Pause) There being no other speaker, I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES and NO.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED: CLAUSE 1 PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 2. Amendment of the Stamp Duty Law (1995 Revision).

The Chairman: We have notice of an amendment. Under Standing Order 52(2), I have given leave for amendments to this Bill to be moved without due notice. I call upon the Honourable Third Official Member to move the amendment to Clause 2.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: May I suggest that for expediency, and because of the extensive amount of amendments that will be made, and because the Schedule circulated to Members on Friday implemented all of the changes that are now set out in this notice of amendment being given now at Committee stage and clearly sets out what the amendments are, that we look at the Schedule in addition to the amendments so that it will be very clear to us what changes are being effected.

The way the amendments are now set out, although they are clear and would be to the lawyers, there are quite a few persons here who do not possess that type of legal acumen.

I wonder if Members would agree, since the Schedule implements the changes as set out in the amending motion, as such, we focus on the Schedule, so that when the various clauses are considered it could be taken that those clauses be accepted subject to the amendments as set out in the Schedule?

The Chairman: It appears to me, Honourable Member, that we are dealing with the Bill. I do not really understand how we are going to go clause by clause if we go to the Schedule. In any way we can expedite matters, I am perfectly willing to cooperate.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I will then read the narrative in the amending motion and then for clarity we can cross reference the Schedule.

Therefore, in accordance with the provisions of Standing Order 52(2) I, the Honourable Third Official Member, give notice to move the following amendments to the Bill for a Law to increase Miscellaneous Fees and Duties: "(i) That Clause 2(c)(i) be deleted and the following included: "(i) by repealing subparagraph (a) (not including the proviso) and substituting the following - "(a) being a legal or equitable mortgage or charge of immovable property or debenture - (i) where the sum secured is $300,000 or less - 1 per cent of the sum secured; or, (ii) where the sum secured is more than $300,000 - 1.5 per cent of the sum secured;..."

The Bill as it now stands stated where the sum secured is greater than $300,000 the rate of duty would have been 2%. That is being reduced to 1.5% with this amendment following, item 2: "(ii) That in Clause 2(c)(ii), the words '2 per cent' in subparagraph (aa) be deleted and the words '1.5 per cent' be substituted therefor." "(b) that the following be inserted after paragraph (ab) "(ac) being a debenture 1.5% of the sum secured."

The Chairman: The question is that clause 2 be amended as presented.

If there is no debate, I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Chairman, I wonder if we could just recommit that? I think there may have been... if I may just have a minute, please?

The Chairman: Certainly.

(pause)

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Chairman, the latter part of what the Honourable Member said in that clause relating to debentures, actually, the 2(c)(ii) only reads as follows: "That in clause 2(c)(ii) the words '2 per cent' in subparagraph (aa) be deleted and the words '1.5 per cent' be substituted therefore." What followed was that the debenture had been included in the definition of 'mortgage.' There has just been a bit of a misunderstanding there.

If I may just repeat that, the clause would say, "That in clause 2(c)(ii) the words '2 per cent' in subparagraph (aa) be deleted and the words '1.5 per cent' be substituted therefore."

The Chairman: Is there any debate?

The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: So, the recommended rate at present is 1.5% for debentures, mortgages up to $300,000 are still 1% and over $300,000 is 1.5%, and other mortgages are 1.5%? Is that the understanding?

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: That is correct, sir.

The Chairman: If there is no further debate, I shall put the question that clause 2 be amended. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

AMENDMENTS TO CLAUSE 2 PASSED.

The Chairman: The question is that clause 2, as amended do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

CLAUSE 2 AS AMENDED PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 3. Amendment of the Schedule to the Insurance Law (1995 Revision).

Clause 4. Amendment of the Companies Management Law (1995 Revision).

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Chairman, are we now putting clauses 3 and 4? Clause 5 has an amendment to it. Would it be simpler to take the clauses that do not have any amendments, and then go to the amended ones?

The Chairman: The question is that clauses 3 and 4 do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

CLAUSES 3 AND 4 PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 5. Amendment of the Customs Tariff Law (1996 Revision).

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I beg to move that Clause 5 be deleted and the following substituted "5.(1) The First Schedule of the Customs Tariff Law (1996 Revision) is amended by substituting the following code numbers and duties for the existing code numbers and duties -

(4) The Second Schedule of the Customs Tariff Law is amended in paragraph 5 (a) by repealing the word 50 "in subparagraph (1)(b)(iii) and substituting "25"; and (b) by repealing the words "three hundred dollars" and substituting "three hundred and fifty dollars".

(5) The Second Schedule of the Customs Tariff Law is amended by repealing paragraph 15 and 20."

It may be easier if we now turn to the original Schedule and then we can look at these amendments within the context of the items as set out in that Schedule. It will give clarity to the details as set out in the amendment motion that I am now reading from.

The Chairman: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Chairman, I just wish to make an observation, and I appreciate what the Third Official Member has just said. Like it or not, there are some of us here who have no idea of any discussions and we only see these things when they come across our desks. I am very confused at this point in time. I do not have a legal brain, but I can understand it if it is put to me in a way that I can understand. The way it is going now—believe me, I have no idea what is going on.

I do not know how this situation is going to be resolved where we can sensibly address it. I am not suggesting that it cannot be, but the way we are going back and forth now, I personally am confused and I see various items—because we are dealing with two different issues here—that have gone without any discussion and people like me did not even realise that is what we were talking about until after the fact. I am telling you how I see it from where I sit at this point in time.

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I believe that I may assist on this. If the Member would look at item 12 of the Schedule which came out on Friday, he can then relate back to the code numbers here and see what they relate to. For example, the first one is 3.02. That relates to shellfish... perhaps if you would tell me... it is hard to follow this without looking at what it is. Rather than bringing the full law before us, if we look at this Schedule we can see what this is.

The Chairman: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I understand what the Minister is saying. My point is that there are things which went forth before I understood how to pull each thing from the various documents. There was no change to that section from the original proposed change, it just went flying.

I am not asking to start over, I am asking that as we go from here on in, if there is anything to do with a change—because there have been so many changes—I want to understand it. So, I am asking that each item be referred to in a way in which we can understand.

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: If the Honourable Member looks at the Bill, and at the amendment, and then the present amendment to it he will see what it was before, and what it is now. I do not know if the House really is expecting every one of these to be looked at, because Members can look at them. If we go to the amending Bill, 3.02 was 20%. Here, 3.02 (which is shellfish) is 10%, a reduction of 10% from what was proposed. If you then wish to know what it was before, look at the Schedule and you will see that it was originally 15% on that item. So that item was originally 15%, it moved up to 20% and back down to 10%.

While it is detailed, it can be worked out on any item the Member wishes to raise.

The Chairman: I am in the hands of Honourable Members as to any suggestions.

The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I believe that the suggestion made earlier by the Honourable Third Official Member was a good one because it would have clarified this whole thing. What the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning has said has also clarified it.

If, in going down these clauses, we take just one at a time, and then refer to the item on the Schedule, it would be much easier to follow instead of taking two or three clauses at one time. For instance, in clause 3 there are a few points that I would like to raise, notwithstanding the position that has already been taken with the Council of Associations.

With your permission, I would like to make reference to those.

The Chairman: Are you referring to something which we have already taken a question on?

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: No. We have just read down the list of the items in clause 3 and we were going to 4. We did not have a chance to make any comments on the items in clause 3. The items in clause 3 have to do with import duties. I wish to make a comment on that with your permission.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Chairman, it appears that the Honourable Member is referring to clause 3 of the notice of Committee Stage Amendments which refers to clause 5 of the Bill. Is that correct?

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Yes. I am referring to paragraph 3 which refers to clause 5.

The Chairman: That is what had me confused. You said clause 3, and I knew we had taken the question.

You may go ahead and ask your question.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I would like to preface my comments by congratulating the Members for the reductions that have been made, but to say that on item 24.01 which has to do with cigarettes (and I say this very cautiously because I have friends who smoke!), I would prefer to see the $50 left on there per 1,000, and some more consideration given to the increase on motor cars since motor cars are really a necessity in these islands, not a luxury. Cigarettes cannot be put in the same category. I don't know if it is too late to do something to reduce the import duty on cars. I think the view is that people really do not have to buy cars over a certain price range, but that might be their choice. They should not be penalised for that.

I would like to suggest on item 87.02 dealing with cars over $20,000 and up to $30,000 that the recommended new rates be reduced by at least 2.5% on each category. Also, on item 27.01, which deals with the increase on gasoline, I notice that it has been increased by 10 cents, to 40 cents. If it is possible, I would like to see that further reduced to at least 35 cents.

The Chairman: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: I would like to express my support for the points raised by my colleague, the Third Elected Member for George Town. I think that it is reasonable and realistic to say that motor cars, particularly below the $20,000, are certainly a necessity in this country. Any consideration given to these owners, as well as any consideration given to a reduction in the tax on gasoline would be appreciated. I would be happy to see it placed on cigarettes, notwithstanding that I have friends who smoke. I think that is their choice and smoking is certainly not as great a necessity as owning a car and being able to afford gasoline.

I would run the risk of earning some ire from my friends by saying that I would rather put it on their cigarettes and take it off motor cars and gasoline.

The Chairman: If I may say, I would have thought that with the time that has elapsed, a written amendment would have been presented for these requests.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Excuse me, Mr. Chairman, I don't mean to be rude, but which elapsed time are we speaking about?

The Chairman: There have been days since these Schedules came out. I have had my Schedule for several days which said $50 for cigarettes.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: I, too, must join the First Elected Member for George Town because they are just now having this amended. They did not know when it was going to drop. Be that as it may, I cannot agree. I am a smoker, and it may be said because I smoke, but I support my habit if I want to continue to smoke, but it is the poorer people who are going to smoke whether we make that cigarette $15 or $2. But I have grave concerns over the gasoline.

All Members know that I spoke on the original tax package which came to this Parliament and I stand by what I said then. I supported that tax package, and I still support that tax package. I would feel much better if the 15 cents now put on gasoline would be totally removed to help the people, particularly from the lower and middle income bracket in the Eastern districts who, because of the actions taken, are now going to have to bear the brunt of this entire tax package.

I am listening to what is said, but I want to record that I cannot support this new tax package coming to Parliament. The first tax package should have gone through, and if it did not work, it should have come back to this Parliament to be amended.

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I would just like to remind the First Elected Member for George Town that this went through the House just after the lunch break on Friday. It has been with Honourable Members since just after lunch on Friday and through the weekend.

The Chairman: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: With due respect, when this package was voted upon... not that this is any fault of the House, I was not here as I had an appointment which took me outside of the precincts of Parliament. To the best of my recollection the First Elected Member for George Town also had an appointment. So he may not have been present either.

Be that as it may, the hour that we resumed on Friday afternoon would have hardly given us the time required to make these amendments and bring them back here. In any instance, what cannot be taken for granted is that we had no input on the conversations and the discussions that went on between the National Team Government and the Council of Associations. So any attempt to say that those of us who were not privy to those discussions had ample time falls far short of the mark.

The Chairman: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: In support of the views of the First Elected Member for George Town and the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town, I would have thought that every latitude would have been given to Members on the Backbench to enable them to deal with these matters at this time, in view of the fact that many of us sat by waiting on the Members of Executive Council to get this package together without a murmur. We were co-operating with them. So, to deprive us at this stage, or to disenfranchise us in any way because we did not follow a certain procedure would not seem to be in the best effort of full cooperation.

The Chairman: I would just like to say that if you are referring to me as Chairman, I am not trying to disenfranchise anyone. I would just like to get the procedure moving a little more orderly. That is simply all that I am saying. I certainly have no intention of trying to deprive anyone of any right which is given to them under the Constitution.

The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Chairman, since it seems to be just two items in issue, there is another procedure in which a vote can be split on different items. That is normally only on subsections in a Law, but it may well be that it could be extended to those two items. A vote can be taken on those two items in isolation to the others.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Chairman, it may be more than two items. The same procedure that the Minister for Education referred to may well be one that can be followed, but it may well be more than two items.

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: May I suggest that you get approval on item by item as you go down this list, starting with the 10% import duty? I think if we go in the direction of seeking approval item by item we may sort it out in that way.

The Chairman: That is fine with me. Does that meet the approval of the Committee? Honourable Member, would you do that?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: For Members' benefit, if everyone would now turn to item 13 on the Schedule, the original Schedule, and the corresponding Schedule handed out on Friday, that will show these items as amended, as item number 12. But we can start with item 13 on the original Schedule, and I will go down each item.

May I also suggest, and this reverts to the original suggestion I made, for the benefit of clarity, once we identify an area to be amended or caught up in the amending Motion, it would be useful for me to look at the original Schedule and identify the category of items in question. I can read through those, and they can be taken as not being a part of the record, once we go through and agree with the amendments, I can go to the section of the amending Motion and read through that for the benefit of complying with the procedures of the House.

The Chairman: Is that procedure satisfactory to the Committee?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Chairman, the very first item is Disinfectant/insecticides. That remains as is. The current rate is duty free, it is proposed that this be increased to 15%. This increase came into effect with Government Motion No. 4/97 which was passed on Friday.

The second item is under 42.01 Leather Goods, etc. Footwear and furniture. The Schedule in the current rate shows it as duty free. This amendment will allow for that to continue, although the Schedule as presented following the Bill showed it as increased to 10%.

Item 24.01, Manufactured tobacco and cigarettes, under the current rate section the amount shown is $30 per 1,000. What was in the recommended rate column was $50 per 1,000. That has now been changed to $35 per 1,000.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Chairman, I just wanted to know whether, as the Third Official Member goes down the list, we can stop him or will he go through the whole thing and then we can go back to a particular point. It would be better if we dealt with it as he comes to each item.

The Chairman: I would recommend that we deal with each item as we go along.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: My earlier recommendation was that we reconsider the reduction from $50 per 1,000 to $35, and that we could perhaps leave that at $50 per 1,000 because there was a suggestion that later on we might be able to consider the increase in gasoline, motor vehicle parts and accessories and also the motor vehicle cars.

So my recommendation is that we leave the $50 on the cigarettes and take it off the gasoline and/or the increase in motor cars.

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I believe that if we are going to do this the simplest thing would be to follow the numbers on the Bill. Is it that we intend to take a vote on each one of these as we go down? The Schedule is not necessarily in the same number order as the Bill.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Chairman, he is quite correct. Item 24.01, which is quite a way down from 3.02 which he started with.

The Chairman: Maybe we should take it by the Bill and take a vote on each item as we go along.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Chairman, may I suggest... I think this will also deal with the proposal by the Honourable Minister. Since the amending Motion in front of us takes into account all of the items as appearing in the Schedule, if we were to cover all of the items here, although they will be out of sequence, by the time we get to the end we will know that we have covered everything in the Schedule. It could be taken that we could vote on the various clauses within the amending Motion itself by recognising that we would have covered all of the items appearing under those clauses by the time we get through everything on the Schedule whether they are in order or not.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Chairman, if that is agreed on, I would like to go back to the item dealing with cigarettes, 24.01.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Chairman, if Members are in agreement with the proposal I have just made, we can proceed on that basis.

The Chairman: I was just wondering (and this may not be the proper solution), if we should not adjourn the Committee in the Chamber and go into the Committee room and iron out some of these difficulties and then try to come back to Committee if that is possible.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Chairman, it seems to me that what we are having a difficulty with is agreeing on the procedure to be followed. If we can agree on one set of procedures and recognise that all of the items appearing in the Schedule... for example, when we look at the amending Motion we will see that it runs in numerical sequence. It does not necessarily follow the order of the Schedule, but when we go according to this and recognise that all of the items that are on there, in terms of the changes being made, are being implemented through this amending Motion... if they are all embraced within the amendments I think we can move forward, knowing that when we get to the end and will have considered the very last item, we would have picked up everything being proposed within the amending Schedule.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Chairman, that is quite correct. Even though it is not in the same numerical sequence as the Committee stage amendments, at the end of the exercise under item 13 we will have picked up all of the items.

As the Minister for Education mentioned earlier, there are really only three items under this import duties that have so far been raised. There could be others, but so far there are only two or three, one having to do with the cigarettes, the other with gasoline. The third one deals with import duties on cars. There may be others that have escaped me.

The Chairman: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Let me just say that I understand what the Third Official Member is suggesting, and I concur. If we are going to get anywhere today, I suggest that we go that route.

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development, will you proceed then?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Chairman, we got up to item 24.01, manufactured tobacco and cigarettes. It was at this point when the Third Elected Member for George Town raised the question as to whether a further amendment can be considered.

The Chairman: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Many of my friends smoke, but cigarettes are a luxury and not a necessity. I would prefer to see the increase in taxes placed on cigarettes rather than on gasoline. This will especially affect people travelling from the eastern districts, like North Side and East End. I recommend that rather than reducing the duty on cigarettes, that we should consider gasoline and motor vehicle parts/accessories and also the increases on motor cars.

So my recommendation would be that we leave the $50 per 1,000 on cigarettes and consider a reduction on gasoline and the other two items I mentioned earlier.

The Chairman: Are you recommending that we now take a vote on your amendment?

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Yes, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I am also one of those Members who does not like to deal with taxes, but, unfortunately, in order for us to fund this budget it is necessary for us to raise some taxes. I think the National Team Government when they put these proposed increases together carefully weighed the impact it would have on the average resident of these islands. I am talking particularly about the increase in import duties on cars. That is why we put it at CI $20,000 for the duties to remain at 27.5%.

Our attitude was that the average Caymanian going to buy a car can find one that falls within the US $25,000, which is CI $20,000. Anyone who has the money or the desire to buy a much more expensive car, should be in a position to pay for the extra value of that car.

Nobody, including me, likes to think of increasing the increase on gasoline. We started at 50 cents and compromised down to 40 cents. I think we have to be very careful that we do not sit here all afternoon and play politics with these tax measures, and at the end of the day not understand that if we do not raise the revenue here, then we will have to get it from somewhere else.

I believe that the situation of compromise we have now arrived at was arrived at through consultation and as much as I dislike the use of cigarettes (and I do not smoke), I would not support an increase of the tax on cigarettes by off-setting it against reducing the duties that will be derived from motor cars. I believe that we have to recognise that we have a problem here with the amount of traffic congestion and we need new roads. My question is, How do we pay for these additional services that we need?

As I said, we can play politics with this all afternoon, but my attitude is that if we are not going to get the revenue we need from the tax measures, then we might as well forget the whole tax package in the first place. When the Financial Secretary starts squealing that there are no funds to pay salaries, or continue to fund the completion of the hospital and other projects we have in the pipe line now that our people have asked us for, then what do we do? It is not a nice situation, but we all recognise that the National Team has been as conscientious as any Government in regard to taking into consideration what we impose as far as taxes or other measures that add to the financial burden of our people. But at this stage we need to be very careful with regard to the additional reductions that we are suggesting.

The Chairman: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: I just want to make one clarification on a statement made by the last speaker. I wish to make it explicitly clear that I, the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town, was excluded from the discussions he mentioned were held, and I can think of some other Members of this Committee who were also excluded. I am sure that those Members will identify themselves, but I will risk identifying them: The First Elected Member for George Town, the Third Elected Member for George Town and the Fourth Elected Member for George Town, to the best of my knowledge, were excluded for the most part from these discussions, as were many of the people we claim to represent. I want to make it abundantly clear that I do not feel any compulsion to support this package.

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I would like to correct what the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town said when he mentioned that I was excluded from some of these discussions. I do not know how many discussions were held, but I was included in at least one of the significant ones. I must say truthfully, the reason that I feel I was included in that discussion is because I have shown that I am willing to cooperate to a certain extent with what is being tried here.

With regard to the understanding that we would like to switch the tax burden from one district to the next, or from one group of consumers to another group of consumers, that is just political expediency. Somehow, I think that regardless of what happens we will all be blamed for the fact that taxes are being increased and some people may have the position of saying that they had nothing to do with it. But Parliament is a collective exercise and regardless of what happens here we are all responsible.

I have a lot of friends who smoke, but I think that from my understanding, to switch the burden to cigarette smokers, we need to remember that smoking cigarettes is also a habit which people cannot just break from in one day. Sometimes it takes people years, and sometimes they are never successful. So the poor working guy who cannot afford a pack of cigarettes because they are too expensive could be placed in a very uncomfortable position.

The entire exercise is not to hurt anybody, but we all know that our citizens have an obligation to see that the country is funded in such a way that it runs properly. I do not think that too many people are out there complaining about the duties on vehicles. I think people are satisfied.

I must also say that I am of the opinion that the people of the Council of Associations were able to articulate their grievances, and perhaps they got a little bit better out of their situation than they might have if they had not been able to get together and do this. But this is the situation today. What we really need to do is pass these measures and finish this work and get on. I do not think that talking about whether cigarette smokers, or people who use petrol to smut up the roads and who is going to be better off at the end of the day is where it is really at.

The Chairman: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: On a scale of one to ten, the increase on motor cars was not really on the top. I would have thought that consideration would have been given by all Members to my comments on gasoline and also on motor vehicle parts and accessories because these are parts that have to be purchased primarily by the middle and lower income individuals who find that they have to make repairs to their cars even more than the upper income individuals.

What creates some bother in my mind is the constant reference to the National Team Budget. We are in this together and I do not believe that any Member of this House is playing politics with this. These items are of very sincere interest to each one of us. To suggest that this is a Budget by the National Team and that we must take it or leave it would make our position in this Honourable House somewhat redundant. I am also asking that there be much more tolerance, especially in view of the fact that there is a very small minority dealing with this. I think that our views should be taken for what they are.

Again I say that I feel some consideration should be given to a further reduction in gasoline and also to motor vehicle parts and accessories. I take the point made regarding motor cars. As I said, most lower income individuals should be able to purchase a motor car for up to $20,000 which would not be increased. But the increase in gasoline will definitely create a hardship on many of our people, as will the increase on motor vehicle parts and accessories.

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I doubt whether anybody can justifiably say that we have taken the approach of 'take it or leave it' for what the National Team Government has put forward. If that is the case, why did we meet with the Council of Associations and come to the agreements we have?

Members have every right to propose any amendment they so wish, but we have every right to agree or not.

The Chairman: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: After I get this off my chest, I will be very co-operative. I must get it off, or I'll pop!

Let me just say this so that it is clearly understood: I sit here as a representative of the people, just like each and every elected Member in this Honourable House. If I am not supposed to ask for any quarter or give any quarter, I am fine. It does not matter to me. The point I wish to make is when we talk about the revenue measures that are being put in place and the changes that are coming to us, it has to be understood that at no point in time before right now have some of us had any opportunity to say anything about any of this. So, for anyone to even dream that we should not, then there is something definitely wrong with the process. That is all I want to say.

Whatever we talk about with these individual measures, as the Minister for Tourism quite rightly said, they (whoever the majority are at this point in time) have the right to go with what they think is right. But, certainly, we have the right to air the views of what we see within these measures. This is the first opportunity that we are having to speak about it.

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: It seems that there are three Heads out of these that may need to be put separately. If that Motion is carried, or fails or whatever, then we will know whether an amendment would have been carried or failed. Since there are only three items in it—maybe cigarettes...

The Chairman: Would you quote the three items?

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Cigarettes, I understood, motorcars and gasoline, and parts and accessories, four.

The Chairman: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: May I just seek some assistance here? The section under boats, and I hear what the Honourable Minister is leading up to, but I would just like to get one question clarified. Prior to this (and I do not have the Law in front of me at this time), were boats under 18 feet duty free?

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Chairman, they were not.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: They were not? Well, if I may then—I told you I would be co-operative once I got this off my chest. If I may just seek some guidance from someone—there are a few businesses on the island selling boats as part of their retail business. It was brought to my attention this morning (and I feel compelled to air it to see if there is any way to resolve it) that there are some people who have boats in stock who have paid duty (is it 20%?) for the boats in stock presently. With this immediately going into effect, there will be competition having those same boats in a matter of weeks and will be able to sell them for much less than the ones on the lots now...

(interruptions from across the floor)

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: (addressing a Member) You are not understanding me. It's not one person who is selling.

Mr. Chairman, if the Third Elected Member for West Bay thinks that I do not have any sense, he can go home thinking that, but he will find out better sooner, or later.

The point I am trying to make is that there may be people who are able to compete with the same individuals who have these vessels on hand now who will be able to sell the same type of vessel in a short time at less than they are able to. All I am asking is if it is possible to have some period of duration or can it be investigated? We are not talking about a lot of boats, is it possible for a rebate for those in stock now? I am sure there is not a huge amount, but boats are not a $5 item.

That is all I am asking. If no one is prepared to give it consideration, I have at least aired it. Even though the Third Elected Member for West Bay thinks I am not making any sense, I think the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning understand exactly what I am trying to find out.

The Chairman: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I would just like to pass a few remarks in consideration of the First Elected Member for George Town. In all matters there will be someone who will be inconvenienced as a result of these, or any measures. It still goes back to the greatest good for the greatest number of people. There will be a few individuals and companies that will suffer. We cannot right it all. It will be impossible, and we will have to take our licks for not being able to create a perfect situation.

That is all I am saying in terms of the considerations we make; we must make them based upon the greatest good for the greatest number of people.

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Mr. Chairman, may I suggest that you put some of these items to the vote?

The Chairman: I think it is about time.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Chairman, I would just like to slightly amend what I said earlier by concentrating more on the gasoline, spare parts for cars, and there was one other item I mentioned.

The Chairman: Would you mind moving a Motion?

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I move that the amendment to Clause 5(1) be amended: (i) in item 24.01 by deleting "$35 per 1,000" and substituting $50 per 1,000; (ii) in item 27.01 by deleting "40 cents" and substituting "25 cent; and (iii) in item 87.11 by deleting "25%" and substituting "20%".

The Chairman: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: I second that.

The Chairman: The Motion has been moved and seconded. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

The Chairman: The result of the division is three Ayes, nine Noes, one abstention. The Noes have it.

AGREED: AMENDMENT TO AMEND CLAUSE 5(1) DEFEATED BY MAJORITY.

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Item number 9 is a new category whereby for those passengers departing by air there is a proposal to levy a charge of $2, and for those departing by cruise ship, $4.

That Clause 7 be deleted and the following substituted -

"7. (1) Every agent shall collect from -

(a) every traveller in every outward bound vessel; and

(b) every tourist on a cruise ship an environmental protection fee in the amount of $2.00 in relation to paragraph (a) and $4 in relation to paragraph (b) and shall account to government for all sums collected in the manner prescribed by the Financial Secretary."

Mr. Chairman, I would like to propose a further amendment which does not appear in the amending Schedule. It reads as follows:

"(4) The fee under subsection (1)(b) shall come into effect by order made by the Governor in Executive Council."

The Chairman: The amendment to clause 7 is open for debate.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Chairman, I should have continued further on in the Schedule in the amending motion before putting that amendment.

"(2) For the purposes of this section "agent" has the meaning given in subsection (3).

“(3) Every person having a full or part proprietary interest in a vessel shall appoint an agent in respect of every outward bound vessel in which he has an interest.

CLAUSE 7 AS TWICE AMENDED PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 8. Development impact fee (1995 Revision).
Clause 9. Building permit fee.

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The amending Motion seeks to have clauses 8 and 9 deleted. Clause 8 refers to the Building Development Impact Fee and clause 9 the Building Permit Fee.

As Members were informed on Friday, the Development Impact Fee has been rescinded. Discussions are underway at this time on the Building Permit Fee.

The Chairman: The Motion to delete clauses 8 and 9 has been duly moved. Does anyone wish to speak to the Motion? If not, I shall put the question that clauses 8 and 9 be deleted. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

AGREED: AMENDMENT TO DELETE CLAUSES 8 AND 9 PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 10. Immigration and passport fees.
Clause 11. Abolition of bicycle tax- repeal of section 20 of the Traffic Law 1991.
Clause 12. Repeal of section 5 of the Tax Collection Law (1995 Revision).
Clause 13. Application of sections 14 to 23.

The Chairman: The question is that clauses 10 through 13 do stand part of the Bill.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Chairman, I just have a question under clause 10 of the Bill, in subsection (c) where there is an application for the grant of permanent residence and there are three different categories: For persons with a right to work without Caymanian Connections, unskilled $400, skilled $1,500, and professional $5,000. My understanding of how the Law is at present is that regardless of a person Acquiring permanent residence with the right to work that does not change the fact that every year that individual still pays whatever the subscribed fee is for his/her work permit. So, I am wondering if this penalty is not a bit onerous, due to the fact that it does not give the individuals any other right except for a security of tenure. Paying for permanent residence with the right to work in whatever category does not change if that person is here for 40 years - the work permit fee must be paid.

I am just wondering about that. Perhaps someone can share a comment.

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The amount that is paid is for the permanent residence. The Member is quite right in that they go on paying the work permit fee each year. They do get permanent residence and that gives security of tenure.

The Chairman: Does any other Member wish to speak?
The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Are we then to understand that if a person in such a category is working for an organisation that the onus is upon that organisation to pay this fee, or does it fall upon the individual? In the case of someone recruited on a work permit, that individual is not supposed to pay the work permit, but that work permit is to be paid by the organisation or company for which that person is working. Is that the same expectation for a person working for a company, or does the onus now fall on the individual?

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I really do not know the answer for that. There is a library here, perhaps we can check on that. We do not change anything in that regard that existed before. What I do know is that work permit fees have to be paid by employers.

The Chairman: Does any other Member wish to speak?

CLAUSES 10, 11, 12 AND 13 PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 14. Amendment of the Port Regulations (1995 Revision) local vessel licence fee.

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: If Members would turn to item 6 of the Schedule, as it presently stands it reads, "Members of the Cayman Islands National Watersports Association, $25...", that is now being deleted through the amendments. Therefore, the remaining items in that category should read:

Vessel	Fee
Local boats under 18 feet	Free
Jet-ski boat
used for private purposes	$100
used for commercial purposes	$300
Local boats over 18 feet and ships
between 18 and 30 feet	$150
between 31 and 50 feet	$500

over 50 feet $1,000

I will now read the narrative as set out: "That in Clause 14, regulation 142(2) be deleted and the following substituted -

(2) Each of the following fees listed under the heading "Fee" shall be payable in respect of the vessel listed immediately opposite under the heading "Vessel" -

Vessel	Fee
Local boats under 18 feet	Free
Jet-ski boat
used for private purposes	$100

CLAUSE 14 AS AMENDED PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 15. Amendment of the Registered Land Rules (1996 Revision).

The Chairman: There is an amendment to clause 15. The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I should point out that whenever I refer to the Schedule, I am talking about the original Schedule that was circulated. Members may want to line up the original Schedule with the new one which was circulated on Friday. The item under consideration is item 8, Land Registry Fees.

The changes are as follows: Inspection of Register, currently $2.00. There was a recommendation to increase this to $10.00. That has now been changed to $5.00.

Uncertified copy of registry map, currently $2.00, recommended increase $15.00. That has now been reduced to $5.00.

Certified copy of registry map, currently $4.00, recommended increase was $25.00. That has now been reduced to $10.00

Certified copy of registered instrument, currently $5.00, recommended to be increased to $30.00 has been reduced to $10.00. All the other increases remain.

I will now read the narrative: "That Clause 15 be amended as follows -

(a) in paragraph 7, "$10" be deleted and "$5" substituted;

(b) paragraph 9(a), "$25" be deleted and "$10" substituted and in paragraph 9(b), "$15" be deleted and "$5" substituted.

(c) in paragraph 10, "$30" be deleted and "$10" substituted."

The Chairman: Does anyone wish to speak to this amendment?

The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: I would just like to record that with the Land Registry Department going into full computerisation, I find these increases alarming. I have to record the observation that any increase from $10.00 to $50.00 is a significant increase and bound to affect the average person particularly. I can see no compelling reason why this increase should be so significant and I find it somewhat puzzling in light of the automation. I welcome some kind of explanation.

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: These fees have remained unchanged for several years. As the Member pointed out, these changes will have some impact upon the community, but I should point out that these increases were discussed fully with the Council of Association members representing the real estate industry. They agreed that the proposed increases by the Government were reasonable. So, on that basis, I think the fees we now have in front of us ably reflect the value of the administrative services that are being provided.

The Chairman: Does any other Member wish to speak?

The question is the amendment to clause 15. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

CLAUSE 15 AS AMENDED PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 16. Amendment of the Firearms Regulations (1995 Revision).

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: If Members would refer to item 16 in the Schedule, the changes are as follows: Shotgun for farmers only, original recommendation $50.00 reduced to $15.00. For all other users, $500.00 reduced to $100.00. Rifles, for farmers only, original recommendation of $50.00 is reduced to $15.00. For all other users, $500.00 is reduced to $100.00.

Handguns, each user, $1,000 reduced to $100. Air gun, air rifle and air pistol, $150, reduced to $100. Import permit, $2,000, reduced to $500.00. Export, Transfer and Disposal permits remain as set out in the original Schedule.

I will now read the amendment to clause 16: "That Clause 16 be deleted and the following substituted -
"Second Schedule (Reg.3) FEES

The fees payable for licences and permits pursuant to section 35(1) are as follows -

A - Licences

- (a) Shotgun (per gun)
 - (i) Farmers $15 per year
 - (ii) All other users $100 per year
 - (b) Rifle (per gun)
 - (i) Farmers $15 per year
 - (ii) All other users $100 per year
 - (c) Hand gun (per gun) $100 per year
 - (d) Air-gun, air rifle and air pistol $100 per year
- B - Permits
- (a) Import Permit (not including farmers) $500
 - (b) Export Permit $10
 - (c) Transfer Permit $100
 - (d) Disposal Permit Nil."

That is the extent of the amendment.

The Chairman: The question is that clause 16 be amended. Does anyone wish to speak?
The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Is the import permit fee going to be left at $5 for farmers?

Hon. Truman M. Boddan: Mr. Chairman, there is no import fee. It has actually been excluded from this.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: How do we define 'farmer'? Does it include everyone who plants something in his backyard?

Hon. Truman M. Boddan: I think it would be a question of fact. I would assume that it is a person who carries on farming as a material part of their lives.

The Chairman: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: For purposes of clarity on what the lady Member asked, the Minister for Education just said that there is no import duty fee for farmers, that it has been deleted. As the Law reads now, before these changes, there is a $5.00 import duty fee.

Hon. Truman M. Boddan: What happened when we amended this, the $5 slipped through. I am being honest with you.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I appreciate what you are saying, but your answer said that there is no fee. If there is nothing in relation to the changes here, the Law will stay as it is, and there will be a $5.00 fee.

Hon. Truman M. Boddan: No, Mr. Chairman, because we abolished that whole section.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The entire section is out the window?

My other question may sound stupid, but someone asked of me, and I could not truthfully give the answer. There are some people who reside on our island, who go abroad to shoot in skeet competitions and various other competitions in which they use their handguns or whatever. In other words, competitive shooting. Do they need an import licence/permit (which now stands at $500) to bring the guns back into the country?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I believe the mechanism for dealing with this areas as outlined by the First Elected Member for George Town would be the Customs Law.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The regular way of the form and then they come back?
Fine, I just wanted to make sure.

The Chairman: Does any other Member wish to speak?

CLAUSE 16 AS AMENDED PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 17. Amendment of the Public Health (Garbage and Refuse Disposal) Regulations (1995 Revision).

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Because the amendments are so extensive, I would like to refer Members to the new Schedule, item 10.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I am really wondering if it is necessary to read all of the amendments in that, or whether Members would just look at it.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Am I to understand that item 10 in the new Schedule which begins with "Three days per week" is the one the Honourable Member is referring to?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Item 10 in the new Schedule, the one handed out on Friday. We are discussing garbage fees, item 10. The very first item on that is "private houses and apartments."

I think the Member has gone on to the second page of that Schedule. If he would turn to...

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: All right.

The Chairman: Would Members agree that we just say "as listed in the Schedule", rather than reading out each item?

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Yes, sir, but I have just one question.

The Chairman: Are you finished, Honourable Third Official Member?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Just to point out for Members' benefit that the changes so far reflect an increase of 20% in all categories with the exception of private houses and apartments which remain as they previously were; and also the removal of animal carcasses is now free.

The Chairman: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I am exposing myself again, but I run that risk regardless. In the Schedule there is a referral to private houses and apartments. Then, on the very next line it says "condos." Can someone explain to me exactly where the line is drawn?

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Chairman, I have been trying to figure out the answer to that question, and have not done so as yet. I will ask the Second Official Member to assist me.

Hon. Richard H. Coles: For what it is worth (and I'm not sure it's worth a great deal) I will tell you that generally, condominiums are developments that are subject to a registered strata plan, apartments are not.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Are we then saying that apartments that are referred to here are rental units? Because if we are not saying that and these apartments have been sold, they must be strata. My understanding of what you are saying is rental units, not individual owned units.

Hon. Richard H. Coles: Mr. Chairman, if that is a fact, then so be it. All I am stating is what I said before, that condominiums are generally regarded as being subject to a registered strata plan, apartments are not. If that therefore means that they are rented, so be it.

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: These categories have not changed. As has been done in the past, the Public Health Department will continue to do in the future.

As I understood it, the practice was that people who were renting (and I guess also owning) in the more apartment-type of condominium were also covered. I think beyond that we will have to go back to the Public Health Department and get something more specific. But let's put it this way: If you are on Seven Mile Beach in a condominium you will more likely pay the $180. If you are renting an apartment on Crewe Road, you will pay $50.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I take the point. I understand what both Members have said. I asked the question because it has come to my attention (and some of us learn faster than others, if I am a slow learner, so be it) that the way this reads it retains ambiguity. There are many individuals who can be affected one way or the other, and it is my belief that somewhere down the line someone in a responsible position needs to make a definition. While it does not change what is here now, I am simply making a point and asking that it not be left this way. At some point in time someone is going to feel that they have been penalised when they should not have been.

What the Honourable Minister for Education just said differs in its concept from what was said by the Honourable Second Official Member. I am simply saying that someone should seek a definition and let it be clarified.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I did point out that I was stating what I understood to be the practice as against.... I am not derogating from what the Honourable Attorney General has said.

I believe there can be an undertaking to get clarification in this area, but I doubt that we will settle it in this Honourable Chamber now.

The Chairman: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I normally do not agree with the First Elected Member for George Town, but this time I do. I think there is room for a clarification in the definition between a condo and an apartment.

The Chairman: The question is that the amendment to clause 17 be made. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.
AMENDMENT TO CLAUSE 17 PASSED.

The Chairman: The question is that clause 17, as amended, do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

CLAUSE 17 AS AMENDED PASSED.

MOMENT OF INTERRUPTION - 4.30 PM
Standing Order 10(2)

The Chairman: It is now 4.30. Would Members wish to conclude the Committee and adjourn?

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Since we are so near, if it is the wish of the House, I would move that we continue until this Bill is concluded and reported on. You may also wish to take a short break in between.

The Chairman: I would be inclined to go on. How do Members feel about that?

All in favour of continuing in Committee until we finish, please say Aye.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

AGREED: THAT THE COMMITTEE CONTINUE.

Clerk: Clause 18. Amendment of the Legal Practitioners (Students) Regulations, 1991.

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: There is no amendment to that clause.

The Chairman: The question is that clause 18 do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

CLAUSE 18 PASSED.

Clerk:

Clause 19 Amendment of the Mutual Funds Regulations 1993.

Clause 20 Amendment of the Banks and Trust Companies (Licence Applications and Fees) Regulations (1997 Revision).

Clause 21 Amendment of the Companies Management (Application for Exemption) Regulations 1991.

Clause 22 New fees for police records, etc.

The Chairman: The question is that clauses 19 through 22 do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

CLAUSES 19 THROUGH 22 PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 23. Abolition of dog licence fee.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: With the abolition of the dog licensing requirement, what are pet owners now required to do?

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Owners are now required to register their animals, but there is no annual licensing fee.

The Chairman: Does any other Member wish to speak to that?

Mr. Roy Bodden: Just a point of clarification. That means that the same procedure will obtain, namely, going to the Agricultural Department and specifying what type of pet you have, but instead of paying and receiving a tag you will not have to pay any money?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: You will pay for the initial registration of the animal. I understand that the tag will be good for the life of the animal. However, if that tag is lost, the owner will be required to purchase a new one in order for there to be evidence of the animal's registration. But one will not have to licence the dog annually.

The Chairman: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: That means that owners who have been diligent to licence their animals prior to this will not have to do so again?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The Member is correct. Once there is evidence of the animal being registered, the licence tag will serve as evidence of the registration.

The Chairman: The question is that clause 23 do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

CLAUSE 23 PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 24. New motor vehicle tax.

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Chairman, I should have pointed out that there was a Committee stage amendment to that clause we just voted on, clause 23. That in clause 23 the word "fee" be inserted after the word "licence".

The Chairman: I thought we considered that as just a typographical error, and the Honourable Second Official Member could change that.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: That is more expedient. Thank you.

The Chairman: The question is that clause 24 do stand part of the Bill.

The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: If Members would turn to the first item in the original Schedule, it sets out the changes that have been made. The changes that are specifically set out in the amending motion, are as follows: Under Rental Car where it showed the rate of $180, with the new rate of $250 proposed. Immediately below that there was another category "exceeding 400 cc", and there was a proposal to increase that to $500. That has been rescinded.

Under motorcycles, mopeds and motorcycles up to 125 ccs, increased from $25 to $100. Motorcycles over 125 ccs, previously $25, that was recommended that it be increased to $300. The amending motion will now reduce that to $200.

Under taxis, there is a new category which reads: "Exceeding 2400 ccs", that would have been increased to $250, that has now been rescinded.

Under buses, the third item on the Schedule, buses over 40 passengers. The current charge is $260, the proposed increase was to take that up to $1,000. That has now been reduced to $750.

Trucks, the three new categories are being deleted. These are trucks 11-15 tons, proposed annual licensing fee of $500; trucks 16-20 tons, proposed annual licensing fee of $650; trucks over 20 tons, proposed licensing fee $1,000.

My apology, Mr. Chairman, these categories are not being rescinded, but it is now being proposed that 11-15 tons should be $450; 16-20 tons, should be $550; and trucks over 20 tons $750.

Coming down to "other vehicles", where it has "special vehicles." Currently, the annual licensing fee of $240 is increased to $500. This has now been reduced to $350.

Those are the changes, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: The amendment to clause 24 is now open to debate.

The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Does the ban on the importation of Hummers remain?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Yes, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: You did say that there is a ban on the importation of those?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Yes.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: So why do we have the fee?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: For existing ones that are presently on the island.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: All right. My question is, again, something that was brought to my attention and I feel compelled to mention it. Under motorcycles it says, mopeds and motorcycles up to 125 ccs. The current rate is $25 and the proposed rate jumps by 300% to $100. I think it is fair to say that there are very few of these motorcycles used privately. I think there may be one or two business establishments that rent these types of motorcycles presently. I think there are two places. It seems to me that the number of these types of motorcycles is under 100, including what is privately owned and what is used commercially. The actual amount of money to be derived by Government for this increase is probably not a large amount of money, and if we go on the premise that I am correct in saying that there are only about 100, then, all tolled, out of a $14 million expectation we are looking at $10,000. Is that correct?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Chairman, can I ask the Member to repeat that?

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The original fee for these types of motorcycles was $25 and is now $100. If there are only 100 of these vehicles, Government will only derive a maximum of $10,000 (which is 100 x 100). Comparing that with the entire package...

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The Member is correct.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: That is a very small amount of money. My point is that if there is only one establishment affected by this, and the amount of money is not a noticeable amount (and I am not suggesting that there be no increase), I am wondering if it is possible that the powers that be could be mindful that it is affecting one establishment.

While I understand the larger cause, and the greater good and all of that, if we were talking about a business of competition and it were a rental car business where we have 15 or 20 different operations, then it would be a different matter. So, I am asking if Government would consider making that increase a bit less than what is proposed. I am not the best when it comes to procedure, but I ask this very seriously. If it is a situation where it needs to become a Motion, then I will so move.

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The Government in giving consideration to this item did not make the primary focus the increased revenue achieved by this enhancement. This is to discourage establishments from bringing in very powerful motorcycles and renting them to tourists who often times do not have the experience to handle those bikes.

As the Member is aware, quite a number of tourists are can be found at the Hospital who have been injured while riding even the smaller bikes. The Government cannot be sure at this time whether the procedures in place by these rental establishments are adequate enough to determine the capability of someone being able to manage one of these bikes properly.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I take your point, but I am saying that mopeds are one step above a bicycle. I am not questioning the larger cc's and the position of renting out those types of motorbikes which may lead to injury because people are unable to handle them. I am asking specifically about the mopeds.

While I take the point the Honourable Member is making, I am asking that mopeds be made the exception. I am with you all the way, but I do not think that mopeds have that kind of power.

The Chairman: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I think that I understand the reason the First Elected Member for George Town is giving and I think that some consideration could be given here.

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: What I suggest is that the amending motion by the Member be put to the vote. If it is carried, then the reduction could be put in place. If not, it will remain as set out in the Schedule.

The Chairman: The First Elected Member for George Town, would you move your motion?

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I therefore move a motion that the Schedule be changed under the section dealing with vehicles where mopeds, especially, be changed from $25 to $100 to read from $25 to $50. So there will be an increase if the motion carries, but it will be to $50 and not $100.

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Chairman, I second that motion.

The Chairman: The motion has been duly moved and seconded and is open for debate.

If there is no debate, I shall put the question that the motion as read by The First Elected Member for George Town be passed. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

CLAUSE 24 AMENDED TWICE.

The Chairman: The question is that clause 24, as amended, do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

AGREED: CLAUSE 24, AS AMENDED, PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 25. New driver licence fees, etc.

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: If Members would refer to item 3 of their original Schedule. It is the visitor's permit which is presently at $4.00. There was a proposal to increase this to $8.00, and is now reduced to $6.00.

I will read the narrative: "That the fee for visitor's permit be changed from "$8" to "$6" and the fee for an additional group 4 be changed from "$20" to "$25".

The Chairman: The question is that clause 125 be amended. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

AMENDMENT TO CLAUSE 25 PASSED.

The Chairman: The question is that clause 25, as amended, do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

CLAUSE 25 AS AMENDED PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 26 New fees- motor vehicle licence plates.
Clause 27 Miscellaneous fees- vehicles.

The Chairman: The question is that clauses 26 and 27 do stand part of the Bill.

The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Does the Third Official Member have anything to say before we take the vote?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Clause 26 deals with the new fee for the motor vehicle licence plates. And Clause 27 for the Miscellaneous fees vehicles. So far there are no changes from the original Schedule.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: When we are talking about motor vehicle licence plates, are the plates for the mopeds considered motor vehicle licence plates or do we have a different fee Schedule?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: They would be considered licence plates.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The reason why I asked the question is because of the situation we talked about with the mopeds. My understanding is that the licence plates for the mopeds... someone is saying that is not the case.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I don't think the example is quite the same because the mopeds he presently has, probably already have licence plates on them. So he would only have to buy licence plates in respect of new ones that he brings into the island and registers.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Chairman, I understand what the Minister for Tourism is saying, but my point is that those licence plates fade. The point I wish to make is that no exception is going to be made for these and they are out in the sun all the time. So if every two years or so they have to be changed, then I guess I can't fight every battle, but if we went a certain distance with the one issue, are we going to not make it what it should be by pinning those same types of motorbikes with a $50 fee also?

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I would advise the Member to put any proposal for a reduction to a vote. Although the Member has pointed out that these plates, especially on the mopeds, have to be replaced with a given frequency, these are not annual fees. The purchase of licence plates is normally done on a one-off basis. I can understand, as the Member has pointed out, in the event they are lost or however they are disposed of in a given frequency, that it could be quite costly, especially for establishments that are engaging in the rental of motorcycles.

I cannot really add anything more to what I have said.

The Chairman: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I have heard what The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development has said, but I am compelled, given the position I have taken (which I happen to think is the right position) to ask by way of a motion that the motorcycles known as 'mopeds' be exempted from the increase in the cost of the licence plates, whether they be new or replacements. That is the motion I wish to move.

The Chairman: Before moving that motion, I wish to put the question that clause 26 do stand part of the Bill.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: No. If you do that now, I can't move my motion.

The Chairman: Please move your motion.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I would like to move the motion and ask that mopeds be exempt from the increase in cost of licence plates being proposed. I am asking that it remain as it is for mopeds.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I second that.

The Chairman: The question is that clause 26 be amended as stated in the motion moved by the First Elected Member for George Town.

I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES and NOES.

The Chairman: Please take a division.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

CLAUSE 28, AS AMENDED, PASSED.

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development has something further?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I would like to move the following amendment, that the following new clause be inserted after Clause 28 (to be renumbered) - " 29. The Governor in Council may from time to time waive or reduce any or all the duties and fees specified in this Bill in relation to any person or group of persons in Cayman Brac or Little Cayman."

The Chairman: The question is that the new clause 29 do stand part of the Bill.

The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I am compelled to make an observation here. I say this to cast no aspersion, but in reading this amendment, where it says, "The Governor in Council may from time to time waive or reduce any or all the duties and fees specified in this Bill in relation to any person or group of persons in Cayman Brac or Little Cayman..." if the intent is to provide relief, as far as I am concerned, then show it. If the intent is to ensure that Executive Council has a grip on that situation and anybody involved in that situation, then say it. If it is supposed to a compromise based on a request, then it certainly puts a lot of bells ringing in my ears in regard to how it appears.

If someone is compelled to support this the way it is worded because it is better than nothing, then I can understand. But I have to say that I do not like how it is worded, and if the intent is clear, then let it be done. If it cannot be done then let it not be done, but let it not be done on the condition that I can do as I please depending on how I feel this morning, or how you act towards me.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The First Elected Member for George Town has made a valid observation. I should have provided some background information as to why this provision is being made. Having to deal with all of these amendments and looking at various pieces of paper, and not pre-empting this item, the Government has put in place certain initiatives as the First Elected Member for George Town is very much aware of, in order to stimulate economic development within Cayman Brac.

It is likely that some of these increases could bring some of those initiatives to a stand still. Where such is found to be the case, the Government would like to have the authority to examine these increases in consultation with the Elected Members representing the Brac, and also in consultation with the Brac Economic Committee. Where it is determined that these increases would result in any adverse condition, or any restraint on the continued development of the Brac, Executive Council is seeking for the necessary authority through this piece of legislation to be able to waive the increased which are presently being proposed.

It is for this reason: In order to be able to provide relief.

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Chairman, I find this particular clause very bothersome. They say that the American Revolution was because of taxation without representation. But the question is: Can you have representation without taxation?

I am not saying that special conditions should not be made for the physical and economic growth of Cayman Brac, but I think to take the decision making process out of Parliament and to vest it completely in the hands of Executive Council is to politicise to an extent this particular development or process.

I am not totally stupid, and I hope that nobody thinks that I am, or thinks that my ears and eyes are not open so that I would not see that there is politics going on beyond the intention of this particular revenue measure. I think that I have to go to my constituency telling people that I agreed to do this or that, but at the same time, I do not want anyone to assume that we must not all bear the burden for the particular development. We are giving the power to make certain exceptions in certain areas.

Although I may not be articulating this properly, the fear I have is that I believe this could politicise the situation to a dangerous extent. I caution Members against this because I can almost smell a rat. I say it can go through, but one should be very careful. I think it would be best to seek the sympathy and understanding of this Parliament when it comes to dealing with these matters, rather than assuming somehow that they will best be looked after if they were, in fact, alienated from Parliament.

The Chairman: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: I find this amendment rather peculiar in that what has happened is that we in the Parliament have been called upon to exercise our good judgment and to cooperate in all of the other changes. Yet, in this particular one, it is lifted out of the ambit of our cooperation, our intelligence and sensitivity.

I, too, can relate to the problems peculiar to the people in the Brac. I am sufficiently sensitised to give them any support which is needed to prime their economy. But I cannot sit here in good conscience and support them in a measure coming this way. What I would be doing is emasculating myself. I have never indulged in self-flagellation. I have been around too long to know that if I emasculate myself then I have no worth, no meaning, no reason to go on. So, while I see the intention, I cannot support it coming this way.

The Chairman: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I would just like to find out if there was any time frame envisaged for the exercise of this discretion as set out in section 29.

The Chairman: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Error! Bookmark not defined. Could I ask the Member to repeat the question?

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Is there any time frame envisaged for the exercise of this discretion as set out in section 29?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The time frame for the implementation of this provision would be within the next few weeks.

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask the Honourable Third Official Member if I am hearing this correctly when he says that this will be something that will be implemented immediately. In other words, what I am trying to get to... when I decided to support the Budget, my honest summation was that somehow we were trying to do the best for the greatest number and that there was an objective, non-political, non-partisan way of sharing the burdens of taxation. Before long we got representation from the merchant associations, the Council of Associations which was able to significantly influence the position of Government to the extent that Government went to the negotiation table with them and changed certain things.

Then again, when we look we find that there is not very much that has changed with regard to the average person. I still went along. Now we are getting another concession that is being made on the back of the average person. At this particular time, sir, I would like to say that since we do not know what type of concessions will be made, and since we do not know what type of money will be involved... you are taking our power away from us as legislators.

Even in Colonial America the Governor's power was really curtailed by the fact that the Legislature had the power to raise funds, and, therefore, to decide how those funds would be distributed. But if you are going to take that clause and ask us to vote on it, that means that we no longer have a say in terms of how funds are raised and distributed. It leaves it up to the Executive Council which we must see as a political body at any particular time because it is not, in fact, just the Governor, it is the Governor in Council.

This is where I feel that this whole Budget breaks down, terribly, for me.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Chairman, I would just like to point out to the Fourth Elected Member for George Town that he has made certain fundamental errors in his argument.

In the first instance, I do not take this decision in an individual capacity, nor in the capacity of Financial Secretary acting solely. If the Member would have observed, before I responded to the question he raised, I consulted with the other Ministers of Government in order to reflect the position of the Government. What I have advanced is, in effect, the position of the Government on this. So when he says if either I or you are usurping the power of Parliament, I think it is necessary for the Member to observe that that is not the case.

The Chairman: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can someone confirm if there was an implied or actual restriction placed on the Fourth Elected Member for George Town from making a request as I did in my submissions?

Dr. Frank McField: I would like to answer that question, sir.

The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman has abstained from voting for a lot of the measures in this Budget. The record shows that she has abstained. When it comes to something that she feels affects her, she is willing to question other people's position. I never questioned her position when she was abstaining, therefore, I do not feel that she has a right to question my motives. My position is based upon the fact that I realise that in this Parliament, what you get is because of what side you are on. That is becoming quite clear.

I have a right to voice my position because I represent people also.

The Chairman: The hour is getting late. I think it is time we move on with the business at hand.

There is a motion to add a new clause 29. This has been duly moved and debated and I shall now put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

REPORT ON BILL

THE MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS (FEES AND DUTIES) (TEMPORARY) BILL, 1997

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I have to report that a Bill entitled, The Miscellaneous Provisions (Fees and Duties) (Temporary) Bill, 1997, was considered by a Committee of the whole House and passed with several amendments.

I think it would be useful to share a few examples of these amendments. At the time the Bill was originally circulated, there was a Schedule attached which summarised the extent of the changes in the revenue measures. Although that Schedule has now been rescinded, I think it would be useful if we were to look at what some of the changes are. These are items as set out in the Bill, so for the benefit of this Honourable House, when I refer to the Schedule which has now been rescinded, I would be grateful if Members would recognise that I am referring to the provisions of the Bill as such.

Under Item 10: Garbage Fees, there has been a 20% increase in all categories with the exception of private houses and apartments, and also the removal of animal carcasses, which is now duty free.

I should point out that all of the increases now reflected in the Schedule are based on what has been agreed upon with the members of the Council of Association, so there is general acceptance of these increases as set out in the Schedule.

The Government is presently holding discussions with the Council of Associations specifically looking at what extent building permit fees can be increased in order to yield the revenue being sought under this item.

Under Item 15: Immigration Fees, there have been no changes to this Item. This relates to permanent residency, and not to work permit application fees.

Mr. Speaker, I should state that for existing financial institutions, the fees become effective as of January 1998. For new financial institutions, the fees become effective immediately.

The very last items, Item 18 (which has to do with the abolition of the Bicycle Tax), and Item 19 (the annual Dog Licence fee) have been abolished. The Boat Tax has also been abolished. I think that covers the Schedule.

As Members are aware, the package as initially presented would have raised $14 million. Due to these amendments, this amount will be decreased. As the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning pointed out, to the extent that there is a reduction in the amount realised from these new measures will be dealt with through an increase to the Loan Bill presently before this Honourable House.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: The Bill is accordingly set down for Third Reading.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Speaker, if you will permit me to interrupt you, sir. I wanted to point out one further amendment. In order to ensure that the measures that have been put in place to stimulate the ongoing economic development in Cayman Brac maintain their impetus, the Government has sought, through an amendment, to vary, where necessary, the increases as set out in this Bill in relation to Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, but Cayman Brac more specifically.

We have seen stimulation in the economic activities covering a wide range of areas in the Brac. The Government would like this to continue and to this extent, anything which would prevent that growth by way of these new measures, the Government is seeking through an amendment to this Bill to have the necessary authorisation to waive such fees.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDERS 10 (3) & (4)

The Speaker: Thank you.

Before I move the Third Reading, out of an abundance of caution, I would like to suspend (under Standing Order 83) Standing Order 10(3) and (4) as we have gone after 4.30 PM. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

The Speaker: I will ask the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town to say prayers.

PRAYERS

Mr. Roy Bodden: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that we may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of our high office.

All this we ask for Thy Great Name's sake.

Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

READING OF MESSAGES AND ANNOUNCEMENTS BY THE SPEAKER

The Speaker: Please be seated. Proceedings are resumed.

We are honoured to have with us this morning Mr. John F. Kelley, a former state senator from the state of Michigan, and lecturer at Oakland University. Welcome.

-and-

BUDGET ADDRESS DELIVERED BY THE HON THIRD OFFICIAL MEMBER, FINANCIAL SECRETARY, ON WEDNESDAY, 12TH MARCH, 1997

(Continuation of debate thereon)

(10.53 AM)

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

It has been two weeks since I kicked off my debate on the Budget Address and the Throne Speech, and much has happened since. I was dealing with Northward Prison.

I am pleased to see that there is money in the Budget for additional classrooms for prisoners at Northward. I am amazed at the results that I have heard about in regard to the accomplishments of some of the inmates. Many have sat the GCE's while serving in prison. Many have gone on to get their high school equivalency diplomas. Others intend, upon release, to further their education as a result of their educational experiences at Northward Prison. That speaks well for the commitment of the persons in charge of the educational programme, as well as the support they have received from the Ministry.

I believe that one of the major reasons our young people find themselves behind bars is because of their lack of academic success while on the outside. I believe that once an individual's education is improved it makes a difference on their perspective of life.

One of my concerns has always been that our young Caymanians who are unfortunate enough to have been in prison, have a very difficult time upon release finding employment. As a result, many of them drift right back into their former way of life, and before they know it they are right back in Northward Prison. I am pleased to know that Government will put in place a job assistance programme for the prisoners.

I envisage that the job coordinator will know who is being released and when, and will go out and deal with the private sector, as well as within Government, and find employment for those persons. I believe that it is a real problem area and something that we need to immediately address. On the other hand, I believe that if Government wants the private sector to provide employment for some of these people, then Government itself has to have an open policy and an open mind in regard to employing some of the ex-inmates.

I know that at present quite a few of them are employed by the Environmental Department, and maybe even the Public Works Department; but there are a lot more jobs needed for those who are still to be released. I applaud the Government on this programme, it is something that this Government, as well as the 1988 - 1992 Government, talked about. I think it is a step in the right direction.

Another thing I think we could do, and I discussed this with the former Governor and he was keen on the idea, is to organise work parties for our prisoners and have them clean the public beaches and maybe keep the roadsides clean. I think with the skills available at the prison, we could have a maintenance programme, where the prisoners would care for public buildings. I believe that the inmates would welcome the opportunity to be released during the day, being involved in assignments of responsibility. At the end of the day it would be easy to arrange transportation back to the prison for the evening.

I believe that we have to come up with creative programmes and ideas in dealing with the problem of prisons in this country. Too large a percentage of our young people find themselves behind bars.

I am aware that in North Carolina, the Governor's mansion is completely supported by the prison population. They attend as gardeners, chefs and in all of the other services required. Because of the skills many of the prisoners pick up while being behind bars and while being involved in this type of programme (especially the chefs), I understand that the large hotels in that area are just waiting for them to be released. The prisoners have no problem finding employment upon release.

In regard to the environment, and I have heard more than one person mention it, we have a serious problem at present. I am not just talking about the marine environment, but the environment that we occupy here in Grand Cayman. The roadsides are filthy. There is no reason for that. I could understand if the Finance Committee were not voting money for the personnel to carry out that responsibility. But that is not the case.

Many of my constituents come to me, asking what is going on. Our district is so filthy at the present time and it does not seem to be getting any better. What really angered me was the television report I recently saw in regard to the litter problem in the Barkers area. That area was completely cleaned up. Some large garbage containers were put in West Bay, giving people with large, bulky items a way to dispose of those items. The problem was that the Environmental Health Department did not pay attention to the problem on a daily basis in regard to pick-ups. So that area became as filthy as the Barkers area was. They had to close that, but they did not provide an alternative.

The Boatswain Bay Cemetery is a perfect example of what I am talking about. The Environmental Health Department has employed a lady to keep that cemetery. She keeps the place immaculate. We tried the same suggestion in regard to the central cemetery in West Bay. I invited the Acting Chief of Environmental Health and his assistant to meet me at the West Bay Cemetery so that they could see first hand the state of the cemetery. I was amazed when they told me that Government is only responsible for keeping one side of that cemetery. The other side is the responsibility of individuals who have loved ones buried there. If we are going to keep the cemetery clean using staff from the Environmental Health Department, they should keep the whole cemetery clean.

Perhaps there are private plots that are fenced in. Leave them alone. But I am really embarrassed over the conditions of the cemeteries in my district. This could be easily dealt with by employing two people within the district who would be solely responsible to inspect the cemeteries on a daily basis, ensuring that the weeds and old flowers are removed, and that they are kept clean. But the department seems to have a problem co-ordinating those efforts.

I have travelled far and wide, and I am amazed at how clean some of the places I have visited are. The country that comes to my mind is Canada. You could virtually eat off of the sidewalks they are so clean. There must be a reason for their level of success. I believe that we have to get tough here in the Cayman Islands. I have heard it talked about ever since I became a MLA in 1988, where they were going to revise the Laws and put some teeth into them, whereby Environmental Health Officers could issue tickets for littering. But, so far, nothing has happened. We continue to be faced with the problem of litter in this country.

I believe that we have to start at the head of the Department. When we are looking for someone to fill that position, it must be from a jurisdiction that values the environment, knows something about it and has the experience to implement a proper programme. It appears that we go out and employ cheap labour in these areas in order to do the job. It is not working.

We had a very good Environmental Officer in my district, who did a good job. He has a personal interest in the community and was there on a daily basis making sure that things were in order. Those people who were assigned to keep the district were doing what they were supposed to do. They moved him and put him in charge of the inspection of hotels and restaurants, I understand, and the officer who replaced him was never seen. The only time we can find him is if we call him. Otherwise he is off doing his own thing.

That is not good enough for us. I believe that it is time we addressed the problem and put some teeth into our Laws where stiff fines can be handed out. It is amazing how irresponsible some of our people are. They will drink soda from a can and when it is finished, they will drop it by the roadside rather than finding a proper garbage bin to dispose of it.

I believe that we need somebody at the top with the ability to co-ordinate these efforts on a district by district basis. As I understand, they have one crew that might be in East End on Monday, North Side on Tuesday, Bodden Town on Wednesday, George Town on Thursday, and they might get to West Bay by Friday. By the time they get back to the first district, the condition is as bad, or worse, than what they first found. I do not believe that system can work. I believe that we have to have people assigned on a district basis with an Environmental Officer who will see to it that these people we pay will do what they are supposed to do on a daily basis.

I must say that I am pleased that the Minister cannot be faulted. I believe that he has done as much as he can with respect to providing the equipment and facilities the department needs. We even have provisions in this Budget for two additional garbage trucks in order to attempt to improve the situation. But it is a problem which has to be addressed quickly.

With respect to our marine environment, I am very pleased to see that Government has introduced an environmental fee that will be added to the travel tax upon departure. I believe that the decision to establish our marine parks was a good one, but I believe that our marine parks have to be patrolled and monitored on a 24 hour basis. I understand that one of the requirements for employment in that area is that you have your own boat. This is not good enough. I believe that there has to be a proper budget. The marine environment section has to have its own facilities and must find people to run those boats to monitor the marine parks.

I get calls at 6.00 am from people saying that someone tried to sell conch they took from the marine parks, which they took very early in the morning when they know that no one is around. They poach lobster and conch and maybe even the fish in this area.

We need some stiffer penalties. I know they are pretty stiff at present, but we have to get the message across that we will not tolerate any abuse of our marine parks. When I was a boy, the only problem we had in the North Sound was deciding what lobster to take and how many conchs we wanted. There was no shortage of either one in the North Sound, or Grand Cayman period. But that is no longer the case. I believe that the only area where we now have some semblance of replenishment in regard to lobster and conch is in the marine park areas.

We must recognise that our environment is one of the biggest attractions we have in this country. Many people come here on a regular basis to visit our beaches and waters. We must ensure that these natural resources are protected at all costs so that our children and grandchildren can enjoy them as well.

The other thing which I think poses a real danger to our marine environment is the number of boats or divers we allow in the dive sites, or areas such as Stingray City. It is not unusual to have as many as 100 to 150 boats a day, with probably 20 or 25 people each, visiting those areas. It has to have an adverse effect over a period of time on the marine life in those areas. I believe that we need to start monitoring it, and maybe place a limit on the number of boats and visitors we allow in those areas on a daily basis. I trust that we will address these issues and do whatever is necessary to clean up the present situation.

Immigration: I want to say that the new Chief Immigration Officer, who is a Caymanian, is doing a good job. I am proud of the fact that he is a Caymanian. But I think that

(and we can't blame the Immigration Department too much for this) we need to give some directives to the Immigration Board in regard to immigrants from certain destinations. One of the destinations I have been informed that we have a problem with is Honduras.

At about 4 o'clock in the afternoon I see these little girls going down to the restaurants in these outfits.... Mr. Speaker, you do not have to have much of an imagination to know what those girls are there for, I am afraid to say it is legalised prostitution. A lot of our local Caymanians are having family problems as a result of this influx of people here on work permits. They only have one objective in mind—getting whatever they need to get regardless of how they get it, including destroying Caymanian families.

I know that the new Chief Immigration Officer is working on this in regard to extensions. We need to do something about extensions. When we go to the United States, they ask how long we are going to be there. We tell them, two days or a week, and they stamp the time in our passports. I have never once gone down to the Immigration Department and asked for an extension. The Fourth Elected Member for George Town says that he has, but I have never done it. I believe that when I go there, I know why I am going and how long I am going to be there. Once the time is up (and many times it is before the allotted time), I leave the country.

Many people who are visiting us at present are only coming here for one reason, that is to find employment. I know that the new Chief is working on a policy to reduce the volume of people coming here for that purpose, but it is (should I say?) annoying to go to the Immigration Department to get anything done because the place is packed with foreign nationals seeking extensions.

I believe that upon arrival, they need to state exactly who they are coming to see, how long they will be here, and the Immigration Department should give them that amount of time - one week, two weeks - based upon some evidence of means of support while they are here. We definitely have to improve the situation in that area at the Immigration Department.

When I talk about Hondurans, there are two types: There are the Spanish Hondurans, and the Bay Islands people. Many of them are originally from the Cayman Islands who went there for the purpose of seeking employment. They are totally different from the typical immigrant from the Spanish parts, such as La Ceiba and all the others in that area.

I am also pleased to see that there are plans in the works to establish a new Trades and Business Licensing Board to enable proper attention to applications for licences. At present, with the level of business the Immigration Department deals with, it is impossible to do a thorough research to ensure that a right decision is made. I believe that by establishing a new Board to deal specifically with the business environment is a step in the right direction. All that has to be done is to ensure that someone sits on both Boards, that is the Immigration and Trade and Business Licensing Board. When that Board is created, we will also be in a position to closely monitor the areas where Members of this House have agreed should be specifically restricted to Caymanians, such as water sports, among others. There is a definite need for this to be done.

I am also pleased to see the level of work going on in my district of West Bay. Pretty soon we will have our new health clinic completed. The roof is on and it is plastered. It's just a matter of finishing up the inside and painting it. I envisage that within a couple of months that will be operational for the people of West Bay. It is something that the people have wanted for a very long time and is very badly needed. The Minister has mentioned that doctors will be specifically designated to staff that clinic. We will then be in a position to provide 24 hour health care for the residents of the district.

Another thing which we need in connection with that is an ambulance parked right next to the clinic to deal with emergencies in the district. West Bay is one of the largest districts and putting an ambulance there full time is justified.

Soon we will have the official opening of the public beach in our district. I believe that the contractor has done an excellent job in regard to completing it. We have somebody employed full time to ensure that it is kept clean. I believe the Minister for Tourism has plans to officially open that little public beach in the very near future.

One of the things that will be associated with that public beach, and we already have the land for it, is a proper car park so that residents who wish to enjoy this facility have a place to park their cars off the road.

There are also plans for an assembly hall for the West Bay Primary School. I recently attended two functions at the John A. Cumber Primary School. They attempted to hold it in the open air and it was not very good. There is no proper PA system and it was very difficult and not conducive to those types of programmes. So the school needs a proper assembly hall where they can have their devotions and also be in a position to host other special functions.

It has also been realised that we need a new primary school in the district of West Bay because of the increase in the student population there. The John A. Cumber Primary School is at its maximum as far as accommodation. Government is now in the process of identifying a piece of property that is large enough for this purpose and once that is done, funds will be budgeted and we will get on with our new primary school for the district of West Bay.

There is also a provision in the Budget for a new jetty in the district. I understand that it is going to be located near to where the old market was. It is an area where people in boats will be able to land their passengers, and maybe even to dock there. In other words, it will provide a convenience for our fishermen and boat operators in the district.

We also have provision for additional road work in the district. I must say that the National Team Government has done much in the area of roads in all of the major districts. Certainly, West Bay has received its fair share, but there are still additional roads that need to be redone. There are funds in the budget for that this year.

I believe that we have a lot to be thankful for. The people should be thankful that they have a Government that cares and is prepared to provide the needed services and facilities.

In regard to the state of the public finances, at year end 1996...

The Chairman: I wonder if this might be a convenient time to take the morning break?

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Yes, sir.

The Speaker: Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 11.27 AM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 12.19 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated. The Third Elected Member for West Bay, continuing.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

When we took the break, I was about to deal with the state of public finances. I am very pleased that at the end of 1996 the Government had $7.6 million in General Reserves. The National Team Government has undertaken to make a Budget provision to put at least $2 million on an annual basis into General Reserves. In this year's Budget, I think the amount is $1 million because of the contribution the Government made toward the public pension fund.

The objective is to get the fund up to the level where it is in line with three months of recurrent expenditure. I believe that is a very wise policy, and one that I support. We have to be responsible and put something away for the lean years that might come in the future.

The Government has also been responsible in regard to funding the Public Service Pension Fund. At the end of December 1996, it had $21.9 million in that fund. In this year's budget they were adding another $2.6 million. That is in addition to the 10% of salaries which are made on a monthly basis to the fund, that is, 6% from Government and 4% from the public servants. It is important for us to fund the Public Service Pension Fund because after one dedicates 30 or 35 years of their life to the public service they should be guaranteed that at the end of the day they will get their pension, which they have earned over the years.

Between 1993-96, total repayment of central Government public debt and self-financing debt amounted to $40.5 million, as well as a portion of the debt for statutory authorities. This speaks well of the Government because anybody can incur debt, but we have to be responsible enough to ensure that those debts are properly serviced. I add that these debts were not debts that were incurred by the present Government, that is the 1992 to 1996 Government, nor the present Government.

The total public debt rose to $66.7 million. Of this total, a sum of approximately $50 million was central Government debt and the remainder was for the statutory authorities. This is an area I have always had a concern over. I believe that one of the key elements of our success has been that we have been very prudent over the years with regard to public borrowing. We have remained independent of the authorities out there who would lend money, such as IMF, who, after the borrower gets into trouble, dictates what the borrower must do. I believe it is important for us to continue the policy of prudence in the area of borrowing.

Repayment of public debt amounts to about 4.5% of recurrent revenue. That is very conservative, because the benchmark is a maximum of 10%. So this Government is doing well in managing the public funds. I believe that the people of this country appreciate what is being done.

In summary to the 1997 Budget, I must say what a difference a decade or two makes! Back in 1974 when I was with Government working as a Budget Officer, the budget for that year was in the region of $14 million. The 1997 Budget is $254 million. We may say that it speaks well of the country, that it is expanding and that type of thing, but I have a sincere, genuine concern with regard to the growth of our Civil Service. I must applaud His Excellency the Governor for introducing the Reinvention of Government, but at the end of the day, if that exercise does not do something in regard to the reduction of the size of the Civil Service, to me it would have been a total waste of time.

If we are not very careful, I see the day coming when every penny that we bring in by way of revenue will be used to fund the Civil Service and we will not be in a position to do any capital projects without borrowings. That concerns me because I believe that when we reach that time in our history, we will be on the road that so many of our neighbours have gone down which has led to their demise. I must say that our present Financial Secretary and our former Financial Secretary and the Governments of the day have been vigilant in regard to public spending, but we have to address the issue of the size of the Civil Service.

I believe that greater emphasis has to be placed on training of our people. Not only training, but cross training. If someone is employed as a receptionist, they should be able to do other things beside fixing a cup of coffee and answer the telephone. They have to be cross trained in other areas in order to reduce the demand for labour. What we need is a very dynamic, very efficient Civil Service that we can afford to pay very well. But, with the number we have at present, that is impossible.

There is a provision of $6 million in this budget for Civil Service salary increase. But I would like to have been in a position to have offered $10 or $12 million; or to make the size of the Civil Service such where $6 million would be meaningful, rather than having someone with just a $50 increase out of that $6 million. I believe that we have to take a proper look at the size of the Civil Service.

When I talk about reducing the size of the Civil Service, I believe that we cannot have what we had some time ago, where the cuts were only made at the bottom, the hourly paid people. That did not save a whole lot. It must be across the board. I believe that it can be done in such a way that it will be as painless as possible as far as our people are concerned. When we walk through the offices, we don't recognise half of the people anyway. I believe that if we go through this exercise prudently, that we can accomplish what we want, but at the end of the day there will not be a lot of our people losing their jobs in the process. I do not know how it is going to be done, but I know that it has to be done because the size of the Civil Service has really gotten too big.

With the exception of the recurrent side of it (I don't know how much we can do in that area as far as cuts), the 1997 Budget (in regard to the capital projects) made provision for projects that were already started and in the process of being completed, or those projects that were in the pipeline for some time that could no longer be delayed. It concerns me. Nobody wants to hear about revenue measures. I am the last to think or talk about it, but I personally believe that the present Government had no alternative but to look at new sources for revenue in order to attempt to fund the 1997 Budget.

I am not getting back into the new revenue measures of the tax Bill, but I want to say that there was a great uproar organised by the associations and merchants. When we look at what Government adds to the cost of living in respect to import duties, for example, as opposed to what the cost of those goods are when they are passed on to the consumer, the real culprits in this whole process are the merchants.

We did a little costing on this. We were told that a sack of cement, for example, landed here costs about $2.88. I understand that at the present time it is sold for $6.25. That is over 100% on the mark up. This country has many needs and many demands. It is going to be necessary for all of us to make a little sacrifice in order to ensure that everybody is accommodated.

The cost of living keeps going up, but wages have not kept pace. I know that the Minister is in the process of completing an exercise in this area, and I applaud him for that, but something has to be done with regard to wages keeping pace with the cost of living in this country. When we get a situation where people have been in a job for ten years and they are only making $3.50 per hour, that is ridiculous. These are areas that employ a lot of our Caymanian people, especially in the hotel/condo industry where we also have restaurants. Many of our people are employed in this area. They must be able to earn a decent income to support themselves and their families.

I trust that when the Minister brings legislation in this area that the merchants will once again come forward and be prepared to give a little. All take and no give is not going to work for very long in this country. It appears that as long as you do not touch them, and we let them do what they want to do, then everything will be all right. Government must find money from somewhere else in order to provide the goods and services this country needs.

I have said since 1988, and I know that on an individual basis they have done something, but the hotels and condos should be able to do a joint venture with Government on an annual basis to put a budget together for the promotion of this country. What most of them do is sit back and allow Government to spend money, by way of advertising and promotion, and then they reap the benefits of those dollars - public money - spent. The time has come for the private sector to do more in that area to carry their fair share of the responsibility.

I also believe that the way Government arrived at the revenue measures they introduces was very fair. As part of the exercise we looked at the goods and services that were in the heaviest demand and decided not to touch them, because that is what the average person consumes. There was a big article in the newspaper after the revenue measures were introduced about a bottle of Dom Perignon. I don't even know what it is, because I don't drink it. But when we did the research, we determined that a bottle landed here, cost in the region of $47.50. That is being sold for $200, $300 and as much as $500 a bottle. Now, if the merchants were not so greedy, then we would not have the problem we have in this county in regard to the cost of living.

I do not have any special interest groups. I was elected by the average Caymanian. Those are the people I have concern for and a responsibility to, ensuring that their welfare is considered. But we have done well to a certain extent, as far as working together in a partnership to provide those things that we need in this country. I do believe, though, that we have learned one very important lesson from this whole exercise that is communication. I believe that the approach the Government has to take from here on in is to sit down with the private sector, especially those people who are going to be affected by whatever measures are going to be introduced, and discuss what might be the best solution to the present problem. I believe that is the way for the future. But the merchants must be prepared to give as well as take.

I am very concerned with what I see happening in regard to Government's expenditure, not that we are spending it frivolously, but there is so much of a demand on those dollars that are brought in. We have to look for new ways and new means of cutting expenses, or increasing the revenue to provide for the funding of the Civil Service and those projects that we all need in our districts.

I believe that the 1997 Budget presented by the Government is good. We have spent a lot of time determining what could be cut and what must move forward, and I believe that those projects in there are projects which the public has been after us to complete for a very long time.

One of the major projects is the new hospital. There has been so much controversy in regard to that hospital - it could not be built on the present site, and all kinds of nonsense. Now, within a year, the Cayman Islands will have a first class health facility on the present site. But that costs money. It is something that is being built for all of the residents in this country. We must all be prepared to share the cost of providing these services.

Thank you.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 12.42 PM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 2.26 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated.

The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I rise to give my contribution to the debate on the Throne Speech delivered by His Excellency the Governor, Mr. John Owen, and to make some brief comments in regard to the Budget Address delivered by the Honourable Financial Secretary.

I would like to pay attention to something which was said by Mr. Owen that I have been saying for a very long time. He said, "So called progress is only true progress, if such developments do not conflict with the values which sustained our nation in the past." Over the last few weeks I have tried to come to an understanding of what my purpose is here in this Legislative Assembly. I have tried to come to an understanding of what Government is in these islands, and what the purpose of Government is overall.

I have concluded that my purpose in this Legislative Assembly is to uphold humanity, our common concept of ourselves as human beings, and that, in fact, the purpose of Government is to maintain that humanity. Business can be there to make profit, but it is certainly not there to uphold humanity, although it might help other institutions in upholding our concept of ourselves as more than animals.

There is much talk of who we are, what we are and where we are going. But not even the Governor himself in his Throne Speech made an attempt to give us some kind of understanding of who we are. Perhaps this is a result of the fact that not many of us have made this a preoccupation. Not many of us have meditated on who we are; not many of us understand or accept that it is necessary to understand who we are before we can know where we are going.

There has been much talk in this country about planning. But if you do not know who you are planning for, you cannot plan. You must first arrive at some type of definition of who it is that you are planning for. So, I would like to begin my debate by making some kind of consideration as to who I am talking about. I understand that in this country today there are different groups, interest groups, nationality groups, cultural groups and linguistic groups. But the real group that I am here to represent, the real group this Government is for, is the group which we define as "Caymanians."

Now, Mr. Speaker, Caymanians are a mixed bag of people, but they have certain things in common where, regardless of whether or not you meet them on the streets of Holland, or New York, you recognise them as being specifically from the Cayman Islands. What they have in common is a sense of humanity which outstrips that held by some of the most developed countries in the world. I believe that the sense of humanity possessed by the Caymanian is unequal to any sense of humanity in this world.

I have studied philosophy. I have meditated on these questions. I have read the Greeks. I have read the Germans and the English. I have read the French; but I got no sense of humanity from all of their poets and all of their philosophers like I can get from the little old lady in East End, or the little old man in West Bay.

They talk about their "caboose," they talk about sharing and caring. That is exactly what I am going to talk about—I am going to talk about our concept of sharing and caring and how it is related to the core of what we are here to preserve, which is, the concept of our commonality, the concept of our nation. If we destroy the fabrics of our society, if we destroy what we have in common—this humanity—then we will be stripped of what it is that makes us alike in some form or another.

Whether or not we come from West Bay and have a light complexion, or we come from George Town and have a dark complexion, we have something greater in common. It is not in the biology, but in our way of life. It is how we feel about the little old lady who cannot cross the road that makes us similar; it is how we feel about the person who has been taken down by drugs. It is how we feel about the woman who has had too many children and cannot really manage to support them. It is how we feel about one another; it is our inability to say 'no' to one another when it comes to the survival of the other.

When it comes to the survival of the other, we are willing to inconvenience ourselves in order to preserve that common concept of humanity which is being forgotten in this country by people such as the members of the Chamber of Commerce.

One of the reasons I felt impelled to defend a lot of the principles of the National Team Government was because I felt that in some way they came to the people with a sense of what we were and what we should continue to remain. Once you take away this humanity, simply because of a concern for profits and gain, we will never be able to retain it again.

The people who settled these islands were different. They did not keep any records, and sometimes I wonder (as a kind of social historian) why it is so difficult to find out things about the people of the Cayman Islands - where we actually came from, who came first and how we actually developed. But I believe that some of the people who settled here were dissatisfied with the concept of humanity as it was practised in other parts of the world, including the United Kingdom.

I believe that the English and Irish settlers who came here—although they did get involved in what they said was the tradition, which was the institution of slavery—never developed the tradition of slavery in this island to the extent it was developed in other parts of the Caribbean and the world. It was because of their concept of humanity. Even when they were dealing with one of the most brutal and cruel institutions, their humanity came forward and produced new results. Therefore, today we praise ourselves for being a country of people tolerant toward people of other races and nationalities.

We should not be fooled into thinking that Caymanians of 20, 30 or 100 years ago were stupid just people because we cannot find fine works of art or paintings, or poets or all the things we find in the so-called sophisticated countries that are lacking in humanity. We did not have to pretend and put it in special places, we distributed it equally among ourselves. We were looking for the beautiful picture in the society in which we lived, and we were not going to put it in somebody's private living room. It was not for any king or queen, it was for the common man.

I believe that the Caymanian heritage is this heritage. Although it has not been expounded upon in any philosophy, it has been expounded upon in the greatest philosophical hall, which is, life itself. So, if I can come to you, Mr. Speaker, and you can come to me, and we have something in common, which is that we respect each other's humanity, then we will have achieved something which is the greatest of all things that can be achieved.

When Christianity came to this country, or when the religious institutions began to move into the Cayman Islands back in the 1830s and 1840s, the Caymanian people were seen to not have any specific religious instruction. But we took to it just like we had taken to the boats because Christianity was not in conflict with our values. In fact, our values were very Christian because we were very sharing and very caring. These are the same values people today mock and call 'socialist' values in this country. They confuse our value system with the value system of people who went through a system of perversion.

There is a difference between caring and sharing, and socialism. There is a big difference! Anyone who has studied knows that there is a big difference. I will not be able to forget my mamma and my daddy. Regardless of where I go in this world, I will remember my sweet home, the Cayman Islands. It is special. It offers me a sense of security and comfort that I can achieve in no other place in the world.

Other people did notice this in me. Even when I travelled and studied abroad, people would make comments such as, "You're different." What was it that was different about me? They felt that I was a little bit more open, more honest, less aggressive. I was anxious about learning, and I did not set up barriers between me and other people. I went to people freely.

After being away for a while, one learns how to set up barriers and how to make distinctions and how to go into situations presuming the bad is going to be there rather than the good. But I am saying that the Cayman Islands that I grew up in (up until 1964, when I left this country) made me a sharing, caring person; a person who would be broken if forced to be selfish, or to only consider myself. That was the personality that was created, that was the humanity.

I am using myself as an example, but everybody in this island was like that. That is the reason why we did not need the jails. Everybody was in compliance with the rules and regulations that were made by the community. We did not have to go to the Parliament to make these rules, we could make them by talking to one another. We had lots of time to talk to one another and to discuss what was right and what was wrong. I am ultimately trying to paint a picture of what this identity is and how it is in conflict with the new identity that is being imposed upon us because of rapid economical development.

If we asked somebody today whether they preferred this kind of life or the old kind of life, a lot of people would probably say the old kind of life. I know that I cheat in that sense because if I had not been living this life, I could not comment on the other life - the life before the tourists came, before the banks, before the greed came, and the life before thinking only about ourselves came. Because we have been able to experience both of these lives, we can say that the one before was better. But if we were caught back then, with the mosquitoes and the hardships, we would say that this life was better.

There is something about the human being that causes us to always want to be something other than what we really are at that particular time. In other words, when we have development, we would like to not be so developed. But when we don't have the development, we want it. This is nothing unique. This is what human nature is like. The human being is always dissatisfied with his state. If he were not, he would not move forward. There would be no progress. He would stay in the same place. There would not have been any sin in the world, because Eve would not have tempted Adam to change.

But we are all today in the dynamics of change. Although we cannot say 'no change', we can say 'managed change.' We must manage change in such a way that it does not destroy the wealth of this nation, which is the humanity of this nation. It is something which cannot be copied someplace else in this world. It is worthwhile preserving this gold of the Cayman Islands, this specialness that the tourists came to see and commune with; this specialness that the managers in the hotels now say, "Stop talking." "You people talk too much. All Caymanians do is talk. Stop talking and do some work. "You move too slow, you're not good enough." These are the same people who were such great people a short time ago. These were the same people who some are saying are not good enough to work in the hotels or the duty free shops, that everybody loved (just like I loved them) because they loved the humanity and unselfish nature of the Caymanian.

The Caymanian would stop what he was doing and sit and talk with you a while because you were visiting. The Caymanian would welcome you into his home and into his country and say that there was no division between you and him. He would say, "what I have, you can have." Now, today, somehow things are not well. Somehow people are saying that we are not good enough, not fast enough, not efficient enough, not educated enough; that we are not worldly enough, not greedy enough; that we don't know what business is or what tourism is; that we don't know anything anymore in our own country. Why is that, when we knew it all before?

We knew it so well before that we defended a humanity that no other country in the world had defended. So how come we now know nothing, if we knew that all before? We knew it then, and we still know it!

What has happened is that the greatness of all countries is the envy of those who do not have. They do not come for anything other than to take. Therefore, they are not going to tell you that you had achieved a level of humanity that was greater than they had achieved - although you might not speak the English that they do, although you might not paint the pictures they do. They will not tell you that you have outstripped their concept of humanity and their ability to distribute that humanity among the members of their state, the people with whom you share a common covenant. These are the people called Caymanians and they do exist, and they will continue to exist.

It is time that we realised that this state must be charged with the responsibility of protecting that specialness until the bitter end. I hope that the people who are listening to me tonight realise exactly what the voice is calling for - it is calling for the re-birth of our humanity in this country. But we are not going to be able to do that if we have the Chamber of Commerce telling us what to do.

Some Hon. Members: Hear, hear!

Dr. Frank McField: We have had to make a decision and for a whole week I have been searching my soul to find the right words to say, because it is not my intention to offend those who have come to this country and invested in improving the standard of living for the majority of the people in this country. It is not my intention to offend them, but enough is enough. They have to understand that they must have a respect for us and for what we achieved without them, and what we have achieved with them.

If it is a partnership, then we are as responsible for the economic development in this country as any foreign capitalist. So why is it that we feel so emasculated that we can do nothing? We have to have a consultant for this, and somebody to do that. We have weaknesses in our society, but they are weaknesses only today, they were not weaknesses yesterday. The reason is because we have people trying to take away what belongs to us, and we have to now develop a way of thinking that would not have been necessary yesterday.

People ask me why Caymanians cannot stick together. I say we do stick together, but not by ganging up on other people. If you need a breadfruit and I have one, you can get it. But I am not going to get involved in ganging up on other people. That is the way other people do it, though.

If you are going to buy, you buy from somebody who is like you. If you are going to get a job, you make sure that you divide everything among your little tribalistic group. But we never had that kind of tribalism. We founded a country where every individual could exist without war on the other individual, and without external wars. Therefore, we never had to develop a strong state. We never had to develop armies. We never even had to develop a police force. We never had to call upon any institution to protect us, we could protect ourselves as individuals.

My grandfather used to say that if you came down to McField's square, you had to ask him whether or not you could come into the square because that was his square. That is the way we used to live. We did not all gang up together; so when it comes to competition, that demands a different set of rules. Competition demands that people scheme together. We are not very good at that because we were not very competitive people in that sense. We were not setting out to be better than our brothers, we were just setting out to be equal. If we had ten mangoes, we didn't eat one and sell nine. We made sure we found other people to give the nine to.

So, when the Minister for Health has to make big decisions about who can go to Miami to get a kidney transplant, it is a hard thing to decide. Being Caymanians, we cannot deny medical attention to one of our own - we cannot! I could not, and I will not criticise anyone for doing it. Unless I am willing to go and do something myself, I am not going to criticise Ministers or Members for doing that which they are charged to do indirectly.

I don't know what kind of state this is, or what kind of state we want to call it, but I know it has a conscience and somehow the conscience comes from the community. At the end of the day, we find that we need to improve medical facilities because the people say "We are Caymanians, and they have that in Miami, and we are as good as anybody else, so we want to have that too." So, we have to improve our medical facilities. If we don't, they will do what their old grandfathers would do—they'll cow-itch you! (laughter) So what can you do but answer their call?

Now, it is unfortunate that a lot of people here confuse them about what it is they really want, and what they have to pay to get what they want. When Mr. Bush came here with the Labour Law, the first thing I heard was that Mr. Bush was going to ruin this country because of what he was doing for the employees. I said, "But, you're an employee." They said, "How can I be an employee?" I said, "Most people are employees, because without your labour you would not have anything." There are very few of us who are not forced to sell our labour to survive. So, if someone comes in with a law to try to improve the working conditions, why do you go and say that the person is going to ruin the country? Because the people have not been made politically aware of what their interests are. Why have the people not been made politically aware of their interests? Because of the old time superstition that as soon as people become educated and knowledgeable they destroy things.

Oh, those people want to compare the Cayman Islands with Jamaica. Or, you can't do this because if you do, the foreigners are going to run like they did in Jamaica. How can anybody compare the Cayman Islands with Jamaica? And this is not being negative, I am being realistic. I know that the social and economic conditions in Jamaica have been totally different throughout history. I painted a picture of the Cayman Islands where we all were sitting here basking in the sun dancing in the radiance of God, eating from the fruit trees, catching the turtles and being fat on our own blessings; where the population was so small that every brother knew his sister; where the population was so small that the people started inbreeding. That is how small we were. We cannot compare ourselves with a country like Jamaica where they had developed plantation slavery to the point where even modern factories are not that big. So the humanising aspect is lost, whereas here, is it maintained. There is a big difference.

For those of us who have studied sociology, there is a very significant difference. When we talk about cultural differences, it is not whether or not I walk with this foot, but what is in the soul, what comes natural; what I would be willing to do to survive. What a Caymanian was willing to do to survive in most cases was not much. When I say not much, I mean he would not take another man's life, he would prefer to just sit there and moan and let his life go. He would not take something from you in order to have three times as much.

If you look in this country at who is ruling today, from the point of view of finances, you will see that none of them are Caymanians. Those who are Caymanians have spent significant amounts of time away from Cayman. So my theory is correct: As long as you are around Caymanians who say, "Well, you made $10, you at least have to help me," you will never become an entrepreneur. You will never be successful. But those who have done it have spent time elsewhere—in Jamaica, in other conditions. For us, even for us bureaucrats, it is difficult to say to a person, "you can't have free medical," or "you can't have free lunches for your children." It is really hard for us to say no, and it is not even our money.

What we are faced with is a situation where the entire decision making process, how we arrive at a decision and how others arrive at decisions, is different. That is one reason why I am trying to show that there is a difference, there is a Caymanian and there is another, a new arrival, and there are those who are indigenous, who have been here and who are not just bodies, they are not just biological, they are sociological. A person is a person as a result of their values and not necessarily because of their biology. So, biologically and sociologically there is a difference.

What I am talking about is someone who, like the turtle, has to be protected. It is an endangered species. Not because you cannot find individuals who look biologically like them, but you will not find any individuals who look or act sociologically like them. This social experiment which began some 250 years ago or so, which means the Caymanianisation of individuals from Africa and parts of Europe is now endangered. It is endangered simply because we have allowed people to completely dictate to us what our value system should be. This has caused a tremendous conflict for the young people.

The young people are confused and they believe that being a rapper and acting that gangster way is a little bit more glorious and romantic than saying, "Gran, I love you," or, "Mamma, how are you doing this morning?" "What can I do for you? Can I take that out for you, can I pick something up for you? Do you need anything? How can I help you?" No, it's "Give me this and give me that or otherwise I'll blow your head off." The language changes, the attitudes change as a result of the confusion and the result of the fact that we will not take a stand in regard to our own values—because we are insecure when it comes to our values. We feel that our values are inferior to other people's values.

I am taking the assumption and supporting the thesis that our values are, in fact, superior to the values of most people. We have a special type of humanity in these Cayman Islands and we must make a special effort to protect it.

When the Governor says that one of our major challenges is maintaining our identity and our sense of community, that is exactly what I am elaborating on. I am not being vague about it, I am being very specific. I say the sense of community is based upon a higher concept of humanity, it is based upon the highest concept of humanity!

I am an East Ender, and I am a Dixon from East End. I always used to say that the Dixons were philosophers. They would sit in their hammocks... and I remember going to East End, up to the cliff, and I can still remember that there was a certain contemplation of our humanity which existed there that I always enjoyed when I went to East End. So, being George Towners, and going to East End, we always found an exposed humanity, a greater sense of humanity and community there than even in George Town.

Why is it today that things are falling apart among the young people in East End, in particular? Why are things falling apart in Bodden Town? Why is it that things are falling apart in West Bay and George Town? Why are things falling apart in the Cayman Islands in respect to our sense of Community? Why? It has to do with the fact that we have not paid specific attention to who we are and why we are what we are.

We should reflect back upon what people said to us when they first came to these shores some 15 or 20 years ago. Reflect back to the relationships we had with people and the comments they made, "Oh, you guys should stay the way you are because you are the most beautiful people in the world." "I hope development does not wreck this island." That is what they were saying. "Money is usually the root of all evil, and it will destroy you." That is what they were saying.

We said, "No, we are Caymanians, those things will not change us. Money doesn't really mean anything to us." Well, it might not mean much to us, but it means a lot to a lot of other people, and there are more of them than there are of us. So somewhere our ways have to part.

We can decide at this juncture if we are going to bury our sense of community, or whether or not we are going to give it a chance for re-birth. If we are going to give the chance for a re-birth in this country we are going to have to get some finances together. You cannot do anything without finances. You cannot do a thing! My brother always said to me, "Frank, Jesus had a treasurer." You think that Jesus was poor? No! Jesus was not about poverty, he was about prosperity! So I say we have to get our finances together.

Where were we going to get our finances from? We were not a country which had produced great wealth. Our wealth was from God - the sun, the sea, the sand. But somebody coming here today and telling us that we do not have any resources is nonsensical. Who tells the Cayman Islands that it has no resources and that it has to be careful? Well, what is everybody doing in New York and Detroit? They are trying to get rich. Why? Because it is better to be rich than to be poor. But once you are rich, what do you do? You have to have a habit, otherwise it means that you don't know you are rich, which means you are not rich. So if you're rich, you have to act rich, otherwise you're not rich. So you have to have a little island like this where you own a condominium. You have to have a little suntan, or you're an 'easterner'. God forbid you show up at Christmas time and your complexion is not as dark as Frank McField's, because they will really think you are poor. (Members - laughter.)

What we are talking about at the end of the day is habits, and everybody pays for their habits, even the drug people can tell us that! We eat, we drink Coca-Cola, we have to pay for that; they have to pay for their habits too. We are in business to help them along with their habits. But, of course, at the end of the day we would like to make some money because we could not do anything without finances. We need the money to maintain what it is we consider to be special.

I don't think it is right to try to sell our people the idea that we don't have any resources, because, God knows, the peace and tranquillity is an asset that was produced in the particular way I have just outlined—because it is this special sense of humanity that causes that social harmony. To maintain that social harmony we must maintain the sense of humanity. It only stands to reason that we cannot do it without money. (Some Members - Hear, hear!)

So, the very same guy who is coming from Chicago because it has too many burns there wanting to rob him, is the same guy who does not want to go to Mexico, even though it might be cheap, because it does not give him the feeling that he is rich. To be rich, you have to have a rich habit. You have to be able to act it. But if you go places where you are so intimidated by poverty that you cannot even wear your jewellery... you are no place, man. I hear people talking about the champagnes, and all that sort of thing.... Don't make fun of it. People pay for it because it is expensive, that is why they are drinking it. They are not drinking it because it is cheap. Why do you think people go into gourmet restaurants? It's not gourmet if it does not cost a certain amount of money. So why are we letting them fool us about these things when we know exactly how this thing goes? We've been there too.

When you eat in some places in New York and London and you get the check—even if you were blind you could still see the figures they are so big! (Members - laughter) All I want to know at the end of the day is that they have a habit. Their habit is called leisure! They enjoy leisure time and say to the others, "I didn't see you in the Cayman Islands, so you can't be that rich." It is a difficult place to get to, hard to afford, exclusive like the Rolls Royce.

We can't compete with Mexico. Mexico produces Coca-Cola. But when you come to the Cayman Islands, you use your own things. We don't make special things for you, even if you are from the United States. The butter you have is probably from there too. So when you come here, how can you expect to buy something cheaper than you did in New York, Miami or Minnesota? How can you expect to come to the Cayman Islands and get things for the price you do in Mexico? We would not compete in that particular way.

It's ludicrous to think that we are out-pricing ourselves. We are not; because if it is a good product, and enough people want to be exclusive, like the connoisseurs with the cigars.... Look at what people pay for a cigar. Does that make any sense to you? For them old stinking cigars? And they are talking about cigar clubs and all that kind of thing. People can find some very strange, perverted things to do with their money. So, don't worry about rich people, rich people will always pay for what they want.

I am not saying that we should be greedy, but we need finances. We need finances to maintain a social balance and a sense of equality in this country because Caymanians would get very upset if that balance were not there. We need to maintain that.

Mr. Speaker, I believe that somehow the Governor has highlighted to us exactly what we need to pay attention to. I believe that this Governor is a blessing. I believe that he has the sensitivity, intelligence and drive to assist us in forging a new possibility for the Cayman Islands. He seems to be sensitive to the question of identity. He comes from a metropolitan country, being Welsh himself, where they have special problems, because we know that the British are not English, they are Welsh, Scottish, Irish and so forth, they are a mixed group of people. The question of identity and the question of community is an ongoing question there. They have Scottish Members of Parliament who get up and say things, and people from different parts of England getting up and saying things. It is not a dead, one-dimensional thing.

People talk about identity because at the end of the day they know philosophically that that is what politics is all about, that is what the community is all about. I would also like to emphasise that we have special instructions in the Bible that give us a consciousness of who we really are. We are talking about being a Christian country? I think it is 1 Corinthians chapter 13 that talks about charity and how superior charity really is to everything, including prophecy and knowledge of everything - "Charity abideth."

What does that tell us? The Bible was not written yesterday, and most of us have faith. If the Bible is instructing us that charity... we are charged with charity, how can the state forget its obligation to those who do not have anything? How can the state be the state and not represent also those widows or orphans, or those without? How can the state be the state?

It is interesting that a business can be a business, but the state is charged with a different responsibility because somehow the Biblical covenant is infused in the concept of the state and in the conduct of the state, and in the state's strive and desire for virtue, excellence and honesty and fair play. Can we entrust this to the Chamber of Commerce?

(Some Members: No!)

Dr. Frank McField: We are not saying that they should not have the democratic right to air their grievances, but can we entrust sacred principles in their hands? Not unless they are constituted in the way in which the state and the Parliament are.

I have a problem when we say that we are not going to give status to people who have been here for 34 years because it would give them a right to vote. But we had 1,000 people come out—and probably 2% of them had the right to vote and the rest of them did not—who had the right to influence. And they exercised their influence, and changed the condition because of that, yet they did not have the right to vote. Which is greater? The right to vote every four years, or the right to come out whenever you want and make Government stop its business to come and talk?

I worked pretty hard to get here. Believe it or not, people actually elected me to this House. I went through a process—not just the electoral process, a process which began long ago.... So that I could be hauled out in front of the place like a boy? Oh, no. That is not democracy, sir. That is intimidation. That is using the fear we have of poverty to intimidate us, and to get us to comply with their wishes; that is, to divide the grass roots people we are trying to support and the middle class people we are trying to assist. That is one reason why I have been fighting for a more bipartisan position in this House because it is absolutely important at this juncture in the history of the Cayman Islands that we accept our responsibility to provide the people of this country with a higher sense of humanity than people from abroad are going to provide them with.

A lot of people come here because of selfishness, and they do not want to contribute anything towards General Revenue or general funds. But how are we supposed to run a civilised country with any sense of decency and humanity if we are not allowed to collect revenue? (Members - Hear, hear!)

What are they supposed to tell us? That we are a bunch of weaklings? That we are so stupid that we do not realise that we have a deficit population? That we are not knowledgeable of the fact that we are not the same as Jamaica, where 50% of the people are unemployed and can't get jobs, and couldn't get jobs for the past four years? And we have a situation of over-employment in this country with 18,000 people on work permits? How can they tell us that unless we bend to their demands that we will not have an economically prosperous country? Ludicrous!

Are you going to tell me that if we did not build the Westin we would be worse off than we are today? And that if we do not build the other hotel that is slated to go down that we will be worse off? We will be worse off if we do these things because they will tell us that we are not qualified to work there! (Some Members: Hear, hear!) Mr. Speaker, soon they will tell you that you are not qualified to be Speaker either, and tell me that I am not qualified to be a representative.

They have been going through a process of disqualification in this country for the past 20 years, and people who were qualified have become disqualified. Why? Because of our nature. We are such nice people and we don't like to offend anybody. We like to please people. We like harmony. We go along with it, becoming second class citizens in our own country.

Why does the lawyer have to come from Cambridge or Oxford? Why? Because he knows the other guy. If the other guy is saying that he will only do business with people from his 'tribe', then that's a different thing. We are not talking about international business after all, we are still talking about tribalism. I believe that the whole concept of the laissez faire enterprise they talk about means that as long as the business is a good business, I will do it with you whether or not you are a Caymanian or from Great Britain. Therefore, if I am a trained lawyer I will have a chance to earn that money that somebody else would have earned.

We are in danger of outlawing ourselves. We are in danger of making these people called Caymanians extinct. We are in danger, and we must take a stand. I don't mean that we must take a false stand, because, certainly, when we cannot produce an Education Officer after all of these years—after all these years we are going back to that? 'Jeese n!' Mother help me. That is shameful to me!

For the past 20 years I have been walking the streets—me, with a little old Ph.D! I told them that it was not right, Mr. Speaker. I told them we would disqualify ourselves because we will never feel that we are good enough, and because we don't trust one another. It is a lack of trust and not a lack of qualification. We have to mend this situation and not use politics.

My criticism is not meant to offend the Minister of Education, but I must sternly say that our country—after all these years, and after all my cousin, Teacher McField, did in education—is further back than when we started! Miss Genevieve, and Miss Carolyn, Miss Pearl, Miss Gleeda! All these people who taught us about humanity in this great wonderful country. Educating a child is more than giving him the arithmetic book; it is educating him about his responsibility to the other human being.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Hear, hear!

Dr. Frank McField: It is about values, Mr. Speaker. It is about ideals and the spirit and feeling of life. Therefore, when we turn our backs on our own teachers and go abroad, we are committing a deadly sin. That is one reason why I have suggested that we do as much as possible to see that our teachers are trained here because they need to make contact.

When that child is at a primary age, when that teacher has so much influence, when what that child will experience will be with him for the rest of his life, it is important that a gentle voice guides that child. It is important that a careful mind is there to see and feel for it.

There are different kinds of children. You can develop those who come up as a result of love and care, and you can develop those who come up as a result of the 'rule.' But the child who is taught to grow like a flower, when the teacher is like the gardener with the pretty flower, this child is the child we want to see because that is the Caymanian—not the child with the roughness and the coarseness and the 'I-don't-care-for-you, or for myself' attitude, and 'I want to destroy this and that.'

We need to get back to our own values. We need to get back to continuing to believe that if we survived all of those years, and did not fall into the barbarism that so many developed countries fell into when they made war on one another, then we have something to be proud of.

In talking about identity, it is something that we really do not have to try to play catch-up with anybody. I am a practising artisan. I write plays for the theatre. But we do not have to prove to anybody that we can do anything. We do what we do when we can do it, when we want to do it, when we can afford to do it, but we do not have to impress anybody. We have to learn to deal with ourselves, to accept ourselves for what we are—because we are good. I say we are good!

I am 48 years old and I spent most of my time thinking about myself and other people. My conclusion is that these are the best people. So, unless you can find somebody who put in the same amount of time that I put in... then I say we are good people.

The Speaker: Would this be a convenient time to take the afternoon break?

Dr. Frank McField: Yes, sir.

The Speaker: Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 3.24 PM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 3.51 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated.

The Fourth Elected Member for George Town, continuing.

Dr. Frank McField: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for your attention thus far. I would like to apologise for the fact that my considerations are lengthy, but I feel that it is an opportunity time to give some focus to what I think Government has been long trying to put into perspective. I certainly do not take full credit for what I have said so far, because I have used my contact with Members of the House to try and formulate some of what I consider to be the pressing issues.

The thrust of my debate is the need for us as Elected Members of this Honourable House to come together and to show the people of these islands, in particular the Caymanians, that it is desirable for us to come together at this particular time to show a united front. It is important for us to establish the fact that we are in charge; that Caymanians are, in fact, in charge of this country. The guests are the guests, the Caymanians are the hosts and they are in charge. We, the Members of this Parliament, the Government that we elect to this House, are in charge.

It is important that we begin conducting ourselves in a way that will show that we are in charge. Not that we show ourselves scornful of people's rights to demonstrate and agitate and to present their grievances to the responsible Ministers of Government; but that when we have members of the business associations organising in a manner they discourage their employees from doing. Every time the working people in this country have had grievances in regard to wages and they spoke about labour unions, the answer was that a labour union would destroy this country.

What we saw at the Lions Centre was no different from labour union tactics. In the final analysis, most organisations tend to act in a similar way. They come out and they threaten. They say, 'If you don't do this, then we will do that, and it will lead to your loss.' So, when we had members of the Hotel and Condominium Association threatening to withdraw their participation in something the Government was doing, we understand that what has happened is that certain groups of people have reserved the right to protest for themselves - they only protest when it is in their interest to protest.

Although Government should listen, Government must be careful that it does not listen to just one side of the story. Although there might be people who complain about the revenue measures, there are still those who understand that if we are going to have a country that we are proud of, the infrastructure development must be paid for.

What the eyes see affects them. What I see with my eyes is not just me—I see other people. How I look is important, but how other people look is also important because the eyes will see them and be affected by them. We have to have a re-birth in the consciousness of our environment. Therefore, when Government attempts to bring in measures to enhance the social development of this country, it has to be careful that it does not say too quickly that because we have to pay for them, we should just throw them out of the way. We should examine whether or not it would be expedient, in fact, to get rid of some of these programmes at this particular time.

One thing I will always remember is when I came back to this island in 1977. It was said that there was no poverty here. It was also said that there was no crime, and for a very long time it was accepted that we did not speak about poverty and crime. They said that speaking about poverty and crime would cause the tourists to flee. Well, we didn't speak about crime, but crime grew. Soon even the tourists knew that we had crime. But the tourists did not run. As a matter of fact, if we look at the statistics we will see that the number of arrivals by air and by ship have increased dramatically over the years.

I think it is important that we reserve the right to discuss publicly, at least within these Chambers, what we consider to be issues of national importance. So, people can no longer say to us that we should not be talking about that because it will affect development. If we do not discuss something, we will not come to any kind of solution. So, consideration and discussion are necessary with regard to even the most unpleasant issues. Therefore, debate in this House, as the Standing Orders state in regard to our privileges, is that we are privileged to discuss anything which we feel is of national importance. Therefore, we should not be told that we should not say this, or that, because it will affect some selfish person.

When we think of developers, it is important that we also realise that through the 1970s and 1980s (and now in the 1990s) people came here and invested their money. They have had very good returns on their investments. We have exchanged lands for the money they have left here. Land has been the only thing we have had to exchange (we don't have bauxite, or bananas or industrial or manufactured products) on the free market, which was the beginning of our establishing a trade contact.

After we traded the land, people built hotels or condominiums, or banks, and as a result we began to also trade services. But we, the Caymanian people on a whole, or as a nation, are not really trading in these services. We are not the owners of the hotels, we are not the owners of the banks and we are not the owners of the big prosperous law firms. After we traded our land originally and allowed other groups to come into our territory to do business—in fact, we no longer trade in the first instance, but in the secondary instance.

What I am saying is that what we acquire as a result of the ongoing commercial activities in our islands is more or less as a trickling down factor, but we are not the major participants in the economic institutions or activities. We are not the major players. I think that for this reason Government has an important role to play, and Government is the organisation which collects to see that we get our share, although we are no longer involved in the primary economic activity. Although we might not, as Caymanians, be involved in the hotels or the banks, we as a nation support the existence and make possible the existence of these economic activities. Therefore, Government does have a legitimate claim on some of the profits made by these institutions.

We have been very liberal with this in these islands, but I am saying that it has now come to the time where they have taxed us. Not only taxed our physical environment, but our social and mental environment to the extent where Government is having to pay, in regard to salaries, and in regard to capital works, very large sums of money. As the Third Elected Member for West Bay said, when he was in Government it was $14 million, and now it is over $200 million. But we see why this has happened and we understand the rapid pace of development.

When we understand the profit that Foster's was making ten years ago, and we understand the profit that Foster's, as well as Kirkconnell's is making today in terms of supermarkets, then we understand why there is an increase. Just as there is an increase in the profits that the merchant is making, there is an increase in the money in which Government will have to spend. Therefore, our position is: The more development, the more Government has to find money, and the more the Government will have to tax the indigenous (the so called 'first arrivals') average person, through the indirect taxation system in order to collect these revenues to ensure that we maintain social equilibrium in this country.

Sensible business people will say that they would like to help pay. People who have had experiences in countries like Jamaica, and other countries that are falling apart because of the lack of political agreement and social harmony, would prefer to pay. It is much better to pay a dollar out of a suitcase than to have to run around with a suitcase full of money not knowing where to stay and finding no security even for yourself. I think that what we are offering here is a new opportunity to the responsible developer who is coming with a conscience, saying "Since I escape paying exorbitant taxes in Germany or the United States, I don't mind contributing something towards the upkeep of the community in the Cayman Islands, because it is the community of which I am a part."

I think that in all we are doing we must remember that there are people out there with money who also know what is good for them, who know that the Cayman Islands is good for them, and they are not going to pick up their suitcases of money and leave tomorrow simply because we are asking them to share this responsibility and obligation with us to preserve this beautiful social order. They are not going to run.

Why are we not going up as a buffer between the kind of fear which institutions like the Chamber of Commerce are trying to inflict by telling the average man that tomorrow he will not have this or that, or that older people will be the first people to lose their jobs, or whatever the propaganda is? It is like the duppy—we have never seen the duppy, but most of us believe in the duppy. It is the same as every one of us believing, that somehow, just like the duppy, the money is going to run from here if we don't behave in a particular manner.

We have to be men (or women) enough to sit at the table with people who want to do business here and say this is the price for doing business with us. We are developed enough at this particular time to really pick and choose. But something that we can no longer choose is a high cost to maintain social harmony or to provide the roads. If West Bay gets a civic centre, George Town wants one, East End wants one. If they get a clinic, everybody wants. And everybody wants it now! Yet, Government is being blamed at one particular point for trying to explore, at least, avenues for raising revenue.

What I am advocating is that we do not run away from our task, that we do not give in to pressure groups; that we do not pretend that they can have the interest of the entire society when they only have their own interests. We must not fall into that. Although we will be democratic, and listen, we should not listen and be changing what we intended to do at the same time. We listen first, then, if we are convinced, maybe we will change. But there is too much of the

'I-want-to-get-elected-again' attitude, there is too much 'about-my-job' attitude. I will tell you that I have lost jobs before, and I will probably continue to lose jobs because I will always say my job is what I do. I am more concerned about doing my job than whether or not I will lose it.

What I have had to say, and what I will say is that not everybody will understand exactly all that I have said. But even if they understand part of what I say, the thrust of what I am saying is that we should be in charge. I want us to be in charge. I want the Government of this country to act like the Government of this country, and to act with the pride, the dignity and sophistication that the people of this country have acted with. I want the Government of this country to be like my Grandfather, Lemmie McField, and stand up to the people who are telling us that, somehow, without them we could not exist. That is what I want the Government of this country to do.

Only a strong Government will develop strong people and encourage strong people. We need the people of this country to take their example from us and to get together and begin to co-operate and be stronger. Otherwise, we will cease to exist as a group of people. That will be a tragedy to the world, because the world would have missed the greater carriers of the torch of liberty and humanity—the people of the Cayman Islands.

We have to prepare ourselves to work together in this House, and to become a little bit more responsive towards constructive criticism. We have people in this House versed in different fields and with different talents who pledged to put it all at the disposal of the people of the Cayman Islands. Let us put these things together for the good of the people.

I have seen that the Monetary Authority has expanded itself and that we have a stock exchange. That relates back to what I said about Government trying to provide services to improve businesses on the island. While the Caymanians are not the direct recipients of these services, they do benefit from them at the end of the day, and we do appreciate that there is growth in the economy of this island. But we are paying for that growth. We have to find over $250 million, we are obviously paying for maintaining the growth.

We are asking that when we sit down to discuss this with people that they remember, if they can come and make $70,000 per year on a condominium, tax free, that somehow if people are complaining about the roads being congested in the areas where they have that condominium it makes good sense to help alleviate that. The Government of these islands have proved to be stable minded people, not greedy, not wanting everything. They have always been very liberal in terms of seeking money. As a matter of fact, they have been too liberal in many cases.

We see a lot of the areas where Government has not updated the cost, so the Government is actually paying more to provide the service than they are getting from those institutions. For instance, the Planning Department: It would be interesting to do an exercise to see whether or not they are paying more for the Planning Department than they are getting back in terms of fees. It would be interesting to see if the Post Office, is paying more for the letter boxes than people are paying for them.

It is not what we, as individuals, want. It's not that we want to tax the people. We are here to recognise the needs and to find solutions. One part of the solution is finding money. We are not going to be able to do anything in this country unless we sell the idea that we have the right to raise money. A Government without the power to tax is a powerless Government. You can do nothing without finances.

People are not going to volunteer their services. They will tell you this now. They will say, 'let's have a volunteer service for this or that', but when the time comes, no one shows up. If you had to wait for a volunteer ambulance to get you to the hospital when you were having a heart attack... no, you want to make sure the ambulance is going to come there. They are on call. You have those services available to you and you will never miss them until you really need them. It is just like the police. Most people do not think the police are so great until they need them, and then they realise how necessary the police really are.

I think that we need to consider ways to raise revenue, and we need to consider the fact that certain groups are benefiting more than others. We need to understand that the guy who has a condominium here who is making $70,000 a year on his condominium, is making a profit, and that the little guy, the Caymanian who lives here, is not. We are not asking that they be made equal, all we are asking is that the responsibility for the upkeep of this beloved society be made on a more equal par.

We are saying that we are going to encourage Government to look in the direction of the impact fees, to see what can be worked out with the developers. We are not saying that they should pay for us. All we are saying is that they should pay for themselves. It is the environment that they came here to benefit from and to cherish.

In regard to Immigration: I think it is time that we at least increase the core members of our organisation, Cayman Islands. In other words, the core is too small for the apple. Somehow I think we have to, in dealing with Immigration—which is a question related to labour and capital, and related to fairness and to paying—also consider the fact that we have to extend citizenship to a larger number of people.

The reason why I say this is because I started to mention that a person is not just biological—a person is sociological. So, if a child is born in the Cayman Islands, and the child continues to stay in the Cayman Islands because nobody hampers that child's residency for a period of 18 years, the child becomes 18 but the child has no status. Who is that child? I would say at the end of the day that the child is a Caymanian, because sociologically the child is a Caymanian.

Now, if somebody is born in Houston, Texas, or Mobile, Alabama, and one parent happened to be a Caymanian and the child has no sociological Caymanian traits recognisable to me—What is that child? Is it an American? Or, is it a Caymanian? Should there be such a thing as hereditary citizenship? Do you inherit a citizenship because of your genes? Do you inherit a citizenship because of your obligations and your responsibilities? I believe that we must move away from these hereditary ascribed characteristics whether or not it be racial or nationalistic or whatever. I believe that we must move more towards assessing a person as a result of who they are. I do not think that this conflicts at all with what I said before, because once I finally decide who a Caymanian is, I can then decide who will be a Caymanian.

In America, when you go to become an American citizen, the reason they can make you an American citizen is because they know what the sociological requirements for citizenship are (not the biological requirements, because those are unimportant, but the sociological requirements). That is why they get up and say, "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America...." It is a sociological requirement—that you understand what America is all about. Once you understand that, you can serve America, and America can serve you. "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country." So we are going to be asking people what they can do for the Cayman Islands. Obviously, if the answer is, "I want to do this or that for the Cayman Islands...", they are the Caymanians. Those are the people we want to have relationships with.

Therefore, in terms of our immigration policy, I think it is at a cross-road at this particular point. I think it is going to take big men to make big decisions. We must stop dragging our feet about the fact that we are small. We are small in size, but we are not producing very much, so most of the space we have is residential space. We have over 18,000 people on work permits. Why do we have so many people on work permits?

A lot of the people on work permits should have status anyway. The reason is because they have lived up to their social responsibilities to this nation. They have been productive people in this environment. They have been law-abiding people in this environment. Some people say that if we give them status they have the right to work. But if we have created a situation where we will not have fewer jobs, but only more, then they will not be taking a job from a Caymanian. How could they be taking a job from a Caymanian when there are so many jobs available?

What would they be doing then? They would have a right to vote. They would have a right to influence what I say.... But they are doing that anyway. I am saying that a lot of people have the right to vote but they have no status. A lot of people are living in this country earning a living but they have no status. So what is it all about? Why don't we face it? Why don't we look at the contradiction?

You cannot expect a Jamaican child who came here when he was two years old to speak in a Caymanian accent when we don't even want to accept him. I am telling you that we can define what is Caymanian because we say that as long as he has a heightened sense of humanity he is a Caymanian. So we need to look at these issues together. If we play politics with it all it will do is destroy our nation. These are hard issues, because Immigration issues are a matter of life and death to some people. Tribalism is something that seems to be built into every man. Even when we have a wife, we might get up one morning and say, "Boy, she don't look like me today, so I don't like her." (laughter)

Let us strive to get over these Immigration issues as softly as possible. We know that we are behind the times with them. If the British Law says that we cannot take the right to vote away because they already had it, why are we postponing giving them the final right, which is citizenship?

Mr. Roy Bodden: True!

Dr. Frank McField: People who voted in this last election could vote in the elections before. There are a lot of people who influence politics that way. But there is a new factor that I have brought into perspective, which is the factor of people who cannot vote but who still go to the Lions Centre. What I am saying is that influence is influence; it's six of one, and half-a-dozen of the other. Whether or not it comes about because of political influence or economic power, we know that we are sharing the decision making process with everybody else because they are sharing with us. Trade means interdependencies.

I am asking why we are creating the trauma? Why are we causing people who are married to Caymanians to lose their residency? I have asked a few questions about this, but up to this point there are no answers. I know that there are a lot of mothers out there supporting Caymanian children—at least the law says the children are Caymanian, it does not say that the mother is. The law says the mother is a foreigner.

I have talked about foreign influence, and now I am talking about "foreign" again, but I am talking about it from a different perspective. I am talking about obligation, involvement, responsibilities and associations: by association, the person has a different position. If a woman is married to a Caymanian, and the woman happens to be from Jamaica, and she has lived here and had children with the man, and she is supporting those children—like a lot of Caribbean women, the mothers are the economic backbones in a lot of these families—we are penalising them in this country because we put them back into the status where they have to get work permits. It is a disadvantage for them, therefore, it is a disadvantage to the future Caymanian children.

Mr. Roy Bodden: And it's immoral!

Dr. Frank McField: That is the point.

Now, how are we going to solve this problem? Are we just going to do the same thing we did with the Chamber of Commerce? Are we just going to get a little flack and then pull back, or are we going to say this is a moral obligation? Are we going to be in the same position the United States was with the question of slavery? with the North believing one thing and the South believing another? where they had to go to war because it had to be settled - because it was a question that divided the country!

Most of us are sharing some kind of relationship with people from some other country, whether it is a working relationship, whether or not it be a personal relationship, or whether or not it be the Governor of the Cayman Islands.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Thank you.

Dr. Frank McField: As long as we can find people who measure up to our moral yardstick, to our concept of self; as long as they can measure up, we should have no problems accepting them as being a part of our covenant.

We are Christian people. We have one Father. But somehow, when we can share the same nation, we say we will not share the same nation. How come? When somebody has been here for 20 or 30 years, why do they have to go around and still be second class? Why? Who benefits from that? Do you think the average Caymanian benefits from this? The average Caymanian might be fooled into thinking that they benefit from somebody having this second class political status, but the average Caymanian does not benefit from that at all. Do you know why? Because right now, even when we bring this tax package, do you know how much money we would have been able to collect from all of the building materials that would have come into the country over the last year with people who would have built homes rather than sending their money to Jamaica and Honduras?

Mr. Roy Bodden: True, true!

Dr. Frank McField: Do you know how much revenue we would have earned?

Do you know how many plumbers we would have employed? Do you know what the economics of this country would have been like?

Mr. Roy Bodden: Now you're talking, brother.

Dr. Frank McField: They would have made this not only a place to work, but a place to spend!

What we have done through our law and through our naiveté, our ignorance and arrogance in certain cases, is make it a place where they can work, but not a place where they can spend.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Right on.

Dr. Frank McField: We want them to spend their money back here, and the only way to do that is to create the conditions for that.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Preach, preach. You're talking the truth.

Dr. Frank McField: The conditions for that means, of course, not trying to be like South Africa and having one citizenship for this group, and one for another, because that will eventually break down. If men cannot learn to live as equals everything will break down. You might as well begin with the premise that somehow it is expedient to at least establish an equal or level playing field.

We have women in this country who have two or three children. They are separated, or divorced, but they still have to go back to the man to get the little beauty salon licence—because they are not Caymanians, and not entitled to own it. We get things like that happening.

We get women who are somehow dependent upon men—men who are on drugs, who are abusing these women and holding them for ransom—simply because of their legal status in this country. These men are Caymanians and these women are not; yet these women are the ones who are truly raising our Caymanian children.

I never tell anybody who to marry. I think that we should somehow leave that up to the individual. If you marry because of your bad choices, then it is going to have to be your problem. But, if Princess Ann and Prince Charles could get a divorce—and that does not seem to have destroyed the Empire—I don't see why the little Jamaican woman and the Caymanian man cannot get a divorce without it destroying the Cayman Islands (laughter).

I am not saying that there might not be one or two situations, but we cannot be ruled by the fact that there are one or two bad apples. We cannot be inconvenienced, and people's humanity cannot be violated simply because we have one or two people who do it. And there are people who talk about getting married for economic reasons. Well, did Princess Diana get married for economic reasons? The Royal Family has been getting married for economic reasons for the past 2,000 years!

The Speaker: I will ask the Honourable Member to leave the Royal family out of his debate, please.

Dr. Frank McField: I apologise, Mr. Speaker. I was just using that as an example. Rather than talking about that family, I will talk about the 'aristocrats' who are in the same class category.

What I am trying to demonstrate here is that marriage has to do with economics, it has to do with power and it has to do with keeping society stable and intact. Therefore, marriage is not always because of love or whatever.

I think it was Martin Luther, a German reformist, who stressed that poor people, and not only the rich, should be able to get married. Before that, only the rich got married, so it goes to show my point that marriage is because of economic convenience. So what are we doing here flogging the poor person for? Are we are flogging the poor person because it makes economic consideration?

When I went to the United States, I went because of economic reasons. Most of the people I know who left this country left for economic reasons. Those who could stay, stayed for economic reasons because they could still make it here. The point I am making is that we are saying the reason why we are taking the residency or status away from these people who were married to Caymanians is because we believe they married them for convenience and because of economic conditions.

Now, if you are married to someone for eight or ten years and you have a problem with them, who gives anyone the right to say that the person has not done their time, or not been a loyal partner, that they are in breach of the contract? What gives us the right to say that it is not the other partner who is in breach of the contract? But because he/she is a Caymanian they keep their rights and the other person loses all their rights. Yet, in many cases that person still has the obligation because they still have to support the children.

My heart really goes out to a lot of these women, in particular, who have the responsibility of supporting the children. But because we are guarding our citizen's rights in such a way as to not see an increase in our citizenship, which is the law of natural development—by increasing that we would be increasing our economic prosperity and productivity. We would be increasing it.

MOMENT OF INTERRUPTION - 4.30 PM Standing Order 10(2)

PRAYERS

Hon. John B. McLean: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that we may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of our high office.

All this we ask for Thy Great Name's sake.

Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

PRESENTATION OF PAPERS AND REPORTS

ROYAL CAYMAN ISLANDS POLICE ANNUAL REPORT 1996

Hon. James M. Ryan: Mr. Speaker, I beg to lay on the Table of this Honourable House the 1996 Annual Report of the Royal Cayman Islands Police Service.

The Speaker: So ordered.
The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The Report continues to be what I consider high quality. It is very informative, and will now be disseminated to various sources, perhaps of a slightly different nature, but related to police. I wish to state that I am sorry to see the Commissioner of Police, Mr. Anthony Grey, taking retirement at the end of his present contract early next year. Mr. Grey has done a very commendable job as Commissioner, and we will be sad to see him go. His Excellency the Governor will be looking for a replacement when he is in the United Kingdom later this year. I am sure that when the time approaches, Members will want to wish the Commissioner well as he retires.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say if in areas such as auto mechanics, electrical installations and electronics, cookery, etcetera, any consideration is being given for students to receive practical experience through secondment with organisations cooperating with the Community College, or are these courses mainly limited to the campus of the Community College?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: A compulsory part of these courses is that students have work experience off campus.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Minister state if there are any requirements for..... [microphone not turned on] of the programmes outlined in the answer?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: There are 36 different courses, and if you take the stages there are 41. It is necessary on some, and on others it is not. If the Honourable Member could be specific, I would endeavour to answer.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: [microphone not turned on] Can the Honourable Minister state what courses, as outlined in his answer, do not require...?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: That is why I pointed out that there are 41 courses. For me to give an answer dealing with 41 courses.... I would have to do that in writing.

If the Member has a specific course in mind, I may be able to answer it. But at this stage, I just cannot tell you exactly what is necessary on every one of these. If you tell me which one you wish to have, maybe I can tell you.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Minister state what the academic requirements for the electrical licensing course are?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I do not have the answer to that. I will have to supply that in writing.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: To make life a bit easier, would the Minister undertake to provide the answer to the original supplementary in writing regarding all of these courses?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: As I said earlier, I will be happy to. But I do point out the complexity of this. For example, the Chartered Institute of Bankers (CIB), of which I am an associate, has a totally different academic requirement, because it is an overseas exam. Some are controlled by the college, some are not. If a person does not have the necessary entrance requirements for the CIB they cannot enter it. Therefore, the course cannot be offered to them, even though they may meet other requirements for study at the college.

I will supply the answer to the Member in writing.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Minister state if all the courses outlined in his answer are active, or are any of the courses without students at present.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Out of the 36 courses, only one is not active because not enough students applied. That is the auto mechanics course.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Minister say if any of the technical and vocational areas are extended to Cayman Brac and Little Cayman?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I would have to supply that in writing. I do not have that at present.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 40, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 40

No. 40: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works to state Government's policy regarding the importation of sod and lawn grasses into the Cayman Islands.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: Effective June 1996, Government placed restrictions on the importation of sod into the Cayman Islands. However, Government has taken the policy to allow the importation of lawn grasses in the form of grass seed, sprigs or grass cuttings, and grass plugs free of growing media.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister state why the Government placed restrictions on the importation of sod and lawn grasses?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: The Department of Agriculture intercepted and sent back a shipment of Zoysia Sod from Florida, certified by their inspectors, which was infested with plant pests. Five different species of pests were identified, three of which are serious turf pests of economic and quarantine importance.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 41, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 41

No. 41: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable First Official Member how many Government Departments are connected to the Internet.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: No Government Department is connected directly to the Internet. However, specific officers in 18 Departments or Sections have the potential to access the Internet via temporary dial-up connections.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say whether there are any plans for direct access to the Internet, and, if there are, will this be limited to specific officers, or will there be unlimited access for anyone in the departments?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: That is dependent on facilities provided by Cable & Wireless.

The Speaker: The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Can the Honourable Member state the 18 departments with access to the Internet?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The 18 departments or sections are: The Ministry for Communications and Works, Finance and Development, Department of the Environment, Department of Environmental Health, Internal Audit, Legal Department, MRCU, the Post Office, Ministry of Tourism, Ministry of Community Development, Portfolio of Internal and External Affairs, Ministry of Education, Fire Department, Lands and Survey, the Marine Survey Department, Police, Public Works Department, and Computer Services.

The Speaker: The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Would the Honourable Member say if any consideration was given to the recommendation by the House Committee that the Legislative Assembly be offered this service?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The matter will be subject to budget approval.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Member say whether any consideration is being given to extending this service to District Administration?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Again, the service would be subject to budgetary restraints, but it is really left to the department to request it. To my knowledge there have been no requests.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Is the Honourable Member saying that the provision of funds has been submitted for the expansion of this service to the Legislative Assembly, or is he saying that it is left to this Honourable House to make that interjection if we deem it necessary?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The Computer Services Section included funds in their estimates to cover the Legislative Assembly. Whether those funds are still in the Budget document is uncertain at this point in time, but, in the final analysis, if the funds are approved there is no reason why the Legislative Assembly cannot have the dial-up access the same as users in other departments now have.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 42, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 42

No. 42: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable First Official Member to provide a breakdown of the achievements of the Drugs Assets Confiscation Unit over the past four years.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The Unit previously known as the Drug Profits Confiscation Unit was set up in September 1989. In January 1993, as a result of the varied role which it was being asked to fulfil, the name was changed to the Financial Investigation Unit.

The Unit has a responsibility to assist in the identification and restraint of drug trafficking proceeds under the Misuse of Drugs Law and with disclosures made under that legislation. In the period from January 1993 to the present, it has dealt with approximately 350 disclosures made under the Misuse of Drugs Law, and since 21st January, 1997, has dealt with 24 disclosures under the Proceeds of Criminal Conduct Law.

The Unit has assisted the Drugs Task Force over the years in identifying the assets of drug traffickers. Contrary to common belief, many persons charged with possession with intent to supply drugs have little or no trappings of wealth as the tendency is to spend their profit on more of the product or on having a "Good Time." Since January 1993, it has investigated approximately 20 drug traffickers in an effort to identify their assets.

From an international perspective there has been cooperation in a number of major money laundering cases. The most notorious being "Operation Green Ice" which resulted world-wide in the arrest of several major drug traffickers.

In one case, after conviction a lot of land valued at $30,000 was restrained. In another, despite a two month investigation into the assets of the drug trafficker, which revealed 22 associated accounts and property totalling just under $1 million, no mention was made of this to the court, and therefore no confiscation occurred.

This unit is always available to assist the Drugs Task Force with any investigation, however, it is not always called upon to do so.

In addition to the above, the current objectives of the Financial Investigation Units are to maintain the integrity of the Cayman Islands Financial Sector, and prevent criminal abuse of the system by assisting the Monetary Authority. In the past four years it has assisted with the closure of the Finsbury Bank and Trust and the ensuing investigations. More recently it played an active role in the closure of Guardian Bank and Trust, and is continuing investigations into malpractice by the bank and its officers.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I would just like to bring to your attention that the Honourable House has only one sheet, so we have not been able to follow the Honourable Member as he read his answer.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Mr. Speaker, my apologies for that. The supplementary information was attached, and that is my fault. The answer ended at the end of the first page.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: I thank the Honourable Member for pre-empting my supplementary I was going to ask. Mr. Speaker, he is an old 'Miconian', like me, so he anticipated what the logical supplementary question would be.

I was going to ask if the Cayman Islands benefited from any of these seizures on the international level, and the Member partially answered that. I would like to now ask if the revelation and disclosures (the 24) were of an international nature or were some within the jurisdiction of the Cayman Islands

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I am afraid that I will have to give that answer in writing. I do not actually have the breakdown on that.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 43, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 43

No. 43: Mr. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture if there are any further developments regarding the establishment of a Juvenile Remand Centre.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The staff of the Social Services Department has completed all the necessary groundwork regarding the establishment of a Remand/Secure Centre for juveniles. Being a very small department in a very small community, the department does not have the specialist expertise within its existing staff group to advise Government on the precise needs both in terms of programme and building development of the Remand Centre.

As a result, a project officer has been recruited from a similar facility in the United Kingdom to undertake these duties. In terms of the programme for the Remand Centre, he will work very closely with the Social Services Department. In terms of the construction of the facility, he will work closely with the Public Works Department. The project officer is now in post and has commenced working on an operations' brief.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Is the Honourable Minister in a position to give an indication as to where this remand centre might be located?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: That is one of the reasons why we have this technical person from the United Kingdom, to take his advice on exactly where this should go.

There have been two or three thoughts on this matter. I favour using the site of what was to be the Dr. Hor- tor Memorial Hospital and developing that into some type of facility. Some people in PWD close to the project prefer another location. But no reasons have been given as to why we could not develop that site as yet. That is as far as it has gone.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I thank the Honourable Minister for his detailed answer. Is the Minister in a position to say if there is any kind of time frame with regard to seeing the project come to fruition?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: As I said, we have not gotten that far. I will tell him that I would like to see it done as quickly as possible, as the need is very evident. We will have to wait and see if the public will tell us to spend the money or not, but it has been a matter pushed for by the Justices of the Peace Association and the Police—in fact, everyone concerned, for quite a long time. I am hoping to get it operational as soon as possible.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Can the Honourable Minister say if a remand home is the same as a juvenile prison?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The facility, which is under-way, is designed to be a short-term remand facility. It is not designed to be a long-term juvenile prison. It is not meant to meet the needs of those retained during, for instance, Her Majesty's pleasure. It is not a long-term junior prison. If it is determined to be needed, I believe that this site can be developed into such.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Indeed, the need is very obvious, as the Minister has stated. In the meantime, can the Honourable Minister state if the West Bay lock-up is still the venue used, and, if so, are there are plans for improvements, or have improvements been made recently to make the facility a bit more accommodating?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The West Bay Police Station is still the only resource that we have available, outside of the Cayman Islands Marine Institute which is not a secure facility. That is one of the reasons why I am saying that I hope to have this matter completed as quickly as possible. That is also why I think we should use the buildings at the Dr. Hortor Memorial Hospital site. We would be well underway. At the same time, if there is someone knowledgeable in this type of operation, we have to listen to his advice. I hope it does not differ too much from the Dr. Hortor Memorial site or else it will be a long time before we get one.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 44, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 44

No. 44: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture whether Government would investigate the possibility of erecting a community park on designated land in the George Town subdivision known as Palm Dale.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Government is investigating the possibility of erecting a community park on designated land in the George Town sub-division known as Palm Dale. The Ministry of Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works, at the request of my Ministry, is presently looking into two parcels of land in this sub-division which could be used for a community park.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Minister state if the two parcels mentioned in his answer are presently designated as 'public open space', or are they privately owned?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: That is the dilemma we have in regard to this park requested by the residents, for which we see the need. During the Planning process, the 'open space' was not left in the sub-division. There is no 'public open space.' I understand that it was shown on the map but still remains in the name of the proprietor of the sub-division. We have had a hard time getting property there from individuals for the park.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Minister state if the present owners of any of these properties have been contacted directly to see if they would agree to doing the required transfer?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: As I understand it (and if I remember correctly), the owners were contacted but are under no obligation. I believe that a hefty sum was being asked.

I certainly believe that there is an obligation, since it was on the map, and since every sub-division should have 'public open space.' Why this one is different, I do not know. I do not understand why it is on the map, yet registered in his name.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Can the Honourable Minister state if the piece of property we are talking about is surrounded by a public road? Is it the piece of property which is like an island, surrounded by public road?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr. Speaker, I cannot say that it is completely surrounded. It is well accessed by roads.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I know that I have to ask this as a question, and if you will bear with me it will end up as such. In a conversation with the present owner of one of the properties, I was told that she was quite happy to co-operate. That conversation was a very recent conversation, and my question to the Honourable Minister is if he will undertake to pursue that?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I am very glad to hear about that change of heart. As I said in the substantive answer, the Lands and Survey Department is investigating this. It is still very active, and I hope that I am allowed to spend the money. I don't want to go begging again.

The Speaker: We have reached the hour of 11 o'clock. I will entertain a motion to suspend Standing Orders in order to continue Question Time.

The Third Elected Member for George Town.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8) 11.04 AM

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Under Standing Order 83, I beg to move a motion that Standing Order 23 (7) and (8) be suspended in order for Question Time to continue.

The Speaker: Is there a seconder?

The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I beg to second the motion.

The Speaker: The motion has been duly moved and seconded. I shall put the question that Standing Orders be suspended. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8) SUSPENDED TO ENABLE QUESTION TIME TO CONTINUE.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 45, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 45

No. 45: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable First Official Member to state whether there are any plans to expand and/or relocate the Creek Police Station on Cayman Brac.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: There are no plans for the expansion or relocation of the Police Station on Cayman Brac.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Member say when last any renovation and/or expansion was made to the said building?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I am unable to quote exact dates, although I know that some renovations have been within the last three years. But the question did not actually enquire about renovations. There may be alterations done in due course, depending upon what happens with the 9-1-1 service for Cayman Brac.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Has the Honourable Member been made aware of the fact that there is a lack of office space at the police station at present?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: No, Mr. Speaker, I have not been made aware of this.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 46, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

The Member is not in the Chamber. We will go on to question No. 47 and come back to this one.

The Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 47

No. 47: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable First Official Member if there is a category of Caymanian

Status applications subjected to a moratorium and, if so, what is the category, and the number of applications pending.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: There are two categories of Caymanian status applications subjected to a moratorium. They are, status on the grounds of residency (section 15(1) of the Immigration Law 1992), and status on the grounds of being registered or naturalised as a British Dependent Territories Citizen (BDTC) (section 15(4) of the same Law).

Under section 15(1) (grounds of residency), there are 60 applications pending, and under section 15(4) (grounds of being registered or naturalised as a BDTC), there are 40 applications pending. The moratorium on these two categories has been in effect since October 1990.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Can the Honourable Member say whether or not by 'application pending' he means that these applications have not yet been reviewed?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Perhaps yes, and no, Mr. Speaker. The applications cannot be reviewed until the moratorium is lifted. So, in that regard, the answer is no they have not been reviewed. But the other side is that they will not be reviewed unless and until such time as the moratorium is lifted and a quota set.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Can the Honourable Member say whether or not this is the full number of persons who would perhaps be entitled to apply for status under these two clauses? Is that a true reflection of the number entitled to apply?

The Speaker: I think you are asking the Honourable Member to give an opinion, and that is not allowed.

The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Would the Honourable Member provide a breakdown of the pending applications according to nationality?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The breakdown by nationality on applications under section 15(1), that is grounds of residency, is: 35 applications from Jamaica, 8 from the United Kingdom, 10 from the United States of America, 2 from Honduras, 2 from Cuba, 1 from Antigua, 2 from Canada.

Under the category of Registration or Naturalisation, that is section 15(4), there are 24 from Jamaica, 5 from Honduras, 2 from Cuba, 4 from Barbados, 4 from Nicaragua, 1 from the Netherlands.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Since the moratorium has been in effect since October 1990, would the Honourable Member state why the Government is still accepting applications and why fees are not reimbursed when applications are refused?

Maybe I could re-word that. Can the Honourable Member state why applications are still being accepted if the moratorium is still in place?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The Law does not allow the Immigration Department to refuse applications, and anyone who wishes to put in an application, I suppose is free to do so. I do not know if the Member would like the Immigration Department to say they are not going to accept any more applications, but until something is done to that effect, there is nothing to hinder people from applying. Certainly, Immigration does not seek applications.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I thank the Honourable Member for that answer. I am trying ascertain if it is fair to the public, if a moratorium is in place, for application fees to be accepted, especially when most of the applicants are not aware of the moratorium and not aware that the fees will not be reimbursed.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I am rather surprised at the question, knowing that that Member was part of the Government that put the moratorium in place. In any event, the public knows. I do not think there is a single person in the Cayman Islands who is eligible to apply who does not know that there is a moratorium on these two categories.

As I said, earlier, the Immigration Department does not have any authority to not accept a person's application simply because there is a moratorium. The Immigration Department does not deal with it, it is a matter dealt with by the Governor.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I want to thank the Member for reminding me of that fact, but he still has not answered my question. Regardless of which Government puts something in place, I think it is the Government in power that operates it.

My question is: If this moratorium is now in place, and it is expected to remain in place for quite a long time to come, is it fair and honest to the public for fees to be taken from them when there is no intention to grant them status?

The Speaker: Honourable Third Elected Member for George Town, that question cannot be allowed. You are asking him for an opinion. I think he has quoted you what the Law says.

If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 48, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 48

No. 48: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture what are Government's policies in regard to the provision of low income housing for individuals who are in need of such housing, but who are unable to qualify for the necessary mortgage loan financing.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The published guidelines for participation in the Guaranteed Home Mortgage Scheme clearly sets out the eligibility requirements for borrowers. Basically, if the applicant is a Caymanian, with individual or family income not exceeding CI$60,000 per year, and will own and occupy the dwelling and does not have sufficient assets to qualify for a standard bank mortgage, he can participate in this scheme.

Applicants who are employed can therefore qualify for a mortgage under the Government's Guaranteed Home Mortgage Scheme. The amount which they can qualify for is determined by their income level. For example, if the applicant's, or the family's, income is only $1,300 per month, they can qualify for a mortgage of CI$40,000; if their income is $3,200 per month they can qualify for a mortgage of $100,000. Those are joint incomes.

As I pointed out in an answer to a similar Parliamentary question in September 1995, the problem in providing homes for the lower income sector is not their ability to qualify for a mortgage, but the unavailability of homes which can be purchased or built for the amount these persons qualify to borrow.

As I pointed out in an answer to a related question last year, Government has appointed an "Affordable Housing Exploratory Committee" to fully examine and make recommendations for an effective, feasible and acceptable lower income housing initiative for these Islands. This particular sector remains of concern to Government, and includes single-parent families as well as low-wage earners. This Government fully realises that people who own their own homes are generally more content, have more of a stake in the country and are better citizens as a result.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: In the substantive answer, the Minister refers to an "Affordable Housing Exploratory Committee." Can the Honourable Minister state how this Committee functions, and what its terms of reference are?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr. Speaker, I think the Member has a substantive question on the Order Paper in regard to that particular supplementary. So, if he permits me, I would prefer to wait until that question comes up.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 49, standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 49

No. 49: Dr. Frank McField asked the Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works if consideration is being given to providing the elected representatives of George Town with permanent office space.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: No provision is currently being made to provide Elected Representatives of George Town with permanent office space. Previously space was made available at the Campbell Building on a temporary basis, but due to requirements of the Education Department, that space was taken back.

I would further state that it is my understanding that upon my recommendation to the George Town MLAs they have met and the matter is now being sorted out.

The Speaker: Are there any supplementaries? If not, the next question is No. 50, standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 50

No. 50: Dr. Frank McField asked the Honourable First Official Member if there is still a policy limiting the grant of Caymanian Status to persons who can qualify for such status under the Law, and, if so, is there any consideration being given to removing this limitation.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: There are certain categories for the grant of Caymanian status which fall within a prescribed quota. Those categories are Caymanian status on grounds of residency, and Caymanian status on grounds of being naturalised as a British Dependent Territories Citizen. I am unable to provide specific information on the removal of these limitations since this is a policy decision.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The Honourable Member stated the two categories which fall within a prescribed quota. Can the Honourable Member state what the quota is for each of those two categories?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: There is no fixed quota under the Law. In the past there has been an instance where the number ten was set as a quota under the category dealing with British Dependent Territory citizenship, and I believe 12 may have been the quota set under the other section. But there is no fixed quota.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: For purposes of clarity, could the Honourable Member state if any applications under these two categories are being dealt with presently, or are they are simply not being handled?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: No application can be dealt with under those categories until such time as a quota is set by the Governor in Executive Council.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: The Honourable Member stated that there are two categories within a prescribed quota. I know that he said there is no official number on that quota, but can he say what numbers the Immigration Board is operating under as a quota?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The Immigration Board is not operating under any quota because the quota has to be set by the Governor in Executive Council. Unless, and until such time, that is done, then they are all under the moratorium.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: In the interim, would the Honourable Member state whether applications are still being received for these categories?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: It is my understanding that applications do come in from time to time. We have no mechanism for refusing them, but as I said earlier, until a quota is set they cannot be considered.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Based on the fact that these applications cannot be dealt with presently, how is the Immigration Department dealing with these applications (by way of the time when they came in) based on the future possibility of a quota being established?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: It is my understanding that all applicants are told at the time they bring their applications in that the section under which they are applying is under a moratorium. The necessary record is kept of when the application is submitted to the Immigration Board. Beyond that I am unable to say by what process they will be considered, if they are considered at all.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 51, standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 51

No. 51: Dr. Frank McField asked the Honourable First Official Member whether any special consideration is given to readmitting the spouse of a Caymanian to the Islands after a specified period following his/her deportation.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Special consideration is sometimes given to the spouse of a Caymanian to be readmitted to the Islands after a specified period following his/her deportation, Depending upon the reasons given for the proposed journey. Additionally, section 61(2) of the Immigration Law, 1992, provides that the Governor may at any time revoke a deportation order or vary or modify its terms so as to permit the person in respect of whom it is made to enter and land in the Islands for such purpose, and subject to such conditions as may be specified.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Member state when this was last actually done?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I noticed that Member was on his feet very quickly. The fact of the matter is that I do not have that answer with me. I can probably research it and give it to him in writing.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Certainly, Mr. Speaker.
Can the Honourable Member state if this has ever been done?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Yes, it has been done.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Member state when this was done?

The Speaker: I think you are repeating yourself.
The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Member say what the specified period is in any given circumstance?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Those conditions would be set down by the Governor in Council. I would not be able to state that here.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Pardon me, Mr. Speaker. I am not sure what happened just now. May I ask my question now?

The Speaker: Yes.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: As the Member did say in one of the supplementary answers that it has been done in the past, can he state when?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I thought I said that I did not have that information with me, and I that I was prepared to provide the answer in writing.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: This might also have to be answered in writing, but I would also seek to find out how many times it has been done in the past.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: For clarity, can I ask the Member to be a little more specific? Does he want me to go back 40 years? ten years? five years? How far?

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The past five years is fine.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Would the Honourable Member also provide the specific cases and the reasons for deportation in the cases that were reconsidered? Were they mild or harsh crimes?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Each case for reconsideration is dealt with on its own merits. If the Member is asking that I include in my written answer the reasons for those cases, I will be happy to supply that.

The Speaker: We will have to defer question No. 46, as the Honourable Minister for Tourism has not arrived. Will someone please move a motion that under Standing Order 23(5) we defer the question until a later sitting?
The First Elected Member for George Town.

DEFERMENT OF QUESTION NO. 46 Standing Order 23(5)

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I so move, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Do we have a seconder?

Dr. Frank McField: I so second it.

The Speaker: The question is that question No. 46 be deferred until a later sitting. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. QUESTION NO. 46 DEFERRED UNTIL A LATER SITTING DUE TO THE ABSENCE OF THE HONOURABLE MINISTER FOR TOURISM, COMMERCE AND TRADE.

Second Readings.

SECOND READINGS

THE TRADE AND BUSINESS LICENSING (AMENDMENT) (LICENSING BOARD) BILL, 1997

Clerk: The Trade and Business Licensing (Amendment) (Licensing Board) Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I move the second reading of a Bill entitled, A Bill for a Law to Amend the Trade and Business (Licensing) Law (1996 revision); to Establish a Trade and Business Licensing Board; and for Incidental and Connected Purposes.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill entitled, The Trade and Business Licensing (Amendment) (Licensing Board) Bill, 1997, be given a second reading.
The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: There have been calls in the past from Honourable Members for the establishment of a Board, to be called the Trade and Business Licensing Board, to process trade and business licences, and licences under the Local Companies (Control) Law. The fact of the matter is that the work load of the Immigration Board has increased enormously in the past few years, and Trade and Business licences and other applications made in accordance with the Trade and Business (Licensing) Law substantially add to that work load.

The short amending Bill today, along with the companion legislation, The Local Companies (Control) Law which we will deal with afterwards, will serve to authorise the appointment of the Trade and Business Licensing Board. The Board will be authorised to consider all applications for licences made in accordance with this Law, and, following such consideration, the granting or refusal of such applications in accordance with the provisions of this Law, the presentation of responses to appeals made under the Law and other such functions that are now conferred on the Immigration Board.

It is proposed that the Trade and Business Licensing Board will be styled in much the same way as the Immigration Board is, in that there will be a Chairman, a Deputy Chairman and seven members all of whom shall be appointed in accordance with the Law. It is proposed that the Chief Immigration Officer, or in his absence, his Deputy, will also be appointed. The appointment of members to the Board will be made by the Governor in Council, and it is proposed that they shall hold office for one year and shall be eligible for re-appointment.

I believe that this is a step in the right direction. I believe it will relieve the enormous pressure which the Immigration Board now has. I believe that it can only make the system function smoother. I accordingly commend this Bill to this Honourable House.

The Speaker: The question is that the Bill be given a second reading. The question is open to debate. (pause)

If no Member wishes to speak, would the Honourable Mover wish to reply?

Hon. James M. Ryan: I would just like to thank all Honourable Members for their silent support of this Bill. I look forward to its conclusion.

The Speaker: The question is that the Trade and Business Licensing (Amendment) (Licensing Board) Bill, 1997 be given a second reading. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. THE TRADE AND BUSINESS LICENSING (AMENDMENT) (LICENSING BOARD) BILL, 1997 GIVEN A SECOND READING.

THE LOCAL COMPANIES (CONTROL) (AMENDMENT) (LICENSING) BILL, 1997

Clerk: The Local Companies (Control) (Amendment) (Licensing) Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I move the second reading of a Bill entitled, A Bill for a Law to Amend the Local Companies (Control) Law (1995 Revision) to Transfer Responsibility for Licensing to a new Board and for Incidental and Connected Purposes.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill entitled, the Local Companies (Control) (Amendment) Licensing Bill, 1997, be given a second reading.

The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: This is the companion legislation I mentioned earlier. This, together with the earlier Bill, will put the necessary mechanisms in place for the appointment of the Trade and Business Licensing Board. This short Bill simply serves to tidy up the Law and to allow this to be done.

I do not think I can elaborate any further, because the primary amending legislation has already been spoken to. I look forward to seeing this passed.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill entitled, the Local Companies (Control) (Amendment) Licensing Bill, 1997, be given a second reading.

The motion is open for debate. (pause)

If no Member wishes to speak, does the Mover wish to reply?

Hon. James M. Ryan: Only to thank Honourable Members again for their silent support for this short Bill. I look forward to its speedy passing.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill entitled, the Local Companies (Control) (Amendment) Licensing Bill, 1997 be given a second reading.

I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. THE LOCAL COMPANIES (CONTROL) (AMENDMENT) (LICENSING) BILL, 1997 GIVEN A SECOND READING.

The Speaker: The House will now go into Committee to consider these two Bills.

THE LOCAL COMPANIES (CONTROL) (AMENDMENT) (LICENSING) BILL, 1997

Clerk: Clause 1. Short title and commencement.
Clause 2. Interpretation.
Clause 3. Amendment of section 2 - definitions.

The Chairman: The question is that clauses 1 through 3 do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

CLAUSES 1 THROUGH 3 PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 4. Amendment of section 11 - appeals.

The Chairman: The Honourable First Official Member has an amendment to Clause 4.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The notice of the Committee Stage amendment has been circulated. It is that the following paragraph be inserted at the end:

“(c) in subsection (2), by repealing “A licence shall be issued for such duration, not being less than twelve years” and substituting “A licence may not be issued for a duration longer than twelve years without the consent of the Governor.”

The Chairman: The question is that clause 4 be amended.

The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Under (b) “By inserting the following subsection 1A...” I just wonder if the Honourable Member can explain this for me. It reads: “(1A)The provisions of sections 8A, 8B and 8C of the Trade and Business Licensing Law (1996 Revision) shall, with any necessary adjustments, apply to appeals from decisions of the Board under this Law.”

Does that mean any necessary amendments? I don't know about “adjustments.”

The Chairman: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: May I just consult with the Honourable Second Official Member? (pause)

Mr. Chairman, may I have the Honourable Second Official Member explain this since he is the Attorney-General?

The Chairman: The Honourable Second Official Member.

Hon. Richard H. Coles: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. All it means is that instead of reciting the same provisions verbatim in this amending Bill, they are just incorporated by way of reference. If there were any necessary alterations to make it fit in this Bill, then they would be made. Not amendments, but just so that it fits in this Bill without repeating it.

The Chairman: The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Would those alterations come back to this Parliament to be approved, or how would they be done?

The Chairman: The Honourable Second Official Member.

Hon. Richard H. Coles: They would merely be adjustments to make grammatical sense. That is all.

The Chairman: The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Can the Honourable Member repeat that? Did he say “grammatical” corrections?

The Chairman: The Honourable Second Official Member.

Hon. Richard H. Coles: Yes, “grammatical.”

The Chairman: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: On the term for 12 years, is it possible with the way it is worded there for a Trade and Business Licence... well, is that the Local Control Business Licence? Is it possible for that to be issued for less than 12 years?

The Chairman: The Honourable Second Official Member.

Hon. Richard H. Coles: At the present time a licence cannot be issued for less than 12 years. In other words, 12 years is the minimum period for which it can be granted. The amendment will repeal that provision and substitute a provision where it can be granted for no longer than 12 years. So it can be granted for any period up to 12 years, but not exceeding 12 years without the consent of the Governor in Council.

The Chairman: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Would the party have the right to apply for a renewal of that licence once the 12 years has expired?

The Chairman: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Since it is a legal question, I would defer to my colleague, but I think the answer is, yes, that it can be done. This amendment would not in any way change what is currently being done.

The Chairman: If there are no further questions, I shall put the question that Clause 4 be amended. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

AMENDMENT TO CLAUSE 4 PASSED.

The Chairman: The question is that clause 4, as amended, do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

CLAUSE 4 AS AMENDED PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 5. Amendment of section 28 - confidentiality.

DEBATE ON THE 1997 THRONE SPEECH DELIVERED BY HIS EXCELLENCY MR. JOHN OWEN, MBE, GOVERNOR OF THE CAYMAN ISLANDS, ON FRIDAY, 7TH OF MARCH, 1997

-and-

THE BUDGET ADDRESS DELIVERED BY THE HON THIRD OFFICIAL MEMBER, FINANCIAL SECRETARY, ON WEDNESDAY, 12TH MARCH, 1997

(Continuation of debate thereon)

Dr. Frank McField: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I would like to briefly summarise my position thus far: What I have been attempting to do in my debate is define what a Caymanian really is, showing the importance of recognising our unique identity at this juncture; and using that unique identity as the core basis for the continuous development of our country on a social and political basis.

I was also dealing with the question of immigration. I think it is important to mention that we also came to these islands in boats—long ago our forefathers came in boats, so we are also immigrants to these shores. Although some came from Africa, and some came from Scotland and Ireland, we mixed together and became one people with one basic identity. So, part of my debate on immigration is to say that if this happened before, it is possible for it to happen today.

I have examined history, and to the best of my knowledge immigration has always been an essential part of human development. In most instances it has led to very positive, very progressive results. Our being here is as a result of immigration. It is a very positive exercise.

The fact is that people have been drawn to our shores as a result of economic factors, or what some people call the “pull factors” (meaning that the conditions within the Cayman Islands were ideal for people outside of the Cayman Islands) and they gravitate to it like fish do to bait. Obviously, it is a very instinctive action to move towards the safe and improved feeding grounds. So, part of my discourse on immigration is to say that it is not abnormal to have immigrants, it is not abnormal to consider ways of assimilating them into our social, political and economic order.

In fact, some of the immigrants here today came back in the 1950s. Some came in the 60s, 70s and 80s, and some have come in the 1990s. I would like to particularly mention those who came in the 1950s, and the contributions they made to these islands. I think that we too often forget about the role which labour plays in building a society, and we only remember the importance of capital.

I would like to refer to a letter by the Chamber of Commerce published in today's Caymanian Compass. They said, “Cayman would not be what it is today if it were not for the wealth brought here by international investors.” What they are saying is true. I agree that the international investor—which means the foreign person with capital—assisted with, and made possible the economic development of the Cayman Islands. But they are only seeing one side of the coin, Mr. Speaker, because the development of the Cayman Islands was also made possible by the foreign workers who came to the Cayman Islands, and were willing to employ their skills for the further development of amenities in the Cayman Islands, whether it be hotels, condominiums or whatever.

Some of the workers who came here in the 1950s, 1960s, and, in particular, the 1980s remain here because we continue to experience prosperous conditions. We continue to be a place where investors like to invest their money. As a result we continue to employ skilled and unskilled labour, therefore we are an important centre for immigrant activity. So we have a very important question about immigration.

The question is: How do we continue to develop without continuing to attract immigrants? If we desire to continue to develop economically and physically, we will continue to attract more people since we are not producing these people naturally ourselves. We could not keep up with the natural reproduction at this particular point so we have to gain these bodies from elsewhere.

The challenge we have is how to make it so that we can assimilate at least a section of the immigrant community into our native indigenous community without disrupting the identity and harmony of the Cayman Islands and its people. I do not believe that we are in a society today that is so different from, say, Jamaica or England. We are not all that different. There are similarities—historical and contemporary. We all speak English. Linguistically, we are the same. Culturally, we are similar enough, because religiously we worship the same God.

The most important fundamental similarities for assimilation are already in place. The people coming here from Jamaica and England (the two areas I am concentrating on today) do not have to learn a new language; they do not have to understand a dissimilar religion. What brings us together, the covenant possibility—the idea of one God who made all of us equal—is already accepted. Therefore, philosophically and morally, everything is in place to allow us to further absorb or assimilate those people into our blessed social order.

I am not expounding upon the concept that everybody should become a member of our blessed social order. I believe that it is a position to be reserved for the chosen, for those who we feel have earned and deserve a position among us. But, Mr. Speaker, I feel that the people who have spent 12 years in this country, 20 or 30 years in this country, and have contributed their labour to the building of this country, deserve to have a position of safety and security in this country. We have a place for them because we continue to develop and create jobs, as a result of the interaction between capital and labour in this country—capital as well as labour from abroad.

So, the Cayman Islands has begun to spin and to weave a new society, a new Jerusalem, in fact; a new human experiment; a new human possibility. But to make it really lasting, we are going to have to face one of the most difficult questions related to immigration: How are we going to allow others to have the same rights and privileges that we have ourselves?

It is very difficult for anyone to say at the end of the day, "I feel that the other person should have the same rights as I should have." We say this, but when the time comes to distribute those rights, we say, "No, no, no. He should not have it. I should have it all." That is the basic nature, again, of the human animal. He is selfish. Therefore, we need to make the laws that will cause us to objectively make decisions about people's rights, and not subjectively decide whether or not someone should have the right or not.

We have to establish certain criteria for the integration of others into our social and economic order. I think it will cause more social harmony in the future, I think it will cause less dissension and I think that it will promote and make solid our economic foundation.

I think, before we can determine if the indigenous Caymanians will lose anything, we have to decide at this particular point if we have gained anything in terms of our development. I have said that we have gained, and that we have prosperity to protect. We are not here to protect linguistic purity, cultural ethnic purity, or racial purity. We are here to protect prosperity. We can only protect prosperity when we begin to make sure that we at least have at our disposal within the confines of these islands, the labour we need for our continued development and the maintenance of what we have already achieved. I think it is very important to understand that we are not suggesting that we take positions away from Caymanians.

We are not saying that future Caymanians will not have positions because we advocate that status be granted to those who have been among us long enough to deserve it. What we are saying is that if we have 13,000 jobs today, we will probably have 30,000 in the next 15 years. It is the nature of the development of the social mechanism that it has to grow. It has to change—and it either changes backwards or forwards. I prefer to imagine that our growth will be forward and progressive and not regressive and backwards.

There will be a demand for new people. There is a demand for new ideas. There is a demand for a new spirit. There is a demand for the re-birth of a nation that is conscious of its goals, that is conscious of its ideals. Therefore, because of the security that we have as individuals, we can have productive relationships with other people from other places. We can be like America in that a German and a Pole can be an American. A Jamaican and Englishman can be a Caymanian in the Cayman Islands. There is nothing at all to fear about this.

We should not be fearful of the fact that we have to continue our immigration policies, because they were retarded 200 years ago. Obviously, the Cayman Islands would have ended up with more people back then had the economic conditions existed at that time for further settlement. The reason why we remained the size we were was because there was no economic challenge or stimulus within the society to bring forth a larger population.

Every time we start to plan we realise that our numbers are small. But we must plan like every other country plans—we must have a hospital, an immigration service, a prison service, a police service, we are finding that we must now have a juvenile detention service, we must have schools—all of the amenities of larger societies. But the people who are really paying for it are those people who are permanently resident here at this time, which means the indigenous Caymanians. We are the ones who are paying for this, and we need to bring in others to assist us in paying for all of the services and amenities that we need and enjoy at present.

The more people we have building homes, the less the indigenous Caymanian (the first arrivals) will have to pay in indirect taxation, because it will be spread over a larger group. I imagine that we could have a construction boom that is not stimulated by the building of new office buildings or of new hotels, but by the construction of new homes because people feel secure enough to build their nests here because this is where they will roost.

We have the space. We have the possibility to be the type of people that influence others by our ways and our ideals. Rather than being people who are 'ruined' by other people, we will be people who inspire others to be more like us. That is what assimilation really means: It means that people become like you, not that you become like them. You only become like them when you are insecure about who you really are. It is the host country that has the responsibility to show exactly what its values are all about, therefore causing the new arrivals to adapt to those values and to hold them sacred.

Every time we pray in this Legislative Assembly we say "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." I listen to that every time we meet here, because we always say the Lord's Prayer. How many times do we have to say, "Thy Kingdom come..."? What is His will? His will is that we learn to live together as human beings—as children of the same Father.

When those economic opportunities are ideal for this type of assimilation, then we, as Christians, should take advantage of those possibilities. As I said, we all have one Father in God, but we all want to have barbed-wire fences dividing us. I think there should be a challenge given to us as Christian people to make a greater effort to accept people as truly being our brothers.

The Indians did not know anything about citizenship, but they knew about brotherhood. Therefore they could be blood-brothers. They could cut their wrists and mingle their blood, and they knew what a covenant was. They were covenant partners. That is what it is all about. Why is it that we cannot become covenant partners with people simply because they come from a different part of the iron shore?

I am saying that, ideally, the conditions are here because we have not attracted the immigrant from Timbuktu, but from those places that are very similar to the place in which we reside. Therefore, solving our immigration question, which is not only an economic question but also a moral question, is not impossible. All we need to do is resolve to have it done. Again, I am not advocating that everybody be given these rights, but I am saying that there are those among us who have been here long enough and should be rewarded by being made a part of our blessed social order.

I would like to mention that the Government, in its attempt to deal with all of these problems, needs revenue. It needs finances. Believe it or not, immigration in the Cayman Islands places stress on the school system, on the medical system, on the police system, on immigration—on all of the systems. But immigration is still necessary for our economic well-being, because we did not have the capital or the labour to make economic prosperity. Therefore, the burden immigration causes has to be borne by the people who benefit from it. That includes everybody—not just the Caymanian, but the investor who needs the labour also.

If we bring in hundreds of girls from Holland, England or Ireland to work in the Hyatt, or the Westin and the different hotels, we need to have police out there. We need to have immigration officers. We need to have a host of people employed to see that they conduct themselves in a particular manner while they are in this country, and that they receive certain types of benefits while they are here. For instance, if they fall ill, they must have a hospital they can go to, an ambulance to pick them up. All in all, Government is having to bear the cost of all of this development, and there are people who are not ready to get involved in assisting the Government in paying for these services from which we all benefit.

I have said that if someone sells a piece of property, they sell it as an individual. They give up their individual rights to that property. But the state does not get rid of that property. That property remains the property of the state in that the state has the same rights and jurisdiction over that property whether or not it goes from one individual to another. Somehow, even when we sell our land to foreign developers and they develop hotels and condominiums there, Government is still responsible for that land. It is still responsible for what takes place, and what type of building goes up on that land; how the people who work there, or who visit there, are treated. Government is still responsible for all of those things.

Government's responsibility is increased because of development. If there were a bit of cocoplum bush there, owned maybe by Truman, then we would find that Government's responsibility would not be so much. But if you remove the cocoplum bush and build the Westin, then the responsibility becomes immense. When the manager gets on the telephone and asks for some police officers, pronto! we have to make sure the car does not break down on the way! So Government has to pay.

When people say that Government is getting bigger and bigger, like the Chamber of Commerce is saying, what about the island getting too big then? Somehow, if the island is getting bigger, Government will get bigger. If there are more people, there will be more crime; and if there is more crime, there will be more demands for police; and there will be more demands for court space and judges.

Look at the impact. Look at the short time frame in which all of this has happened. A 20 or 30-year period is a very short time for people to jump from one type of existence to another. Of course, that will have its traumatic effects, and we will see this in the people.

Then they will say that we are giving hand-outs so that we can buy votes. Well, I'm not saying that you will not get votes by helping people, but I would not say that you help people to get votes. You help people because you feel that is what is expected of you. I am saying that we rush from one type of existence to another.

We want to make it all functional. We don't want to regret the fact that we have come this far. So we need the cooperation of the private sector. We need the understanding of the Chamber of Commerce, but we do not need them to bully us into thinking that we are all about lack of intelligence, and bad intention.

When the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation writes off over one million dollars in fees owed to the Government because of overseas expenses—They can say that it is wasteful, that he should collect it, or that he should imprison the people who owe the money. But if they say that, they would not be understanding our way of life; they would not be respecting our value system. Since we are going to assimilate them, rather than them assimilating us, they are going to have to come to understand us, rather than us having to understand their position. We need to proceed from our position.

All the talk about the fact that Government needs to get rid of some of the red tape, and take its hand out of this and stop interfering in that... look at what I have said about immigration. They have accepted the position that it is necessary, but have not accepted the fact that Government should be interfering in it. Government should have a perspective on it as a result of the overall consideration and not just the consideration of a particular special interest group.

The Chamber of Commerce is saying that Government needs to get smaller, that it should privatise the non-essential services. What are those services? The Prison? Customs? Immigration? Tourism?

Mr. Speaker, I see in the Budget that we are spending over $9 million on police salaries. We are saying that if one tourist gets hurt in this island we could lose a lot of business. The private sector supports us in this assumption. So it is very important that we put police officers on the streets to prevent crime. What do people ask? They ask: What are those policemen doing? That's what we all ask about everybody anyway. We all ask: What is he doing? Unless you are doing it, you won't know what he is doing.

What we are interested in are the results. Are we getting the results? Are we controlling crime? Are we keeping it at bay? Are we making those people who are coming here feel safe and happy when they see a Royal Cayman Islands Policeman? When they see the police cars on the road and they don't look like some rat-trap car, do they feel confidence? Do they feel the wealth that they come here to visit? As rich people, they want to be associated with wealth. If they want to be associated with wealth, we have to project an image of wealth. So, all-in-all, Government has to do a lot.

Government has to create and maintain the conditions for economic prosperity and social harmony. I guess that the concept of privatisation is a foreign idea. It is not a Caymanian idea. It does not evolve from assimilation; it comes from someplace else. It was, perhaps, a relevant concept in places like Great Britain. A lot of the big companies in England were losing so much profit as private companies that the Government had to step in and buy them out to save them, because the fact was that those industries were considered to be very important to the continuation of social and political harmony in Great Britain.

When those industries began to make money as a result of the economic boom and prosperity in the 1980s, they started to function again—this is my theory—they were sold back to private individuals. The private individuals they were sold to were Englishmen. I do not believe that they were Arabs, or Frenchmen or Germans. They were Englishmen. The situation was that those industries remained in the hands of the people who the English population felt they could trust with the security and economic well-being of the country.

We have already started to develop in this country with a lack of capital. We have already started to develop with a lack of labour and skills. As a result, we have put ourselves in a unique position of having to attract capital and labour. Now, it has meant that when we look at the worker, he is not always from here. When we look at the owners of business, they are not from here. Yet, the Chamber of Commerce has continued to advocate that we privatise. Privatise into whose hands? Who will own these industries if we continue to privatise? Can we really feel safe at the end of the day if our industries are completely owned by people who are not a member of our blessed social order?

With two of the utility companies in these islands, CUC and Cable & Wireless, we have a special situation because we have bent over backwards for them. We have allowed them to amass profits that they have then turned into investments and improved the condition of communication and electricity in this country. Granted, they have done that. But in the end, Mr. Speaker, they will be the richer for that, not us. The people of the Cayman Islands, the consumers, have paid a dear price for these companies. At the end of the day, they are nothing other than monopolies. But we don't have any rights to question their efficiency because the assumption is that as long as it is owned privately, it must be working all right.

I have a problem with the Chamber of Commerce and somebody called me this morning saying that they agreed with a lot of what I said. But they said, "You're not treating the Chamber of Commerce right."

I said, "If I didn't know that the Government was negotiating with the Chamber of Commerce over the weekend before they went out on their demonstration, then maybe I would have said something different about the Chamber of Commerce, and the Council of Associations. But I knew that the Government was talking to them."

Their not having the patience to wait to see what the results would be, but going out saying, "We will do this if you don't do that..." I think those are pretty stern measures.

A gentleman said to me this evening, "It's the same people who continue to make fun of us and say that we are like the Banana Republic. And that we got our foot up our mouth." But he asked, "Have they been to these Banana Republics? Have they seen the number of cemeteries? A lot of those cemeteries were as a result of people starting peaceful demonstrations, and they were shot because they had no rights to express their feelings or their views. This is not a Banana Republic, this is a common sense democracy. There is a big difference."

I do not know whether or not they pay for this ad in the Caymanian Compass, but they have a position article continuously printed about what they believe these things should be. But they are not offering us any significant arguments. They are not really showing us how these things are supposed to be done. They are basically expressing propaganda ideology. Anybody can do that, but can they manage and balance the factors that we are here to manage and balance? I say no!

We have developed very rapidly and have kept our people from becoming resentful and jealous to the extent that they become destructive and disruptive. We have maintained social order by being the buffers between those who have and those who do not. But we cannot do this without dollars in our pockets. We need funds to act as a buffer between those who have and those who do not.

The fact that we have had so much juvenile crime, and so many divorces in our society is the result of traumatic stress which is a result of dramatic changes and confusion of values. Psychiatrists will tell you, that it is a state of confusion or a state of being uncertain and insecure about one's self. Yet, we did not try to stop development, we continued down those roads. Now pay-back time is here and we have to repair the roads that were dug up by the tanks when they went to war.

They have problems in West Bay, in particular, which I spotted 20 years ago. Somehow they were struggling with the question of who they were, what they were and what they were going to become. I am not going to say that someone coming along and offering them a football is going to solve the problem, but perhaps we can occupy them long enough to at least come out with some kind of meaningful solution to what their ailment is. While the doctor is trying to find a diagnosis, and perhaps even treatment, maybe he needs to entertain the patient slightly so that he can rectify the situation.

The social development programme in this country, which is costing money, is something that is necessary because it acts as a buffer, a gentle means of persuasion (to use sociological terms). In other words, the child is being gently persuaded to abide by the law and to not become a criminal. That is what the whole programme is about—trying, somehow, to indoctrinate the children with positive behaviour and to move them away from negative behaviour.

Negative behaviour is a result of the confusion in the socialisation process, confusion which begins in the home and does not stop at the school. The socialisation process becomes confused. We do not know what we want our people to be. Sometimes the parents just give up, and we need to go in there and say, "Either we build prisons for them, or we build playfields for them."

Nobody can offer any conclusive proof that prison is a solution for bad behaviour. The United States probably has more prisons than any place in the world, and their crime rate keeps on rising. I do not think we should say that we should not have prisons, but the intermediary solutions, like constructive physical activities for our children, are also necessary.

It is interesting that this is where the Government seems to have failed, according to the Chamber of Commerce and the critics. They say that the Government has spent too much money on sports and recreational activities. But I remember, when I went to the United States in 1964, going into an American gymnasium. I started exercising. It was compulsory to go to the gym every day, because President John F. Kennedy said that it would be good for the country when the people rediscovered the value of physical education. In those days, when they started physical education, the people who worked in offices were skinny. They did not walk and exercise, exercise was not a part of leisure activities. But today we are being told how useful physical activity really is.

People fall down and die of heart attacks. But where are poor people supposed to physically exercise and play? On the golf course? At the tennis club? At the racket club? At the squash club? Where are we supposed to find access to recreational activity if the Government does not provide it?

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Hear, hear!

Dr. Frank McField: So, while they criticise, they should remember that behind all that Government attempts to do is a desire to improve the condition of the majority of people living in these islands.

The Government does not take the position that it has to tear down our prosperity by making Government too big. The Government does not take the position that it does not want to listen. But the position certainly is that we should know what is best for us at this particular stage in our development and in our existence.

When I go down to where my people call "Harlem" in George Town, and see the conditions there; and when I see that we built the country and developed over the past four years without people knowing what playfields were and not knowing what pensions were—How come people at Holiday Inn did not know what a pension was? How come our merchants did not know what pensions were ten years ago, 20 years ago and 15 years ago? How come they did not know these things? How come nobody tried to introduce into our system any creative and progressive reforms? How come we have had to wait so long to get the reforms in this country (which are necessary to redistribute wealth) to the extent where Cay-manian people feel that they are being well taken care of? How come we have had to wait so long for this?

I believe that all I am doing here is attempting to give this Parliament a perspective, to give this Parliament a theoretical understanding of what it has been doing for at least the last four years; and that what it has been trying to do is to create in the Cayman Islands what we had 50 years ago—which was a little Garden of Eden. This is not going to be done if we have those who have billions of dollars and those who have billions of problems. Somehow we have to get in between as mediators and take up the awesome task of trying to convince those who have to make some of their funds available for those who have not. At the end of the day, whether or not you have, you are still a human being in God's eyes, and you are still regarded by Him.

I would just like to come to a point in my delivery by saying that I tried, when I was running for election, to say that I was an independent candidate and that somehow what I wanted to see develop as far as politics in the Cayman Islands, was a less partisan position and a more patriotic position—a Caymanian position. I think the time has now come when we can truly say that we know where we are going. We know what we are going to do with this country. We are going to give this country back to God. That is what we are going to do!

Although the church cannot (and does not) come in here, the church has its influence. The influence it has spread in this country over the years has been this same type of humanising influence. That is one reason why I refer to the Biblical saying about charity and one reason why I compliment the Minister for Health for his concern about the health of the people of these islands.

I had an opportunity to tour the hospital. It might be an expensive project, but I think that it is a project the people can get healed in, and feel good in. In all of the building we must remember that even in medicine a person will be healed if they have contact with others. Even when one is physically sick, he can be healed by reaching out to other people.

It is the same with social ills in our society—we need to be able to reach out to other people, and they will reach out to us; this will help us get rid of our problems. But if we say to ourselves, "They have the problem, leave them with it. We are not going to do anything to help with the problem." That is wrong. They will continue to have that problem. But, if we become interested and involved we will help to solve these problems.

It is interesting that the Family Life Survey is coming into play. I bet that at the end of the day we will see that the sociologists who have studied the conditions of the families in the Cayman Islands will have taken into account many of the things I have mentioned—the question of identity, the fact that we need to give our people a positive identity, that we need to show people that we are positive role models.

Nothing I am saying means that I support a welfare state, or quitters. I had my time in this country in a very difficult position—but I did not quit. So, I am not supporting quitters. I am saying help the person who is holding out his hand, saying, "Please, I am a member of your humanity." Help those people. Do not give up the control of the resources which are necessary to do that.

We own this country. Regardless of whether or not people have bought into it, it is still our oasis. We must manage it in that way. I am asking the public, in particular, to understand that part of what the Budget was all about was an attempt to deal with the very difficult problem of managing this country in such a way that it remains the beautiful Cayman Islands that we should all dream of having.

Mr. Speaker, I think it is about time that I leave the microphone. I would like to thank you, sir, for your attention, and I would like to comment briefly about Cayman Brac. I don't know very much about the Brac, but I have a feeling that I will somehow get to know it. If there is anything I can do to support what it is you are trying to do over there, I am willing to put myself at your disposal.

The Speaker: Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 3.27 PM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 4.00 PM

The Speaker: Debate continues. Does any other Member wish to speak? (pause) I will ask Honourable Members to not hesitate too long because the country needs the Budget approved. (pause)

No other Member wishes to speak? (pause) I feel confident other Members have much to say, but we cannot wait too much longer. (pause)

If no other Member wishes to speak, I will call upon the Honourable Third Official Member to reply.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

If I were to say that I am not surprised, I would be misleading you, because I really did not expect that we would be at this stage so quickly. Obviously, I would have appreciated having some time to collect my thoughts in order to clearly respond to some of the concerns and ideas advanced since the presentation of the Budget in this Honourable House. Anyway, under the circumstances, I will advance my views on certain things.

First of all, I must thank the Members who spoke, and I have to say to the Fourth Elected Member for George Town that I have received a very useful lesson in sociology! I must say that I appreciate quite a number of the ideas he advanced.

Among the many things which have been said concerning this Budget is that initially the Government had intended to raise $52 million with the revenue measures as presented to this Honourable House. Although this was very far from being realistic, quite a number of individuals seem to have held on to this position, which obviously was not the case.

This was arrived at by taking the Budget for 1997, as presented, for $254 million, and subtracting the approved Budget for 1996 of $202 million in order to arrive at this $52 million. But as I outlined during the course of the Miscellaneous Revenue Bill, the sum the Government really sought to achieve from these measures would have been in the region of $14 million. The impact of that on the average Caymanian family, taking into account those increases, would have amounted to approximately $37 per month.

Shortly after the Budget Address was presented, the television station used two examples in their analysis. The first one was how the average Caymanian family would be penalised by the stamp duty increases. I think that very little thought was taken of the abatement. It was said (and quite a number of people hold this view) that very few Caymanian families today can purchase a home for under $125,000. This may be so. Quite a number of people in this island fall into that category. Not everyone enjoys the affluence that some may enjoy. The first example was of an average Caymanian family (or person) earning, say, $2,000 per month, stating that in order to get a mortgage of, let us say, $130,000 or more, it would cost so much, extrapolating those increases.

Mr. Speaker, the average Caymanian making $2,000 per month cannot afford a mortgage of $125,000. I called some of the banks to find out what the monthly repayment would be on a mortgage of $125,000 over a period of 20 years. I was told that this would be approximately $1,308 per month, based on current interest rates.

The argument was extended a bit further to say that if this person wanted to purchase a vehicle costing $30,000, it would result in a further increase of approximately $400 or $500 in import duty. The average person earning $2,000 would not have been affected by the increases because the car that the individual would be able to afford would be in the range at which the duty remains at 27.5%.

I again called several of the banks and was told that a person borrowing an amount of money in excess of $20,000 over a period of four years at current interest rates would be paying in the region of $600 to $700 per month. Now, how can a person earning $2,000 per month afford a mortgage repayment of $1,308 and a car repayment of $700? Evidently, this was intended to dramatise the issue.

I think that the Fourth Elected Member for George Town underscored the democratic process very well, where the Government and the people can sit together and deal with issues of concern. This is what was done to address the areas of concern the community at large had, and where I think quite a bit of misinformation was given out as well.

Notwithstanding that, it was a very useful exercise for the Government and the Association representatives (or members) to sit down and hear the views that were shared. The Government was not necessarily in agreement with all of the views expounded, but on a whole, I think that recognising the sensitivity that was shared was good governance, and certain revisions were made to the original measures as proposed. As a consequence of making these adjustments, of which Members have already been advised, the amount that will be yielded from the revised revenue measures will be in the region of $7.1 million. The difference between that and $14 million will have to be addressed by increasing the Loan Bill as initially presented to this House by $8,500. Therefore, we will have a Loan Bill brought forward in the region of $16 million.

With this increase, and with the likelihood that the Government will have to draw down on these funds, interest costs will be incurred. Even if a moratorium is obtained on principal repayment, interest will have to be repaid. This, depending upon the cash flow of Government, could range in the region of $.5 million. So this will have to be carefully looked at.

There is also one item of Capital Expenditure that will have to be adjusted by approximately $1 million. I am putting Members on notice of that. It has to do with the Mail Sorting Centre at the Airport. The approximate amount needed for 1997 is in the region of $1.7 million. However, $700,000 were put in the Budget. The reason is that during the course of the Budget review discussions, the Minister responsible for that subject was very ill and had to seek medical attention. There is the common idiomatic saying "When the cat is away [other creatures] may play." As a result, having to balance the budget, that was one area where some reductions were made.

As a consequence, there is a shortfall and the Minister has outlined that he would still like to get the project on stream and operational for the year 1997. So, he will be needing the full amount that PWD originally advised his Ministry. Because of that, and recognising the importance of this and the integral part of the infrastructure it forms, the Government has decided to assist the Minister.

The area of impact fees is currently under review. An analysis is being made on the implication of these fees. A team has been put together comprised of persons from the Economic and Statistics Department and the Planning Department and the Lands and Survey Office in order to look very carefully at the impact of building activities within the construction industry and to make a determination as to what would be a reasonable alternative for the Government to consider. They will use that position as a backdrop to consider the alternatives that will be advanced by the Council of Association Members.

It was never intended that the Government would do anything as now being acclaimed. I am made to understand that persons have taken the view that we are on a very 'slippery' path. The Cayman Islands may not be standing up well in international circles because of the differences which have arisen over the budgetary issues.

It must be expected that there will be differences of opinion in any society. In fact, when I returned to my office last Wednesday, there was a call from the television station. They were seeking confirmation on a report that I had thrown my papers down at the Legislative Assembly and was fed up with everybody, and walked out of this House. Prior to that, there was also a rumour that I had submitted my resignation.

In my home, I have my wife, my two daughters and a helper. There is barely a time during the week where we are all in agreement. Any time they can't agree with each other, they usually pick on me! Fortunately, I have a dog (laughter), so I pick on him! But, this is natural, in terms of human beings interacting in any society. I believe it is right, because even if what is put forward by the Government is very clear, parts of the community will want further clarification, and it is necessary to sit and come to an understanding.

When we look at the meeting which took place at the Lions Centre, and I am not going to castigate or criticise anyone... we can vent our feelings, but we have to do so constructively. We are no longer the islands that time forgot. We have competitors in the region and throughout the world.

About six or seven months ago there was supposedly a report made by President Clinton on jurisdictions of concern relating to money laundering, and certain Asian countries were mentioned. One country became upset and it asked, "What about advanced jurisdictions like the Cayman Islands?" Now, for me to sit in Grand Cayman and hear that a Finance Minister in Thailand has passed a remark about the Cayman Islands... I thought, initially, that it was something I should respond to. But, on the other hand, I felt that the name "Cayman Islands" was a household word—we are recognised throughout the international financial community. Therefore, whatever we do here, we must think in terms of the implications.

While at the local level we understand the issues, someone far removed from the issues cannot interpret what is happening within the context of the daily, domestic living within the Cayman Islands and could misconstrue these things. We have to bear in mind that not only what we say, but what we put to print goes out there, because someone looking at other off-shore jurisdictions, and looking at the Cayman Islands, may feel that we are on a slippery path not knowing where we will wind up in another three or four years. So this may not send the best message. We have to recognise that we are all a part of this society.

I think the Fourth Elected Member for George Town expounded on that very well in terms of the camaraderie and cooperation, and that all of these factors are necessary for us to co-exist. We may not fully agree, but we can exist with some harmony in the society as a whole.

I think we have a budget that is well considered. There are areas which we need to look at very carefully. We have had to upgrade the Financial Services Supervision Department because we recognise that we have close to 600 banks under our direct supervision. We must have the institutional capacity to cope with the demands placed upon the Government and the country as a whole. We have to be fully satisfied that everything in the Cayman Islands comes under the purview of the institutions in place, and that we have the necessary competence and expertise. We must be satisfied that the businesses we have in the Cayman Islands are businesses of substance and credibility.

We do not want money from questionable sources here. We do not want business from questionable sources here. That is why the Government made the decision some time ago to look carefully at putting in place the Proceeds of Criminal Conduct Bill. Some of our critics in the international community have said that we were pushed into this by the United States of America. That is not so.

I keep referring to the remarks of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town, but this is based on our conscience. Just as I would not go out there and do something harmful to another human being in order to get ahead, I do not want anyone who would have benefited economically from such activities bringing their money to the Cayman Islands. We don't want it. This is a wholesome society and we have to maintain it.

Today, the Financial Industry provides employment opportunities for approximately 4,000 persons. We know that we have a mixture of individuals out there. The only thing I would call upon this sector to bear in mind is that training opportunities must be provided. It is very important to maintain social harmony. We cannot have all of this development taking place that leaves behind any sector of the indigenous population.

I think that when we move forward together, as in this common march, it spells progress. We do recognise that some will not benefit from this progress, but as pointed out so well and so eloquently by the previous speaker, we have to all participate in this. Everyone has a role to play. Therefore, this is the type of society that we want to maintain.

Having to adjust the Loans Bill to approximately $16 million will increase the public debt from $41 million to approximately $57 million. We know that not all of those funds will be drawn down during the course of the year. This is an area, regardless of how we try to introduce discipline, it cannot be refined to the point where the expenditure on the capital side equals the amount budgeted. I would regard it as responsible action on the part of any Ministry, to know that adequate provisions have been made to finance the projects in progress.

Although we are looking at a capital programme approximating $45 million, it is likely that at the end of the year, with the best management in place, we will only be able to spend between $37 million and $40 million. But, at the same time, if $1.7 million is needed for the Mail Sorting Centre at the Airport, it would be somewhat unrealistic to provide $1.2 million. It is better to err on the side of caution, than to find ourselves not budgeting correctly.

During the first week of May, we will be getting someone to come in from the National Audit Office from the United Kingdom. Most of the review carried out on the Public Finance and Audit Law has already been done by the Director of Internal Audit, who is a Caymanian and a qualified CPA. She has several of her team members with her who are also qualified accountants. They have developed the terms of reference for the officer who will be coming in and I am sure that what will emerge as the final piece of legislation will be acceptable to all.

We could have gone elsewhere and picked up pieces of legislation, and there are useful pieces of legislation out there. But we have to develop something indigenous to the Cayman Islands. Although we will find consistency within the accounting field, within finance and financial applications, in economics there is a certain uniqueness which is necessary. Paper trails are required elsewhere. We require them here, but I do not think that we can get away from this position of trust.

We do not want legislation that will create bureaucracy where when someone goes to Treasury to pick up a cheque and the cashier is not there, that policy does not allow another officer to hand the person his cheque. So, while we are looking very carefully at streamlining the financial procedures of Government, we have to bear in mind the indigenous expectations.

The Debt Collection Unit is working very well. The last time I checked with the Treasury Department they collected over half a million dollars by direct collection. Assistance was being provided to other departments of Government, such as the Health Services Department. They were quite satisfied and now other departments are coming forward to seek the assistance of the Debt Collection Unit. So it is well established and is earning its keep.

Overall, this is not going to be the end of the Budget in terms of winding up on this, because everything is an integrated process. I think the reform measures that have been outlined by the Governor will have to be factored into the Budget process at some point in time. Wherever efficiency is achieved, that will hopefully translate into meaningful end results.

Therefore, as we now prepare ourselves to go into Finance Committee to consider the Budget, there are areas that I will not touch on in my winding up, because if I had expected to make my winding up contribution this afternoon, I would have been in an entirely different position. As you, Mr. Speaker, and Members of this House are aware, the Government will be continuing to have meetings with the Association representatives to look at building permit fees and the impact fees to come up with a solution that will contribute to the revenue yield of the Government.

It is very important that finances be carefully and prudently managed. Measures are in place and are constantly being refined. There is nothing at any point in time that cannot be criticised. I saw a recent article that suggested that the Financial Management of Government needs to be looked at very carefully. But when you have 2,000 people, and close to 40 departments of Government, and when you have autonomy being given to controlling officers, I do not think the risks will necessarily outweigh the benefits in terms of having controlling officers as decision makers participate in the activities of running their departments and deciding what projects to pursue. Anytime a centralised authority is put in place to dictate everything that should be done, that destroys initiative. At the end of the day I do not think that we will be further ahead. The autonomy necessary for the individual to develop goes out the door.

So, I would like to say that I am thankful to those Members who have spoken, and those who have not...

The Speaker: Honourable Member, would you rather adjourn and finish tomorrow?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I will be winding up shortly.

The Speaker: Please continue.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: As I was saying, I am very thankful to those Members of this Legislative Assembly who have contributed and also those who remained silent because they have shared their views with me on the areas in which they needed clarification. I know that when we go into Finance Committee everything will be looked at in detail.

Everyone is very much concerned, and the Government is committed that prudent management structure be in place and making sure that value for money is obtained, and that at the end of the day we emerge and continue to nurture a society that we are committed to and that we want the best for. We all recognise that none of us can claim to be the fountain of all knowledge. It is when we pool our ideas together, and share our views of the issues taking into account the concerns of others that we maintain the democratic process and continue to foster an environment in the Cayman Islands where we can all live, and that our children will not necessarily read about in the history books but will experience themselves.

More importantly, I have travelled throughout the region and throughout the world. I have seen practices in Cayman which are unique, some of which I would like to see retained. When the average person on the street can visit the Governor's Office, or the Chief Secretary's Office, the Attorney-General's Office or my Office, or the different Ministries, and talk directly to the Ministers or Permanent Secretaries and can ask for clarification and reconsideration, that is a wholesome and healthy society. This is the society I would like to see maintained into the future.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

(Applause)

The Speaker: The question is that the Appropriation Bill, 1997 be given a second reading. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: I will now entertain a motion for the adjournment.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I move the adjournment of this Honourable House until the conclusion of Finance Committee.

The Speaker: The question is that the House do now adjourn until the conclusion of Finance Committee. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye... Those against No.

PRAYERS

Dr. Frank McField: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived; We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that we may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of our high office.

Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

The Speaker: Please be seated. Proceedings are resumed.

Presentation of Papers and Reports. Agricultural and Industrial Development Board Report for the year ending 31st December, 1995. The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

PRESENTATION OF PAPERS AND REPORTS

AGRICULTURAL AND INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT BOARD REPORT FOR THE YEAR ENDING 31ST DE-CEMBER, 1995

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I beg to Lay on the Table a Report of the Agricultural and Industrial Development Board for the year ending 31st December, 1995.

The Speaker: So ordered.

The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: "As Chairman of the Board and Minister for Community Development, I am very pleased with the Ministry's leadership in bringing about the change in the Board's role from that of a provider of credit for human resource development to one of executing agent for the Government of the Cayman Islands in the administration of the Guaranteed Student Loan Scheme. Given the strong demand for student loans over the past few years, and the inability to obtain resources for on-lending from the Caribbean Development Bank on satisfactory terms, it was evident that a new way had to be found to fund student loans outside of Budgetary support. As the competing claims for public funds from other sectors did not make it possible for budgetary support to be a realistic long-term option, the private sector was the only viable alternative. Being cognisant of this, my Ministry seized the initiative and approached a number of the leading commercial banks with a view to getting them to make funding available on concessionary terms to support the human resource development needs of the country. The rest is history.

"It is an established fact that seven local commercial banks, namely, Bank of Butterfield International (Cayman) Ltd., Bank of Nova Scotia, Barclays Bank PLC, British American Bank, Cayman National Bank, Ltd, CIBC Bank and Trust Company (Cayman) Ltd., and the Royal Bank of Canada agreed to make CI $1.75 million available for lending to Caymanian students to pursue tertiary level courses at eligible local and overseas institutions. The response to this initiative has been overwhelming and my Ministry is now engaged in discussions with the Banks with a view to their making additional resources available for lending to students under the Government Guaranteed Student Loan Scheme.

"I look forward to the AIDB continuing to make its presence felt not only in the human resource sector but also in the funding of small business development projects in agriculture, industry and tourism. It is my hope that with its diminishing role as a provider of credit for human resource development will come an enlargement in its role as a provider and facilitator of credit to small businesses in key growth sectors of the economy. I also hope that this effort will be grounded in strong technical support to Caymanian entrepreneurs in a wide range of relevant business opportunities."

Mr. Speaker, I can say that I am actively pursuing new funding because new demand are always being made on the Board and Cayman's economy is growing. Caymanians need to be encouraged in their entrepreneurial role in taking advantage of this growing economy. All that we can do in this aspect, we, as a Board, intend to do.

"In closing, I wish to express my thanks to fellow board members, and the management and staff of the AIDB for their hard work and dedication during the year."

The Speaker: Questions to Honourable Members/Ministers. Question No. 52 is standing in the name of The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE MEMBERS/MINISTERS

QUESTION NO. 52

No. 52: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture to state the number of: (a) full-time students; and (b) part-time students at the Cayman Islands' Marine Institute and to provide the cost per annum, per student, in the two categories.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The answer to part (a): During 1996 the Cayman Islands' Marine Institute (CIMI) operated at almost full capacity for most of the year.

Month	Full-time	After-care	Total
January	29	2	31
February	29	3	32
March	29	4	33
April	27	5	32
May	26	4	30
June	25	2	27
July	23	1	24
August	23	1	24
September	25	-	25
October	25	-	25
November	23	-	23
December	22	-	22
Avg. Enrolment	25.5	1.8	28

The CIMI programme is designed to accommodate a total of 31 students. The only students who can be referred to as part-time students are those on after-care. They are students who complete the programme for a period of three months prior to graduation under very close supervision. This is a part of the requirement for graduation. They are, however, still registered as full-time students of the programme.

After graduation these students are still supervised for an additional three months. If the Institute feels that they are at a stage where they can function on their own, the monitoring ceases. If it is felt that they still require some support, the supervision continues. Students from the John Gray High School who attend the Institute can be termed full-time as they attend six hours per day, i.e., from 3 pm to 9 pm.

Additionally, while at John Gray High School they are closely monitored through the Senior Master or Senior Mistress and are also closely supervised during weekends whilst at home.

A total of 36 students were served during 1996.

The cost per student per annum was CI$22,395.00. It should be noted that it costs Government approximately CI$99,084.00 per annum to maintain one child at the gazetted overseas' institutions such as Kid's Peace.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Minister say if the students who are referred from the High School take the same subjects at the Institute as they would have at the High School?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: They will take some, not all, of the courses—English, Math, the basic ones. They take courses designed to change attitude.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Minister say if students who have reverted back to regular classes at the High Schools have to be returned to the Cayman Islands Marine Institute or does the monitoring allow them, once they have passed through, to remain in the normal High School setting?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I do not have that information, but I can provide it in writing.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: For students attending the Institute full time, what arrangements are made for visits with their families? Are they allowed weekend furloughs to visit their families, especially prior to moving back into the home setting?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Presently they do not have a lot of students who are staying on campus. So they all go home. But those we do have on the campus go home on the weekends and they are monitored. In fact, the ones who attend on a daily basis are also monitored.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 53, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 53

No. 53: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture to state if there have been any incidents of drugs' discovery on the campus of the Cayman Islands Marine Institute over the past year.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: During 1996, very small quantities of Marijuana were discovered on two different occasions on the campus of the Cayman Islands' Marine Institute.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister tell the House how these discoveries are dealt with?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The Marine Institute has a policy of regular drug searches, and carries this out on a daily basis. Upon arrival at the Institute, each student is searched before being allowed to enter. There are random searches in the residential section.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say if the treatment at the facility for students who were referred for having drug problems differs from students referred for other behavioural reasons?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Certainly, there is a programme in place for students needing drug counselling. That would differ from those who are not so in need.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 54, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 54

No. 54: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning when the National Education Curriculum will come into effect.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

DEFERAL OF QUESTION NO. 54 Standing Order 23(5)

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I would ask that this question please be deferred until tomorrow morning. I am not in a position to answer it right now. My notice was a bit short on that one.

The Speaker: Under Standing Order 23(5), the question is that Question No. 54 be deferred. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. QUESTION NO. 54 DEFERRED.

The Speaker: Question No. 55, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 55

No. 55: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport (a) How much money has been spent on tourism advertisement for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman for the period November 1992 through November 1996; and (b) How does the amount spent compare with the years November 1988 through November 1992.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: During the period of November 1992 to November 1996, $32,343,000 was spent on advertising and collateral. Of that total, 66%, or $21,545,000, was spent on materials which included Cayman Brac and Little Cayman information. It has not been possible to verify what amount was spent on Cayman Brac and Little Cayman for the period November 1988 to November 1992.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say whether it is envisaged for similar amounts to be spent while he has responsibility for that Ministry?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: My intention is that we would be more specific in advertising promotions for Cayman Brac, in particular. I think it is fair to the lady Member to say that the advertising done in 1988 to 1992 actually listed at the bottom of each advertisement the names of the three islands. I don't believe it specifically had too many photographs of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

During the last three to four years we have included many different scenes in all of our advertising for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman as a whole package of the Cayman Islands. Within the last 12 months we have also done additional promotions specific to Cayman Brac alone.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 56, standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 56

No. 56: Dr. Frank McField asked the Honourable First Official Member if the system of controlling the entry of performing artists to the Islands is working to the satisfaction of Government and the public, including those persons applying for permission to bring these performers to the Islands.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: There is no system in place to control the entry of performing artists to the Islands. Work permits are necessary for all artists wishing to perform in the Islands and, except for non-secular events, all persons applying for temporary permits for performing artists are required to submit video tapes of the performance to the Chief Immigration Officer along with the application.

The policy of requiring video tapes of the performance before a temporary permit is issued has been accepted and welcomed by those people involved in the promotion of performing artists and this policy goes a long way toward ensuring that the quality of performances is in keeping with acceptable community standards.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Member say whether there is any policy in place for following up this system whereby once the video is reviewed that someone actually shows that there was no misrepresentation on the video provided?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Quite frequently applicants or persons bringing in performers, will extend an invitation to Immigration staff to attend the performance. In general, the performances have been in keeping with what was on the video. I have on one or two instances asked that a specific officer attend where concern has been expressed to me prior to the performance. Generally, since this policy has been put in place there have not been many complaints.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I wonder if the Honourable Member could say whether or not there have been any delays in people being granted permits, and if there have, has this affected their ability to have the shows performed in the Cayman Islands?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: As long as the applicant provides a video that can be used to determine the content of the proposed performance, and as long as the application is submitted to the Immigration Department in time to be processed, there are no delays.

I believe that on one occasion an application came in very late in the evening and there was no video. There was a delay, but that was the result of the applicant not submitting the video with the application.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I wonder if the Honourable Member could say if any guidelines have been provided for the Chief Immigration Officer, or is it left to his absolute discretion?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Initially when this was introduced, certain general guidelines were set down. These were the result of comments and concerns by members of the public. The Chief Immigration Officer and his team have been able to monitor the situation. In fact, we are at a stage today where the issue is almost policing itself and I am generally pleased with the way it is working.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Seeing that this is a very controversial area, would it not be deemed prudent for either Executive Council to set down guidelines or take recommendation from the Chief Immigration Officer so that he will not be burdened with unnecessary complaints that he is being subjective and/or otherwise?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I am surprised that the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman refers to this as a controversial area. I was not at all aware that it was a controversial area. It was when it started, but the matter is almost policing itself. Unless we get complaints about the way it is going, I do not anticipate the need to set down any specific instructions to the Chief Immigration Officer.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Perhaps I should have been a bit more specific in my question. I have received representation from various members of the church community, as recently as a few weeks ago. Information was passed on to the Honourable Minister and there is concern. Might I go on record stating that it is now time to look at the type of material coming into the islands, because there is still a sector of the Cayman Islands community that considers themselves Christian?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I discussed the issue the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman passed on to me with the Chief Immigration Officer. The comment in the newspaper was very general and not really specific enough for any action to be taken. That, in fact, was the only point raised that might go anywhere near being called a complaint in recent times with the matter.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Just on a point of clarification. I know I am a freshman, and that can be used to 'whip' me into shape, I suppose. But am I under the wrong presumption? Am I not supposed to ask questions? From Finance Committee until here this morning— through facial expressions and otherwise—I feel that I am being chastised and reprimanded. If that is the case, perhaps I can be directed otherwise.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 57, standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 57

No. 57: Dr. Frank McField asked the Honourable First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs if a Deputy Director of Broadcasting has been appointed and, if not, when will one be appointed.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: A Deputy Director of Broadcasting has not been appointed because there is no such post in the staff complement of the Department of Broadcasting. There are no immediate plans to recreate the post of Deputy Director of Broadcasting.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Can the Honourable Member could give an indication of whether or not there is a policy regarding this non-appointment?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: It depends. It varies from department to department and sometimes a post may be called by another name by the person who would serve as a "Deputy."

The Speaker: The Elected Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: I wonder if the Honourable Member would say if there is a procedure in place at the Broadcasting section of Government for someone to work closely with the Director and, if so, why can a position of Deputy not be provided once again in order to use the potential of that staff member?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Perhaps it is necessary to give a little background to this. In 1992 the post of Deputy Director of Broadcasting was in place. The post holder left and the post was advertised. A candidate was interviewed and chosen, however, he chose not to accept it.

Later on the department moved from the Portfolio of Internal and External Affairs to a Ministry and the department went through a reconstruction period when the down-sizing was done, and there was an amalgamation with GIS. The Deputy Director's post was deleted. The department has since come back to the Portfolio of Internal and External Affairs and more recently the GIS has been separated from it.

The post which is vacant is called 'Broadcasting Operation Officer.' It was advertised in 1995 but no suitable candidate applied for the post. It was advertised again in 1996 and interviews were held, but none of the applicants met the minimum qualifications. The Director submitted to the Public Service Commission a succession plan and flattened the structure where about three officers rotated through the senior positions to gain experience with the hope that along with experience and training we will find a Caymanian who will be suitably qualified for the post sometime in the not-too-distant future.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Can the Honourable Member give an indication of what procedure would take place if the Director of Broadcasting fell ill or died tomorrow and could not do his job?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The Director of Broadcasting is currently on leave, but Radio Cayman has not closed down. The Department is running efficiently.

I mentioned having about three senior officers being rotated through the various posts and gaining experience. That is simply just another way of dealing with the matter. The post of Deputy Director of Broadcasting does not exist. But, as the saying goes, "A rose by any other name, is just as sweet."

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say when the vacancy for Deputy Director of Broadcasting was advertised if any of the staff currently working at Radio Cayman applied? If so, why were they not chosen?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: It is my understanding that on one occasion when the post was advertised two Caymanian staff members and one non-Caymanian staff member applied. I was not at the interview. The Public Service Commission was involved in the interview and it was determined that there was no one suitably qualified. I do not think I can say more than that.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable First Official Member say if there is any training programme in place at Radio Cayman which allows Caymanian staff members, or those who are legally employed there, to prepare themselves for such a position?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Yes, as part of the succession plan, the Director of Broadcasting has put in place the attending of formal training, both locally and overseas, as well as attachments to radio stations in small to medium markets to gain first hand experience.

The Speaker: The Elected Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Can the Honourable Member tell us what qualifications are required to fill this position, and how do they compare to the qualifications the Director of Broadcasting holds?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The advertisement for the post was published in the Caymanian Compass and is public knowledge. I do not have the qualifications for the Director of Broadcasting with me, but the qualifications, briefly, for the post of Broadcast Operations Officer, is a minimum of two years of college level courses, preferably in broadcast technology, with emphasis on broadcast sales and journalism; at least seven years combined radio broadcasting experience in announcing, radio sales and supervision of radio news of which two years must be at supervisory level. The post holder should also have training in management supervision and broadcast news journalism. Public relations, analytical, technical and programme production skills are essential.

The Speaker: The Elected Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Those qualifications sound more like we are trying to fill the Director of Broadcasting post. That is just a comment.

I think there is a young lady who was just transferred to the Portfolio. I wonder if the Honourable Member would say what qualifications that young lady held while she was in Communication section and Broadcasting? How many years did she spend at the radio station?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: First of all, there was nobody transferred to my knowledge. The young lady from the department applied for a job in another department, a Ministry, and was successful. She simply moved to a new position.

I do not have her qualifications with me.

The Speaker: That concludes Question Time for this morning. Statements by Honourable Members/Ministers of the Government.

STATEMENTS BY HONOURABLE MEMBERS/MINISTERS OF THE GOVERNMENT

STATEMENT ON TRAINING

(11.00 AM)

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to give this Honourable House an update on a joint Ministerial initiative which is being undertaken by my Ministry and the Ministry of Education for the encouragement of a structured training philosophy for the Caymanian work force. May I also say from the outset that I attended the Second Global Conference on Lifelong Learning in Ottawa Canada in March, and was impressed by the overriding theme of this conference, which was, that investing in human capital is an important strategic choice for the individual, the business and the nation.

In today's rapidly changing world and our global market place, lifelong learning is a matter of survival. Whether this learning takes place in a formal education setting or whether it takes the form of on-the-job training, or daily accumulated experience, it is a wise investment in our shared and bright future. This type of thinking is what we hope will guide the articulation and implementation of this joint Ministerial initiative in partnership with the private sector.

One of the accepted strategies of the 1995 Report of the Manpower Development Advisory Committee is the introduction and stewarding of a Comprehensive National Training initiative. This initiative would seek to mobilise the business community to address the gaps in skills for all willing Caymanians covering the vocational level up to the professional level of competency in all sectors of our economy.

In order to clearly define the philosophy surrounding this matter and to co-ordinate the implementation of the initiative, my Ministry, together with the Ministry for Education has convened an Advisory Committee to refine a draft discussion paper and action plan as a pre-requisite for the action of the National Training Initiative. The Committee will be asked to review the recommendations of the Manpower Development Advisory Committee which was approved by Executive Council in June 1995 and tabled in the House in July 1995. It will also develop a statement of philosophy for training which will reflect these recommendations, and will advise on how this philosophy can be translated into action.

The Committee would work closely with the incoming consultant and will guide the implementation of the initiative through the development of a blue print for action involving programmes and/or activities. The Committee will closely monitor the implementation of the policy to gauge its effectiveness as well as its acceptability by all concerned.

The Members of the Committee are: Mrs. Edna Moyle, JP, MLA; Mrs. Vicki Moss-Solomon (Cayman National Bank), representatives from the Ministry of Community Development and the Ministry of Education; Mrs. Lois

Kellyman (Cable & Wireless); Mr. Chris Phillips (Cayman Contractors Assoc.); Mr. Orrett Connor and Mrs. Linda Evans from the Immigration and Personnel Departments, respectively; Mr. Brian Hunter (Chamber of Commerce representative); Dr. Parsan of the Statistics Office; Mr. Victor Green (Chief Inspector of Schools); and Mr. Sam Basdeo of the Community College.

I am also pleased to report to this House that the Commonwealth Secretariat (General Technical Assistance Services Division) has approved my Ministry's request for the services of a Project Co-ordinator, Human Resources Development; this assistance will be for a one-year period. They are in the process of identifying suitably qualified candidates for the position and a short list of candidates will be submitted to us for consideration and final selection in the near future.

This technical assistance is structured such that the Commonwealth Secretariat will be covering most, if not all, of the costs of the consultant. The Project Co-ordinator will serve in an advisory capacity and will be responsible for assessing current strategies or initiatives, as well as implementing and co-ordinating the development of accepted/approved programmes or policies, this will be done under the direction of the National Training Initiative Advisory Committee. The Project Co-ordinator will also be required to assess the capability of the Human Resources Department, in particular whether any institutional strengthening may be necessary in order to implement the approved programmes and initiatives in the medium to long term. The Co-ordinator will enjoy a close working relationship with the Ministry and the Department, as well as with the Committee. It is hoped that an officer in the Department can be attached to the Co-ordinator in order to assist, under-study, and carry-on the work after the completion of the consultancy.

As this Honourable House is aware, for years there have been concerns expressed about the absence of consistent training programmes and policies on career development for willing Caymanians. Government too is concerned about training and long-range career development as a means of fostering sustainable economic development and continued labour tranquillity. Government is of the view that with the right partnership between the Public and Private Sectors it is possible to achieve very high standards in education and training.

Caymanians have the ability and desire to advance in education as well as in their careers; there has to be a shared responsibility to see that equal opportunity is afforded to Caymanians. The over-riding objectives of this project are to encourage a voluntary approach to workplace-sponsored training and career development, established within a structured framework where all parties know their obligations and expectations. In addition to Government acting as a partner and in an oversight capacity, it would also co-ordinate efforts, as well as network with local and international bodies to promote cost-effective initiatives.

The subject of Workplace Training and Career Development is a major policy of this Government, and continues to rank very high on my Ministry's list of priorities.

I will keep the House abreast all developments with regard to this important initiative.

In this regard, I am pleased to announce this morning two programmes: I am pleased to give this Honourable House a report on an initiative which is to be launched by my Ministry through the Community College of the Cayman Islands in the upcoming academic year.

One of the accepted strategies of the 1995 Report of the Manpower Development Advisory Committee was that continued reform and modernisation of our vocational education and training system was crucial, and this would require the commitment and leadership from Government, employers, employees and training institutions. The objectives of a proper vocational or technical training system must include the following:

- ◆ Recognised and certified qualifications which are suited for Cayman's employment, and provides value to all parties;
- ◆ Allows the acquisition of skills which are needed for upward mobility on the job, as well as allowing further study leading to the highest level of professional attainment.
- ◆ There should be recognition and reward for the resulting qualifications;
- ◆ Incentives and an environment of partnership should be fostered amongst all participants.

It is these principles upon which my Ministry has proposed this training programme initiative to be offered through the Community College. The programme is being styled "Cayman Training Initiative"(CTI). Members have the brochure about it on their desks this morning. It will begin with supporting two Certificate programmes for the Hospitality Industry workers. It is the first phase of implementing a comprehensive Training Initiative for the three Islands. This training programme will focus on Technical and Tourism training; the two Certificates to be offered by my Ministry through the Community College in September are: the Professional Cookery Certificate, and the Hospitality Studies Certificate.

The Professional Cookery Certificate is designed to give the student a comprehensive grounding in professional food preparation and production. Students will gain an understanding of culinary tasks including Short Order Cooking and Classic Cuisine. Graduates of this programme will be well prepared for entry-level positions in Cayman's food service industry. Courses in this programme are: Business Mathematics, Business Communications, Life Skills, Food & Beverage Production, Food & Beverage Service, Purchasing and Cost Controls, Safety and Sanitation, Short Order Cooking, Classic Cuisine, Caribbean Cookery, A La Carte Cuisine, Tourism Studies, and Work Experience.

The Hospitality Studies Certificate is designed to give the student a broad overview of the hospitality industry. Students will be trained for a variety of entry-level positions such as Front Desk, Line Cook, Room Attendant, Food & Beverage Service etc. Courses in this internally assessed course are: Business Mathematics, Computing, Business Communications, Life Skills, Food & Beverage Service, Purchasing and Cost Controls, Housekeeping, Front Office Administration, Safety & Sanitation, Tourism Studies, and Work Experience.

Honourable Members of this House will appreciate that while we are utilising the existing facilities (physical plant) and faculty of the College, this programme will include a number of tailor-made components in its curriculum.

The fundamental improvement and attraction to this programme is the full scholarship to be given to all eligible students, as well as the stipend. The Tuition and Book fees at the College for Caymanians is presently CI$500.00 per year. In addition to covering these costs, my Ministry will also be awarding each eligible student up to CI$200.00 per month for 10 months out of the Academic Year. The disbursement of the stipend will be administered by the College, and the quantum to be given to students per month will be in accordance to attendance, punctuality, effort, behaviour, work ethic, etc. They will be graded as (A) excellent, (B) Good, (C) Fair, (D) Weak, (E) Unsatisfactory.

Caymanians (including status holders) as well as those with close Caymanian connections, such as those married to Caymanians, Caymanian descent with a right to gain residency or status, are some of the eligibility requirements for participation in this programme.

All of us know of the tremendous career opportunities which exist within our Hospitality Industry, and the salary growth and other benefits which can be derived therefrom if our people apply themselves. This initiative will hopefully assist many Caymanians at all levels to confidently enter the hospitality industry and to capitalise on the career opportunities therein.

My Ministry and the Community College will be meeting with representatives of the Hotel and Condominium Association to discuss the content and structure of the proposed Certificate programmes, particularly how they can be an active partner in this mutually beneficial undertaking.

My Ministry and the Community College will also be embarking on a bold awareness and recruitment drive within the schools and all districts (including Cayman Brac) in the near future. A major feature of this drive will be a series of motivational presentations entitled "Acres of Diamonds." It is an up-beat series highlighting the lucrative careers in the hospitality industry of the Cayman Islands. This will be held at the East End Civic Centre, the George Town Town Hall, the North Side Civic Centre, the West Bay Town Hall, Bodden Town Civic Centre, Cayman Brac and the high schools throughout the island.

The objective is to motivate all of the youth of the Cayman Islands to become involved in the hospitality industry; to guide, direct and educate the youth of the Cayman Islands with a view of them looking at the hospitality industry as a viable and attractive career choice; to stimulate interest from all sectors of the Caymanian population, regardless of the industry they are presently engaged in to develop a practical understanding of the benefits of the tourism industry to the Cayman Islands on a whole, and to themselves in particular.

The key topics to be discussed at those presentations will be:

- 1) "Attitude is Everything."
- 2) "Diamonds in the Hospitality Industry."
- 3) "Is this the right career choice for you?"
- 4) "Caymanians in the local work place."
- 5) "The courage to follow your dreams."
- 6) "Stairways to success."
- 7) "Unleashing your potential."

These presentations will be participative in nature and will involve group discussions. The motivator will be Mr. Spence Fenderson.

I trust that all Members of this Honourable House and the general public will give this initiative the support which it deserves.

PROJECT PREPARE

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: Members will recall that in May of 1996 I made a statement in this House regarding certain initiatives that the Ministry through the Department of Human Resources was then taking with a view to developing a job placement and reintegration programme for ex-offenders.

I am very pleased to announce today that development of this project has now reached the stage where we can begin its implementation. This programme is entitled: "Project Prepare."

Project Prepare stresses career exploration and readiness. It provides a one or two day per week voluntary work experience in conjunction with classroom training. The genesis of this programme is to facilitate the rehabilitation of ex-offenders and the unemployed in society. By attacking the problem from an educational perspective the Ministry, through the Department of Human Resources, hopes to create standards that will enhance the development of these individuals in society. Our goal is to move away from the traditional way of rehabilitating these individuals to a more progressive and reward-incentive approach to better address these individuals in changing their attitudes through behaviour modification.

During each class session, the project will be instructing and motivating a group of ex-offenders and unemployed adults who have a wide range of abilities and disabilities with diverse backgrounds and experiences. The Department of Human Resources will be responsible for providing ex-offenders and the unemployed with an individualised plan of instruction in reading, writing and mathematics. We are responsible for designing continuous, structured educational programmes that will prepare ex-offenders and the unemployed for work and for counselling ex-offenders and the unemployed concerning the availability of occupational, vocational and alternative educational programmes suitable to their needs and interests.

In addition, we will encourage ex-offenders and the unemployed to take responsibility for their own education and to cooperate with their classmates in order to share the abilities and skills they have acquired. Our ultimate goal is to help ex-offenders and the unemployed become independent.

It is important to note that the mainstreaming of ex-offenders and the unemployed is a long term commitment to social integration. The primary goal is to prepare these individuals to become productive citizens in society. That means that ex-offenders and the unemployed must not only improve skills in reading, writing and mathematics, but also master time management and other employability techniques and attitudes. Another important goal is acquiring the qualifications for entrance into the employment market and job training and educational programmes.

With this project, my Ministry and the Department of Human Resources are embarking upon a new frontier. At the core of this is education and career guidance and other vital strategies will help us enhance development of these individuals in our society. It is our vision and belief that the road to social rehabilitation is central to the development of these individuals.

This curriculum is viewed as an ongoing process that will be refined and improved as it is implemented and adapted to reflect recommendations from other professional bodies. As the programme develops, the Department of Human Resources will open the road to social rehabilitation for the ex-offenders in the Cayman Islands with an aim to providing positive social change to help move these individuals into the main stream of society where they can participate in a productive manner.

We anticipate that programme implementation will take place during June of this year using the approach of re-education and re-training with core focus on the practical application of knowledge and skills that these individuals will have acquired. Their prior knowledge will be the impetus to social development as they become active participants in their own social change developing a sense of who they are and what they are capable of doing resulting in a well-spring of confidence building.

Some of the criteria for assessment of participants for the programme are as follows:

- ◆ Mainstreaming assessment criteria for ex-offenders: The Age Factor in assessing ex-offenders in the programme placement:
 - (a) Male and female offenders 17-28 years of age;
 - (b) Ex-offenders 29-40.
- ◆ Offence Factor:
 - (a) The nature of the offence;
 - (b) The sentencing time.
- ◆ Education Factor:
 - (a) What is the offenders education level;
 - (b) How long has he/she been out of school;
 - (c) How important is education to the offender?
- ◆ Skill Factor:
 - (a) What is skill level of the offender?

- (b) How are these skills acquired?
- (c) Have these skills been utilised in the past?
- (d) Are these employable skills?
 - (i) Is it necessary to up-grade the offender's skills?
 - (ii) Is the offender skill-ready?
- ◆ The substance abuse Factor:
 - a) The reason for incarceration. Was it drug related?
 - b) How long has the offender been involved with drugs?
 - c) What kind of drugs?
 - (i) Cocaine;
 - (ii) Marijuana/Ganja;
 - (iii) Alcohol.
 - d) Has the offender had drug intervention treatment?
- ◆ The Incentive Factors for long-term success:
 - a) Skilled offenders will be placed in a work programme;
 - b) Vocational counselling as needed;
 - c) A stipend will be paid to each offender who maintains a C average or who successfully completes a required programme;
 - d) Drug counselling, social skills and attitude counselling.
- ◆ The Attendance Factor and Programme Placement:
 - e) If offenders fail to maintain 100% attendance in any programme outlined and administered by the Department, except for excused absences, the stipend will be reduced by a daily rate and the offender may be subjected to disciplinary action and counselling;
 - f) Progress of offenders will be monitored by a Labour inspector;
 - g) Labour inspectors will make impromptu visits at the work site or place of education to offer encouragement and support.
- ◆ Co-ordinating the programme:
 - a) Utilising existing resources;
 - (i) Community College
 - (ii) ICCI College
 - (iii) In-house training.
 - b) Counselling ex-offenders and referrals.
 - (i) To bridge the gap between employer and ex-offender.
 - (ii) Bridge the gap between educational institutions and ex-offenders.
 - (iii) Monitor ex-offenders.
 - c) Networking with the private sector.
 - (i) Exposing the ex-offender to the private employer.
 - (ii) Workplace training.

Much of our work on Project Prepare to date, has been subsequent to detailed consultation between staff of the Human Resources and staff of Her Majesty's Prison in Northward. Our immediate goal is to link the Prison's educational component with the Department of Human Resources Project Prepare.

Prison staff have already begun to work with the Department by providing data on prisoners scheduled to be released in the coming months. It is anticipated that one aspect of this co-operative effort will be that the Department will complement the Prison's training efforts by facilitating outside educational and counselling programmes for prisoners prior to their release through Government or private institutions, or both.

Upon release from Prison, deepening upon the circumstances, ex-offenders will continue in these programmes and enter expanded programmes or begin part or full time employment, or perhaps a combination of some of the above. Other agencies, such as the Community College, Social Services, the Counselling Centre, various other Government Departments which already employ ex-offenders, or who may be able to offer such employment in the future, and, of course, the private sector will need to become involved in these efforts.

Preliminary consultation to date leaves us confident that these entities will be eager partners in working towards the betterment of society by making project prepare a success. In the case of previously released prisoners who are having difficulty in finding jobs or who are unable to readjust to a work environment, we intend to initiate various efforts at the appropriate time to establish contact with them, including publicised district visits in order to incorporate them into Project Prepare.

I am very pleased with the way Project Prepare is being developed to suit our particular Caymanian needs. Members will appreciate that much work remains to be done, therefore a more detailed report is not possible at this time. It must be recognised that these efforts to make productive citizens of ex-offenders will carry a price tag, a portion of which Government will have to bear.

I can say, as I informed Members in Finance Committee the other day, that a vote is in place in the Budget for this programme. Some ex-offenders will have to be subsidised while they are attending various classes and/or learning on the job. On the other hand, such expenses as may be necessary to make Project Prepare successful will be but a drop in the bucket, when compared to the cost of allowing the current revolving cycle of in-and-out of prison by so many of these offenders to continue.

I trust that this statement has provided some useful information to this Honourable House. I urge both the private and the public sector to give their full support to this crucial socio-economic initiative when it becomes operational in June. I will make periodic reports to this Honourable House as the programme develops.

I thank you, Mr. Speaker, for your indulgence as these statements have been long. These are programmes that I would have announced in my debate, had I the opportunity to debate the Budget Address and Throne Speech.

While I am on my feet, I will crave your indulgence to say that when the unexpected cut-off came to the Debate on the Budget Address and Throne Speech, I was away attending a funeral in my constituency.

THE TAX CONCESSIONS (AMENDMENT) (UNDERTAKINGS) BILL, 1997

Deputy Clerk: The Tax Concessions (Amendment) (Undertakings) Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

(12.15 PM)

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I rise to present to this Honourable House, a Bill for a Law to Amend the Tax Concession Law (1995 Revision).

This Bill seeks to amend the Tax Concessions Law (1995 Revision) by repealing the words "15th of November, 1994, in section 6(4) and substituting the words "1st September, 1996.

An amendment was made to the Tax Concessions Law in 1994 which extended the tax undertaking to apply to withholding tax on dividends and other distributions. As the tax undertaking forms were not altered at the time to reflect this change, the tax undertakings issued after the 15th of November, 1994, did not have the advantage of the extension of the undertakings to include withholdings tax.

The tax undertaking forms have since been altered with effect from the first of September 1996. Accordingly, a further amendment to the Tax Concessions Law (1995 Revision) needs to be introduced which extends the date of the 15th November, 1994 to 1st September, 1996—the effective date of the new form of tax undertaking.

This is a very short amendment and I recommend this Bill to the Honourable House.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill entitled, The Tax Concessions (Amendment) (Undertakings) Bill, 1997, be given a second reading. The motion is open for debate. (Pause)

If there is no debate, I will put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. THE TAX CONCESSIONS (AMENDMENT) (UNDERTAKINGS) BILL, 1997 GIVEN A SECOND READING.

THE GOVERNOR (VESTING OF LANDS) (AMENDMENT) (DISPOSITIONS) BILL, 1997

Deputy Clerk: The Governor (Vesting of Lands) (Amendment) (Dispositions) Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: I beg to move the second reading of a Bill entitled, The Governor (Vesting of Lands) (Amendment) (Dispositions) Bill, 1997.

This is a short Bill which restricts the ability to dispose of government owned lands. Any disposition of freehold land, or of a leasehold interest with more than 20 years to run will need to be advertised in a newspaper circulating in the Cayman Islands, and in the Gazette, and to be the subject of a report containing all relevant details to be laid on the Table of the Legislative Assembly together with three valuations. The Legislative Assembly will be able to veto the disposition. Failure to observe the required procedure will render any such disposition void.

For a long time there has been concern whenever Government sees fit to dispose of any property. It is my belief that with this small amending Bill we will be able to take care of that, and I ask all Members for their support.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill entitled, The Governor (Vesting of Lands) (Amendment) (Dispositions) Bill, 1997, be given a second reading.

The motion is open for debate. The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

(12.23 PM)

Mr. Roy Bodden: I am happy to lend my support to this Bill. I think that it is appropriate for properties to be disposed of this way, for ample and relevant notice to be given, so that the people may have the opportunity to consult with their representatives. I also think it is appropriate for information which is purported to be given to be brought and laid on the Table of this Honourable House so that the representatives of the people can acquaint themselves with the circumstances surrounding the transaction.

Importantly too, it will alleviate any possibilities of anyone insinuating that the practise has been less than transparent. It will certainly put public servants involved in the transaction above suspicion and insinuation. I think it is timely and one that should be supported by all Members of this Honourable House.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: This Bill, while short, is an extremely important one, and I commend the Honourable Minister for bringing this. What the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town said is that this will now put the sale of Government property beyond any suspicion. I do not believe that Government should ever sell property except in rare instances. I believe this has been the policy of not just this Government, but of past Governments.

Facts regarding any sale or long lease will have to come before this Honourable House and be laid on the Table. Along with that will have to come the report from the Ministry containing all of the details, a copy of the survey report, a valuation by the Government's valuer of the land it is proposing to dispose of; valuations by 2 independent licensed valuers of the land of which it is proposed to dispose; a copy of the resolution of the Executive Council of the Islands approving the terms of the proposed disposition; and a copy of the advertisement of the proposed disposition published in accordance with this Bill.

The public will therefore know exactly what the Government is doing because an advertisement with full details has to be put in the newspaper as well as in the Official Gazette.

The Bill, while short, is a milestone. For the first time the Executive Council has said that they are prepared to take power from Executive Council and put it into the Legislative Assembly. That shows the public clearly that this Executive Council is by no means power hungry; they are stable (as is the full Legislative Assembly) and prepared in instances which are extremely important, such as this.... And this is an executive act, I should point out, under the previous Law (and that Law has remained there as long as I can remember because when I was Acting Attorney General in the late 1960s, early 1970s, it was called "The Administrator Vesting of Lands Law." So, it goes back unchanged with power in Executive Council for probably 40 years, at least.

I think this is important. It shows that this is an open Government. If property is being sold, because property is dear to everyone in this country, then the public will know that it is being sold and this Honourable House will have a right to object. Frankly, I am happy to follow the wishes of this House on whatever decision would be made in that area.

I fully support the Honourable Member. It is quite a milestone. It safeguards Government's property for the people. Nothing can be done now without a full disclosure to the people and this House.

The Speaker: If there is no further debate, does the mover wish to exercise his right of reply?

Hon. John B. McLean: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I wish to thank those Members who have spoken for their remarks in support of the Bill, and to thank all Members for their silent support.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill entitled, The Governor (Vesting of Lands) (Amendment) (Dispositions) Bill, 1997, be given a second reading. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

THE LOAN (CAPITAL PROJECTS) BILL, 1997

Deputy Clerk: The Loan (Capital Projects) Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

(12.30 PM)

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I beg to move the second reading of a Bill entitled, The Loan (Capital Projects) Bill, 1997.

As Honourable Members are aware, the initial Loan Bill presented to this House sought to obtain approval for the borrowing of $8.5 million. This sum was initially intended to be used in the financing of the ongoing developmental Phases I, II and III of the George Town Hospital, as set out under subhead 52-114, Health Care Facilities in the original Draft Estimates.

Members were informed during my introductory remarks in Finance Committee that an amendment would be introduced during the Committee stage of the Bill for the purpose of increasing the amount authorised to be borrowed from $8.5 million to a sum in excess of $16 million.

The main reasons giving rise to this increase resulted from (a) a reduction in the revenue measures by $6.9 million. The package of revenue measures initially agreed upon sought to achieve collections during 1997 amounting to approximately $14 million with variation to those measures it was subsequently reduced to $7.1 million, leaving a gap of $6.9 million. The second reason for the increase was providing the for continuation of the development of the Airport Mail Sorting Facility by $1 million. Members will recall that the original provision under subhead 52-127, Post Office Buildings, as set out in the Estimates, contained a sum of $602,551. It was pointed out that this sum would have to be increased by a further $1 million, thus bringing the value of that provision up to $1,602,551 for that subhead.

The third aspect was having to make provision in the Estimates in the amount of $300,000 to cover the interest costs that would result from the additional borrowings. This amount is set out under subhead 38-906, Statutory Public Debt, in the revised Estimates. This can be found on page 33.

The culmination of these changes resulted in items initially intended to be funded by local revenue, now having to be shifted under the loan financing section of the Estimates, and will now be funded by borrowings. The Revised Loan Bill, instead of being for the single amount of $8.5 million as earlier advised, will now be comprised of the following items for a value of $16,659,400.

42-135	Medical Equipment	$ 545,429
52-106	Construction of Roads	$ 4,590,475
52-114	Health Care Facilities
Originally the provision of $8.5 million in the Loans Bill was to be applied against the ongoing financing of this project, but had to be increased to:
		$10,523,496
52-127	Post Office Buildings	$1,000,000

I know that we have recently completed Finance Committee, in fact the meeting concluded yesterday. Members have been carefully apprised as to the composition of the Capital Budget, and also the specific projects to which these amounts will be applied within the various subheads. The first item of $545,429, under Head 42-135, Medical Equipment, will be used to cover the acquisition of a Stress Echo Cardiograph, an x-ray machine and other sorted equipment.

The sum of $4,590,475 provided under subhead 52-106, Construction of Roads, is to cover the cost to build and repair roads in West Bay, George Town, East End, North Side, Cayman Brac and to assist in the financing of the Harquail Bypass.

The sum of $10,523,496 under subhead 52-114, Health Care Facilities, includes a sum of $9.2 million to cover the ongoing construction cost of the George Town Hospital. The remaining balance will cover other health care expenditure.

As I mentioned, the $1 million by which subhead 52-117, Post Office Buildings has been increased is intended to make adequate provision to fund the expenditure to be incurred for the completion of this project during the course of this year.

So, this accounts for the application of a Loan for $16,659,400. Honourable Members have been apprised of the residual balance that remains from the previous loans carried forward into 1997 which exceeds approximately $8 million. This will also be applied in the funding of the Capital Projects in 1997.

We are looking at Capital Expenditure in the region of $44 million. It is unlikely that this expenditure will be incurred in full during the course of the year, but the Government will continue to pursue its normal prudent policy of using up revenue funds where available, and making a draw-down against these loans at the last minute, thus achieving a reduction in interest costs that would otherwise be incurred. It will also ensure that the amount of the loan drawn-down during the course of the year will correspond to the equivalent expenditure incurred against these items for which the specific borrowings are being made.

I commend this Bill to Honourable Members of this House.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill entitled, The Loan (Capital Projects) Bill, 1997, be given a second reading. The motion is open for debate.

The First Elected Member for George Town.

(12.40 PM)

Mr. Roy Boddan: Mr. Speaker, I wish to take this opportunity to say, once again, that it is high time we try to arrive at a system of prioritising our capital projects in order to get better control over the circumstances which lead us to the borrowing money and embarking on expensive ventures which inevitably result in our coming to our people for taxes. I call on the Government again to work on the Medium-Term Financial Plan and the Public Sector Investment Programme.

I think we have seen, and recent experience has shown us, that our country is only prepared to absorb so much at one time. We have to begin prioritising while looking at, what I term, creative new ways of meeting expenditure if we are going to continue to develop.

Anyone proposing a project can certainly justify the urgency and necessity of that project. To this extent, I am a proponent of the kind of fiscal responsibility plan which allows us to publicise the full cost of a project once it has been identified; and in addition, state how we are going to raise the money well enough in advance so that we can adjust. The easiest way to accomplish what we want to in this country is by prioritisation.

I note that the Honourable Third Official Member said that we have $43 million in Capital Projects. It is possible that this entire loan may not be drawn down within this year. I contend that it is now the middle of April. We cannot possibly complete the $43 million worth of Capital Projects within this year, seeing as November is the time for the presentation of the next Budget.

One could quite logically beg the question: Why the Loan Bill at this time? I think that the Government has a responsibility to monitor the economic development and gauge their capital works in such a way that when the economy is booming the Government can allow the private sector to bear the brunt of the economic development. At such times when there is contraction within the private sector, then the Government should embark on massive capital works projects. Certainly, this is how it is done in the United States and other countries. I think that we could try that approach in the Cayman Islands.

Whether the loan is drawn down this year or not, I am worried about any increase in our national debt. While it is true that we are not yet up to the 'dangerous' level, if we keep on borrowing, one of these days a Government will not be able to make the required payments comfortably—then we are going to have problems. That this is so is recognised by people outside of the Cayman Islands. I would like to share with the House the observation of the "Dominion Bond Rating Service Limited" of Toronto Canada, in a publication they put out on December, 10, 1996, in a section entitled "Challenges:"

"Challenges faced by the Cayman Islands are:

(1) With a population growth of 4.7% in 1995, 1.2% in 1994, 9.2% in 1993 and 6.0% in 1992, population growth is too fast for the infrastructure. Roads (traffic jams), sewers, water, airports and services are becoming increasingly strained. (2) Government expenditure has risen by 6.5% and 21.8% in 1995 and 1996, with higher interest costs as well as pressure to expand health, welfare and education. Capital expenditure for hospitals is particularly noteworthy, and overall capital expenditure has risen 19.5% and 29.1% respectively over the last two years. At an estimated CI$28 million equal to $854 per capita, capex is still in need of increases. (3) Revenue has risen 9% and 13% over the last two years, but not enough to contain the deficit greatly, The deficit over the last three years (1994-1996) amounted to CI$5.9 million in 1994, $20.6 million in 1995 and CI$18.1 million in 1996, equal to $558 per capita. If this level is not brought down quickly, interest costs will escalate and the country will start a debt spiral, with interest costs chasing the deficit. The main problem is infrastructure or capital expenditure problems, since the operating budget including interest costs is being currently met. (4) Total government debt, including development debt, amounted to CI$64.5 million as at December 31, 1994, rising to CI$85.1 million (estimated) at December 31, 1995, and an estimated CI$103.2 million as at December 31, 1996. This is equal to CI$3,146 per capita in 1996, versus CI$2,719 in 1995 and CI$2,087 in 1994 or up 15.7% and 30.2% over the last two years. Although there is cash and other development assets which can partly offset this, the debt build-up is too quick. New taxes or government expenditure cuts will have to be considered if expenditure growth is not contained. (5) Besides tourism and banking/financial, the islands have few other natural resources. The economy is mainly being carried by these two items. (6) The country uses the "pay as you go" accounting method...."

It concludes by saying: "Sometime in the future, someone will have to pay..." and it specifically mentioned this business of public pensions.

That information can be had on the World Wide Web. It highlights a true challenge with which we in the Cayman Islands, going into the 21st century, are faced. My position is very clear in that I have articulated far and wide that we need some kind of fiscal responsibility act which will allow us to prioritise. The Government must take a look at the services which are required, and which it proposes to provide. I am not knocking the Government for aspiring to provide the best, most up-to-date and adequate services, because I was as conscientious and responsible as I could be in Finance Committee working with the Budget.

I also have the responsibility to my constituents and to this Honourable House to say that we are entering the 'red zone' now. It is time for us to take a long and serious look—the Civil Service is expanding. I would not be surprised if the business of borrowing becomes more prevalent. We have to take a serious inward look, and I find it difficult, because my contention is that some of these projects for which we propose to borrow could be laid off until sometime down the line—notwithstanding the fact that some of the monies are going to be used for projects which have already been completed. It is a quandary that we have to deal with beginning now, otherwise we are going to saddle future generations of Caymanians with a debt—for which they will curse us. So my call is for us to set in place the proper machinery.

I am somewhat of an historian, and, as such, I collect and preserve many important documents. I would like to refresh Members' memories with what the Honourable Financial Secretary had to say during the Budget Session of 1993. He stated: "We will have to develop a credible strategy to effectively place limits on growth in public expenditure without seriously impairing the effectiveness of public sector programmes." He went on to say, "We must determine priorities, order them and make choices that are realistic and achievable."

Above all, Mr. Speaker, in terms of resources and priorities he said: "We have to cut our suit to fit our cloth..."—advice which is as relevant now as then. I argue that it is more relevant and more necessary now than it was in 1993.

At the turn of the development of modern events in Europe in 1847, Guttle Rothschild (the mother of the five Rothschild sons who were wealthy, successful and perhaps the most influential European capitalist entrepreneurs and money providers in Europe) told the world that there would be no war in Europe because her sons would not be providing any money to finance a war. Well, I am not nearly so influential; but I say that the Loan Bill can carry without my support because I will be abstaining.

Continuation of the Second Reading debate on the Loan (Capital Projects) Bill, 1997.

The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

SECOND READINGS

THE LOAN (CAPITAL PROJECTS) BILL, 1997

(Continuation of debate thereon)

Dr. Frank McField: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Rather than have the Press say that the Fourth Elected Member for George Town did not say at least a few words in regards to the request by the Government to borrow this sum of $16 million for capital projects, I would like to go on record as recognising the sincerity and competence of the Honourable Financial Secretary, and I do believe that he is prudent. I believe that he has the good interests of this country at heart. Being a freshman in the Legislative Assembly, I think it is important that my constituents and the listening public realise that I am not an authority in all matters, and that I am willing to take—at least for a period of time—lessons from people with more experience, particularly in regard to financial matters.

Nevertheless, I realise that our country as a whole must pay back this loan in the future. It is money that must be collected by means of raising revenue in the future. I therefore would like to again voice my concern with regard to the difficulties I see coming about in regard to the ability of the country to finance the necessary infrastructural development.

As I said, I am going to support the Loan Bill as I have been supporting the Budget. I hope that Honourable Members will not interpret my comments as attempts to derail any programmes that they may have. I think it is clear that until I can figure out how to persuade Members to structure priorities in such a way that we are not trying to do all things for all people at one time, that there is a necessity for me to somehow cooperate with the attempts being made in this House at the moment.

I understand that the Loan package is part of the entire package of this Budget, and that because it was not possible to raise revenue by revenue enhancement measures which might have adversely affected the tourist industry, we have had to resort to borrowing this money.

I would nevertheless like to point out that the Government is spending a substantial amount of money on the further development of the tourism sector of this country, and that the Government is spending a sufficient amount of money in regard to the further development of the financial industry of this country. Regardless of what some Members might believe, I do see the infrastructural development, the part that deals with social development, as an integral part of the entire package of development. I have always been for a development that was not just economic, but was, in fact, social. Therefore, although I would like to see a reining in with regard to certain programmes, I am here to defend the loan package as part of the entire package the Government is bringing to finance the different services.

I also realise that a lot of the money being borrowed is to finance the building of the hospital. I also must say that we can borrow for one thing and pay for something else. So, I am not necessarily accepting the loan package simply because it is coming in a particular area, because if we had spent less in another area, we might have been able to borrow less. I am not defending it on the basis of the physical development of the hospital. I see that there could have been different considerations and a balancing of priorities which were slightly different.

I would like to make it quite clear that if I had created the Budget, I would have balanced it differently. But since that was not my position, I, as an independent Backbencher will attempt to make Government as efficient as possible; I will point out weaknesses that I see while at the same time not disrupting nor discrediting the process that other people have seen as sufficient.

I come back to my relationship with individual Members, such as the Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development. I have a certain amount of trust in him and his Christian principles and his honesty. Because of this, I am going to be guided by his judgment with regard to these financial matters.

So, Mr. Speaker, I would just like to close by saying that I support the Bill to borrow this amount of money and hope that it might be used for the best purposes; those for which it is intended. Thank you.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Bill before us is "A Bill for a Law to Authorise the Borrowing of up to $16,569,400 for the Financing of Specified Capital Projects." I think it is within the bounds of this debate to just re-visit a few things to put this given position of the Government in its proper perspective.

The projected total public debt at year end 1996 was in the region of $57 million. If we go through our Estimates and see the procedure by which a balanced budget was produced, we will notice that of the approved borrowings of $16 million in the 1996 Budget, there was an amount of approximately $6 million which had not been drawn down. I am not quite sure if that was part and parcel of the original $16 million for the 1996 Budget, or whether a portion of that was the $10-plus million approved in May following the Budget. Nevertheless, at year end $6 million had not been drawn down. That left the public debt at approximately $51 million.

The authority to draw that $6 million down has extended itself with the introduction of this Budget, to make the Budget a 'balanced' one. That puts us back up with a projected $57 million in public debt before this House approves (as I am sure it will) the Bill before us today. This Bill for $16.5 million extends itself (once the amount is drawn down by year end) to approximately $74 million for public debt.

To be fair we have to subtract from that what is projected to be paid on existing loans out of recurrent revenue. I think it is fair to say that after interest is deducted, probably $6 million will be paid down during the course of the year. While these figures are not quite exact, I am sure that they are close enough to be relevant and used in any arguments raised. When we put that entire picture together it seems that we have somewhere in the region of $68 million in public debt at year end, assuming there is the draw down of the amounts approved.

It is my understanding that servicing those loans will only take approximately 5% of recurrent revenue. I do not know the length of time on these loans, as that information has not been provided thus far. I cannot say how long the liability will last, but suffice it to say that while it is only going to be 5% of the country's recurrent revenue (which satisfies what we may call the 'recurrent debt', if there is such a thing), it is obvious that it is slowly but surely climbing. The main thought in all of this is not the fact that there is cause for alarm, but the fact that it is slowly but surely increasing.

Coupled with trying to play catch-up with what the Fourth Elected Member for George Town referred to as the 'infrastructural needs' (I accept that is what has to be done), is the fact that there is an ever increasing demand for the Government of this country to provide and enhance services to the people. It is no joy ride, and I accept that. But I think it is incumbent on me, and others who see likewise, to let it be known that there is a concern. The concern stems from looking at each individual need we are trying to satisfy and justifying the need to satisfy it at any time. But as we continue to put the whole big picture together, it gets tighter and tighter. We cannot sit here and continue wrangling and doing the best we can until such time as when the scales tip in the other direction. That is a real fear. We may not have to stare that in the face for the next three or four years, but I contend that we should not wait until we are forced to think seriously about it.

The scene I have portrayed is as real as I see it from where I sit. I think the missing link in the whole scheme of things is the will to have a disciplined plan for the future of this country. The country is very similar to a home—it is just that we have to deal with larger numbers—all of the same principles apply.

Let us take time out and forget that we have different sides in this House. Let us pretend that when the time is necessary we can be as one. If we look at the individual areas that we take time out to address through the various processes in this Honourable House—the most recent of which was Finance Committee—we will find that we can take each and every issue (if we so desire) and throw out the pros and the cons. We look at the various Committees which performed their tasks before the Budget Document was completed and brought to this House and we understand that it is not a game. In fact, it is a situation where the best of jugglers would have difficulty in satisfying the various requests—the majority of which are justifiable.

Let me repeat what I said privately this morning: I am a firm, convicted believer in the Medium-Term Development Strategy and the Public Sector Investment Programme. I remember that close to four years ago when I first heard about it, I wondered what it was all about. I asked the right people and it was explained to me. What I just spoke about, Mr. Speaker, is what I contend to be the answer to all of the problems we have been talking about here. That Plan and that Strategy is what will create the discipline that we need. There is also another area we must be looking at.

While I seem to be straying at this point in time, if you will allow me, Mr. Speaker, I will prove my argument. I might not have everyone's agreement, but I will prove my argument.

This basis for the Medium-Term Development Strategy and the Public Sector Investment Programme is a disciplined approach where all necessary capital projects are placed in the order of priority. You will end up with the ability to decide when to do what, and how to do it, based upon your ability to do it. Let me say that I am not standing here today to suggest that we will ever be in a position to operate in a prudent fashion again without borrowing. That is not my point.

I wish to state that I will gain satisfaction only when I see the approach I am talking about used whenever we engage in spending the country's money, deciding how much we have to borrow to do what we have to do, and how much we are able to use out of income that is earned.

There are many instances which prove that my thoughts are by no means new. The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town quoted some recent deliveries by the Financial Secretary. Even before his time other men of similar capacity expressed similar thoughts. If you will allow me, I will show you an example.

In 1990, the former Financial Secretary said in his address: "...the capacity to commit ourselves to abide by the imperatives of fiscal resource constraints... will require prudent and stable overall and departmental fiscal management of the highest order,...." He went into areas I have not delved into yet. He went on to say, "Today, as our economy adjusts to both external and internal changes, it has become even more important than in the past to assess our spending needs realistically, and to tailor our thinking to what is fiscally possible. The inescapable starting point must be the best use of our limited resources, controlling public expenditure in all shapes and forms, ensuring achievement of value for money spent, containing recurrent expenditure through curtailment of civil service growth, and increasing civil service per capita productivity as well as overall civil service productivity." [1990 Budget Address delivered 9th November, 1990]

That was said in 1990, and today we can still sing the chorus—we are just a little bit more perturbed. It means that as of now we are simply waiting on the inevitable to happen. While there may be inner workings which will surprise me and show me different in the near future, until I see something like that I will sing the same song—as boring as it may be!

In 1990 the Financial Secretary also said this: "Raising sufficient revenue, and how we raise it, is no less important...for economic wisdom dictates that the way revenues are raised can sometimes make growth in an economy hostage to taxes. I also believe that as a first approach we must improve the efficiency and effectiveness of our revenue collection system, closely monitor the performance of the system to minimise, if not totally prevent, abuse of the system, and aggressively and vigorously enforce measures to plug the loop holes in that system, collect the back revenues from those who legitimately owe Government such revenues and from those who fail to pay such revenues in a timely fashion."

So we are giving the Government some kudos here, because that was 1990. But in 1996 we saw something done about this, which is fair. But, if by the slightest chance I am right with my fears, and we don't do something soon, we won't have six years to go back and say they finally did something about this. It is my hope (and I have every confidence with their ability) that between the Civil Service arm of Government and the Elected arm of Government we will see a more obvious sense of direction. I am not here to make issues over who I think is to blame. I found out a long time ago that that really does not help. I think we need to understand where we have to go and head the country in that direction.

The winds of change that I talk about are not radical. They are not disturbing. In fact, the truth be known, those winds of change are the wishes of many involved in the process. They don't say it, but I will say it for them.

My contention is not that the four items in the schedule for this Loan Bill are items we should not deal with—but it does equate to $16.6 million and it does call for our public debt to increase. While it may be said (and a case made) that because of the nature of the growth of the country it is obvious that public debt will continue to increase, we just have to make it increase at a reasonable pace.

I cannot say that I will be satisfied. The truth is that when we become adults and go to work we don't live our lives working to owe and then we die. We try to get to the point where we turn the tables, where we owe less and save more so that before we die we can live to enjoy it for a while. There does not seem to be any chance of that at present.

My analogies may seem to be funny at times, but I know they, to whom it matters, understand. The $545,000 for medical equipment is necessary. The $4.5 million for roads is a question mark. The $10.5 million for the hospital is necessary. If we don't approve the million dollars for the new postal facility, it will be two-thirds done and it will stay there. So, at this point in time, that million dollars is necessary. But when we do all of that what is more necessary than all of that is to do something about the way we do business.

That is not a statement meant to suggest that everything that is done is wrong. It is simply meant to say that so many things have changed and the whole movement is so fast that we need to get a better grip on how we do what we do so that we can follow the trail better; that we can monitor it better and plan better. It is my hope that by the time this is over (and may God help us so that it does not take too long) we will find ourselves in a situation where no one here (whoever is here at that time) will have to wait until he wakes up tomorrow morning to decide what he is going to do. We no longer have that luxury. We have to see a good distance down the road, otherwise we will never get there.

More could be said, but the Honourable Third Official Member has his winding up to do. I trust that he is prepared to address some of the issues. There are issues that were raised by others. My issues were simply raised to prod the mind of those who have the authority and to hope that they will do what they know, and I know, is right.

In proving my concern for how we do what we do, and because I was not involved in the process from its very beginning until I got here, and because from the very beginning there were ways of doing things that I did not agree with; and because I know that my vote will not have any bearing on the passage of this Bill—to satisfy my mind and to take my stand, I have aired my views. I hope they are taken with the right intention. I simply wish to state that like the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town, I, too, will be abstaining.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

(3.35 PM)

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I rise to give my support to the Loan Bill which authorises the Government to borrow $16,659,400 for certain identified capital projects.

Mr. Speaker, I don't believe there is any reason for alarm in that the present Government (which is the National Team Government) has been fiscally prudent in managing the affairs of this country. For example, between 1992-1996 many necessary capital projects were provided for this country. They were all paid for, with the exception of a very small loan in 1996, out of recurrent revenue. The present Government can be proud that until this year it did not put forward any new revenue enhancement measures or any new direct taxation.

In this Bill certain capital projects which have been identified. For example, there is a sum of $545,429 for medical equipment. Those of us who toured the facilities being constructed at the present hospital site were impressed with the pace in which the new hospital is progressing. I believe that the new hospital is a priority for this country. We constantly hear about a shortage of beds at the hospital. The new hospital will take care of those needs and concerns. We must be in a position where that hospital has the most modern equipment to ensure that the services our people are entitled to can be provided. There are $10,523,496 for health care facilities. I believe that the majority of that is to help finance the completion of the new hospital.

There is a demand for additional roads in this country. The present Government listens to the demands and the needs as expressed by our citizens. There is a provision in this Budget for the Harquail bypass which is an attempt to ease some of the congestion, in particular along the Seven-Mile Beach area. That is in the region of $3 million.

If any of us have recently gone by the airport, we have seen the new mail sorting centre. It is very modern. I think it is just about complete. There is a provision for $1 million to complete this facility. It will more than carry itself and within a short period of time the Government will receive these funds back by way of post office box rental and sale of stamps, along with other postal services.

Even with the new borrowings, I think it was mentioned that the public debt is 5% of recurrent revenue. That is very conservative and very affordable. I believe it is a reflection of good financial management as far as this Government is concerned.

The 1997 Budget is a very unusual one because Government is called upon to do so many very important things at one time. It includes funding for the new stock exchange which was just established, the Monetary Authority, which was just established; we are paying for the hospital, district health clinics, roads and a number of other very important projects needed by this country. The difficulty we had in arriving at the Budget was that the majority of the capital projects (amounting to some $40 million) are on-going—they were already started and being funded. So we had to provide the funding in order to complete those projects.

Once the hospital is completed along with some of the projects in the Budget for this year, the Government will be in a position to at least breathe a sigh of relief even though additional expense will be incurred by way of recurrent expenditure. But I believe that we are coming to the point where the demand for capital funds can be greatly decreased. We will have those facilities and services that we so badly need in place.

The First Elected Member for George Town attempted to raise some concerns in regard to Government's public debt. He gave the impression that after taking into consideration the new loan requests, the Government's debt would be in the region of $70 million. When I look at what the Financial Secretary had to say in his Budget Address, I determined that at the end of 1996 only $33.2 million of the outstanding public debt (which I think stood at $51 million) was for central Government. The other $18.3 million was borrowing by Government on behalf of its Statutory Authorities. But the Statutory Authorities have the ability to make repayments on those loans themselves—and they are.

I believe that the present Government has been very prudent in regard to its fiscal management of public funds. I believe that there is no real reason to attempt to alarm the listening public. Things are in order financially in this country.

The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town said that Government should be sitting back with monies in the coffers awaiting a downturn in the economy, and then spend Government funds in order to keep the economy going. That is very good philosophy—good in theory, but not very practical. If we waited for that before providing some of the necessary services and facilities we may be waiting another five or ten years before that downturn happens. I believe that those items identified in the Budget, especially in the capital side, are all priorities. They are needed by the people of this country, and I want to say that I congratulate the Financial Secretary on behalf of the Government for managing the affairs of this country in such a prudent fashion.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak?
(Pause)

If not, would the Honourable Third Official Member like to wind up the debate?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I would like to thank the Honourable Members who shared their views on this Loan Bill, and I also thank other Members for their tacit support.

The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town shared certain views set out in a publication by Dominion Securities of Canada. I would not take issue with those views specifically, because they express a concern not only shared by that Honourable Member (and whoever the author of that article is), but also by Members of the Government in general and Members of this House collectively.

When it comes to good, prudent, fiscal management, shrewd practices are necessary. This is not to be taken lightly when we find that we have a public debt that is increasing. To that extent, the Deputy Financial Secretary (responding to a question raised in Finance Committee) stated that the Government is presently working on the finalisation of the Medium-Term Financial Strategy Public Sector Investment Programme. It is hoped that this document (I should say, Mr. Speaker, that it goes beyond hope—we can be sure, once life continues to be given to us by Almighty God) will be tabled in this Honourable House at the next Meeting commencing in June.

As the First Elected Member for George Town stated, at this particular time in our history and development (where we are dealing with a budget for $254 million) it would be unwise for us to wake up tomorrow morning—especially at the national level—trying to determine what should be done for the day. It requires planning, and everyone recognises the need for this.

As brought out during Finance Committee, through the annual Budget we have been managing to set out the Government's projects and infrastructural requirements on an annual basis. Although the draft Medium-Term Financial Strategy Public Sector Investment Programme has not been finalised and tabled, we have been looking to this document and the views set out therein. We recognise that we will have to look beyond a 12 month cycle. It is for this reason that this document is presently being finalised. It will be reviewed by Executive Council and subsequently tabled in this Legislative Assembly, because we do recognise that, at a minimum, it is important to set out the Government's infrastructural needs and to also look at the implications of financing those infrastructural requirements over the three year period of 1997-1999.

It was also pointed out that complementing this exercise of the finalisation of the Medium-Term Financial Strategy Public Sector Investment Programme is the review of the Public Finance and Audit Law. We are aware that Governments of other countries have sought to limit borrowings. I am aware that for some time this Government has had concern, with discussions held at meetings of Executive Council, that this concept be examined. It has also been stated in this Honourable House that an immediate measure that will be considered during the review of the Public Finance and Audit Law will be limiting borrowing to a percentage of our gross domestic product.

For example, if the GDP for the year 1997 amounts to $800 million, if one took 8% of that as the ceiling for Government borrowing, it would mean that the central Government debt should not exceed $64 million.

One Member pointed out that the amount of revenue committed to the servicing of public debt for 1997 will amount to approximately $10.5 million, or approximately 5% of local revenue. This is being looked at very carefully. Although we spoke of the 10% limit—the amount which funds committed from local revenue to the servicing of public debt should not exceed—even 5% will have to be looked at very carefully because it means money being paid out.

So we are making sure that we are getting value for money. We have to be sure that the projects are necessary for our ongoing infrastructural development—not only from the economic point of view, but (as the Fourth Elected Member for George Town pointed out), from a sociological point of view.

The Portfolio of Finance and Development will continue to render advice within the collective abilities of the department that will ensure good fiscal management. No human being, however gifted with ability, can claim the totality of all knowledge. It is therefore important when Honourable Members of this House are able to share their views, as they have this afternoon, in a very constructive manner, recognising that each day represents a transition in our development and policy measures. In this regard we, in the Department of Finance and Development, are committed to ensuring that good fiscal policy is pursued.

It was pointed out that success is being attained with the collection of outstanding indebtedness. We will have to change our approach to this because I think there is a certain undercurrent of kindness and benevolence which is being abused. At this time the public recognises that the Government will not necessarily be taking debtors to court in order to settle outstanding debts. But when we get to the point where individuals are writing out substantial cheques for customs duty and purchasing Government services, and these cheques are bouncing, and we are having difficulty collecting those outstanding cheques, we have reached a stage where this process will have to be examined and re-examined continuously.

We are having good success with the Debt Collection Unit. The officer in charge of that unit has been doing a very good job. The Accountant General pointed out in Finance Committee that this is an area where we will have to increase staff resources in order to optimise the collection of outstanding debt. To not do so would make us penny wise and pound foolish.

Every effort will be made to collect the monies that are due. We know that there are certain problematic areas. There is a lot outstanding on collection of garbage fees and also for services provided at the hospital. We know that some of the records there are corrupt, but we have a very good accountant in place and the management and the Ministry are providing good support to make sure those records are looked at. Once the problems are sorted out and the correct indebtedness established, every effort will be made to pursue those debtors.

On the other hand, we will have to strengthen other agencies of Government, especially the Internal Audit Unit. Provision is being made to increase the staff in that unit because that section (which falls within the Portfolio of Finance and Development) is headed by a very competent and capable Caymanian who is a qualified CPA. She also has a number of qualified staff members assisting her. At this time she has one other officer (or deputy) who is also a CPA, and another officer who during the course of this year was successful in completing his ACCA certification. Other members of the unit are presently in the process of upgrading their qualifications and some have been quite successful in passing parts of the CPA.

I also have to recognise the role that the Auditor General's office plays, although his office is independent. But, as Members of this House can attest, that office has been providing some useful analysis and revenue of Government's expenditure policies and programmes, offering comments. The Auditor General is quite approachable, and I often seek his advice on matters or measures which the Portfolio of Finance and Development finds necessary to consider.

Everyone (especially me) recognises that when our public debt position in 1996 (and I am talking about the central Government element) amounted to $49.8 million, and for the year 1997 (when we combine new borrowing with balances brought forward) amounts to approximately $24.2 million, giving us a total of $74 million (which when we take into account the likely repayments could put us at $68 million) it is one to be concerned about. But as the Third Elected Member for West Bay pointed out, it is necessary to incur indebtedness from time to time provided that the decision made is for prudent practices.

It is important and a necessary part of our infrastructural requirement to have good medical facilities in place. A tourist coming to the island would probably not consider Cayman to be as attractive as other destinations if potholes several inches deep are found in the road. As a result, the general ambience would be unattractive. It is important to maintain the attractiveness of our infrastructure.

As quoted by the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town in referring to the Budget Address delivered in 1993, it is essential for us to cut our coats according to the cloth. That will always be the practice. So, in asking Members to commit themselves to approving this Loan Bill of $16,659,400 one recognises that it is an incremental debt being added to our existing burden. But, as I pointed out to Members, every effort will be made to ensure that we use up the cash surplus that is normally generated at the beginning of the year before we resort to any draw-down on the new loan or the loan balances brought forward from previous periods.

Even saving interests costs of $100,000 to $200,000 is considered sufficiently material for the Government to manage its cash flow in such a way in order to minimise unnecessary payments. So that is a consideration.

The Medium-Term Financial Strategy Public Sector Investment Programme will be tabled in this Honourable House, God willing, at the June Meeting. Prior discussions will take place to ensure that the document reflects the views and concerns of other Members of this House in areas they feel should be incorporated into the document. Combined with that we will be having an advisor come from the National Audit Office in the United Kingdom to assist the Director of Internal Audit in spearheading the review of the Audit and Finance Law. This falls under the Committee being chaired by the Deputy Financial Secretary.

I have a strong belief that whenever the law is finalised and brought to this Honourable House, it will reflect the concerns for fiscal responsibility and accountability that Members have been advocating. But more importantly, it will not only reflect such concerns, but what is indigenous because we can say things, we can write things that sound very good. But at the end of the day how those views translate into action determines the success of whatever measures are put in place.

I once again thank Members for their support of this Bill.

PRAYERS

Hon. John B. McLean: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that we may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of our high office.

All this we ask for Thy Great Name's sake.

Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

Questions to Honourable Members/Ministers. Deferred question No. 46, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE
MEMBERS/MINISTERS

DEFERRED QUESTION NO. 46
(Deferred on 3rd April, 1997)

No. 46: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport to state what efforts are being made to encourage the continuation of Cruise Tourism on Cayman Brac.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Cruise tourism continues to be supported by two confirmed calls for Princess Cruise Lines in January and March 1998. Recently, representation was again made to the Florida-Caribbean Cruise Association (FCCA) promoting Cayman Brac as a destination for their ships.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister state if the recent cruise ship terminated its visits to the Brac because of infrastructural problems, or were there were other reasons?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: The cruise, which originated from Cienfuegos to Cayman Brac and other ports of call, was discontinued for a variety of reasons. Firstly, the captain of the ship would not use the dock in Cayman Brac because he said it was not long enough to provide safety to his ship. But, more importantly, it has come to my attention that the marketing they did in order to attract European visitors to this cruise apparently was not done to their satisfaction. The result was the number of visitors they expected to have arriving in Cienfuegos to take this cruise was not what they expected. Therefore, they withdrew the entire cruise—not only to Cayman Brac, but to the other destinations. My understanding is that they are re-grouping under a new marketing company with a view re-instituting the cruise (although I cannot say to what destinations) in October of this year.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I wonder if the Minister could state if in any of his discussions with the cruise ships or other agencies they have given any specific reasons why Cayman Brac might not be a desired port of call?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I believe that the lay of the land of Cayman Brac is quite different from that in Grand Cayman. If there is a North or North-east wind in Grand Cayman, the land blocks the waves and, to some extent, the wind, so that the harbour in George Town is safe for persons disembarking from a cruise ship onto a tender and then onto the dock at the port.

If there is a wind blowing from the east in Cayman Brac, there is rough weather on both sides of the island. Sometimes it is very difficult to anchor at any particular spot to disembark passengers from the gang-plank of a cruise ship onto a tender and in to shore.

Part of their consideration comes in two parts: We do not want to attract to Cayman Brac cruise ships with 2400 passengers on Board. We believe that is unsuitable, and we do not believe the people of the Brac want that. We are trying to attract cruise ships to the Brac with a passenger capacity between 350 to a maximum of around 1,000. I believe that is the range we are looking at.

An extension to the dock makes it easier and safer for persons to get on and get off the ship. I think that would be something that the cruise lines would be in favour of. The present dock at the far end is in almost 35 feet of water, so any extension to it would not have to be more than 250 feet, if that, to provide the kind of docking facility which would cause the cruise line to be more in favour of calling at the Brac.

We had the visit by Princess Line in December last year. They were very pleased and have agreed to come back in January and March of 1998.

There is also the safety of coming through the channel through the Southwest side, not only for the cruise ship but for the local population as well, and those matters should also be attended to.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Is the Honourable Minister stating that the problem with the cruise ships going to Cayman Brac is because they cannot tie up at the dock?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I did mention that, but I do not think that is the overall problem. It is part of the problem, but I think that because Grand Cayman has so much infrastructure and so many facilities in term of water sports, or duty free shopping in addition to other things, that Grand Cayman, in my view, will always be the more popular port of call. It is the most popular port of call in the western Caribbean where cruise ships come out of Port Everglades or Miami, on to Ocho Rios, Cozumel and back to Florida. So, docking would be an addition that they would favour, but that is not the only solution.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Considering that Grand Cayman was somewhat like Cayman Brac many years ago as regards infrastructure facilities, I wonder if the Honourable Minister has given any consideration to any other forms of anchoring, such as permanent buoys?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I have tried to take as much advice as I could on this subject in Cayman Brac, and depending upon where the wind actually comes from (I know I spoke about the wind coming directly from the east), and given the information I have received, the anchorage near the area of the Brac Reef is suitable. If the wind comes from the Southeast towards the south, the anchorage in the area of the old Buccaneers would also be suitable.

There is a need to be sure that when passengers disembark, specifically on the north side in the Buccaneers area, that they do not have to negotiate and go around the island to get to the south side to land. I think that is a disadvantage. There is a need to have an additional landing on the north/north-western side, in addition to having the dock. I realise that it is a very expensive proposition and I have been hesitant to even recommend it to Government. I would hate to recommend it and then not get the results we want.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Considering that Government has allocated a considerable amount for advertising and marketing for tourism development in the Cayman Islands, and in view of the statement made by the Minister regarding the dissatisfaction of certain areas with their marketing strategy, I wonder how much significance is being placed by the DOT on the whole question of the development of Cayman Brac through the local marketing strategy?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I wonder if the Member would help me here and be a little bit more specific. I am not quite clear how to answer his question to his satisfaction.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: The Honourable Minister mentioned that one drawback was that the people responsible for arranging the cruise were dissatisfied with the marketing strategy on that side of the equation. I am wondering what efforts are being made through the DOT to develop the marketing of Cayman Brac as a cruise destination.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I thought for a moment that the Third Elected Member for George Town wanted me to clarify this particular point. When I spoke about marketing for the cruise that originated from Cienfuegos, it is marketing from their end—their ability using a marketing agency within Europe (not the DOT)—in such a way as to get passengers to get on a plane, go to Cienfuegos and on the cruise which includes Cayman and Cayman Brac. The company they used did not have the right strategy, I am told, and did not attract the number of people they hoped to. As a result they discontinued it.

I know that I am repeating myself to some extent, but I should finish this by saying that it is my understanding that they are going to use a different marketing company with a different strategy to try and put the cruise back together.

As regards the DOT function, we are targeting Cayman Brac specifically as a destination to attract visitors from the United States, the United Kingdom, Europe and Canada. We are using a number of facilities to accomplish that.

Prior to the last 18 months, the Cayman Islands were promoted as one destination, so to speak. Although sometimes the scenes were from Little Cayman or Cayman Brac, unless you were a Caymanian it would be difficult to say exactly where that scene was taken from. We are now pinpointing Cayman Brac in the ads, using the dive site as an additional draw for scuba diving to Cayman Brac.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 58, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 58

No. 58: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable First Official Member for the total number of current work permits in the Cayman Islands, including temporary work permits, providing a breakdown by category and nationality.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8) 11.00 AM

The Speaker: Before the Honourable Minister answers that question, may I have a motion for the suspension of Standing Orders to enable Question Time to continue beyond 11 o'clock?

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Speaker, I move that Question Time be extended.

The Speaker: Do we have a seconder?

The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I second that motion.

The Speaker: The question is that Standing Order 23 (7) & (8) be suspended to allow Question Time to continue. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8) SUSPENDED.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The total number of work permits in effect in the Cayman Islands as of 6th March, 1997, was 12,517. Of the 12,517 work permits in effect, the breakdown by type is as follows: One Year or longer - 11,236; Six months - 785; One month temporary - 496.

The statistics on the breakdown of work permits by category and nationality comprises 62 pages. Accordingly, I seek your permission to lay on the Table of this Honourable House a copy of these statistics, and I have a spare copy of these statistics which the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town may have for his perusal.

The Speaker: So ordered. The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member state Government's policy in regard to maintaining a balance in national origin among work permit holders?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: In the past there was a policy which most Honourable Members will recall was referred to as 1-C which tended to control the number of permits from certain geographical locations. That has since been lifted and is now at the discretion of the Board.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say if any preference is given in recruiting nationals from any one country?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: No, there is no preference given, but the original restrictions were lifted because the public found that it was extremely difficult and costly to bring persons from further afield. So that restriction was lifted.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 59, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 59

No. 59: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable First Official Member for the total number of Civil Servants in the Cayman Islands' Civil Service, giving a breakdown by Department and nationality.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The total number of Civil Servants in the Cayman Islands' Civil Service with a breakdown by Department and nationality as of 28th February, 1997, is 2,094, and the breakdown is set out by Department, number of staff and nationality.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Elected Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Can the Honourable Member state what departments employ the 40 civil servants listed by the Ministry for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Under that Ministry we also have the Public Library, AIDB, the Sports Department, Museum and National Archive.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: According to my calculation, Caymanians make up 61.7% of the Civil Service, just over half. I notice that the Fire Department has 115 employees of which 115 are Caymanian. My question to the Honourable First Official Member is: What steps are being taken to train, promote and encourage Caymanians to join so that we can have a better ratio between Caymanians and non-Caymanians in some of these other departments.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: There is a training policy in the Civil Service and the Public Service Commission (PSC) is asked to make recommendations to the Governor on this. What essentially happens is that Heads of Departments will submit to the Personnel Department, the PSC, their recommendations for training of Caymanians in the various departments and then the PSC considers all of these and will make recommendation and, subject to funds, training is carried out.

Outside of the Civil Service, as Members will know, the Education Council gives a number of scholarships every year. This would be for persons who would be first-time entrants into the Civil Service. So there is training going on and each Head of Department is invited to make recommendation.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: With respect to training, particularly Civil Servants attending the Law School, Community College and ICCI, I am aware that some of these classes are being offered during the day time. What is Government's policy in regard to permitting these Civil Servants to attend classes, especially during the day time? I understand that there are some difficulties experienced by at least some of them.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Perhaps the Member can be specific in the institution—he named three or four. Is there a particular one, or is there a problem with them all?

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I think it is a general difficulty in attending all of those institutions. My question is: What is the procedure to allow a civil servant to attend classes at these different institutions?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: It varies from institution to institution. That is why I asked for more information to enable me to give the Member the information he is seeking.

The policy that we do have is day release facilities, whereby a portion of the day can be spent at an institution. In the case of the Law School, the degree programme being a full time programme, it is not possible to release individuals for the degree programme. Obviously, they cannot be at work and be full time students. But there are persons involved in the diploma course, which is part time. At the Community College we have persons who are released for varying lengths of time during the day, sometimes during lunch hour, depending upon the course. So it actually varies from institution to institution.

Wherever possible, Heads of Departments are given leeway to allow their staff to be off for periods of time for study where it does not seriously affect the department's functioning.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Is the Honourable Member saying that the Head of Department approves training for those individuals as far as releasing them for classes? And what happens if a Head of Department refuses to allow a Caymanian civil servant time off to attend these classes? What process is in place available to that civil servant to speak to someone higher up?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The Head of Department would make a recommendation for a member of staff to be off, and the PSC is consulted on the matter and would be involved in the decision making.

In the instance of a Caymanian being denied, if the Head of Department says they are unable to release a particular member of staff because it would adversely affect the running of the department, then it is going to be difficult to give permission. But each case will be looked at on its own merit and the Personnel Department and the PSC will try, and does, wherever possible to assist in facilitating the training for Caymanians.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: I will give way to my colleague.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I am aware that there are some Caymanians who have the initiative to improve their qualifications who have difficulties getting permission to even use their lunch hour to attend classes. I wonder if the Honourable First Official Member can give me an undertaking to look into this to see that this is corrected? It appears to be an attempt by the Head of Department to deprive that Caymanian of a qualification.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I am not aware of any case. I just enquired with the Acting Permanent Secretary of Personnel, and he is also not aware of any case. I would ask the Honourable Member to provide me with the specific cases and I will certainly look into them.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: I noticed the figures given do not include employees in the Statutory Authorities and group employees. My question is: Are those figures likely to be similar percentages in the ratio as those given for the main Civil Service body?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The reason why the other Statutory Authorities are not included is because they operate independently of Government and, as such, I do not have direct access to them. In the case of group employees, those are handled by individual Heads of Departments. But I would expect the trend to be largely the same.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say of the non-Caymanians, what percentage are employed under terms and conditions which would mean that at the end of their service they would be getting a gratuity or bonus?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I do not have that information with me. It is somewhat unrelated to the substantive question and I do not have that answer. I would not try to hazard a guess on it.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The Honourable Member stated in an answer to a supplementary that there is a difference with the Statutory bodies and the group employees. Can the Member state if persons employed by the Statutory bodies and those group employees are paid pension benefits like the 2,094 civil servants? If so, are they paid from the same pool?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: It varies from one Statutory Authority to another. Some are still a part of the Government Pension Scheme, some are not. It simply depends upon the Statutory Authority. One or two have been long standing and their employees were seconded—we've got a mixed bag of arrangements.

On the group employees, yes, the Member will remember that we included them in an amendment to the Pensions Law and they are now under Government's Pension Plan.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Member then state if it would be fair to assume that an exact figure for the number of employees within the Service is to be had, these other areas should be added? Or is it the case that there is a good reason for why they are separated?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I wonder if the Member could elaborate a bit further on that so that I can give him the answer he is looking for?

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The substantive question asks for the total number of civil servants. The answer given was 2,094. We just discussed other employees, namely, those in certain Statutory bodies and the group employees. The answer being 2,094— If that is what we call the Civil Service, what do we call the rest?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: This group comes under the definition of "Civil Servant", they are directly under the Civil Service. Group employees are employed by departments. Without getting into a long discussion, they have always been referred to as "Government's temporary work force"—a bit of a misnomer. The other group, that is, those under the Government's pension scheme, employees of Statutory Authorities are not strictly civil servants. They are outside. I said earlier that we have a mixed bag. It is a complex answer to give, and I am not sure that I have answered the Member's question—but I tried.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I wonder if the Honourable First Official Member could state whether civil servants seconded to Statutory Authorities are included in the 2,094?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I know that some are. The Civil Aviation Authority is included and the Monetary Authority which is a recent institution is specifically mentioned. I do not believe that the other Statutory Authorities where the members are part of the pension scheme are included.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I note that under Sister Islands Administration there are 34 with one being an American. I wonder if the Honourable First Official Member could say what department the American is employed in, and whether or not he/she has a Caymanian spouse?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I am going to have to admit quite candidly to the Member that I do not have that information. I will certainly attempt to get it for her.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town. I will allow one more supplementary after this.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say if any consideration is being given to employees in the Statutory Authorities and the group employee section to ensure that long serving employees in these categories are not denied any benefits which their colleagues in the regular Civil Service are receiving, in terms of health insurance and pensions?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I am pretty sure that it has been taken care of. The persons in the Statutory Authorities which fall under Government's pension scheme enjoy the same benefits as regular civil servants. As I mentioned earlier, group employees have now been included in the pension scheme, health benefits and other benefits which apply to regular civil servants.

The Speaker: Question No. 60 is standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 60

No. 60: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture to list, by gender and district, the number of persons receiving monthly assistance to the indigent from the Government.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I am dealing with temporary and permanent assistance in both answers. From the Social Services Department Cayman Brac:

Cayman Brac	Male	Female
Spot Bay	16	22
Creek	1	11
Watering Place	7	14
Stake Bay	2	2
West End	2	11

Grand Cayman: (under 60 years)

Grand Cayman	Male	Female
Bodden Town	0	0
East End	0	0
North Side	0	0
George Town	1	3
West Bay	2	1

That is all temporary assistance given through the Department of Social Services for persons under 60 years.

For persons over 60 years of age who get assistance through the Ministry of Community Development:

Grand Cayman	Male	Female
Bodden Town	20	37
East End	6	4
George Town	37	89
North Side	6	15
West Bay	55	121

The Speaker: If there are no supplementaries, the next question is No. 61, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 61

No. 61: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture to give an update on any proposed low cost housing scheme being pursued by Government.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: In September 1996, I provided to this Honourable House, in reply to this same question from the now Third Elected Member for Bodden Town, a comprehensive answer to this question. Since that time, in order to fully examine this issue and to make recommendations for an effective, feasible and acceptable lower income Housing initiative, Executive Council, in January approved the establishment of an Affordable Housing Exploratory Committee. The Committee will carry out the following general terms of reference:

1. Research and examine the need for low cost housing provision.
2. Assess the progress made to date and conduct other research as necessary.
3. Review strategies and systems used by, or in, similar territories; undertake visits/tours as necessary.
4. Conduct research and develop working "partnerships" with local contractors/developers, building material suppliers, land owners, etcetera.
5. Make recommendations and assist with the implementation of approved initiatives.

The members of this Committee are myself as Chairman, Mr. Mario Ebanks (Senior Assistant Secretary in my Ministry) as Secretary, Mr. Daniel Scott, Mr. G Anthony Powell, Mr. Thomas Ebanks, Dr. Frank McField, MLA, and Mr. Carson Ebanks (the new Permanent Secretary in my Ministry).

Much time and thought will continue to be expended into the examination of ways and means of bringing this long overdue and important initiative to a satisfactory conclusion.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: In the substantive answer, part four refers to "conducting research and developing working partnerships with local contractors, developers, building material suppliers and land owners..." Is there any position being taken as to exactly what kind of involvement Government will have in such a project, whether Government will only organise it or will it be further involved?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: This subject of low-cost housing is one that is causing us problems. One problem is the expectation of even the lower income people to own a home above their means. It is a fact that we are not going to get low income housing the traditional way in Cayman. Materials and labour are very expensive. On top of that property, while available, is very expensive. A big problem is that even when property can be found, Caymanians and other residents do not want this type of scheme in their neighbourhoods. That is a fact.

These are the issues we have to come to grips with. I have several views as to what we are going to have to do in the final analysis, but I want to explore every possible means through the Committee to see what they will come up with. In fact, they will call others to assist them.

We have been looking at several different systems overseas, one with a Swiss company which introduced one in San Pedrosula. We also visited Jamaica to look at an all cement house offered by several large developers there. We have looked at systems in the Bahamas and the United States, as well as Europe. We always come back to the same thing: we are not going to get the type of homes we know as low income housing in Cayman. We are going to have to get something else. That is only my view at present. As I said, I want to wait until I can further discuss this matter at the committee level where we can get more ideas and expertise.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 62, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 62

No. 62: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture to state: (a) how many persons are employed at the Kirkconnell's Home Care Centre in Cayman Brac (also known as the Rest Home); and (b) provide a breakdown of the employees by nationality, position held and whether the position is full-time or part-time.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: A total of 17 persons are currently employed at the Kirkconnell Community Care Centre as at 2nd April, 1997.

The staff consists of 12 full-time Caregivers. Among them are: three Caymanian; one Trinidadian; seven Jamaicans; one United States' citizen married to a Caymanian; four Domestic: two Jamaican cooks (one full-time/one part-time two days/week; the part-time person is hired in the Community Care Workers' programme and relieves the full-time cook).

Two Housekeepers (one full-time/one part-time three days/week) both Caymanian; one Charge person, full-time post; practical nurse training and experience; Jamaican, seconded from Grand Cayman Community Care Workers' Programme since August 1996 until someone was recruited for the Charge person role.

In recruiting for the Home, a total of 150 applications were received. Of these 150 applications, 100 were from Grand Cayman and a total of 50 applications were received from Cayman Brac; 24 applications before the advertisement in the Caymanian Compass and 26 more after the advertisement. Of the 50 applications received from Cayman Brac, 13 were from Caymanians and 37 were from non-Caymanians.

Many applicants were not interested in the caregiving job. At the interviews on Cayman Brac, all the Caymanian applicants were interviewed for the jobs they applied for. Several were asked to interview for other positions in order to afford employment. Some refused. A short-list of 29 was compiled from the 150 applications; 22 applicants from Cayman Brac (13 Caymanians and nine non-Caymanians); and seven non-Caymanians from the Grand Cayman applicants.

From the 13 Caymanians short listed for interview in Cayman Brac, one person left the Island prior to interview; 12 were interviewed. Of these 12 persons, two were not hired. The two persons who were not hired were unsuitable, but were already in full-time employment elsewhere. One individual declined the job at the interview stage. Nine Caymanians were hired.

Of the 16 non-Caymanians interviewed, nine were from Cayman Brac and seven from Grand Cayman. Six of the nine from Cayman Brac were hired, while three of the seven applicants in Grand Cayman were hired. Thus a total of nine non-Caymanians were hired through the interview process. Two non-Caymanians were transferred from the Community Care Workers' Programme in Cayman Brac to the Kirkconnell Home. This brought the total number of staff hired in July 1996 to 20 persons, nine Caymanians and 11 non-Caymanians.

Subsequent to this recruitment in July 1996, and prior to the Home actually opening on 24th August 1996, one Caymanian decided to take another job; one staff member from the Community Care Workers' Programme in Grand Cayman was seconded temporarily to Cayman Brac as the Charge person.

After the Home opened in August 1996, one Caymanian became ill and had to leave the job in September 1996; two non-Caymanians were terminated due to poor performance in October 1996; one Cayman was hired in November 1996 as a caregiver; one Caymanian quit her job in January 1997. This brought the staff complement at 2nd April, 1997, to 17 persons. One more Caymanian is in the process of being hired as a caregiver and should by now have commenced work. When this new caregiver starts in April, the Home will have a staff complement of 18.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I noticed the answer referred to one employee being a US citizen married to a Caymanian. Can the Honourable Minister say whether or not in the last week or two this person walked off the job?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The answer I have from the Social Services Department is that the person referred to is on temporary leave due to illness. She could not perform her required duties. Accordingly she is not fired, nor has she left the employment.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: In the substantive answer I also note that one Caymanian decided to take another job. Is the Minister in a position to say why it seems to be the Caymanians who become ill and quit their jobs, as "one Caymanian became ill and one Caymanian quite her job in 1997"?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The information I have from the Department is that the person was sick and advised by the doctor not to work. They cannot give any explanation as to why the other person would not continue to work.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister state if any scheduling problems have been experienced by the Caymanian staff?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Can I ask the Member to repeat that question?

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister state if any scheduling problems have been experienced by the Caymanian staff?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: None that the Department is aware of.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Would the Honourable Minister give an undertaking to peruse the schedule in particular to those persons who left to see if that constituted a reason for what we prefer to call constructive dismissal?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I will certainly give that undertaking. I would like to see what the schedule says myself. I will reply in writing to the lady Member.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Again, referring to the substantive question, I noticed that two persons were not hired because they were unsuitable but were already in full time employment elsewhere. I wonder if the Minister is in a position to say whether since that time one of these persons originally deemed to have been unsuitable has been re-hired in a temporary capacity to replace a Jamaican national?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The Department does not have an answer at this time, but I will get the information for the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: If it would assist the Honourable Minister, I can give him the names and positions afterwards.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I would appreciate that.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 63 standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 63

No. 63: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable First Official Member to state whether children born in the Cayman Islands to individuals on work permits are allowed to remain with their parents in the Cayman Islands.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: There are provisions for the holders of work permits to seek variation of their work permits to include dependent children whether born within or outside the Cayman Islands. Such variation is subject to the Immigration Board's approval and an application must be made by the parent.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Can the Honourable Member state for clarification whether this would apply to skilled individuals such as barbers and teachers?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Each application is considered on its own merit. The criteria usually applied is the category of occupation of the applicant. The sufficient wages for salary earned by the work permit holder and the number of current dependants.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Can the Honourable Member state whether this decision is at the discretion of the Immigration Department, or the Immigration Board?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The discretion is given to the Immigration Board. As I recall, it forms part of the directives given to the Board.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Can the Honourable Member state if he is aware of any such consideration being given by the Immigration Department itself, rather than the Board?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: It has to be dealt with by the Immigration Board because the permit would be granted by the Board and any variation would have to be dealt with by the Immigration Board, rather than the Department.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: To assist with this particular matter, I would be happy to meet with the Honourable Member after this Session to bring to his attention cases which were dealt with at the counter of the Immigration Department. The persons applying were told that they would have to send the young baby back to the country of origin.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I would be quite happy to meet with the Member, but what I can state to assist him is that dependants are not allowed on Temporary Permits. It would only be on longer permits. That may have been the reason. But, I will certainly be very happy to meet with the Member and get the details. I will have the matter looked into.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: The particular case in point is really not one of a temporary nature. The parents were on full permits.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I thank the Member for that information, and I will be happy to meet with him to endeavour to sort the issue out.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 64 standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 64

No. 64: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture if there are any immediate plans to build any new Community Parks in central George Town and, if so, when and where.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: In 1996, plans were submitted for three parks in George Town. These parks are: (a) Smith Road Oval Park at the old Agricultural Grounds; (b) Airport Park opposite Fosters' Food Fair, next to the new Post Office; and (c) George Town Primary Park at the "Annex". I can go on to say that funds are in the Budget to assist with the building of some of these parks this year. Last year funds were given to a group in Windsor Park.

The Speaker: If there are no supplementaries, the next question is No. 65 standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 65

No. 65: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture what procedure is followed by individuals who qualify for assistance from Government for housing.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The client who is assessed and qualifies for housing assistance need do nothing other than periodically check with the Social Services Department, if they wish, on the progress being made with the repairs. The Social Work Assistant who works with this project, usually follows up on all cases to keep the clients informed as well as to check with the Public Works Department on the status of the work or when they will start on a particular project. When a referral is received for housing assistance, the following is the complete process that is followed:

1. Referral received.
2. If the case is already open on the individual referred, the assigned worker evaluates the request for housing aid and if the person is assessed to be in need, a referral is passed to the Deputy Director.
3. If there is no existing case file on the person or the case is closed, then the referral is assigned to a Social Worker for a complete needs assessment which includes a financial assessment. If the person is assessed to be in need of service, the matter is referred to the Deputy Director.
4. On receiving referrals for housing aid, the Director and Deputy Director review the information provided. If additional information is required, the matter is sent back to the assigned social worker for further assessment and provision of additional information. The additional information could be:
 - (a) clarification of property ownership;
 - (b) ability of client's children to provide some assistance in meeting their needs;
 - (c) type of housing assistance required, etcetera.

If all is in order when the referral is initially received, a form is completed and sent to the Public Works Department to assess:

- (a) Can the work be done, is the structure beyond repair or repairable?
- (b) If it is to be a new house, can the property accommodate it?
- (c) Complete an estimated cost of the work to be done. This usually entails obtaining bids from contractors on jobs which the Public Works Department is unable to do directly. The ones they can do directly, they provide an estimate on as well.
- (d) Identify any other needs, such as the need to request waiver of planning fees from the Honourable Financial Secretary if the project is to be done.
- (e) Provide Social Services Department with a completed estimate or report on concerns regarding projects unable to do and why.

5. On receiving this information a meeting is set with the Public Works Department/Social Services Department (from PWD, the Project Officer from SSD, the Director and Deputy). We review all estimates and decide on which jobs we can proceed with, dependent upon available funds and urgency of need. This is done in consultation with the Ministry of Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

6. Authorisation is then given in writing to PWD to proceed with work at estimated cost.

7. Periodic reviews are held to check on progress of work, deal with any problems arising, monitor expenditure and deal with new referrals.

8. The Ministry requires periodic updates on these projects.

9. The client is always advised that there is a waiting period which varies dependent upon the number of persons ahead of them for service. Discretion is used in cases where there is an indication of dire need or other exceptional circumstances such as serious illness where the repairs are essential to the comfort and recuperation of the individual, or where young children are involved.

10. If funds are depleted and there are still outstanding projects, supplementary funding is sought and if it is close to the end of the year those cases are carried forward into the next year and form the first referrals for service in that next year. This is explained to the client if we foresee this happening.

11. When work is completed, if there are no other services being provided to the client, the file is closed.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I would just like to thank the Member for his comprehensive answer. It will indeed help many people in the public, as I have had a number a queries. I do not have a supplementary.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Just on a point of clarification, can the Honourable Minister state if this same procedure is applicable to Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, or is it left to the Social Services officer in charge of that district?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: The social workers in Cayman Brac are supposed to carry out the same procedure. I understand, from different complaints I have received and from my visits to Cayman Brac, that there are some problems. I hope to have these addressed in the new year. When I say problems, I mean people are in need, but cannot get anything done.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, I have had an apology from the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town who had to leave the premises. I would therefore ask that deferred question No. 54 be again deferred to another sitting. May I have a motion?

The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I am happy to defer it to whenever the Member wishes to ask it. If the Clerk would just liaise with him...

The Speaker: Thank you. I need to get a motion under Standing Order 23(5) that the question be deferred. Would you so move?

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I so move.

The Speaker: The question is that the question be deferred until a later date. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. QUESTION NO. 54 DEFERRED.

The Speaker: That concludes Question Time. Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

STATEMENTS BY HONOURABLE MEMBERS/MINISTERS OF GOVERNMENT

LOW COST HOUSING

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: In recent weeks there have been several rancorous letters in the Caymanian Com- pass. A few of these letters, which did nothing other than attack the Government, claimed that the 7.5% waiver of stamp duty on dwelling units (as houses, apartments, duplexes particularly) valued up to $125,000 and house lots valued up to $35,000 with the first $25,000 free of stamp duty, would not help the Caymanians as designed. As the Minister responsible for housing, I wish to take issue with this type of malice.

This House is aware that this waiver is designed to help Caymanian first-time homeowners/purchasers in the price ranges as outlined. This claim is utter nonsense, written by people who obviously do not know what they are talking about. As Minister for housing, I know of many people who are eagerly awaiting this type of assistance in order to be able to own a home. My Ministry receives numerous calls from potential homeowners who are unable to qualify for the amount of mortgage they need by a marginal amount, as they do not have sufficient cash for the undertaking. They are disenfranchised.

In most cases, if they were given assistance of this nature, they would be able to qualify for a mortgage to purchase a dwelling unit or land to build a home. We have been told by several of the class 'A' commercial banks participating in the Government's Guaranteed Home Mortgage Scheme that there are many Caymanian applicants who are denied on marginal grounds. The problem is worsened by the fact that there is a severe lack of available housing units for the low income sector as outlined in my answer to a Parliamentary Question.

We are all familiar with the saying, "So near, yet so far." As a Government with a social conscience we cannot sit by and allow this situation to prevail if we are to ensure a sustainable socio/economic development of these islands. As an indication of how helpful this initiative can be, that is the waiver of stamp duty, 181 single family houses valued at $125,000 or less, were approved by the Central Planning Authority in 1996. For the first quarter of 1997, 19 houses in this category have been approved. In addition, as I have previously stated since the inception of the Home Mortgage Scheme, over 135 dwelling units have been supplied to qualifying Caymanians. The value of these mortgages is $12.6 million.

Simple mathematics will clearly show the savings which could have been obtained by these new homeowners if they had benefited from this new waiver. The greater consideration at this time is how many more people could have now been homeowners if this concession had been placed a few years ago. I trust that they will now be able to realise their dream of home-ownership.

It should also be obvious—even to the greatest of detractors—that with this waiver in place we should see many more Caymanians able to purchase a dwelling unit or land on which to build. According to the Cayman Islands Real Estate Association listing data, there are currently 50 dwelling units priced up to $125,000 with a total value of $5.1 million, and 95 parcels of land priced up to $35,000 listed with the association by its member Realtors.

It shows that the 7.5%, even on land valued up to $35,000, but getting a waiver of stamp duty on $25,000, will assist our people. This Government firmly advocates that all Caymanians share in the economic growth of our islands, and also that homeowners have a greater stake in the community and will therefore make better citizens, resulting in a better society for all to live in and do business. I trust that this will clarify the benefit of this waiver and that we will all work together to see that the benefit is fully achieved by those Caymanians it is designed to assist.

GRATUITIES AUDIT

(12.49 PM)

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr. Speaker, Members of this House will recall that last September I announced that the accounting firm of Ernst and Young, acting under the auspices of the Department of Human Resources and with the assistance of Labour Inspectors, was then in the process of auditing the gratuities collection and distribution records of seven selected establishments. At that time I gave an undertaking to report the findings of these audits to this Honourable House and to the public in due course as appropriate.

The Department of Human Resources has now completed the major analysis of these audit reports and is actively working to ensure that immediate corrective action is being carried out. Sufficient discrepancies have been uncovered to substantiate our suspicions that the Labour Law is not always being complied with in regards to gratuities. One main area of concern is the sharing in gratuities by unauthorised persons, in particular owners and/or management personnel as defined by the Labour Law and contracted persons such as those provided by janitorial services companies.

Another concern is the myriad gratuity distribution schemes used by those establishments collecting gratuities—some of which are so complicated as to virtually allow the employer to allot unfairly large shares of gratuities to favourite employees. In an attempt to correct that situation, the Director of Labour is now soliciting an updated gratuities distribution scheme from every establishment collecting gratuities in the three Islands with a view to examining the possible necessity of the Governor in Council prescribing a distribution formula as authorised by Section 37, Subsection (1) of the Labour Law if changes cannot be agreed otherwise.

Other concerns that we are attempting to address include the maintenance of records—off-shore by some establishments, payment of gratuities in cash by some employers without proper documentation as to amounts, and the difficulty of reconciling Treasury's accommodation tax records with records of gratuities collected and distributed by establishments.

It has never been, nor will it ever be, the intention of my Ministry to harass or in any way deal unfairly with any employer in this country. However, I want to make it clear to everyone that the Labour Law is a Law of the land—a much-needed Law designed to protect the rights of employers and employees alike, and to provide this country with a competent and peaceful labour force. We are de-terminated that it must be obeyed—action will be taken, including action through our courts if necessary, to assure compliance. To this end, we intend to conduct such audits and inspections in the future as we see the need.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

PUBLIC TRANSPORT

(12.54 PM)

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: The Government is concerned about the large number of transport buses operating on certain routes in Grand Cayman. The advice of the Honourable Attorney-General was sought on this matter. There are provisions in the current Traffic Law and Regulations which can appropriately address this problem.

Section 48 of the Traffic Law, 1991, authorised the Governor in Council to make regulations which include the conditions under which public passenger vehicles may operate. Consequently, The Public Passenger Vehicles Regulations, 1995, was brought into force. Regulation 4 sets out conditions which the Board shall have regard to in addressing the suitability of an applicant for a permit. Significantly, condition 2 (a) states that the applicant “is a Caymanian who is not less than 21 years of age, and not older than 70 years of age.”

It is intended to amend this condition to the extent that persons older than 70 years of age may be issued a permit provided that a doctor has given an opinion that the person is still fit enough, both physically and mentally, to continue driving safely on the roads.

Regulation 4 (3) sets out four categories of service for which permits may be granted. Under Regulation 4(3)(b), one category is the provision of a bus service on a bus route in accordance with a regular schedule. It follows from this that the Board can condition a permit so that it is restricted to a specified route if necessary in accordance with a regular schedule. It is this regulation which we believe can most appropriately address the problem of overcrowding on certain routes.

In essence, this means that the Public Transport Board (which is appointed by the Traffic Law) has the power to issue permits to applicants for a specific route or routes. It would then be illegal for those permit holders to service routes not authorised by the Board. If they do so, they would almost certainly have their permits revoked by the Board. This will enable the Board to reduce the overcrowding on the routes where problems are being experienced.

In view of the foregoing, and in order to address this problem, the Ministry of Tourism, Commerce and Transport intends to ask Executive Council to issue a directive to the Public Transport Board to the effect that there should be no general permits authorising bus drivers to drive on all bus routes, but, instead, permits should be conditioned to clearly state what route or routes the bus is allowed to service; and should also include specified pick-up and set-down points. Once the directive has been issued, the Public Transport Board will be asked to implement it immediately.

Additionally, the current waiting area for buses located outside the Bank of Nova Scotia building will be moved to a location more convenient to both the public and the bus operators.

I thought it appropriate to make this statement because there are many things happening on the roads today that we are all unhappy with. We have to put it correctly in order.

SHORT QUESTIONS Standing Order 30(2)

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Mr. Speaker, I wonder if in accordance with Standing Order 30(2) I may be allowed to ask the Minister a few questions?

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Let me preface my question by saying that I am very pleased to hear this announcement in respect of dealing with bus transportation. I wonder if the Honourable Minister can give us an idea as to how quickly he sees this new system being put in place?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: That is a good question. One of the things we need in order to put this into force, is not only the approval of Executive Council for the directive, but for specific criteria set out in a legally drafted directive so that the Public Transport Board will not be in doubt as to what Executive Council wishes it to do. Provided that can be done quickly, my estimate would be within the next fortnight.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: The other area I have a concern with is the licensing and inspecting of vehicles at the district level. I wonder if the Honourable Minister can say if he has any plans in mind to address this issue?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I remember when Martin Luther King said, “I have a dream.” I must say that I have been dreaming about this opportunity for a long time—until November 1996 when I got the subject of Transport.

We have been meeting on an almost fortnightly basis with the Public Transportation Board looking at not only the matters that need to be brought into force under the regulation, but also examining the Michael Bradley Report which deals with Tourism Related Transport.

We broached this subject raised by the Third Elected Member for West Bay. My own personal feeling and recommendation to the Executive Council will be that we de-centralise this licensing process, that we allow the district post offices to collect the revenue due Government for the inspection fee and annual registration fee, and to license garages or gas stations that can satisfactorily carry out the exercise of examining vehicles. Obviously, those places would need to satisfy the Public Transportation Board that they have sufficient mechanical skills to carry out the work the Law requires them to. I believe that it is time to make a decision along these lines.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: The Honourable Minister mentioned that he intends to allow the district post offices to collect fees on behalf of the Traffic Department. Would that mean that the respective offices will have computers linked up to the Traffic Department in order to access the relevant information on vehicles, etcetera?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: The view of the Public Transportation Board is that the licensing system should fall under a Director of Licensing. It should no longer be connected with the Police. Somewhere within what is known to be the Headquarters of the Licensing system there should be a network of computers that tie the operations of post office into the home system so that whatever happens with licensing in East End, West Bay or any other district, the record is also at 'home' in George Town.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I wonder if the Honourable Minister could inform the public as to how soon he anticipates the new service will be available at the district level?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I think after answering all of these questions, I must say to Honourable Members of the House that I am scheduled to be officially off the island all of next week. Obviously, before we can do anything, a paper has to go to Executive Council and be approved. That is really step one. Then the directive should also go to Executive Council dealing with specific statements mentioned in my announcement. Once those hurdles are passed, I believe that we can move on very quickly with it.

I am unable to say with confidence what the timing is in this respect. What I will undertake to do is keep every Member of this Honourable House informed as we move step by step. I emphasise EVERY Member.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: This is an issue which we have been talking about since 1988. I wonder if the Minister could say if he expects the service to be available in the districts by September, or October, or by the end of 1997?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I would like to say next week! But I know that is not practical. I would like to say it is next month, but I am doubtful if that is practical. I would like to say two months from today, but I also have doubts that it is possible. What I will say to the Member is that he can be assured, and every Member of this House can be assured.... Let me step back and say that I hope that I have the support of every Member of this House to implement what I am talking about. If I have that, I would undertake to say within three months it should all be in place.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I wondered if the Member has already consulted with the other Members of Executive Council about this plan, then maybe he could say if the exception for people who have reached the age of 70, for example, will come into play as soon as he returns from abroad? Will that be within the next few weeks?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: That is an item that is urgent in my view. I will do that within the next fortnight.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I wonder if the Honourable Minister can say if the content of his statement relates to the situation as it stands in Cayman Brac?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: My good lady friend from Cayman Brac can be assured of whatever assistance I can give to that area—I am talking about the Cayman Islands as a whole.

The Speaker: If there are no further questions, proceedings are suspended until 2. 45 PM.

The Speaker: First Readings.

[Addressing the Honourable Second Official Member] It is my understanding that you may wish to withdraw this.

Hon. Richard H. Coles: What I would like to do, with your permission, is defer item number one, The Mutual Legal Assistance (1988 United Nations Convention) Bill, 1997, until Monday. But, if it is possible, it might be helpful if the formality (if I can put it like that) of the first Reading of this Bill took place today. Thereby, if it went through on Monday, it would not be necessary to suspend the Standing Order because it would have had a first reading today, and the remainder on Monday. But, it is not my intention to deal with it until Monday.

The Speaker: We will need a Motion to suspend Standing Orders 46 and 47 in order to proceed, as we do not have sufficient time. The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Boddin: As I understood it, the Mutual Legal Assistance Bill was to be deferred.

The Speaker: The Honourable Second Official Member has asked that we take the First Reading and defer the Second Reading.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDERS 46 AND 47

Hon. Truman M. Boddin: I appreciate what the Honourable Second Official Member has said, but if he does not mind (because it was really put on here without any communication) it may be better to leave all of these readings until later on.

What I would do then is move the suspension of Standing Orders 46 and 47 for the Traffic (Amendment) Bill, 1997 to move on.

The Speaker: The question is the suspension of Standing Order 46 and 47 in order to take the Traffic (Amendment) Bill, 1997, at this time. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED: STANDING ORDERS 46 AND 47 SUSPENDED.

FIRST READINGS

Clerk: The Traffic (Amendment) Bill, 1997.

POINT OF CLARIFICATION

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Mr. Speaker, if I may point out... the Honourable Minister moving this Bill is not in the Chamber.

Hon. John B. McLean: Mr. Speaker, perhaps we could suspend for a while until we contact the Honourable Minister piloting this Bill.

The Speaker: Thank you. Proceedings will be suspended for ten minutes.

The Speaker: You have heard the motion under Standing Order 14(4). I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

Second Readings.

SECOND READING

THE TRAFFIC (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1997

Clerk: The Traffic (Amendment) Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

(4.10 PM)

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I beg to move the second reading of a Bill entitled, A Bill for a Law to Amend the Traffic Law, 1991.

This is a short Bill with three amendments. One is as a result of representation from the public to amend the Traffic Law to provide for the payment of licence fees on a quarterly basis. It is presently on an annual basis, so one would have to pay the full amount of the fee. This amendment would allow the fee to be paid on a quarterly basis.

Clause 2 provides that those persons formerly resident in the United States of America, the United Kingdom and Canada and who are the holders of valid licences issued in those countries shall not be required, in order to drive in the Islands after being resident for 3 months, to take a driving test. We have had some more thought on this subject and we believe the best way forward is to put an amendment to that particular section which would basically say, under 27A of the Bill: "Every person who -

- (a) is resident in the Islands for more than three months, except a person who was previously resident in a country specified in an order made by the Governor in Council and who is the holder of a valid driving licence issued in that country; and
- (b) is not the holder of a current international driving licence, shall, in order to drive a motor vehicle in the Islands, pass the prescribed driving tests for motor vehicles."

I realise that we are moving the power from the Law to Executive Council, but as the Minister responsible, I give Members an undertaking that before this list of countries is actually dealt with by Executive Council, I will have taken their input. Perhaps that may allay some of the fears.

Clause 3 provides for an amendment to section 41(2) of the Law which sets out the composition of the Board and names the Principal Secretary of the Portfolio of Communications, Works and Agriculture as a member. The amendment to this particular section of the Law is to provide that the Permanent Secretary (or his representative) of the Ministry for the time being responsible for transport shall be a member of the Public Transport Board and that the Governor in Council may appoint four other persons as members of the Board.

Presently section 41 (2) reads: “The Board shall consist of the Director of Tourism as Chairman, the Commissioner or such other officer of the Royal Cayman Islands Police Force as may be nominated in writing for the purpose by the Commissioner, the Director of the Port Authority, the Director of the Civil Aviation Authority, and the Principal Secretary of the Portfolio of Communications, Works and Agriculture.”

In essence, the amendment to section 41(2) will increase the number of the members of the Board by four, and basically change the Principal or Permanent Secretary so that whatever Ministry is responsible for the subject will not need to amend the Law for that purpose again.

I recommend these amendments to all Members of this Honourable House.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill entitled, The Traffic (amendment) Bill, 1997 be given a second reading. The motion is open to debate.

READING OF MESSAGES AND ANNOUNCEMENTS BY THE SPEAKER

APOLOGIES

The Speaker: Before the debate commences I have received apologies for absence for the afternoon Sitting from the Third Elected Member for George Town.

Does anyone wish to debate? (Pause)

If not, does the Honourable Minister wish to reply?

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I think it is right and proper to thank Honourable Members for their silent support.

The Speaker: I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. THE TRAFFIC (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1997, GIVEN A SECOND READING.

The Speaker: The House will now go into Committee to discuss the Traffic (Amendment) Bill, 1997.

HOUSE IN COMMITTEE (4.18 PM)

COMMITTEE ON BILLS

THE TRAFFIC (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1997

The Chairman: Please be seated.

The House is in Committee to discuss the Traffic (Amendment) Bill, 1997. The Clerk will read the clauses.

Clerk: Clause 1. Short title.
Clause 2. Repeal of section 14 of the Traffic Law, 1991 and replacement.
Clause 3. Amendment of section 15 of the principal Law.
Clause 4. Amendment of section 24 of the principal Law.

The Chairman: The question is that clauses 1 through 4 do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

AGREED: CLAUSES 1 THROUGH 4 PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 5. Insertion of section 27 A.

The Chairman: There is an amendment to clause 5. The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Under Standing Order 52(2) I move the following amendment to the Bill: That section 27 A in clause five be deleted and the following substituted:

“27A Every person who -

- (a) is resident in the Islands for more than three months, except a person who was previously resident in a country specified in an order made by the Governor in Council and who is the holder of a valid driving licence issued in that country; and
- (b) is not the holder of a current international driving licence,

shall, in order to drive a motor vehicle in the Islands, pass the prescribed driving tests for motor vehicles.”

The Chairman: I give permission for this to be moved without the requisite two day notice.

The question is that clause 5 be amended.

Mr. John Jefferson, Jr.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I wonder if the Minister could say why this amendment was brought? I am aware that if one with a foreign driving licence moves to the United States for any period of time, one is required to at least take the written test. I am wondering why this was brought. Perhaps he can inform me as to what the present system is all about.

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I think what we are trying to ensure is that persons who drive in our country have a driver's licence issued by a country that we recognise. We have many different people residing in the Cayman Islands, who were under different traffic regulations and customs, we wanted to assure that we are in a position to require them to take a test if we deem it necessary.

The Chairman: Mr. John Jefferson, Jr.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Is the Minister saying that this is not the system we presently have in place? If someone comes here on a work permit and they have a valid driver's licence, will they not have to sit a local driving test in order to get a local licence?

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: There is a bit of an overlap here with the visitor's permit, for example, an American visitor, who has a valid driver's licence from his own country can come in and get permission to drive in this country for six months without taking a test. There are other cases where they would have to take a test. What we are trying to say is that there are some countries that we want to recognise where, if the person were here resident for a longer period of time, there would not be any need to take a test. This does not deal with the average visitor because he would come in, present his driver's licence and the rental car firm would give him a permit to drive.

The Chairman: Is there any further debate?

The question is that the amendment to clause 5 stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

AMENDMENT PASSED.

The Chairman: The question is that clause 5, as amended, do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

CLAUSE 5 AS AMENDED PASSED.

Clerk: Clause 6. Amendment of section 41 (2) of the principal Law.

The Chairman: The question is that clause 6 do stand part of the Bill.

Mr. John Jefferson, Jr.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I just have a suggestion. It calls for four additional members to be added to the Public Transport Board. I think it would make sense if one of those additional members were chosen from the industry itself, the transportation industry. I recommend that some consideration be given to that.

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: The answer to Mr. John Jefferson, is that Executive Council has given permission some time ago for the co-opting of additional members to the Public Transportation Board. It is my intention to formally recommend to Government that we place at least one representative on the Public Transportation Board. It is one of those situations where sometimes this person may have to excuse himself from the meeting because of the sensitivity of some of the discussions going on. I think they would have to be told that from the beginning.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: The only reason I suggested that, and I was glad to hear that the Board has the authority to co-opt members, is that when an application comes before the Board for a licence, it is good to have someone there who knows the persons involved and can give some insight on a personal basis, as to the character, etcetera.

The Chairman: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I was going to leave that as a comment.

The Chairman: Dr. Frank McField.

Dr. Frank McField: I was hoping, in regard to the comment made by Mr. John Jefferson, that we do not get too personal with regard to the character of certain people. I think that is one of the things in this country that seriously hampers things from being done objectively. We sometime rely too heavily on people's opinions of other people.

The Chairman: Mr. John Jefferson, Jr.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I would like to respond to that. When I talk about having somebody there who knows the person involved, it is because there are some members of the transportation industry who should not be there because of misconduct. If a Board member does not have the individual's background information, then the Board may continue to issue that person a licence when they should not, in fact, be holding such a licence.

The Chairman: If there is no further debate, I shall put the question that clause 6 do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

CLAUSE 6 PASSED.

Clerk: A Bill for a Law to Amend the Traffic Law, 1991.

The Chairman: The question is that the Title do stand part of the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Chairman: The Ayes have it.

TITLE PASSED.

The Chairman: That concludes proceedings in Committee.

PRAYERS

Miss Heather D. Bodden: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that we may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of our high office.

All this we ask for Thy Great Name's sake.

Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

The Speaker: Please be seated. Proceedings are resumed. Presentation of Papers and Reports. Public Service Pensions Board Annual Trustee Report for the years ended 31st December, 1994 and 1995.

The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

PRESENTATION OF PAPERS AND REPORTS

PUBLIC SERVICE PENSIONS BOARD ANNUAL TRUSTEE REPORT FOR THE YEARS ENDED 31ST
DECEMBER, 1994 AND 1995

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I beg to lay upon the Table of this Honourable House, Public Service Pensions Board Annual Trustee Report for the years ended 31st December, 1994 and 1995.

The Speaker: So ordered.

The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The Public Service Pensions Board 1994 and 1995 Annual Trustee Reports are being laid on the Table of the Legislative Assembly in accordance with section 7(6) of the Pensions Law, 1995.

The fund balance as at the 31st December, 1995 stood at $16,735,273 inclusive of accrued interest. In 1994 and 1995 a total of $7,399,333 in employer/employee contributions were paid over to the fund while investment income amounted to $1,587,426. Administration expenses continued to be borne by central Government. There are no payments of benefits and refunds to participants of the fund, as the fund has not yet been qualified by the actuaries as self-sustaining.

The contingent liability for Public Service Pensions of $65,001,000, as set out in the 1994/1995 Report, reflects the actuarial valuation as at 1st January, 1993. However, the recent actuarial valuation as at the 1st of January, 1996 (to be laid on the Table of the Legislative Assembly later this year), will disclose an updated contingent liability figure.

The formation of an investment policy was carried out in 1995, and 50% of the fund has since been placed with Scotia Investment Management Ltd, of Toronto, Canada, with the remaining portion invested in term deposits locally. In order for the fund to achieve a more satisfactory rate of return, the scope of approved investments as set out in the current legislation will have to be broadened. The amending Bill will be submitted to the Legislative Assembly at the June Meeting this year.

With effect from January 1996, Governmental Statutory Authorities contributions increased to 6% with employees' contributions remaining at 4%. During 1996 the Pensions Board contracted Watson Wyatt and Company to carry out the periodic actuarial review of the fund as well as other consulting services required by the Pensions Law Review Committee. The necessary revision to the existing legislation is well on its way and will be submitted to the Legislative Assembly at its September Meeting.

The fund as at 31st December, 1996, stood at $22.1 million, inclusive of accrued interest. The reports for 1994/1995 are hereby submitted.

The Speaker: Questions to Honourable Members and Ministers. Deferred Question No. 14, standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for West Bay.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE MEMBERS/MINISTERS

DEFERRED QUESTION NO. 14 (Deferred on the 3rd April, 1997)

No. 14: Mr. D. Dalmain Ebanks asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation when the West Bay Clinic will be opened.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: The West Bay District Health Centre will be opened and operational in early June 1997.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. D. Dalmain Ebanks: Can the Honourable Minister state whether this was the scheduled time for the opening of the clinic?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: This was the approximate time we had established.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is deferred question No. 38 standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

DEFERRED QUESTION NO. 38 (Deferred on the 21st March, 1997)

No. 38: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture what plans, if any, are in place for the Water Authority or any other entity, to provide a public potable water supply to the district of East End.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: In December 1995, the Water Authority prepared a document entitled "A Ten Year Development Plan for Water and Sewerage Works" which lays out a framework for completing a number of projects over the next ten years, including a public water supply system in the district of East End. It is anticipated that East End will be provided with water as part of a continued expansion eastward of the piped water system over the next four years using local resources. At present, the Authority is completing a piped water extension up to the Frank Sound Road junction.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I wonder if the Honourable Minister is in a position to give a closer indication of the time frame, rather than just saying "over the next four years"?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: It would probably take us another year and one half to get to the East End District, continuing from the present extension at the junction of Frank Sound Road.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I note that in the answer that at present the authority is completing a piped water extension up to the Frank Sound Road junction. Can the Honourable Minister state if this will be continued into North Side?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: It depend upon where we decide to go first. I should say that while we do not have any proposals from the public for East End, we do have some indication that private enterprise would go into North Side. We have not decided about North Side as yet.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister state if the future plans for the Water Authority include plans to improve the services on Cayman Brac, in particular?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: We have had many calls from Cayman Brac, including the present representatives, in regard to the water system there. We looked at one system which would have meant using tanks for homes, but that was not feasible, nor would it be accepted by the public. I favour extending the pipe line and I asked the Board to have this done. We proceeded to have an evaluation, that should be presented at the next Board meeting, looking at a phased extension right from where we are now straight up to the end of the island at Spott Bay.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Since mention was made of Cayman Brac, I wonder if the Honourable Minister is in a position to state if any plans are being made for a public water supply in Little Cayman?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I can tell the Member that I had given some concessions to private enterprise and they seem to be doing a fairly good job. From our evaluation process (and we have not heard anything different from the representatives) it seems to be fair to say that private enterprise has taken care of the system there. We are monitoring, as is usual under the Law, but they seem to be doing a fair job.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I just wanted to say that I concur with the Honourable Minister that the water quality in Little Cayman is exceptionally good. There seems to be a pretty good system in place there now.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is deferred question No. 54 standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

DEFERRED QUESTION NO. 54
(Deferred on the 18th April, 1997)

No. 54: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning when the National Education Curriculum will come into effect.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The National Curriculum as stipulated in the National Education Plan will be done in stages. To date, a philosophy guiding the National Curriculum has been developed and a National Curriculum Advisory Committee has been established. Work has also commenced on the core subjects of mathematics and science. It is envisaged that by the year 2000, all stages of the curriculum would have been completed.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister tell the House if the National Curriculum will apply to all schools in the Cayman Islands?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: It will apply to the Government schools. We would hope that the private schools would look at following areas of it that they feel could be followed. We would naturally encourage them to do so.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister state if there are any pupils within the Government system to whom the National Curriculum will not apply?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: It would apply to all students, unless the Member may be referring to students who may be in the Lighthouse School or the Sunrise School, who would be older students. It would be of general application unless there is a specific area the Member is referring to that I may have missed.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister state if it will be necessary to bring in any expertise to help in the development of this project, or is it conceived to be an internal exercise?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: We would expect that our own teachers and the committees would deal with the vast majority of this. It may be that in some specific areas it may be necessary to bring in some people. If that is the case, it would be for a very short period. Perhaps except to get a second look or an external opinion in certain areas of it, the vast majority would be done locally.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister state whether at its inception the curriculum will be phased in as a pilot project in one or two schools, or will all schools begin the project simultaneously?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The phasing will actually be done in four main key stages. Each key stage will apply to all students in all Government schools. Key Stage 1 will cover the school years 1-3, pupils aged 4 years 9 months, to 7 years 9 months. Key stage 2 will be years 4-6, pupils aged 4 years 9 months to 11 years 9 months. Key stage 3 will cover years 7-9, pupils aged 11 years 9 months to 14 years 9 months. Key stage 4, years 10-12, pupils aged 14 years 9 months, to 17 years 9 months.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Minister state if at any point in time consideration might be given to the Kindergarten year? The question is asked with full knowledge of why it does not exist today, but with this new curriculum, will any consideration be given to that?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The Kindergarten, pre-school or reception class, as Government refers to them, has already been developed. It has been adopted by about 25 or 26 of the registered pre-schools. It only recently went into place, but it is fully in place and will be developed.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: At this point in time it is fair comment to say that Government is satisfied that the public school system does not have to revert back to having that year?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I was dealing with the curriculum. Is the Member suggesting that Government should take over and go full scale back into pre-schools and reception classes? Is that the question?

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Certainly not. I was not making a suggestion, I was simply asking the question and inviting the comment. If Government is satisfied that is fine. I know the answer to the other supplementary was that the curriculum is developed for the private pre-schools. I am simply asking if Government is satisfied with that situation as it now prevails, or if there were any other thoughts about it. I am not making any suggestions at all.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: At present, Government is working with the private pre-schools to assist them to assure that they develop fully. That is the reason why we have assisted in getting a curriculum in place. I would like to point out that this was participated in fully by the pre-schools. It was not something that Government produced and gave to the pre-schools. Education is always under review. We are satisfied that with the supplementary funding we are doing that the pre-schools (and some Government schools) are doing well. All I can say is that we will continue to monitor the situation because the aim is that the pupils get the best pre-schooling available. If they do not, it affects the intake in year one of all primary schools in the islands.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, that will conclude Question Time for this morning.

Motions. Government Motion No. 1, The Immigration Law, 1992, The Local Companies (Control) Law (1996 Revision). The Honourable First Official Member.

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS

MOTIONS

GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 1/97

The Immigration Law, 1992

-and-

The Local Companies (Control) Law (1996 Revision)

(10.43 AM)

Hon. James M. Ryan: I beg to move Government Motion No. 1/97, which reads:

“WHEREAS there is considerable inter-relationship between the Immigration Law, 1992, the Local Companies (Control) Law (1995 Revision) and the Trade and Business (Licensing) Law (1996 Revision);

“AND WHEREAS there has been considerable passage of time since these Laws were enacted or substantially amended;

“AND WHEREAS a Select Committee entitled ‘Select Committee (of Elected Members) Control of Local Businesses’ made certain recommendations in its final Report to this Honourable House;

“BE IT NOW THEREFORE RESOLVED THAT the Immigration Law, 1992, the Local Companies (Control) Law (1995 Revision) and the Trade and Business (Licensing) Law (1996 Revision) be referred to a Select Committee of the whole House, without prejudice to the final Report of the Select Committee (of Elected Members) Control of Local Businesses, for review to formulate principles in accordance with which specific amendments to these and any other relevant laws may be drafted and brought to this Honourable House by the Honourable First Official Member;

“AND BE IT NOW THEREFORE RESOLVED THAT, in considering the matter, the Select Committee seek input from the public.”

The Speaker: Government Motion No. 1/97 has been duly moved, and is open for debate. The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: These three Laws, the Immigration Law, the Local Companies (Control) Law and the Trade and Business (Licensing) Law, have been interrelated primarily because the Immigration Board performs the functions and these Laws have been on the statute books for some time. The Immigration Law has been in effect for five years, and with the passage of time and changing circumstances, it is timely that we do a review.

Earlier in this Meeting, amendments were made to the Local Companies (Control) Law and the Trade and Business (Licensing) Law to allow for the appointment of a Trade and Business (Licensing) Board, but that is only one issue which needed to be addressed. As Members will recall, a Select Committee of selected Members previously made a report to this Honourable House. In that report there were a number of recommendations to be followed through on. Additionally, there have been calls from individuals and Elected Members and a number of groups asking that particularly the Immigration Law be revisited and brought in line with the times.

I think it is therefore timely that these three Laws be looked at by a Select Committee of the whole House. In doing so, members of the public will be invited to give their input, and issues which have been raised, particularly around the General Election last year, can be put forward and considered. If it is the wish of the Select Committee, the necessary amendments can be made to these Laws.

I recommend the appointment of this Select Committee to deal with these Laws.

The Speaker: Does any Member wish to speak? The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town

(10.48 AM)

Mr. Roy Bodden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

There is no denying that the Cayman Islands is a growing and dynamic society. There is also no denying that we continue to be challenged by the problem of immigration and the corollaries which closely follow, that is, the growth of businesses and the issuing of local companies licences. Notwithstanding what I mentioned about the challenges, it is my contention that we will never be able to address these problems successfully if we do not marry the philosophical foundations and premises into the laws which we have developed.

I very vividly recall that during the years 1989 -1992 the Select Committee on these same laws held about 28 meetings and formulated a very comprehensive, well thought out, and (to my mind) practical report. However, a new Government came on line. That political directorate did not deem all of the recommendations acceptable. These same laws had been dealt with in the same way prior to that in 1984.

This reminds me of the Greek Myth in which Sisyphus had angered the gods and was subjected to rolling a stone up a hill. Every time he got it to a certain point up the hill, he would automatically lose control and have to begin all over again. Don't tell me that we, on the eve of the 21st Century, are creating a Sisyphaen Myth in this Legislative Assembly by having to review these laws every five years, while lacking the political will to integrate the philosophical foundations into the law. We can review it every five years. We can review it every five months. If we do not face up to certain realities, our reviews will be to no avail.

I have to add a word of caution about this Select Committee business. Every Honourable Member of this House knows the problems we are going to be faced with—getting a quorum, drawing the matters out, scheduling of witnesses. I warn, sir, that we will be at this exercise for another four years. What happens if there is a change of Government with a different political will when we present our report? Then we will be faced with the same situation.

I believe that the problem can best be addressed, not by a Select Committee of a four year tenure, but by someone grasping the political will to marry the philosophical foundations into the law. Let me put it another way: By a political directorate finding the political will to say 'Here is what we are going to do with regard to those people who are eligible to be assimilated into our society. These are the ground rules we are setting to effect that assimilation or acculturation, and here is the cut-off point...' and from that derive proper foundations for a Local Companies Control Law and Trade and Business Licences.

If it is the will of the House, I will do my time in a Select Committee. That is my responsibility to my constituents and the wider public. But I contend that it is a glorified waste of time—time that could be better spent doing other things. In the meantime we have the fifth and final report of the Select Committee of the Whole House on Immigration Legislation which was tabled in 1992. What we should do is revisit those recommendations which are just barely five years old, and see if we have to modify or amend them and attack the problem from that perspective.

Given the prevailing situation, I cannot easily find it within me to agree with setting up this Honourable House for another four years of work on a Select Committee with all of its ensuing trials and tribulations. Part of me almost wants to extend public sympathy to the Clerk of that Select Committee.

We have many models that we can use as a base to adopt for our National Immigration Policy. There is no need to reinvent the wheel, and I will await the justification for this Select Committee process.

Thank you.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

(11.56 AM)

Dr. Frank McField: I rise to make some brief comments on Government Motion No. 1/97 seeking to establish a Select Committee of the whole House to review the Immigration Law, 1992, the Local Companies (Control) Law (1995 Revision) and the Trade and Business (Licensing) Law (1996 Revision).

I, too, have seized the time to re-visit the Final Report of the Select Committee of the whole House on Immigration Legislation, which was in session between 1989 and 1992. I have also had the opportunity to read from the Hansard the debate with regard to the Establishment of this Select Committee. The debate took place on Wednesday, 23rd February, 1989. It is important that I mention that the Immigration Law, 1992 (which was the result of this Select Committee's recommendations) is a fairly thorough document, and it has its administrative advantages. Perhaps we do need to look again at the recommendations made by this Select Committee, established between February 1989 and a few months before the General Election in 1992 which changed the Government and perhaps changed the perspective on Immigration.

I feel Members at that time were aware that there was a need to have a philosophical approach to the question of immigration and immigration control. When we revisit their report, we see that the Select Committee became preoccupied with administrative matters rather than with philosophical clarity.

I believe that it is important, when the Honourable First Official Member brings the Motion, that he brings back some justification for this type of labour again. As the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town said, it will amount to a lot of hours in Committee sessions. Since he was one of the Members of that Committee, I guess he should be the ideal person to state what type of time it will demand, not just of Elected Members, but also Ministers and Members of Government. We cannot just necessarily go into a revision, or an attempt to give the public the idea that the Government is serious about the question of immigration and Company (Control) Laws by taking it to a Select Committee, when we know that it would be very difficult to improve on the administrative qualities of the 1992 Immigration Law (Revised).

I take my hat off to the Members of that Committee; I take my hat off to the former Member, Mr. Benson O. Ebanks, who was one of the original founders of the Caymanian Protection Law. He contributed immensely to the development of an administrative document which has helped us to be able to manage the question of the granting of work permits in this country more fairly and speedily. But the philosophical, moral and spiritual erosion of our society continues as a result of not having answered the basic philosophical questions.

I will not say that these questions were postponed because the previous Government did not get elected in 1992, and because the National Team Government took over in 1992. I am not going to say that the lack of philosophical will was the result of political expediency. I think that the question of immigration in this country is not only a question about material being, it is also a question about spiritual being. It is also a moral question. The question of immigration in this country is a question related to the moral being of the society.

Therefore, although we might have succeeded in giving administrative strength and clarity to our Immigration Officers and Board, we continue to weaken the moral position of our people when asked to defend the moratorium on granting Caymanian status to people who have invested their vitality and life in this country over a long period of time. The question is not an easy one. The answer cannot be found in any political period or any political body. The answer must be sought when we ask ourselves if we would like to be in that position. Would we like to be in a country where we had worked for 15 or 20 years, then when we could no longer labour be sent back to the same impoverished conditions we sought to escape during the period of our youth?

Discussing this, I remember that even during the colonial period when Africans labourers were brought to America, the Americans did not import them back to Africa during the period they abolished slavery. They did not inherit equal rights to the Caucasian Americans, but they were allowed to remain in that country, to build families and seek happiness for themselves up until today, when we can speak of the development of equality in that country. So, although they did not have solutions to the moral dilemma they were in, time allowed them to eventually walk the road of freedom that would cause them to find dignified solutions. The dignity of that country was at stake in how it dealt with the question of slavery, the abolition of it, and what to do with them after they finished working them in a prescribed manner.

The dignity of this country is also at stake in terms of how we deal with those people who have worked among us for the last 15 or 20 years. It is not just 'them' we are talking about, we are talking about 'us'. Believe it nor not, our humanity is tied up in our relationships with other people, and not just with ourselves.

I think it is important to understand that the Indians who were brought into the Caribbean from East India after the abolition of slavery—into Trinidad, into Guyana, into St. Lucia, into Jamaica—remained there. We saw that the Chinaman brought to the United States to work on the railroads remained there. We saw how in Hawaii, the Japanese people who were brought there, remained there. So, every country has always had the impression that it could exploit labour—attract it and exploit it within its geographical territory, and at the end of that exploitation rid itself of that labour—but it is never historically true.

Therefore, it would be wise to plan as if the more labourers we bring in, the more fire it will fuel for the engines and the stronger the engines will be able to work; and at the end of the day the engine will demand more workers. So the question of importing labour does not, in itself, create a solution; all it does it put us in the position where we need more and more labour, because growth is the human reality—either you go forward, or you go backward, it is your choice. If you need 5,000 people today, you know that in ten years you will need more.

As I said before, if we are going to take this Bill into Committee it is important that we put out our feelers, that we invite the public, not just to come and say (as they did before) that they have problems getting domestic helpers, etcetera, because that is an administrative question of how labour is manipulated, directed, controlled or disciplined. It does not have to do with the essential question that parliament has to deal with—which is the philosophical foundation of the nation. When we violate our own sacredness and goodness for the sake of improving ourselves, we destroy ourselves; we open ourselves up for a moral assault and put ourselves in a position where it is very hard to justify even those laws that we need for our survival.

So, a law has to have its foundation in morality. If it has no foundation in morality it cannot live long as the law. Our Immigration Law, our concept of nationality, must have a foundation in morality. I keep saying that we do not have to go far to find the foundations for morality. All we have to do is pick up our Bibles and we will find the foundation for morality. It is the same foundation they used in the 17th and 18th Century during the French and American Revolutions and all the revolutions that freed people from the position of being owned to the position of owning.

I am saying that the concept of nationality, as we understand it today, comes from the concept of owning rather than being owned. The serf was owned by the feudal lord, therefore his nationality was that he belonged to the lord. But the citizen owns the country. That is the difference—we changed the position of ownership. The reason why we changed the position of ownership is because “all men are created equal” and are endowed by the Creator with certain rights. The common ‘sense’ principle—if we are all given five senses, that somehow makes us equal to start with. Therefore, when we come to the concept of trying to decide who should belong, it is a very subjective question.

It was very easy for my forefathers in the jungles of Nigeria to decide, because it was a matter of what tribe a person came from. The whole system of who would be a member of that tribe had to do with a whole linkage of families and tribal relationships.

For those of us who have been exported, or imported, who find ourselves in a new civilisation where it is not easy to go back to blood or tribal roots, where we have to make decisions about who belongs and who we want to be with, we have to find a new basis for that kind of relationship. A lot of us have found in the whole concept that we are all equal before God, we are all brothers of one covenant. So, tribalism, racialism and nationalism are weaknesses that we, in the Cayman Islands, do not have to be subjected to since we were freed, thank God, from those types of weaknesses long ago.

As I said before, unless we are willing to look clearly at the philosophical implications of laws—in particular the philosophical implication of using a person’s labour (the only thing that person has) for 15 or 20 years and then kicking them out afterwards—we should not be going back to a Select Committee at all because it is nonsense and a waste of time. At the same time we are talking about the fear the indigenous Caymanian people have that they will lose control of their country. We are talking also about the indigenous Caymanian people being fearful that moral degradation will happen as a result of the large influx of foreign workers into this country; and by those people achieving the same rights and privileges that they have. This is fear. We must understand fear, but we cannot be ruled by fear. We must be ruled by reason—not intelligence, because that tends to manipulate—the reason that Almighty God gave us to assume that we can all be alike if we put our hands and hearts to the same commandments and principles.

Therefore, what we look forward to in terms of bringing a nation together is not the colour or the nationality, but the ability of the individual to become one in the sense of one covenant; to agree upon certain principles in which to conduct his life. Therefore, philosophically, the creation of the concept of the nation is necessary if we are going to create Immigration Laws. We have to know who and what we are, and we have to know at this particular point that we can bring other people into our fold.

The reason I am going on about this (even though I know it will probably end up in the Committee) is because I want the public to think about what I say so that they can begin to approach me and other Members of this Honourable House in regard to what they feel is necessary, especially the people who I know are praying for some kind of solution; the people who go to their churches knowing that they are protecting their families—but our Immigration Laws continue to prevent families from being together because they are not of our nationality.

We need labour. We feel that we have a right to it—we feel we have a right to Honduran labour, to Jamaican labour, Panamanian labour, Filipino labour—but we do not feel that we should have the social obligations which usually come with labour. The social obligation is to support those families and to [view] the family unit as it is [viewed] in the eyes of God—a most holy institution. We must not devalue the position of the family simply because of the economics involved. I know that it is hard to forget about the economics and to think about the spiritual or human factor, but we must understand that after 20 or 30 years of dealing with and using imported labour, and seeing the prosperity we have reached, and knowing that it will continue—we know that we will not solve the problem of having to import labour within the next 30 years. It is something that will be with us.

What I am saying is that a bold decision has to be made, and it has to be made on spiritual grounds, because you cannot come back on any other ground and be able to say that you knew it was right. Regardless of what anyone says, you will be able to say, "I did what I felt my conscience commanded me to do. The man who has worked next to me for the last 15 years is a human being, a citizen, a brother, and I accept him into my fold and give him all the rights and privileges that I have, without being paranoid that he will take these things from me." That has to be done in this country. It cannot be done by any Select Committee—it has to be done by the people of these Islands. It has to be done by the preachers in the churches who also come from elsewhere; but we still respect them enough to believe that what they are imparting to us is truth. It has to be done by the Governor who comes from elsewhere, but we still respect him enough to know that what he is doing is right.

We have an Attorney General who is from someplace else, but we trust him enough to have him sit in this Honourable House. We have the politicians who are elected every four years. But what about the big administration in this country? What about the administration that is controlled and directed by the Governor? What are we trying to say? Are we trying to say that somehow we are going to preserve the Sovereignty of the Caymanian people by not being more liberal with our approach to the question of immigration? when the Caymanian nation (as it is today) is a result of the interplay between many different types of people sharing power between the administrative and legislative branch? We as politicians cannot tell them who to hire as Head of Personnel. If we are saying that what we are doing with regard to our Immigration Law is because we do not want to give people the political power or the vote, then we must understand that the vote that that person must exercise every four years accomplishes very little in this system.

As the Fourth Elected Member for George Town, I can only use reason and persuasion to get something done, because I am still dependant upon the Administrative and Judicial Branches to complete the whole process. So we are not going to erode the rights, privileges and powers of the Caymanian by having a more liberal approach to the question of status. I think that is connected to the question of our manliness (or womanliness) and our being. If we are so paranoid about other people being among us, we have to just look around and see what it is that we own today.

We say that a foreigner can buy land in the Cayman Islands. Without having a partner, he can come here and buy all the land he wants. But why is the land not important when a political vote is? Which can give me more at the end of the day—owning a piece of land, or owning the vote? I say, give me the land rather than the vote! These are the types of contradictions that we need to tend to.

So, I said that administratively there was a good report, there is a good law. It needs amendment and fine tuning, but it needs to somehow come alive be injected with human qualities and compassion.

If we could bring someone in here on a work permit for two years, and then after two years when we were finished with that person, pay them off and send them back to their country and never hear from them again, that would be fine. But we would be in a machine world—a George Orwell world—not in the world where people build relationships with one another. So we cannot expect to treat human beings like machines. I am not saying that the Jamaican or the Honduran or Filipino or the Englishman are the ones who are losing—we are losing. When we have to cut off our humanity, we are losing also. When we say to someone, "Well, yes, you have been here all of these years, and we know that your children went to our schools and played with our children—but they are not like our children..."

I know about a man who has been here for 27 years. He has two daughters, both born here. One has status and one does not. I am not yet familiar enough with the law to know why, but maybe she got caught between changes in the political arena. He's a grandfather because one of the daughters now has a child. Now he is asking his grandson, who has status, if he can take out a work permit for him; maybe they could start a lawn-mowing business. He has been here all these years and produced all of those things—including the grandchild—and he has no rights and no privileges. This is where we find the contradiction. We find that stupid, arrogant people, full of hate, distrust and fear, pay no mind to those types of things.

But do you know what eventually happens? You have to answer to your children. They will ask one day, "Why is that one treated one way, and we are treated another way?" Why? Because they are non-Caymanians and we are Caymanians. That might not be relevant to children who learn to grow together because they went to the same schools. They learned to trust one another. Those divisions are not relevant to them—they are only relevant to us who feel that we have a legitimate basis for fear. We fear that other people will come into our country and take over. I am saying that this is a partnership. We accepted that it was a partnership and now we must accept the social and political consequences of that partnership.

If I never do anything else in this country, I will agitate because I feel that I am big enough, man enough and strong enough to say, "If you are my brother, you are welcome." We have to have the sincerity of our convictions to get this Law changed—not just reviewed. We can all go through it again, just as Mr. Benson, Mr. Truman, and Mr. Linford did; but will we find the discrepancies if we are only looking from one side of the fence? We are more than just Caymanians, we are Legislators—we are builders of a nation. We have to see more than one side, we have to see more than one angle. We cannot just see fear, we have to see prosperity as well. We know that our prosperity has been built upon a partnership between us and others. I think it is important that we accept the social and political consequences of this.

All I have said is that I am being instructed by this great Caymanian humanity. But I will say to those who wonder: I come from Mary Street. My grandfather had four daughters. Not one of them married a Caymanian. This was back in the 1930s and 1940s when people came in from Belize and Jamaica, and they were going to Cuba. I had three aunts in Cuba and the two that were here have forgotten about the fact that they were married to a Belizean and a Jamaican. Their children will probably never tell you today that their name, Barnes, is a Jamaican name because it is not relevant. But the integration and the assimilation and the forgetting of these divisions happened so fast in this society that we are very gifted and very lucky.

My mother was born in the Isle of Pines in Cuba. Her mother was Alidia Dixon from East End and her father was a Jamaican immigrant. What were they doing in Cuba? They were seeking a better life for themselves. All I am saying is that I had one parent who was a Caymanian, and one that is a Cuban. Does that make me any less of a Caymanian? Does that make me less able to see what it is to be a Caymanian, which is to have a greater sense of compassion and humanity for my fellowman? It does not. So that could be the measurement. We could say that the person with one parent who is a Caymanian is entitled to Caymanian status. He might be the rogue of the world, he may be the most rotten person in the world, but he is entitled to it.

Nationalism is not very different from class-ism or race-ism because it makes assumptions based on biological characteristics that have nothing to do with sociological reality. I would like us to look at the child, in particular, whom we have raised ourselves here. The children who came from Jamaica when they were three or four years old (and we took them into our primary schools through secondary education here and got them to jump and run for us and kick football for us, and do all those things for us) are very much like us, and the only reason they can't say they are "Caymanian" is because they are afraid that if they do we will laugh at them and say, "You're no Caymanian, you're a Jamaican, you're a 'pan-head!'" (Laughter)

They would embrace this nationality with a passion. We need people to embrace it with that type of passion. We need to see that we do not put this Immigration Law into Committee for the next four years. We need to see that we need a solution today to a lot of the problems—especially those persons who are now 19 and 21 years of age looking to start a family and they do not know whether or not they can stay in this country. They are a creation of the Cayman Islands, a product of our environment.

Before I even think about giving status to people who have been here for 15 years, I would give them status first, because they need to get on about their lives. We need to stop procrastinating and realise that real people are out there not just statistics. We cannot afford to go back to this type of deliberation about the fate of this country.

What happened to Rome was, in fact, divisions. Although you may be very comfortable because you have rights and privileges today, and the other person may be uncomfortable because he has none, you cannot be sure that it might not be the exact reason why you lose everything. When he has nothing to protect in this country because you treat him like an outcast, he will assist in the moral destruction and economic sabotage of your country. But when you give him the benefit of the doubt and you bring him into your armed forces, your productive and economic forces you are making a lot of sense.

A lot of people will say we do not have the space, this is a small country. This is not a small country. All you have to do is try to get through some of those swamps, some of that logwood. From the point of view of its economic potential, it has unlimited economic potential because just like Venice, in the days of Marco Polo, Cayman will be in the 21st Century. It will be a new Venice, a new Jerusalem—and we need people for that. We need to bring them together and create those bonds.

Even in the most primitive of organisations we find that there are certain kinds of rituals that you have to go through to bring people closer together. Anyone who has been in any organisation knows that. Yet, we can only see work as a way of getting people bonded to our society. We need to give people the confidence to feel that they belong. We need to do something about our fears. If we do not implement a belief system and show the world what it is we believe in, we are going to get into a lot of trouble.

I believe that I am doing this because I want to set people to thinking. I know that it will be on the radio this evening and I know that it is prime time, and I know what I want people to say is that this is my position. I know that there will be people upset, but I want them to come to me as honest, good-hearted, Christian people and tell me why I should continue to perpetuate and defend a system that does not defend humanity and Godliness. Why should I worship the economic success and fail to worship God and His principles? Because I need to exist materially? Not me! What I need to do to exist is to have faith. To have faith you have to be righteous. To be righteous you have to be good. To be good you have to look upon your brother like you look upon yourself.

If I have failed to adhere to my duties as a patriot, all I can say is that it is very difficult to worship the nation and God at the same time. Perhaps that is my problem. But, as I said, we somehow feel that we can have a solution to the lack of philosophical impetus in our Immigration Legislation. We feel that we can do that without harming the indigenous people of these islands.

We know that a lot of people have married and will marry foreigners in this country. They say, "He who feels it knows it." People come to me all the time saying, "Dr. McField, Immigration says my child can't stay here." All of a sudden the Immigration Laws are oppressive to the average person too. There are too many contradictions because the Law is too much about economic pragmatism, economic manipulation and not about human living. We have to make laws that can allow people to live again and not just think about profit and what we are going to get out of it. We also have obligations. We have commitments to our principles as Christians, being a Christian nation with a Christian tradition. At the same time we cannot trust? We do not have faith? We do not feel that we can single out those who are good among us?

The Speaker: Honourable Member, may I just ask if you will be finishing shortly, or shall we take the morning break?

Dr. Frank McField: I will be finishing shortly.

The Speaker: Please continue.

Dr. Frank McField: I would like to thank the Honourable First Official Member for bringing this Motion. I just hope and pray that this Motion is being genuinely brought to this House because the people are affected and afflicted by this lack of humanity in our laws. I hope that we are going to deal with the philosophical issues (or spiritual issues, as some of the Christian people would say—those who do not want to accept the fact that Christianity has anything to do with the state will say ‘philosophical’) that we need to. Laws are about the spiritual welfare of a country as much as the material welfare of the country.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

READING OF MESSAGES AND ANNOUNCEMENTS BY THE SPEAKER

The Speaker: We are honoured this morning to have in our VIP Gallery, our former Governor, His Excellency Mr. G. Peter Lloyd, CVO, CBE, a gentleman greatly loved by the people in all three islands. We are very honoured to have you with us today.

Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 11.40 AM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 12.18 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated.

Debate continues on Government Motion No. 1/97. The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women’s Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: I am in support of putting these Laws into Select Committee. There is a need to put them into Committee.

In recent time there has been much discussion about Immigration and the way business is conducted, who can do business and who can’t do business in these islands. Putting the Laws into Committee will give new Members, especially, a chance to sit down and understand a little bit more about the formation of the Immigration Law, about where Members came from in their views and the far-reaching effects of the Laws.

The discussion of the present Immigration Law in Select Committee was long and detailed. Perhaps this will give all Members a good chance to review these matters they have been asking questions about. We certainly do not need a long and drawn out review; but we need a review. While it is not the subject of the Elected Ministers, they have been taking quite a beating on the matter.

The subject of Immigration is not something stationary. It is constantly evolving because our country is developing and the need arises daily for people to come in. In our context we deal more with people coming in, than going out. In all developing and progressive countries today, we find the subject of immigration on the parliament’s agenda because of what it proposes—the regulation of people coming and going. But, as I said, in our context we deal more with people coming in.

I am now in my fourth term here. I have heard changes and views on this subject of immigration from one year to the next and from one Government to the next. It is time that we reach a stage where debate is not so much on who you are going to give status to, or who you are going to give permanent residency to, but that we have a Law that one and all understand and know that they are on all fours with the Law. That is the problem today as well.

I do not believe that you can live in any country and find outsiders, or immigrants, in total satisfaction with the laws dealing with them. I find it necessary, because of the debate, the questions we get as Ministers and Representatives, to sit down with Members of the House who are not on the Executive but who are faced with the same questions perhaps on a daily basis, so that they can put in their views.

There are all sorts of views being pushed today. There is an element who does not want status. There is an element that wants permanent residency. What we have to come to grips with as a group is whether we want to maintain what is in the present Law, or open the floodgates.

If you try to give some preferential treatment to those persons who have been here for over 15 years, you might find it is 600 people if not more. If you do that, you are going to get a feedback from the local person claiming that you are opening the floodgates. None of us can say that we do not hear that sort of argument from some of our constituents because we are not that blind or deaf. We know there is an existing problem, but we have to be men enough to say to both sides “This is the Law, and this is the way it is going to be.”

I believe that we should be long past the years when politicians can get up and promise so much about the Immigration Law in an election campaign. We need to come to a stage where that does not happen because we need to get to a stage where one and all understands where we are. Then you say, “This is the line. Mr. John Jones, from Africa, knows it. The man from Timbuktu also knows it.”

The Local Companies (Control) Law is something that has been in vogue since 1971. I feel that, given the debate surrounding it and the questions from the public on these matters, it is good to sit down and review them. We will take our time and look at all of the aspects affecting those people we have allowed to do business here in relation to the Local Companies (Control) Law, and those Caymanians who have a business and feel threatened in some way. We have to take all of this into consideration.

I feel today that there is so much pressure from the public on these laws that it is good for all Members, not just the Executive Bench, to sit down and look at them. I believe that there are things happening here in this country that should not be happening in relation to the Local Companies (Control) Law. I know there is a debate going on right now. I think we are all aware of it. You say to the local person, "If you want to sell your company you advertise. A Caymanian has preference in relation to his shares, or to all of it." When someone goes that length to do that, and he finds stumbling blocks thrown in his way after he has run the full length of the Law, then something needs to be done to straighten that matter out. You cannot have the powers that be—whether that is Government or money interest from the outside—calling the shots telling the person after he has complied with the written Law that he cannot do this or that.

We find today that there are people, not only Caymanians, being scared. Foreign people have come here and set up businesses trying to keep down Caymanians also through these channels I am referring to. As far as I am concerned, I am happy to see these two Laws in Committee. I am happy to be able to sit down with one and all. We will call witnesses as we need to.

I do not believe that we need a long, drawn out process because much can be understood from where we were before. The Immigration Law was in Committee some three or four years, and we have a document on that which I believe gives everybody food for thought. As I recall, some of the ideas that came across in the Committee were not put into Law. But these are some of the things that people are talking about today. Perhaps Members can go back and refresh their minds as to what was said from whose point of view.

I feel that it is timely for these Laws to be put into Committee, that we sit down and review them, call witnesses and hopefully come up with something workable, especially in the Local Companies (Control) Law. My feelings on the Immigration Law is that we are never going to have a Law that will satisfy everybody. That other Law has given the country a lot of debate and it is time that one and all—Caymanians and non-Caymanians doing business here—know their limits. There can be no finagling, or doing of things under-handily to stop a Caymanian from doing what the Law says they can do.

One of the main questions we have to remember is whether we as Representatives want anybody coming in and telling us that if we can no longer run our businesses, our wives can't run it and we have to sell it for nothing. Are we prepared to take that step? That was raised some time ago in this House and the country spoke out and said no. I recall the Chamber of Commerce was speaking on behalf of businesses and there were letters to the Press saying, "No, you cannot cut off businesses. Don't tell me that I can't sell my business if I want to sell it." That is what they told this Legislative Assembly at that time.

I have a business. Other Members have businesses. I would specifically call to mind a Caymanian and his wife who might have had a business for many years and have gotten to the stage where they can't run it any more, and they may want to sell it or bring in a partner. The Law says you can get a foreign partner if no Caymanian wants it, once you have advertised. Are we prepared to say to the local person that he cannot do that? I am not prepared to do it, and I will never, ever be. Local and outside persons must have the opportunity to sell their businesses or bring in a partner under the Law. That is what we have to be satisfied with. Once they have taken the steps and done things legally, there should be no stumbling blocks to stop them from doing what they want to do—and I say legally.

I look forward to when this Committee comes to the point where we can sit down and deal with these matters, some of them once and for all.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

(12.34 PM)

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I have listened with very keen interest to the debate which has ensued since the Honourable First Official Member moved Government Motion No. 1/97. By the tone, it is very obvious that Members of this Legislative Assembly have their own concerns, just as I do myself, regarding the various issues facing us within the context of the Motion.

If we go back to how the Motion is worded we see how the first 'Whereas' section immediately ties the Immigration Law, 1992, the Local Companies (Control) Law (1995 Revision), and the Trade and Business (Licensing) Law (1996 Revision) together. In seeking to do a complete review, and tying all three Laws together by way of taking this to a Select Committee, I understand Government to say that while each individual Law calls for its own concern, there is a general concern which ties all three of them in. We can debate them separately, but when that is all over, we will still have to deal with them together. I take that point. I would quite readily take one or the other, but willingly accept that if we are not in a position to tie them together we would not achieve anything near what I think is hoped to be achieved by taking this to Select Committee.

Each Member who has spoken so far has delved into a different area. I do not think we question which is more important, but accept that each aspect is important because no single problem arising because of the way any of these Laws exists today does not relate to the other two. One allows for individuals within this country to do one thing, while the other allows for another thing, while the third allows for something else. Each of them gives an individual, once that person acquires a certain position within the country, the ability to do certain things. It is obvious why they are tied together.

Having established that, I think we need to go into the exercise itself. I recall hearing of the Select Committee of the whole House on Immigration which was formed in 1989. I recall that it concluded at the very end of that House. Having had access to the document, which is the "Fifth and Final Report from that Select Committee," and having gone through the document on more than one occasion, it is obvious that the length of time that Committee took was not a total waste because we have a document which outlines the collective thoughts of many, and we have access to that all at one time.

It is almost five years hence. Even if the concluded report had been acted upon at that time (which, in my view, it was not) it is certainly time to look again and make revision. While we do not have any terms of reference at this point, I think that I can say that I concur with the Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture, that the document prepared as the "Fifth and Final Report" of that Select Committee could certainly be used, if not as the base to start from, certainly as a point of reference for the Select Committee being proposed now.

There is a problem I have based on the history of immigration in these islands. It is always a very complex issue because of the diversity of its nature. Many of us who have not just the authority, but the need to deal with certain matters, are almost what I would call afraid to deal with them. As often as we can, we tend to push them aside. If we go into Select Committee to do as in-depth a review as is physically possible, then I would have to contend immediately that there is some time limit set on that review with a view to a conclusion.

My experiences are not as great as others. But I have been there and done that. Somewhere along the line, the terminology 'Select Committee' always has a deadening sound to me. I understand and accept that it is not supposed to be like that, and I am not suggesting that it has to be like that. I am simply saying that on many occasions that's how it is—hence, my call for a time limit on the review, with a report tabled with a view to amending any necessary legislation in place if it is agreed upon by the majority. I do not think that is too complicated.

Let me say that the issues facing us in this Motion are as important as any other that we face in this country. If we do not think these things through properly, if we do not do what is right for all; if we do not act upon all of those things that we all know need to be done, this country will die. It will not be a natural death either.

The Fourth Elected Member for George Town alluded to the costs. He is very right. There is no sense in our suggesting that those costs have not been levied and will still not continue to be levied on us because, by and large, the majority of this country is not prepared to not continue to move forward. I think it is fair comment to say that while the majority of people are trying to live balanced lives—they go to church and try to be godly—they are driven by the need to earn money. Life demands it! If we want to go into another argument we can, but I won't hop into that today. If that is accepted, then we understand the costs involved that will continue to levy themselves on us.

With that in mind, the next step is to accept that the society at present is just about totally integrated. It is a rare occasion in dealing with any extended family in this country, where a very integral part of that family is not a foreigner. People within that same family tend to say "I don't know what so many foreigners are doing here." But they do not understand that when you add up each one, including what they have along with the rest, is why we say those things. We need to understand and accept that. I do know that neither one of them is going to say, "Well, I guess I'll have to pay the price too. Send him home." They will not do it! They will fight to the bitter end.

While all of that seems complicated, it is simply the truth. If we accept that, then we know there is no turning back. Now, if somebody else intends not to accept that, then he can find the answer and come back and talk about it. When I speak about extended families, I am speaking about every one of us in here today. We are no exceptions—never have been, never will be. I am sure that what I just said about any other family rides true within our context.

I believe that I understand the intent of the Motion. As complicated as all of the different aspects may seem, to say that the Motion is timely, would not be telling the truth. To say, "Thank God it's here, but it's really late" would be more like it!

I recall on the first day of October, 1993, a Private Member's Motion (which was No. 6/93) was rejected. I am not going to read the entire Motion, but let me just state the kind of thought which prevailed, and which are actually now becoming more acute. The Motion was limited to maximum work permit employment period and security of tenure for non-Caymanians. It did not deal with the whole wide spectrum that this Motion attempts to deal with. One of the Resolve sections of that Motion reads:

"BE IT NOW THEREFORE FURTHER RESOLVED THAT Government in a one time sweep-up exercise invite all those individuals, spouses and dependants who have resided in the islands for 15 years and over to apply for consideration for the grant of permanent residence with the right to work, and unless there is good cause to do otherwise, grant such permanent residence and that at the end of this exercise the opportunity to apply be withdrawn from this category of persons."

That Motion was defeated: five Ayes, 11 Noes. Someone wants to know who put the Motion. I did! The now Third Elected Member for Bodden Town seconded the Motion. I guess that is why it was defeated at that time. I don't want to get into that today because we are living nicely and we want to get something done.

I refer to that Motion to say that if we give the benefit of the doubt to those of us who consider the problem so complex and technical that we are afraid of it, I can accept that. But, Government, having shown the first initiative to bring this Motion here.... I call on this Honourable House today to deal with it in a timely fashion and to do what we all know is right. I used the word "complex" because I understand that whatever we do with regard to the decision-making process within this Motion, we have to ensure that as far as it is possible we protect our indigenous population. So many fear that we will fail to do that is why it is not being addressed today.

The Fourth Elected Member for George Town also alluded to shedding those fears and just being open, honest and truthful in dealing with it. I also concur with that. We need to hear all of the representation that can be given to us.

My greatest fear is scheduling these meetings and not having a quorum. Because I consider my responsibility serious, I will do anything at any time—if they want to meet at night, it does not matter to me, because this has to be dealt with. Each and every Member of this House must ensure that he/she understands that it is incumbent for them not to let it go, given the fact that it is now coming under an atmosphere where we are not fighting, but have the will to do what is right. I do not believe that this needs more than a year to deal with. To some, that may seem long. I will quickly try to justify my reasoning.

I firmly believe, given the diversity of this society, that we need to hear the fears and concerns from as wide a cross-section as possible. I do not believe that we should limit it to organised groups. It does not have to be limited to that. I think that we prejudice the situation when we do that. While entertaining the thoughts of these others, we should be meeting, airing and compiling our thoughts together with theirs. We need to be able to scrap the politics when it comes to this type of situation. As an Elected Member for the District of George Town, I need to be able to use the experiences that I have had in order to prove any points I may wish to make. What I do not need is to go into that Select Committee trying to posture for position as a Representative. We need not think like that. It can easily happen, I know that—I've been there and done that too. This is not one of those things.

I say this to let everyone know that I understand how it is; but I am also seeking like thoughts from my fellow representatives so that we can do what is right. I have chosen not to go into all of the horror stories that I know because I have been telling them for quite some time. When we go to Select Committee I will be able to use many of those examples to bring home my points. I have had ample opportunity before now to talk about these things, and I do not think that I should take the time to home in on these things. I think we all need to understand what this is all about and, hopefully, where we want to go with this. Finally, we need to do it.

I trust that the Mover of the Motion will be able to accept my proposal and deal with a time limit. I must be honest, if I get any inclination that that is not the thought process, I, too, will have a problem voting for it. I will fight the battle the only way I know how to. It does not seem that is the case, I am only stating my thought process.

I believe that everybody wants to do the right thing now. I hope that we can get off to a good start. I hope that once the Committee is agreed to that it can start immediately. Whatever sacrifices we have to make to deal with it, let us make them.

I believe I have made my stand clear. I do not think any Member here does not want us to deal with it. I also understand that we are going to fight, but we don't have to fight not to move forward. Everyone will have his own view, and some of us will feel stronger about certain arreas than others. It is just for us to give each other latitude and to listen, then we can make the decisions based on the thoughts of the majority with the input we receive.

Once we go about it in that fashion, it is not going to end there—it is something which will have to be reviewed continually. I hope that once we conclude this, we understand and accept that we are going to have to deal with it all the time so that we do not get back into the same dire straight we are in today. If all of that can happen, then we will be able, after the exercise, to say that some things do work right sometimes.

The Speaker: I think this will be a convenient time to take the luncheon suspension. Proceedings are suspended until 2.15.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 12.58 PM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 2.39 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated. Debate continues on Government Motion No. 1/97.

The Third Elected Member for George Town.

(2.41 PM)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Government Motions Nos. 1/97 and 2/97, are, in my opinion, timely. We are presently dealing with Government Motion No. 1/97 which reads:

“WHEREAS there is considerable inter-relationship between the Immigration Law, 1992, the Local Companies (Control) Law (1995 Revision) and the Trade and Business (Licensing) Law (1996 Revision);

“AND WHEREAS there has been considerable passage of time since these Laws were enacted or substantially amended;

“AND WHEREAS a Select Committee entitled ‘Select Committee (of Elected Members) Control of Local Businesses’ made certain recommendations in its final Report to this Honourable House;

“BE IT NOW THEREFORE RESOLVED THAT the Immigration Law, 1992, the Local Companies (Control) Law (1995 Revision) and the Trade and Business (Licensing) Law (1996 Revision) be referred to a Select Committee of the whole House, without prejudice to the final Report of the Select Committee (of Elected Members) Control of Local Businesses, for review to formulate principles in accordance with which specific amendments to these and any other relevant laws may be drafted and brought to this Honourable House by the Honourable First Official Member;

“AND BE IT NOW THEREFORE RESOLVED THAT, in considering the matter, the Select Committee seek input from the public.”

Previous speakers made some very important and interesting points. I would like to point out that I had the privilege of being a part of the Select Committee set up in 1989 for the same objective. In 1989, we saw the need to put the Immigration Law, 1992, the Local Companies (Control) Law and the Trade and Business (Licensing) Law into a Select Committee. This was done by means of Government Motion No. 2/89.

This Motion asks for these three Laws to be put into a Select Committee, and I do not think that this is the right point in time to go into a lot of the pros and cons of this exercise. However, I would like to take this opportunity to reiterate some of the points that were made, and to add a few myself.

The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town was also a Member of that Select Committee back in 1989. As he said, one of the major problems we experienced as a Committee was being able to form a quorum, and to get Members to put the interest into the Committee it required.

As a Member of Executive Council at the time, I can tell you that it was not very easy to divorce one's self from one's daily chores in the office to find time to go down to Select Committee. But it is very important, and I trust that the Members supporting this will make an effort to come to the Select Committee meetings so that the deliberations can be carried out in a meaningful manner, and we will not take four years to complete this exercise.

A question was raised that if it took such a long time, what would happen if there was a change in Government in the year 2000. Would it take another four years? This is the reason why I feel the same way as other Members—that perhaps we have enough information in the report of that Select Committee to be studied by Government, rather than going through the same tedious exercise of calling the same witnesses in and getting the same information all over again. I would not exactly call taking this to a Select Committee a waste of time, my only concern is that Members of the Legislative Assembly see this as an important enough exercise to take time off to support this Select Committee.

I was particularly interested in the remarks made by the Fourth Elected Member for George Town. I think he touched on the same issues I was considering when this Motion first appeared on the Order Paper. That was not just the exercise of coming to Select Committee, hearing witnesses and deliberating, but being brave enough to tackle the major issues facing this country as far as immigration policies go. Those issues deal not only with work permits, status and so on, but the whole philosophy (as the Member said), and the moral questions that must be addressed by each Member of this Honourable House.

The report finalised in 1992 took us from 1989 to 1992. During that time it was deemed necessary to hold some 31 meetings. I would not want to make the impression that the exercise necessarily had to take four years to complete. As many Members will recall, during that time another issue took preference over this Select Committee. That was the review of the Constitution of the Cayman Islands. That is precisely why no meetings of the Select Committee were held from 8th January, 1991 to 1st November, 1991. With the amount of information now available to this Honourable House compiled during the period from 1989 to 1992, I would hope that this exercise would take no longer than six months to one year. Going beyond that would indeed be regarded by me as a colossal waste of time.

I want to lend my support to this Motion for these three Laws to be put into a Select Committee and I, for one, give the assurance that I will do all within my power to attend the meetings of this Select Committee.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? (Pause)

If not, would the Honourable First Official Member like to exercise his right to reply?

(2.51 PM)

Hon. James M. Ryan: I want to begin by thanking the Members who spoke to this Motion, and to also thank those Members who have been silent but prepared to support this Motion. A few points were raised during the debate, and I will try to clarify as many of them as I can.

The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town drew the analogy of the Sisyphaen Myth, and the fact that we are going to get another Select Committee. I believe that I have probably answered more Parliamentary questions asked by that Member on Immigration than on any other subject from any other Member in this House. I believe that Member has had genuine concerns, and no doubt still has genuine concerns, about immigration and the Immigration Law. That is one of the reasons why I believe it is necessary for us to take another look at this Law and the other two pieces of companion legislation, the Local Companies (Control) Law (1995 Revision) and the Trade and Business (Licensing) Law.

I take the point that if a Select Committee has to go on for four years that it will be a waste of time. I do not think there is any need for that. I don't think there is any need to "reinvent the wheel." We have a good starting point for the Select Committee in that we have the final report of the Select Committee from 1989 and 1992. But I believe that we have a number of persons in this Honourable House who were not a part of the House when this Select Committee considered this legislation. As I look around the room, first on the official side, only one Official Member is present from when that Select Committee met. Over on the elected side there are a number of new faces as well. I believe that it is an opportunity for us to have new ideas injected into the view on the Immigration Law and the other pieces of legislation.

I think that the Fourth Elected Member for George Town gave a brilliant dissertation on nationalism, tribalism, and the philosophical dimension of the legislation. However, I believe that in the end he may have been more convincing in the need to look at the legislation than not to do so. I think the point has been made time and again that there are inadequacies, particularly in the Immigration Law and, I believe, in the other pieces of legislation as well, that we need to look at.

The point was made that it has been nearly five years since that Select Committee made its report. A lot of things change in a country in five years. In this country, a lot of things have changed. I believe that Members of the public have been calling for a review, and I believe that the Government is right in recommending that this go before a Select Committee.

A Select Committee will give each Member of this House the chance to be involved in reviewing the legislation, and I believe that new ideas will come from the Members who were not part of the former Select Committee. I think that the Select Committee can deal with these three pieces of legislation and make a report to this House within a year. I do not think that is an impossible task. I take the point that has been made again and again today that Select Committee are not very glamorous—it's a lot of hard work and it is not easy for us to tear ourselves away from our offices to attend. But I do appreciate the willingness of those Members who spoke when they said that they would make every effort to attend Select Committee meetings. I believe that the Members who have not spoken will do likewise.

The First Elected Member for George Town suggested that we set a timetable of one year, and I think that is a realistic time. A suggestion was made of six months to a year. I would not stand here and say that we could finish it within six months—although, if we can, all the better. I think that a year is realistic and I say, let us shoot for that. Let's prove that Select Committees do not have to go on, and on, and on.

In summary, I just want to thank those Members who offered their support for their willingness. I believe that we can work together as a team and we can complete this very important task in a year. I look forward to seeing the matter go to a Select Committee, being completed, and getting the necessary legislation brought to this House.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: The question is that Government Motion No. 1/97 to appoint a Select Committee of the whole House to review the Immigration Law, 1992, the Local Companies (Control) Law (1995 Revision) and the Trade and Business (Licensing) Law, be passed.

I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 1/97 PASSED.

NOMINATION OF CHAIRMAN TO THE SELECT COMMITTEE

(Standing Order 70(2))

The Speaker: In accordance with the provision of Standing Order 69(2), I appoint the Honourable Second Official Member to be the Chairman of the Select Committee.

We now move on to Government Motion No. 2/97, The Election Law (1995 Revision). The Honourable First Official Member.

GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 2/97

The Elections Law (1995 Revision)

(3.01 PM)

Hon. James M. Ryan: I beg to move Government Motion No. 2/97, The Elections Law (1995 Revision), which reads:

“WHEREAS there has been a considerable passage of time since the Elections Law was enacted;

“BE IT NOW THEREFORE RESOLVED THAT the Elections Law (1995 Revision) be referred to a Select Committee of the whole House for review and for it to formulate principles in accordance with which specific amendments to this and any other relevant laws may be drafted and brought to this Honourable House by the Honourable First Official Member.”

The Speaker: Government Motion No. 2/97, having been duly Moved by the Honourable First Official Member, is now open for debate.

The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The Elections Law is a very important Law in this country. It is the Law by which Members are elected to this House by the people. The Elections Law, as it stands today (and has for many years), requires, among other things, that before each General Election, a register of voters has to be prepared and a very costly enumeration process has to be carried out.

In addition to the register of voters that has to be done every four years prior to an election, there is also a lack of an identification card for voters. These are just two items I would like to site needing to be considered in amending the Elections Law. It had been hoped that prior to the last election that this country would have produced a permanent register of voters. This did not materialise. So, last year, prior to election, we went through the usual costly and time consuming exercise of going house to house preparing a register of voters.

There are other issues within the Election Law that legislators have raised from time to time that they would like to see changed. The Government is of the view that this Law should be dealt with by way of a Select Committee. I believe that we can go through a Select Committee and, with the cooperation of all legislators, we can bring the Elections Law in line with the times as we near the turn of the Century.

I call for the cooperation and support of all Members as we propose to send this important piece of legislation to a Select Committee.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

(3.07 PM)

Dr. Frank McField: I would just like to take the opportunity to make a few brief remarks on Government Motion No. 2/97, the Elections Law.

I am not sure that I understand this Law sufficiently to state whether or not it should go into a Select Committee at this stage. My knowledge of the Elections Law comes from my having had the opportunity to contest for a seat in the last General Election. I felt that people having to be registered all over again was burdensome. I feel that this is something that could be taken care of by way of an amendment and does not have to go through the process of examination by a Select Committee of the whole House.

I think there are quite a few other weak points in our Laws that we, by way of experience, have come to recognise could be corrected. I think there was a rushed amendment to the Law which defined the amount of money a candidate could spend. I think it was proven that it was not well thought out, otherwise there would not have been this limitation. In fact, what amendments of this calibre might do is cause people to become dishonest in regard to revealing their campaign contributions and disbursements.

I have just identified two areas, the registration of voters that becomes bothersome to the voter also, to have to go through the same procedure every four years, answering the same questions, with people coming to their homes when they want to watch "Days of our Lives" to ask questions they have answered so many times before (because now they are in their 60s). I know that could be simplified. I would support any amendment to make that a bit less bothersome. I also find that there are people who refuse to register to vote because they have become disillusioned by the process. When they did change their minds, it was too late to register.

There was also the question of persons who were disenfranchised because they turned 18 at the cut-off time—and it was not a reasonable cut-off date. The person in most countries would have been allowed to vote in any case. In other words, someone who would turn 18 before the date of the 1996 November General Election would have been able to vote in spite of the fact that he was not 18 at the time of registration.

I have now covered about three areas.

I think that the Government could very well bring in somebody in the area of Election Supervision who would be responsible for getting the type of input from these individuals necessary to modify the Law to make it functional. I do not feel that it is necessary, at this particular time, to take the Elections Law into a Select Committee.

There is a particular case in court at this time (which I cannot mention). I say that this is the wrong time to be dealing with this Law in any form whatsoever.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

(3.13 PM)

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I support the Motion calling for this Law to go to a Select Committee. Ever since I have been in this House, every time this Law was dealt with, it was dealt with in a rush before a General Election. I think this is an appropriate time to look through the Law.

We have just completed a General Election, and we know some of the quirks which exist in the system. The Member who last spoke pointed out several areas. He mentioned a court case, but I do not see that being a hindrance to what we have to do as far as what he pointed out regarding the Law.

There are other areas which I feel definitely need to be looked at. The process of trying to get people to exercise their democratic right by registering has become a very tedious process. In this day and age we need not have that—there is too much sophistication as far as equipment. There are other areas we could employ to have some of these quirks worked out. I feel the area where people vote 'absentee' is one that is tedious. I think if a person wants to vote 'absentee' that is their democratic right, once they are voting within the Law. I do not think we should set up barriers to them where especially the elderly have to get doctor's certificates, etcetera. If a person wants to vote but cannot go to the poll for some reason or another, once they complete a form stating they cannot go, that should be sufficient.

I am against that particular section of the Law which deals with people having to get a doctor's certificate. When it was proposed, I objected to it. The 'powers that be' at the time thought they were keeping somebody out and that is why they put it in place. They found out in subsequent General Elections that is not what elects people—it is what people do in this House. The general public recognise what they do and they will give their assent to that candidate.

So, having those areas outlined, along with the one I just mentioned, I feel certain that it is a good exercise. I am glad that we are taking the steps to put it into a Select Committee.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? (Pause)

If not, would the Honourable First Official Member like to exercise his right to reply?

(3.17 PM)

Hon. James M. Ryan: I want to thank the two Honourable Members who spoke. I want to thank other Members for what I believe is their silent support.

There is not a lot to deal with, but I will reply to the Fourth Elected Member for George Town. He pointed out a number of shortcomings in the present Law. I believe that the best way to deal with this is where everybody has a chance in Select Committee to discuss the issues and try to sort them out.

The Government, in an effort to involve all Honourable Members of this House in the review, has chosen to go the route of the Select Committee. I do not believe that it has to be a long, drawn out operation. I believe that the people who know best what needs to be done are Honourable Members of this House and I believe that those issues can be put on the Table and amicably discussed, agreed and then the amendments to the Law can be made and brought to this House for approval.

I believe the time is right to do it now. If it gets left until the time of a General Election, I doubt we would get through. But while the issues are fresh in our minds, now is the time to deal with them. By involving everybody I would hope that we would encompass all of the short comings that are recognised. Dealing with it in Executive Council alone before bringing it here would not necessarily reflect the views of everybody. I would like this to reflect the views of all Honourable Members, therefore, I seek your support in sending this important piece of legislation to Select Committee.

I seek your support in attending meetings of Select Committee. Let us get this legislation brought into line with the times. I believe from the views expressed by the Members who spoke, and expressed to me otherwise, is that we need to get a permanent register and get away from this enumeration of voters every four years. We need to get a permanent register in place to save a lot of hassle and costs, and to be current in the way we deal with it.

I thank you, Mr. Speaker, and I seek the support of all Honourable Members in sending this to a Select Committee.

The Speaker: The question is Government Motion No. 2/97, The Election Law (1995 Revision), being sent to a Select Committee. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

Hon. John B. McLean: I beg to lay on the Table the Cayman Turtle Farm (1983) Limited Financial Statements at 31st March, 1996.

The Speaker: So ordered.

The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: I would like to say that the Turtle Farm has been doing very well. Once again we have shown a profit, and the projection for this year is that the profits will be even greater.

There have been certain changes since I have taken responsibility, especially with the production and distribution of meat. I am pleased to report that not only are we supplying the individual districts, but we have also created outlets within George Town, and are presently looking at an outlet in Cayman Brac and in West Bay.

Things are going well, and we are pressing forward to make it even better. As a matter of fact, on Monday I will be going to view something in another part of the world with the hopes that we can upgrade our facility even further.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Questions to Honourable Members and Ministers. Question No. 66 is standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE MEMBERS/MINISTERS

QUESTION NO. 66

No. 66: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Acting Second Official Member to state, by gender, the number of persons between the ages of 17 to 25 years who have been convicted of criminal offences since January 1995.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting Second Official Member.

Hon. Ivor Archie: The Courts' Office does not collate the statistics requested, therefore it is not possible to provide this information.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say why such statistics are not collected?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting Second Official Member.

Hon. Ivor Archie: I am not able to say why such statistics are not collected. I do know that statistics are collected in respect to juveniles, that is, persons who have not yet attained the age of 17 years. I believe that some time ago this was identified as an area of particular concern.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member state if this pertains to all age groups and categories, or is it just pertaining to the specific age group covered in the question?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting Second Official Member.

Hon. Ivor Archie: I am not aware of statistics being collated in relation to specified age groups other than juveniles.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 67, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 67

No. 67: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development to say which projects were financed by the C$16 million loan mentioned by the Financial Secretary during the December 1996 Finance Committee meeting.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Of the 1996 loan for $16 million, a total of $13.5 million was spent during the year on those projects specified in the 1996 Budget document. The details of this expenditure and related information are set out in the attached table.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member state if there are any plans to use the funds remaining from this amount?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: That has been incorporated into the 1997 Budget.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Member state if the amount he just mentioned is part of the $6 million carried over into the Budget?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Yes, it is part of the brought forward balance. I should mention that some of the projects which were started are continuing.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say if any other loan was drawn down and used at this time?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: There was a further loan of $10.6 million approved during the Finance Committee meeting in September. Also, there was a further amendment to a 1993 Loan Bill in order to utilise $1.5 million that had remained unspent, giving a total of $12.1 million. We know that when we combine the two amounts we have a total approval of loans for the year 1996 of approximately $28 million, out of which $22 million have been spent. A part of the unspent balance of the $6 million would include the unspent portion of the combined loans of $10.6 million and $1.5 million approved during the September Finance Committee meeting.

The Speaker: Before we go further, I will entertain a motion for the suspension of Standing Order 23 (7) and (8) to allow Question Time to continue past 11 o'clock.

The Third Elected Member for George Town.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 23(7) & (8)
(11.00 AM)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Speaker, I so move.

The Speaker: The question is that Standing Order 23(7) and (8) be suspended in order to continue Question Time. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8) SUSPENDED TO ENABLE QUESTION TIME TO CONTINUE.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Can the Honourable Third Official Member say whether the $16 million loan in question had to be obtained in order to balance the 1996 Budget?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: It was obtained as a part of the balancing process of the Budget. That is why it was approved when the Budget was brought to the House in November 1995.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: I realise that the Honourable Third Official Member may not have this information now, but may I request that the House be provided with a breakdown of those funds out of the $10 million loan which have been spent thus far?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I will give an undertaking to provide that information.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: In the schedule which is attached to the answer, there are several areas where funds were allocated and only part of the amount was spent. Can the Honourable Member explain the process which occurs whenever there is an amount approved and at year end only part has been spent? What happens to those funds?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Under the Public Finance and Audit Law the Government can only draw down against what has been spent. For example, if $2 million have been allocated for a project and only $1.5 million have been spent, only $1.5 million can be drawn down at the end of the year. The remaining $.5 million will have to remain with the bank.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I noted that under note 5 there is a sum of $65,000 for upgrading and extending walkways, and $80,000 for the construction of a multi-purpose hall at Spott Bay. None of these funds were expended. I wonder if the Honourable Member could say why?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Responsibility for Capital Works rests with the Ministry for Communications and Works. I am not in a position to say why these projects were not commenced. If I attempted to do so, I would not be giving accurate information. I can investigate the matter and provide an answer to the Honourable Member.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 68, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for West Bay... who is not in the Chamber. We will move on to question No. 69, which stands in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 69

No. 69: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development to state the amount of overseas' medical expenses accumulated on advance accounts as at 31st December, 1996.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The amount of overseas' medical expenses accumulated on Advance Accounts as at 31st December, 1996, is CI$9,766,662.88.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Can the Honourable Member provide an ageing analysis of the debts? Is he in a position to highlight those that are regarded as bad debts?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I am not able to provide that information at this time, but I can give some information which may be useful to the Member. At a meeting scheduled for next Wednesday at 10.00 AM, the Deputy Financial Secretary, the Auditor General, the Accountant General, the Assistant Financial Secretary, the Hospital Accountant, the Director of Internal Audit, the Director of Budget and Management Services, and I, will be meeting to consider the accumulated indebtedness in respect of overseas medical advances.

There are four approaches which I have outlined so far. I have not discussed them with the members of the group as yet, but this is what will be proposed: (1) A recommendation will be made to Finance Committee for the amounts determined to be uncollectable and unsecured to be written off. (2) Those amounts that are uncollectable but secured with property or other security will be transferred to a dormant account to be realised when the patients' financial position improves, or the lien will remain against the property until the person becomes deceased and a claim will be made in respect of that balance. (We will have to consider whether these loans will be accruing interest or not.) (3) Those amounts deemed to be collectable within one year will remain as advances. (4) Amounts beyond one year will be recommended to this House for conversion to long term loans.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Can the Honourable Member state how the dormant accounts will be treated in the Government's financial statements?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: That is a very good question. It is not agreed upon as yet, but we will treat that as a memorandum entry, meaning that it will have to be taken out of the main body of assets. Although these are assets to which Government will exercise a claim, or will benefit from at some point in the future (because of the fact that they will not be realisable until certain conditions will be met), they will be removed as a part of the asset structure within the financial statements.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: The Honourable Member mentioned that there will be four steps taken as a policy of Government in dealing with these medical cases and other similar expenses on advance accounts. I wonder if he could state when he plans to bring this policy into effect?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Once the group of persons I mentioned meets and comes up with a set of recommendations as to how these amounts will be dealt with, a recommendation will be made to the Honourable Minister with responsibility for Health in terms of how these amounts should be addressed. But we are hoping that this information will be collated in time to be fed through the Ministry and put on the agenda for Finance Committee to deal with before the June Meeting commences.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I wonder if the Honourable Member would also confirm that advances, which are collectable, that go beyond one year will be placed in an account where they will be paid back by people owing these funds, but that the amount will be written off under the Revenue and Expenditure account?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The amounts that are collectable will be written off, but the loans will have to flow through expenditures. So, they will be charged as expenditure items within the accounts of Government.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: The Honourable Member said that these amounts would be written off. I take it that he means against the surplus and deficit account.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Ultimately it will come to that, but they will be charged to expenditure during the course of 1997. These charges will impact the Surplus and Deficit account.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 70, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 70

No. 70: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works whether there are any plans for the introduction of an Agricultural Show for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

DEFERMENT OF QUESTION NO. 70 & 72
Standing Order 23(5)

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I would ask that Questions Nos. 70 and 72 be deferred. They were on the Order Paper last Wednesday. Unfortunately, I was not here at the time, and in error I placed them back along with two other questions. The Member is not ready to deal with these two, but he is ready with the other two. May I just ask that they be deferred? I apologise for that.

The Speaker: The question is that under Standing Order 23(5), Questions Nos. 70 and 72 be deferred. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. QUESTIONS NOS. 70 AND 72 DEFERRED TO A LATER SITTING.

The Speaker: Question No. 71, standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for West Bay.

QUESTION NO. 71

No. 71: Mr. D. Dalmain Ebanks asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning what progress has been made on the proposed new Primary School for West Bay.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The Ministry has identified three possible sites, and is in the process of deciding which site is most feasible. Once the site is identified and purchased, the architectural brief and the preliminary drawing will be done.

The Speaker: If there are no supplementaries, the next question is No. 73, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 73

No. 73: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works what programmes are in place to encourage the development of agriculture in Cayman Brac.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: There are several programmes and services in place to encourage the development of agriculture in Cayman Brac as follows:

- (a) Veterinary Services: To provide medical and minor surgical assistance to livestock;
- (b) Agricultural Sales: To provide for the storage and sale of agricultural supplies such as feed, fertilisers and chemicals;
- (c) Crop Advisory Services: To give advice in the areas of plant protection, fertiliser use and variety selection. Also includes the provision of improved banana and plantain planting material;
- (d) Tree Crop Spraying Programme: To assist persons with the management of pests and diseases on fruit trees;
- (e) Trailer Service: To facilitate the safe and convenient transportation of cattle between the Bluff and lowland for both veterinary treatment and slaughter;
- (f) Land Clearing Programme: To facilitate owners of land or persons with security of tenure through lease agreements, the Department of Agriculture coordinates land clearing activity for agricultural purposes with Public Works Department, Cayman Brac;
- (g) Bull Service Programme: The Department of Agriculture has a Senepol bull available to all farmers who may want to upgrade their cattle.

The project to provide easier access to water on the Bluff, for use by farmers, has been delayed but all the equipment for water extraction and storage has already been purchased. As soon as matters surrounding land acquisition or easements are settled, the equipment will be installed.

Finally, in an effort to strengthen the department's office in Cayman Brac, an Agricultural trainee from Cayman Brac is presently on study leave pursuing a diploma in livestock production and management.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Under (a) Veterinary Services, the Honourable Minister said that provision is being made for medical and minor surgical assistance to livestock. Can the Honourable Minister state if there is anyone employed in the Brac who does this, or whether someone has to travel from Grand Cayman to perform these duties?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: What I said under (a) was: "To provide medical and minor surgical assistance to livestock." We have an individual who is presently stationed on Cayman Brac. If need be, on short notice, it is no problem for the department to take somebody over and give added assistance.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Minister state if anyone (should I say?) 'indigenous' to the Brac is being trained in that area?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: I will re-read the final part of my answer, "Finally, in an effort to strengthen the department's office in Cayman Brac, an Agricultural trainee from Cayman Brac is presently on study leave pursuing a diploma in livestock production and management."

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I, too, can read. That was not my question. I was asking about being able to perform medical and minor surgical assistance. My understanding of livestock production and management does not indicate that. That is why I asked the question.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: I guess we all read things differently. The answer is saying that we have somebody training who will assist with livestock and management of other agricultural affairs. At present, the individual who is stationed in Cayman Brac is definitely a Cayman Bracker. If I may add, on certain occasions the individual from the department who has to go over to Cayman Brac to render such services, is also a Cayman Bracker.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 74, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 74

No. 74: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works to state whether there are any indications of the Pink Mealybug being found and/or having infested any areas of the Cayman islands.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: There are no indications of the Pink Mealybug being found and/or having infested any area of the Cayman Islands.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Can the Honourable Minister briefly explain what preventative measures are in place at present?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: Every precaution has been taken by the Department and my Ministry with regard to preventing the infestation of the Pink Mealybug in the Cayman Islands.

First of all, we were notified that the Pink Mealybug had literally devastated the crops in Grenada. Most recently we learned of a threat to Jamaica. My Ministry instructed the Department to immediately put a ban on all imports of produce from the areas mentioned and any other area we may learn has been threatened. Until this point in time, I have seen no information to cause me to change my mind in regard to the ban, especially of items from our neighbour, Jamaica. I give this Honourable House the assurance that I shall not change my mind with regard to the ban until I see substantial evidence.

It is my understanding that the Pink Mealybug attacks about 1,000 species of plants. With the conditions and terrain of our land in the Cayman Islands... God help us if we should get an infestation. There would be no way that my Department of Agriculture would be able to penetrate certain areas to eradicate it.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I am certain that we all concur with the last statement made by the Minister. Can the Honourable Minister possibly tell us if there is any way to eradicate this pest once infestation should occur in the Cayman Islands?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: This is the fear shared by my Department and my Ministry. It seems that in places like Grenada, where properties have been accessible, even with the different insecticides that have been used, there is no guarantee that one that will actually eradicate it.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, that concludes Question Time for this morning.

Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 11.29 AM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 2.42 PM

SECOND READINGS

THE DEVELOPMENT AND PLANNING (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1997

Clerk: The Development and Planning (Amendment) Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Boddén: I move the second reading of a Bill entitled the Development and Planning (Amendment) Bill, 1997. This Bill, along with the other Law and the regulations, is the culmination of talks between the Council of Associations and Members of this Honourable House. All Members were asked, and entitled, to participate—some did, some did not.

This Bill basically sets up an infrastructure fund which will be used to provide money for the development of roads and other infrastructure in the island. The rationale behind this Bill is that developments such as hotels, condominiums and commercial properties, and very large houses (those over 4,000 square feet) should make a contribution to an infrastructure fund.

The best example of the failure to do this is presently along the Seven Mile Beach, West Bay Road. We have seen continued development in that area and the result is the very serious traffic problem. If this fund had been set up years ago, then money would have been available to build roads, such as the Harquail bypass, to ease traffic in that area. It is a fund which has been looked at by many past Governments, and this is the first time that we are seeing this type of a contribution to it.

It deals first with the Seven Mile Beach area and the centre of George Town, bordering on the road frontages (which are the commercial areas), bordering within the parcels listed on Eastern Avenue, North Church Street and West Bay Road; then the centre of George Town, which is all commercial. The second area deals with other parts of Grand Cayman and Little Cayman, excluding Cayman Brac.

The Law applies to development for industrial buildings within those areas, commercial buildings, hotels, apartments, strata lots, and houses over 4,000 square feet, or extensions to them. In the Seven Mile Beach area and the Centre of George Town, the amount would be 2.5% of the construction cost of the development.

If we look at a condominium, for example, which costs $200,000 to build on Seven Mile Beach (and we are only dealing with the building cost), then that developer would pay US $5,000 into the development fund. That condo would normally sell for an amount of, say, $5 million.

There needs to be a further definition for Area 'B' and Area 'C', and an amendment will have to be brought to that effect, but Area 'B' would cover the Cayman Kai area and the Queen's Highway on the sea side. That area is 1.5% of the construction cost. The rest of the island would be .5%. So, if a condominium was built somewhere in Spotts or Bodden Town, or in Little Cayman (but not Cayman Brac), and it cost $100,000, then they would pay $500 into the fund. These are small amounts.

In Cayman Kai and East End/Queens Highway, between the sea and the road, it would be 1.5%. So if the cost of a condominium, or a house exceeding 4,000 square feet, was $100,000, they would pay $1,500. We are talking about very small amounts compared to what had originally been put forward.

While speaking on this, I need to clarify that coming along with this Development and Planning Law are regulations which will deal with building permit fees, the aim of which is to make the Planning Department pay for itself and to cease the subsidy of it. This fee is what would go into the infrastructure fund.

This fee itself will probably contribute only a very small portion towards the actual cost of dealing with the infrastructure of these islands. I would estimate that this total fund will receive (and it's hard to tell exactly, because it would depend on the amount of applications) probably $600,000 to $800,000 per annum. It is not really a significant amount.

I think that since this country has for many years dealt with the infrastructure development out of the general revenue, the time has now come (and it has to be fair) to ask developers in this country to contribute a small amount to the infrastructure of this country—and I stress that it is a small amount, because that is really all it is. Eight hundred thousand dollars would build a very small amount of road in the swamp, which averages over one million dollars per mile. It would take about eight years for this fund to raise the money needed to build the Harquail bypass, excluding what is paid for land compensation. This amount was not accepted by the Council of Associations, who felt that the building permit fee itself was justified. I think it is wrong to have the people of this country funding infrastructure when a fund, such as this, could be set up into which development fees, of a small scale, can be put to assist the country with its development.

The Bill itself has set out that the fund will be administered in accordance with directives issued by the Financial Secretary from time to time. That will naturally consist of the money put into it out of this fund. Developers in the country will know that what they contribute under this will go into a fund which will be used to pay for roads. As I said, it is a small amount. I have no doubt whatsoever in my mind (from the examples we heard of the average profits made on a condominium during the discussions with the Council of Associations) that this percentage is one which can very easily be borne by developers in this country.

We should not perpetuate the situation of the past where developments have come in (hotels and condominiums).... I would like to point out that we welcome developers. I know from talking to some of these developers that they do not mind contributing to a fund which will be used for infrastructural purposes within the islands. It makes sense, because as the Seven Mile Beach Road becomes more and more congested, the value of the property will go down. There is no doubt that the time will come, if we continue this without the proper infrastructure in place, where property subject to heavy traffic must reduce in value and saleability. Developers look at it positively from the point of view that if money is put in and used for infrastructural purposes, then it will increase the value of their property. That is why developers do not mind making contributions, especially as small as this, into a fund that will be used to build the infrastructure that will ease problems in this area.

The percentages are: 2.5% on the commercial centre of George Town and Seven Mile Beach, and the 1.5% on Cayman Kai and the Queen's Highway, with the rest of the islands at .5%. I wish to point out that the construction cost of building in other areas... for example, if a house costs $200,000, and is over 4,000 square feet (and it does not apply to houses under 4,000, I want to make that clear) it is 5% outside of those areas—it would be $1,000. This will not affect 90% of our Caymanians because the small amount will only be on houses that are larger than 4,000 square feet.

The principle of the Bill itself has been the subject of a lot of discussion. I would like to thank the chairman and the Council of Associations for their frank discussions on this. This is the one area left to be dealt with because it was the most difficult area. The Council acknowledged that this Legislature would ultimately have to make a decision in this area—and we have.

While we differ in a small way, this Bill is one that we must pass in the interest of the Cayman Islands. I do not believe it can be left. I know that it will not affect investors in this country, because if we have investors coming in to build hotels or a large office buildings, or condominiums, who are not prepared to put money into the infrastructure of this country, then it is not in the interest of this country to support that type of development. But I welcome investors here, and I know that they will not be affected materially by this small fee.

I want to make it abundantly clear that this is not a development impact fee, which was talked about earlier; this is a contribution to an infrastructure fund that will be used to provide funds for roads and other infrastructure on the islands.

I want to give just one other example: Many of the investors coming to this country from abroad are elderly. More often than not, condominiums are sold to them on the basis that we have good medical facilities. But medical facilities cost. I do not think that person would feel that he should not contribute to a fund which would provide him with proper medical facilities, or a Seven Mile Beach bypass so that the traffic problem could be eased.

This Bill is one that I feel is necessary. I believe that there will be no impact on the investor, because the amount is small. I believe the fund is justifiable. More than that, it provides the first precedent for the segregation of funds that can be used for specific needs, such as the infrastructure of the island.

Every development in this country has an impact. When a hotel is built, we first have increased traffic on the roads because a fair amount of the traffic is rental cars and taxis. We will obviously have more traffic in and out of the airport. Work permits will be granted, therefore persons will be coming from abroad. They, plus the tourists here, will use the medical facilities. Some of those workers may have children, so extra places in the schools will be necessary.

Looking at it in a different way, they do also provide some benefits. Some stamp duty is paid, there are fees paid for permits; but the overall impact on the social and economic development comes with more people. There may need to be more counselling services, extra police—the whole infrastructure could be affected by it.

In today's Caymanian Compass, the Council of Associations stated this: "The Council of Associations strongly believes that the infrastructure of the island needs to be increased and maintained. Long-term infrastructure and economic planning for the Cayman Islands should be any Government's main role. The Council also strongly believes that the developers and visitors should pay their fair share of these costs along with everyone else." It went on to state that they felt the building permit fees, which I will deal with further on, were at the maximum level.

I would like to point out that they will raise between $1 million to $1.2 million. What the building fees put forward by the Council will do is make the Planning Department pay for itself. That is another thing. I don't think we should be subsidising development by paying an extra million dollars for the Planning Department. In fact, we agreed on that principle.

The Council of Associations agreed in principle that developers should pay a fair share. I think where we differ is what that share should be. We believe that it should go beyond the building permit fees. That would pay for the Planning Department, and there would be money put into a fund. Looking at it, the principles have been agreed upon by everyone, it is just a matter of how much to deal with at this stage.

These fees would be in relation to projects that are approved by Planning... (pause) I am just trying to find that section.... Let me come back to that point after I find it. I think it is for plans approved after the Law comes into effect.

The position is that the Council of Associations, the Government and the people of the islands agree in principle that there should be some contribution. We are saying that it should go into a fund and be set apart for infrastructural use. We have agreed to that.

I would therefore ask Members to please support this Bill, because if it is not supported, the cost of roads—which this fund would contribute to—will have to be borne by the people of this country. This Bill would seek to have the developers contribute money that can be used rather than having to use money out of general revenue. As I said, it is justified and reasonable. I would ask Members to please support it.

The Speaker: A Bill for a Law to Amend the Developing and Planning Law (1995 Revision), is now open for debate.

The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

(3.16 PM)

Mr. Roy Bodden: I rise to offer some comments on a Bill for a Law to Amend the Development and Planning Law (1995 Revision). Let me begin, as any sensible debater would begin, by developing my points of agreement.

It is recognised that we have reached a stage in the development of this country where persons who develop, particularly along some commercial and industrial lines, must bear some responsibility for what I would term the consequences of that development. My further comment in that regard would also be in agreement with the Honourable Minister presenting the Bill in that we are beginning a bit late.

I have always been an advocate of development planning. Indeed, since the 1980s I have been suggesting that we needed to pay critical attention to development planning. At that time it was vastly unpopular, and those who did not like the message tried to kill the messenger. I am therefore happy that many more people, including people who were active in trying to kill the messenger at that time, have now come to their wits and realise the necessity and importance of this.

[Interjection]

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I hear a voice saying, "That was you and I." But that was not you and I.

I agree, too, that those persons who fall among the ranks of the ordinary, the average, and the hardworking, should be spared as much as they can be. I shall do my best to cushion them.

I take my departure at this juncture. We should not have to come here in a hurried and apparently disorganised fashion trying to bring this amid some objections and controversy. While the principles are sound, I have to question the timing and the presentation. We cannot afford to ignore that corpus of objection, because it will determine whether these efforts are successful or if they fall by the wayside, consequently affecting our development down the line.

To set up an Infrastructural Development Fund, as it is now being called, is good. But if the calls to reform our process had been heeded, it would have been much easier, and much more palatable, to set this fund up. I contend that if our system of accounting and our budgetary process was based on the accrual system rather than on the cash system, this exercise would be very much more palatable, and a lot easier. But, again, those of us who dared to call for fiscal responsibility—because we foresaw the need to move in this direction—were shot down. As a result, we now have to seem onerous in our position with these Bills and measures.

Some elements are saying that our intentions cannot be pure because we lack the mechanism to do what we say we want to with the money. They object to placing this money in the general Treasury. I hope that at the very earliest convenience, the Government will set the proper mechanisms in place so that distinctions can be made and these funds can be procured to do what they are supposed to do.

The Honourable Minister moving the Bill said that it was the culmination of talks to which we were invited. I wish to make a distinction. I was invited at what my mother terms, the eleventh-and-three-quarter hour. I did not know what had transpired before—and I listened intelligently. But I think that my participation was invited at a very late and inopportune stage. I would like to distance myself from any suggestion that I am part of anything but the principle of this business.

It is easy to sound platitudes, such as "We should not perpetuate the conditions of the past." But those statements should not be borne out of convenience and a now awkward position; they should be borne out of a sincere and forward-thinking, progressive position. I cannot let the opportunity pass to say that there is a sense of poetic justice here. There is a side of me which is saying "I knew it was coming!" You have it—deal with it. Because when people were saying that you should prepare for these kinds of times, they were hounded and called, 'red,' 'pink,' 'white,' and everything else. I will not let the temptation lead me away from my responsible position, which is to say that we should carefully listen and try, as far as possible, to accommodate those people proposing alternatives.

Now is not the time for confrontation. This is the time for cooperation. This development must be conflict free, because the Government's weakness in this presentation was bad publicity, bad timing, crisis management, eleven-and-three-quarter hour efforts. It is not good enough. The time has passed where we can run this country like some little yard mowing business.

If the objections to what was proposed seem surprising, they should not. But they are nonetheless the predictable outcome of a heuristic mind set, which is the result of a peculiar position—that we will deal with the problem when it arises.

I have to say that we should have set up this fund 20 years ago, because that would have been the beginning of significant physical and economic development in this country. That would have been the time when such a fund would have been most easily accepted by developers. It is now difficult to make any kind of exercise like this easy to accept because certain precedents and trends have been set.

If there is one positive factor in this proposal, it is the rationale behind it—which seems to be for those who can afford the bigger, more expensive development to bear the brunt. But the adverse side to that is that sometimes it is from this quarter that the most obstinate objection comes. Certainly, those developers and their representatives are not above objecting, cajoling, and even withholding development.

There is a lesson to be learned from this exercise. That lesson is obvious to those who wish it to be obvious, and it is this: It is high time that we begin to prioritise and plan in this country. It is simply not good management to be caught in the predicament where you have to bring these kinds of measures out of desperation and lock yourself into a situation where there is little to no flexibility for negotiation. It is high time we arrived at the position where when these kinds of measures are introduced, they are prefaced by the requisite public awareness and public relations. Otherwise, it will become an exercise which is confrontational where people chose sides for and against. That is not to say that the exercise will not carry; rather, it is to say that much time and effort will have to be spent negotiating, resolving, posturing and re-defining positions.

I remain to be convinced that the timing of this Bill is appropriate. I remain to be convinced that the thought processes which should have gone into such a Bill were at their most effective. I say again that I have always been a proponent of development planning, requiring developers to contribute to and make amends in terms of infrastructural development which enhances those projects, but the timing has to be right.

I will be interested in seeing the positions on this defined. I am not usually self-congratulatory, but I have to give myself a little credit for being able to discern that a time such as this would come. I am glad that I had the sense to foresee this development. It not only gives me a sense of perspective, but it provides the connoisseur of (should I say?) 'proper planning' and enlightened administration, a sense of perspective and the significance of human blunders which seem to be characteristic of crisis management.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

(3.39 PM)

Dr. Frank McField: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

After the Minister proposing this amendment seeking to create a fund for infrastructural development spoke, I had the opportunity to listen to the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town speak. I also had the opportunity to reflect upon what it really takes to be a politician. In other words, we have to be able to say 'Yes, I told you so, but nevertheless, you are doing what I said you should do—but you're still not doing it when it should be done.'

Since he instructed me, and while not taking the same road, I would nevertheless like to echo and say that from all the voices crying out and warning about what should be done in this country, I think it is a pleasure to see that somehow reason has come to roost. I therefore congratulate the Honourable Minister for moving this amendment.

I reflect that he and I come from different sides of the road, so to speak, and I have observed him making considerations that I feel take into account the total country, and not just a particular interest group. I congratulate him for the fact that he stood by the country when it came to the Council of Associations—not the Chamber of Commerce this time, it appears as the Council of Associations. He negotiated for what he believes. Whether or not we can find a better solution than the one the Minister has now put before us is not the question. I believe that time and information will always mean that we could arrive at better solutions to all of our decisions. But life means being practical. At some point we must stop and make a decision because it is the best that can be done at a particular time.

Therefore, I would like to say that I believe this amendment is a good compromise. I agree with the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town—this has come late. But, then again, it has come; and it still has the possibility to do some good. Perhaps if it had come earlier it could have been argued (as it was) that it would have hampered development. But at this particular stage of development, when most people (including the developers) are wondering when we will be able to control development in such a way that it will not ruin the atmosphere for those seeking to purchase the condominiums, and for those coming to the hotels for vacation (and it is not only the Caymanian who is questioning the value of development, it is also the developers, and those people for whom they are providing the amenities), we see that this is not, in fact, a bad time to bring this amendment—this is the ideal time. What is necessary is that we explicitly explain the goodness of this legislation—that it will not only benefit Caymanians who are in need of better and improved roads, but it will also benefit those people who go to bed in their million dollar condominiums because they can wake up knowing that they are in a country full of harmony and decency, because it looks after its own people.

As I said, the Council of Associations, the developers, the architects, the construction people, the realtors—the people who make a profit—will never be convinced that they should lose a profit. The game is to make as much as possible, and not as little as possible, therefore sharing is not necessarily the key word in that particular realm. Government, as a harmonising instrument, must introduce the principle of sharing and caring in that particular realm. The merchants have a message to give us, but we also have a message to give them. When they are talking about arithmetic, we are talking about people. People are more than figures at the end of the day.

I feel that the Government of the day needs to convince them that it has spent good time in conversation with those people; showing them that they are concerned, that they run the country in a proper manner. Nobody wants to frighten away the foreigner or the developer, or those who might want to purchase a condominium. But, certainly, if someone can pay $1 million for a condominium—and most times it is not even their first or second home, because they may own a home in Texas or France; and yet we are balancing that with Caymanians attempting to acquire their first homes for $125,000, a lot of them cannot even qualify. These are the considerations this Government must make, that perhaps the people who are members of the Council of Associations or the architects might not have to because they are not elected by the people.

We are elected by the people who are not only rich, but also by people who are poor, and we must strike a balance in terms of any legislation. It will never seem fair to all groups. No legislation will ever seem fair. Therefore, it is always possible for Opposition to find things wrong with any legislation. There is nothing unique about that. One does not have to be super intelligent to find weaknesses in any legislation. I am going on to explain to the general public that what is happening is that the Government is trying to at least plan for the future in terms of collecting revenue from those people who have sufficient to pass on for the general management of the country.

The problem I have with the Bill is that I believe the fees are not high enough. I feel that the pace of development has been too rapid, and not thought-out and people have been greedy and refuse to pay. One day, pay-back time comes; because all of a sudden we are presented with all of the needs and problems at once.

When someone is buying a condo worth millions of dollars, or planning to spend six months out of the year in the Cayman Islands, the first thing they are going to look at is our medical facility and our communications; at whether or not our planes are flying and our airport is safe; at whether or not our fire department is alert; at the standard of our police. Therefore, Government creates the atmosphere in which the investor conducts business. The people are paying for this atmosphere which is created. All the Government is saying at this particular point is that the Government—which means the people—needs more to come from one particular side of the fence in order to maintain this wonderful balance of social order.

I do not think anybody is setting out to run the investors off. No one is trying to create hardship for real estate dealers. If we look at the real estate industry we find that a lot of these people making good money—$150,000 per year or more—are not even from here. The real estate person who sets up a company does not pay people a regular salary. They work on commission. So, it is probably easier to set up a real estate company than any other type of business, because less capital is invested in setting up. There are no hourly, weekly, or monthly salaries to pay. These people are making money without a high overhead or big initial investment.

The architects and surveyors are making money. Many of them have come from elsewhere in the world and have made a great living for themselves in the Cayman Islands. God bless them! No one is envious of that. But I think we are now saying that the people who make the money should also realise that they should not always say to us that they are going to transfer all the costs to the client purchasing the condominium or the hotel or the beach house.

The merchants take the position that every time Government says it needs additional revenue, they will transfer the cost to the consumer; to the extent where the very people Government is trying to create these amenities for, go against the Government's amendments to raise fees because they believe Government's intention is to hurt them and drive away the tourists and developers so that there will be no work. But it is a risk. There is a possibility that even if we put something up by 5 cents a very greedy and inconsiderate person will say they want nothing to do with it and go someplace else.

I think that we are now at a stage in our development where we can pick and choose—and we need to pick and choose people who will help us to maintain our social balance and our social order. People who are not concerned about that can go to Mexico; they will probably be better off. They would probably be better off in places where they are looking for prostitution and drugs. They are not looking for the kind of Christian, law-abiding community we have here. We have something special to offer; and all of us realise that in order to continue to offer that we have to reinvest in that which we are offering.

In business there is wear and tear on the machinery. Therefore, one always has to calculate that his machinery will have to be replaced at a particular time. It is no different in a country: there is wear and tear on the social order—on the schools, on the police force, on all the social structure. My contention is that we are being forced to put the money into a special account, instead of whatever account the Government decides it should go into.

I believe that the people elected a concerned and capable Government. It should know what to do with the money. It should not be held at ransom, where the merchants say it should go into this or that account because it is for road development. All we are doing in this sense is giving into their selfishness. If it is going to improve the road in an area, it will also improve the property value, and therefore increase profits.

All they are saying is that they will invest only if they can invest in themselves. That is not the message. We must invest in the general good government of this country. Government needs to have flexibility when it comes to the use of resources. We need to get those resources into some of those areas as soon as possible because they are the ones we have identified.

As for the concept of Government by crisis, that is something that I have been hearing for quite a long time. Since none of us have been presented with a blue print, and since none of us seem to have it, I think it is always a trial and error thing. I think that we are honest enough to say that we have made mistakes, and we will start all over again.

I will now close by saying that I support this amendment. My only concern is that we will not raise more money from these types of developments, and also I really do believe that Government should have flexibility and be encouraged to use the money wherever that money is needed in regard to infrastructural development. It should not just be for roads, it should be for people; it should be for rehabilitation because we have people on drugs, and people who commit crimes and people who are illiterate.

The fact that we have people who are physiologically and culturally dysfunctional in this society is also a result of the rapid physical economic development in this country. Since everything is inter-related, it is always important to have funds in the general reserves for whatever is needed, be it the hospital, schools, football stadiums or swimming pools. We need to have the confidence in ourselves to know that what we do at the end of the day is best for the people. We do not need the Council of Association telling us that unless we lock money up in a particular fund we cannot be trusted to collect those revenues.

I believe that Government should reserve the right to collect those revenues and spend them however Government sees fit. When Government is in abuse of the peoples' power, then the people should re-elect a different Government. Until we have exercised the mandate that the people have given us, we should not be told by the Council of Associations what we can collect, or how.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Would Honourable Members agree to continue on to 4.30, forgoing the evening break?

Does any other Member wish to speak? The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

(4.00 PM)

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: These Bills before the House have had a lot of consideration and debate by the Council of Associations and by Government Members. We have long held that infrastructure expansion comes about because development needs to be contributed to. Some places call it an 'impact fee.'

In our islands, particularly Grand Cayman, continued approval of most development demands that roads, schools, fire protection, parks, and so on, be expanded. This is the dollar cost of growth, which is becoming very hard to fund. Continued building of offices, shops, houses, hotels, apartments and condominiums, etcetera, means that the infrastructure cost will increase. The contribution that Government has to make to put things right continues to be high.

I am in support of the 2.5%, and the other percentage structures for the other areas. As far as I am concerned, we are going in the right direction. We could have started off much higher, but because the father did not treat the child right for 20 years does not mean we have to kill him. I am mindful of the competition from those countries doing everything in the world to draw people and good development. We cannot carry on as if there is no competition and believe that the world and his cousin will continue to flock here all the time. We have to make a provision where the competition does not out-run us. I am satisfied that we are moving ahead, but slowly.

Costs to develop land are very high. We all know that. The cost of running a real estate company is very high. It is not just a matter of selling the property, for instance. There are high attendant costs. One might be able to say that certain agents make good money, but all the costs go to the company. So I need to put that matter straight.

I believe that we have a good thing going. I believe that good people want to come here. In introducing something new, we must move slowly. That is all I will say on the introduction of these fees. It is new, we are making haste slowly.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

(4.08 PM)

Hon. Anthony Eden: I also rise to support this legislation. There have been comments made about 'crisis management.' Over the years this Government has been in power it has demonstrated its type of management is not by crisis but by consultation with the people who have put it here. When concerns are raised, we take the time to listen. They have said on more than one occasion that this is the first time Government would sit down and reason with them to come to a conclusion where all were satisfied. This is what we have done in this instance.

These proposed fees were not put through immediately because, with all due respect, the Council of Association had some concerns. We met with them, not only in regard to real estate fees and transfer fees, and what we call the impact fee; they had concerns, and we waited until we could talk with them.

We know that we have to do something about the congestion along the Seven Mile Beach area. We know the amount of money we are going to have to spend on the Harquail bypass. If we do not do something about the problems existing there, they will no longer be able to sell those condominiums; because no one wants to go and spend two or three hours on the road trying to go half a mile. I see no problem in increasing this.

Comments have been made about the timing. We may be 20 years late. But over the past five years, we have proven that we will take action when given the opportunity. That is what we have done here. People talked about it, but who did anything about it? What is talk? It was time, and we said that we were going to do something about putting this fee in place, and we have.

It is never too late to do good. That is how I feel about this. We have to start somewhere. The longer we wait, the worse it will get. With the millions, and sometimes billions, of dollars that have passed through this country.... And Government has to bear these expenses!

As my colleague, the Fourth Elected Member for George Town, said: look at the impact on the social structure of this island. If they do not assist us with this, what will happen? Do you mean to tell me that if someone spends $500,000 to $1 million on a condominium, he cannot put a few thousand into a fund to try to make this a better place for all of us to live? I think we have to start somewhere, and this Government has acted responsibly in doing this. I give it my full support.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

(4.13 PM)

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The Bill we are debating, A Bill for a Law to Amend the Development and Planning Law (1995 Revision), brings with it several (what I would term) 'serious realities' which we are suddenly wanting to get a grip on.

Before I get into the specifics of the Bill, let me categorically state that I have long recognised the difficulty the country faces with its continued lack of infrastructural development. Between 1985 and the early part of 1992, I happened to be one of the members of the Central Planning Authority. It did not take long for me to understand the difficulty I just mentioned.

Just about everyone who has spoken mentioned the fact that this is late in coming. It is very obvious to me that if we continue without addressing this issue, we are in for some bad times. So I am not going to stand here this evening and attempt to not justify the intent of the Bill. The country must understand what we are faced with. Our own affluence continues to be our demise. Everything that we need to do continues to cost more as time goes on. So, the longer we wait to do certain things, the longer it will take to do it and, quite likely, the more desperate we will be to find the money to do it with. I do not have any qualms about the intent.

There are a few things which I think need to be brought to light, and I think we need to be careful in certain respects. Some people are a bit afraid of scaring the investor away with these new additional fees. One can take the view that it may or may not happen, but we must be cognisant of the fact that any attempt to achieve what we know we have to, must be presented as best as possible so that this does not happen.

Let us look at a specific example to really understand the effect of what is being proposed. In the Seven Mile Beach area (and all figures will be hypothetical, but they will prove the point) the developer of a condominium (and we are only talking about condominiums here) has a price that he is willing to pay to develop. Then the purchaser gets an additional price tag, because the developer is not going to absorb these new costs. So the end result product will cost more. Plus, while we are not debating it we cannot leave out the fact that the purchaser (should both of these Bills see safe passage) will also have another additional cost because it is proposed that the stamp duty (transfer tax) be raised from 7.5% in that area to 9%. It is a separate issue, but still very relevant.

Let us say that the developer is building 20 units, and those units average 1800 square feet; and let us also assume that he can build these units (and I am not including the cost of land) for a construction cost of about $140 per square foot. Assuming those 20 units are built, it will be more than likely that there will be a swimming pool. That means that he will have to pay the following: Swimming pools: $1,200; the building permit at $1.50 per square foot equates to $2,700 per unit, multiplied by 20 is $54,000. So we are now up to $55,200. If he is building at between $130 to $140 per square foot and he is paying 2.5% on his construction costs for those 20 units, he is now looking at $252,000 to be paid into this new fund. To construct those 20 units, his immediate increase in cost is $300,000, which equates to about $15,000 per unit. I am not prepared to engage in how that is passed on to the purchaser, because I really do not know the formula. Nevertheless, it will be passed on.

In just that one example, I think we can get a clear picture of what we are dealing with here, talking about condominiums. The question begs: Is that readily bearable, or is it a little bit too much too quick?

There is a school of thought that these units on the Seven Mile Beach are high enough, and that an additional cost of $15,000 per unit is no big thing. I don't know. Having said all of that, let me quickly say that I am not saying that we do not have to do something, because I know we have to. But, although no one had the will or the guts, or paid close enough attention to the fact that we were getting into trouble for such a long period of time, it does not mean that we must not be very careful in our attempt to correct the problem overnight. That is the only point that I wish to deal with outside of the fact that we need to do something. I believe that if we know we have to do something and we stage the effort over a given time period, it is always more acceptable to those who have to bear the brunt. So my point has nothing to do with not doing; my point is how we do it.

There is another situation which we may think we will not have to address; but let me remind everyone here that in doing what we are today the way it is proposed, I can promise you that nobody facing me is going to come back next year to talk about this again. If I am wrong, hopefully I will live to see that. The point is, Mr. Speaker, that while this is an attempt to correct a situation, it is also a restricting attempt, in my view—because it is going to be a while before we will be able to look at this again.

I say that to say that if we were to think of a process where developers knew that in the first year (and this is hypothetical, I am not suggesting that this is the way it should be) there would be a 1% fee, and in the second year another percent, and maybe for the next few years one-half percent—in doing something of that nature one could put together a situation where people literally knew five years in advance what they were going to be dealing with. I hold the view that at the end of the day the Government could well be in a better financial position with this fund, while at the same time creating less of a bad feeling for those people it is going to directly affect. It's food for thought.

The concept of the Bill is not something that I disagree with. But, personally, my vehicle would have travelled in a slightly different way to achieve what is being hoped for here. I will probably be asked why I did not attend a certain meeting and say all of this. Let me preempt that by telling everyone that I said it at another meeting and no one picked it up. So that will stop some of you from taking a lot of notes, I guess.

It is still not too late to consider something of that nature, because regardless of who will set it (and I believe I know what is hoped to be achieved), it is possible by going this route that more might be achieved in the long run; but the impact, which might be negative in certain respects, might be lessened.

I have stated my views on the Bill. Perhaps I will get lucky and someone will entertain these thoughts. I will wait to see.

Questions to Honourable Members and Ministers. Deferred question No. 70, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE
MEMBERS/MINISTERS

DEFERRED QUESTION NO. 70

No. 70: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works whether there are any plans for the introduction of an Agricultural Show for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: There are no plans for the introduction of an Agricultural Show for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman. However, the Ministry is aware that the Cayman Islands' Agriculture Society has discussed the possibility of hosting a mini-show for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman. The Ministry will examine the feasibility of any plans put forward by the Agricultural Society which may help to promote and encourage agriculture in Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister state whether any invitations are extended to persons in that field on the Brac to attend this annual show?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: Many years ago, when I acted as president of the Agricultural Society, I introduced to Cayman Brac and Little Cayman the offer to visit with us especially on our agricultural show days. This was only taken up by one farmer, Mr. Chantilope. To assist with that (and I believe it exists today) his fare was actually paid to come to Grand Cayman.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 75, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 75

No. 75: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development to list the contingency warrants issued from September 1996 to date, by way of amounts, and to which Government Departments they were issued.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8) 11.00 AM

The Speaker: Before I call on the Honourable Minister to answer, we need to suspend Standing Orders for Question Time to continue beyond 11 o'clock?
The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I so move, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Can we have a seconder? The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I second that motion.

The Speaker: The question is that Standing Orders 23 (7) and (8) be suspended to enable Question Time to continue. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8) SUSPENDED TO ENABLE QUESTION TIME TO CONTINUE.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Sixty-five Contingency Warrants were issued from September to December 1997, totalling $5,222,075. These have been covered through appropriations.

The number of Contingency Warrants issued from January to 5th March, 1997, amounts to 81 totalling $13,193,658. These Warrants have been issued to Departments/Ministries/Portfolios on request. The volume issued in 1997 is primarily to cover expenditure required prior to the 1997 Budget being agreed. A list of the Departments and amounts is being circulated to Members.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I wonder if the Honourable Member can say why no contingencies warrants were done in 1997 for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The warrants would have been issued under the approval that was given under the Government Motion. There was a contingency warrant issued in April. This goes up until 5th March. They have been given the necessary authorisation to incur the expenditure required for the Brac Administration.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: If she wishes to continue, I will give way.

The Speaker: Thank you. The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Member say if these contingency warrants would include the PWD being in a position to work?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Yes, the authorisation issued under the Government Motion would have allowed for the maintenance workers in Cayman Brac to continue working. Also provisions would have been made under the contingency warrant issued in April.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: If there are PWD workers not working, it is not because a contingency warrant has not been issued?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Yes, that is correct.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: If the Honourable Third Official Member would bear with me... I think it was in December that Finance Committee approved some $47 million prior to budget for (shall I say?) the country to continue operating. Can the Honourable Member say if the total amount of these contingency warrants is over and above that $47 million?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: These contingency warrants would be embraced within that approval.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: If I heard him correctly, he said that they would be "embraced within that approval." That being the case, could the Honourable Member give a brief explanation as to how the balance of that amount has been distributed among the departments in order for them to function?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: In the first instance, departments of Government would be issued with warrants to cover their quarterly expenditures. On the capital side, Executive Council took a decision as to what capital projects should be pursued up until the Budget being approved. In a few instances the capital authorisations that would have been issued would have exceeded the initial provision that would have been given under the motion that was approved. But that would be contained within the Budget process. So, whatever contingency warrants were issued between January until the approval of the Budget, were embraced within the Budget process.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I understand that these amounts were embraced within the Budget process. But they were not within the $47 million approved? I was told they were. I want to make sure.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I would venture to say that of the approvals granted, 98% would have been embraced within the approval that was granted. Only in instances where it would have been necessary to stop work and lay off workers would Executive Council have given specific approval to continue in anticipation of the excess being covered within the budgeted allocation.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The last line of the substantive answer reads, "A further breakdown of the above amounts is provided in the attached schedule." I do not see a schedule. Do we have a schedule?

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I will have to apologise to you, Mr. Speaker, and to Honourable Members. I have the schedule, but it has apparently not been circulated to Members. I just took it for granted that the schedule was attached as a part of the answer which was circulated. This can be made available to Members.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Pardon the pun, Mr. Speaker, but I think that the schedule is very important. While some of the supplementaries have been answered, I would certainly not like to pass up the opportunity to examine the schedule in order to ask more supplementaries. Maybe we could go on until such time and come back to that question?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The schedule that shows the contingency warrants that were issued to departments was attached as part of the question. The schedule itself makes reference to a further breakdown which takes this information to a more detailed level. It shows the various classifications and sub-heads. This can be made available to the Honourable Member. I do not think that it will add any greater clarity to the information as set out in the main schedule.

This shows, for example, the Internal Audit Department was given a sum of $18,856; and on the 8th of October, 1996, warrant number 66 was issued. It also details the various warrants comprising this total. It does not give specific descriptions in terms of the nature of the expenditure. It just shows the various sub-items that would have accumulated into that overall total.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: To display the trust that I have in the Honourable Third Official Member, I have taken note of what he said, and I therefore have no further supplementaries.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 76, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 76

No. 76: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport what are Government's plans regarding the use of the taxi rank off Thomas Russell Way.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: It is intended to use the taxi rank located off Thomas Russell Way as a holding area for taxis and tour bus operators who now queue on South Church Street waiting to collect disembarking cruise ship passengers. However, the implementation of such a system will be based upon recommendations made by the Public Transport Board in consultation with Government, as part of an overall action plan in respect of public transport.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Minister state if there have been any ongoing discussions with the taxi drivers who will be made to use this property with regard to how, and if, it will work?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: The Public Transport Board has not made a recommendation as yet on this particular matter. I am unable to make contact with anyone until that recommendation comes. When it comes to Government we will then begin discussions.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: If the recommendations have not yet been presented by the Public Transport Board, can the Honourable Minister tell the House how it is that he is so certain they will recommend the use of this facility?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: This exercise started in 1990 when a previous Government bought the property. In April 1996 we ended up vesting in the Port Authority a piece of property that is valued in excess of $129,000, so I am fairly sure that the Government will make use of this facility shortly.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Is the Honourable Minister stating that it has now taken him almost seven years to make a decision on an issue decided back in 1990?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: No, Mr. Speaker, I am not saying that at all. It was only in November 1996 that this Minister was responsible for transport. But if the Third Elected Member for George Town wishes to assess his performance—given that it was brought in March of 1990—I will leave that decision to him.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: In the substantive answer, the very last paragraph reads: "However, the implementation of such a system will be based upon recommendations made by the Public Transport Board in consultation with Government, as part of an overall action plan in respect of public transport."

I understand what the Minister said about having discussions with the taxi operators. I wish to know if that is exactly how the decision process will take place; or do I have an undertaking that the taxi drivers will be part and parcel of the decision-making process?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I believe that the majority of the people operating in the Cayman Islands know the way Tom Jefferson works and operates. Obviously, if we are going to involve taxis in a movement from where they are now queuing to somewhere else, discussion will have to be held, and that will be done.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Is the Honourable Minister stating that the policy being followed was to first build a taxi rank on Thomas Russell way and now he is going to seek the recommendation of the Public Transport Board to see if they will allow him to open it up?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I give the Third Elected Member for George Town 'A' for effort, but I do not believe that my answer indicates anything of that sort. I believe that the way in which we are handling the process is that my Ministry never built the facility to begin with. It was vested in the Port Authority for which I hold responsibility since March or April 1996. Any assessment of that should bear in mind that shortly after that period of time all of us in this House got involved with the election process.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister tell the House when we might reasonably expect this facility to be put to use? Three months from now? Six months, or maybe a year from now?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Mr. Speaker, with the best of intentions, I am not going to commit myself to weeks. I think it is important for us to hold the discussion, as the First Elected Member from George Town was pointing out and asking questions about a while ago, and I believe that our intention is to put it into operation in 1997. I am not going to say which month, or which week.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 77 standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 77

No. 77: Dr. Frank McField asked the Honourable Acting First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs how many work permit applications have been received from performing artists since the new Government directive regarding the admission of these performers was issued, giving (a) the number of applications approved; (b) the number of applications refused; and (c) the nationality of the applicants.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: The number of work permit applications received from performing artists regarding the admission of these performers is 277. The number of applications approved was 271. The number of applications refused was six. These applications were for two performances. The nationality of the applicants refused was Jamaican.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Can the Honourable Member state if there is an understanding that promoters can advertise their event before their application has been approved?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: I know of no such understanding. I assume the Member is alluding to an understanding between the promoter and some agency of Government, presumably the Immigration Board. Obviously, promoters are free to advertise as they wish; but I know of no understanding to which the Immigration Board, or any other agency is a party.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I would like to ask if the situation for obtaining of police records in Jamaica, which is now taking longer (and this being a part of the application process) is causing any delay in regard to these functions?

The Member looks puzzled. Let me repeat that: Can the Member say if there is a delay in the process because of the new directives, or is the Immigration Board acting, in some cases, without having the full requirement—in other words, the work permit? Is there some type of agreement where people can begin to advertise without having all of the necessary paperwork completed?

Just to explain that a little bit more: because of the length of time it takes to get a police record there is a delay. Is there an informal attempt to work out something to get it to flow a bit easier?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: I do not know of the directive in relation to this category of applicants having contained any special requirement in relation to police records. Those are ordinarily required in relation to that category of permit. There was certainly a requirement for tapes of performances, but I do not know of any special requirement in relation to police records. In any case, that would simply impact when the promoter can complete and submit an application.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I am not sure if the Honourable Member said there was no police record requirement for these types of applicants.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: What I said was that the directive that was issued in relation to applications for performers did not include any special consideration in respect of police records. There is a requirement for submission of video tapes of performances. But I know of no requirement in relation to police records.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Thank you for letting me continue, it is not that I am trying to be difficult here, I just want to get some clarification. The situation with performers is slightly different in that arrangements have to be made with the performers, then promotion has to be done.

I am wondering if there is an awareness of all that is involved? I am asking whether the Immigration Board, or the Chief Immigration Officer, is giving consideration to the length of time it takes them to obtain a police record, thus delaying the whole process of allowing promoters to begin to at least advertise their product before the actual grants are given—in other words, what we call granting permission “in principle”?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: I can say that I am aware that the process of obtaining police records in some jurisdictions, including Jamaica, is a lengthy one. I know of no arrangement that the Immigration Board has entered into to give any special dispensation to applications of this category in relation to police records. Obviously, it is a nationality from which we receive many applications.

I can inquire as to whether there is any arrangement, or any consideration being given, and let the Member know.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for allowing us to clarify this situation. I would just like to ask if the Member would inquire into this since it takes such a long time to get the police records in Jamaica these days, and maybe there could be some understanding that the promoters could begin, at least in principle, to advertise the products at their own risk, and that there would be no attempt by the Immigration Department to discourage this.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: Yes, Mr. Speaker. I will make those inquiries.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 78, standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 78

No. 78: Dr. Frank McField asked the Honourable Acting First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs if the Forensic Laboratory at the George Town

Hospital will be staffed with Caymanians and, if not, from where will the staff be recruited.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: The positions will be advertised locally, thereby enabling qualified Caymanian Forensic Scientists to apply. If such recruitment fails, then the positions would have to be advertised overseas. A decision to recruit from overseas will not be made until local recruitment has taken place. This is a matter for the Public Service Commission to consider.

The Speaker: If there are no supplementaries, the next question is No. 79 standing in the name of the Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 79

No. 79: Dr. Frank McField asked the Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development to state the reason for including members of the Legislative Assembly in a Government pension scheme with Civil Servants, but not covering them with the same or similar medical benefits as those enjoyed by Civil Servants.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The Honourable Members of the Legislative Assembly are not in the Government Pension Scheme with Civil Servants, but covered under the Parliamentary Pensions Law (1995 Revision). The serving Members of the Legislative Assembly do not receive medical benefits as the Health Services Authority Law, 1991, and the Health Services Authority (Fees) Regulations 1991, which allowed this benefit, were repealed by the Health Services Authority (Dissolution) Law, 1993.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Member state if a serving Member of Parliament was a veteran, would he receive medical benefits?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I am not in a position to give an answer to that question. This is a matter which will have to be taken up with the Honourable First Official Member having responsibility for matters pertaining to the Legislative Assembly.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 80, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 80

No. 80: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Acting First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs if there is a Caymanian understudy to fill the position of Chief Education Officer.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: There is no Caymanian understudy to fill the position of Chief Education Officer at this time.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Can the Honourable Member state if there is still a policy in place for Government to Caymanianise the Civil Service where possible?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: Yes, there is.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Member state if in that department there is such a post as 'Deputy'? If not, how is the chain of command organised at present?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: My recollection is that there is no deputy. There are a number of senior... or the next level of post after Chief Education Officer is termed 'Senior Education Officer Post.' I stand to be corrected on that.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: If that is the case, how is it possible for there to be a Caymanian understudy to take up that post at any point in time?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: I do not think it necessarily follows that we have to designate a 'Deputy' post in order to designate an individual as an understudy. The Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Education, to whom this Head of Department reports, is actively seeking to identify an understudy and will have to do so within the next 12 months as the current appointment is on a two year contract and there would need to be a reasonable period of understudy and overlap.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Does that mean that if, and when, a person is identified to be that understudy, that the person would still be doing the same job that he/she is doing now and understudying on top of that?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: I cannot say how the Permanent Secretary and the Head of the Department will see best to redistribute the menu of responsibilities of the understudy when that person is identified. I would simply expect that if the intention is to understudy, those activities that support that would be given priority, and in all likelihood other responsibilities would have to be distributed to someone else.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: My substantive question to the Honourable Member was if there was a Caymanian understudy to fill the position of Chief Education Officer. His answer was no. My supplementary to him was; If a Government policy is still in place to Caymanianise the Civil Service. He said there is. There seems to be some conflict in his answer to these questions. I now wonder if he is in a position to state whether there are any Caymanians qualified or being trained to fill the position of understudy to the Chief Education Officer?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: I think I also said that the Permanent Secretary was seeking to identify a suitable person. If I had information of such a person being trained, that is the answer I would have given the Member.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Is the Honourable Member saying that of all the Caymanians in Education for all of these years at the time of recruitment for the present Chief Education Officer there was not one to be found?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: I would hope that all I am saying is that at the time of filling this post the person who was appointed was considered the most suitable person to appoint. It is certainly true that the Education has produced a lot of talent—a lot of which has migrated to other areas of the Service. All I can say is that at this time the person who was appointed was considered the best person to appoint.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Can the Honourable Member state if prior to the appointment of the Chief Education Officer, the position was advertised? Is so, were there any qualified Caymanian applicants?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: I do not have information with me regarding the recruitment process, but I would be happy to provide the Member with an answer to that question.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I would appreciate that.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Member state, based on all that has been said in regard to the question, if a Caymanian is expected to be identified? If there is no Caymanian presently qualified, is there thought being given to take someone and bring them to that point? I feel it has to be said because if that is not done, the situation will perpetuate and we will find contracts being renewed over and over with nothing being done. This is where the problem lies in other areas, as well. I am asking for some assurance that it does not re-occur.

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: I do not want to try to predict the conclusion that the Permanent Secretary will come to. I am optimistic based on the talent that the department has produced over the years, that she will be able to identify someone who, if not ready to immediately undergo, will be a potential candidate further down the line.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Member state if there has been a breakdown in the system seeing that post was filled by Caymanians?

The Speaker: The Honourable Acting First Official Member.

Hon. Donovan Ebanks: I would not agree that there has been a breakdown in the system. I think that if you look at the people who have moved out of that department they are able people who could have, perhaps, headed it. All of those people have moved voluntarily. I think we have a situation that when this current vacancy arose, it was felt by the Commission and the Governor that the individual who was appointed was the best person to fill the post.

As I said earlier, I really do not know who the other candidates were. I would not agree that it is necessarily a breakdown. If we could keep people there until we needed them, then yes, we could have filled it indefinitely. Obviously that is not the way it works.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, that concludes Question Time for this morning.

Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

SECOND READINGS

THE DEVELOPMENT AND PLANNING (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1997

(Continuation of debate thereon)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Speaker, I rise to make my contribution on the Development and Planning (Amendment) Bill, 1997.

The amendment contained in Part V(A) of a Bill for a Law to Amend the Development and Planning Law (1995 Revision) is far-reaching, and introduces a brand new concept to the revenue enhancement measures and structure used by successive Governments of the past.

Part V(A), which deals with section 34(a), states: “34A. (1) There is established an infrastructure fund for the purpose of providing funds for development of roads and other infrastructure in the Islands.” Part

(2) states: “(2) The fund shall be administered in accordance with directions issued by the Financial Secretary from time to time....”

Before I continue, I wish to question exactly what is meant by “directions issued by the Financial Secretary from time to time....” What type of directions are we looking at? Are we going to receive one set of directions this month, and then, by a stroke of the pen in Executive Council, have a change in two month’s time? I think that the Mover of this Bill needs to explain precisely what he meant when he said that “the funds shall be administered in accordance with the directions issued by the Financial Secretary from time to time.”

I am amazed that this Bill is being brought to the House at this time, especially when we recently heard that the Government had so much profit in its coffers. I believe the exact amount we heard of was $60 million. I have to ask why there was such a rush (so that even Standing Orders were suspended to ensure its passage) to bring these tax measures? Because this is a brand new concept, I am disappointed that Government did not see fit to allow more time for us to study this amendment.

The Motion seeking approval was received in the Clerk’s office on 1st May, 1997, and the Bill was introduced at the same time—thus, severely limiting the period of notice under the Standing Orders from the 21 days normally given on public Bills to one day. Before I am accused of giving the wrong information, I wish to make specific reference to Standing Order 46. It states: “If a bill complies with the requirements of Standing Order 45 (Examination of bills) the Clerk shall cause the text thereof, an explanatory memorandum, to be gazetted as soon as possible and shall also send copies of it to reach every Member not less than 21 days before it is proposed to be read a first time.” I think it is therefore reasonable to state that insufficient time was given on this Bill.

As regards the comment made by the Honourable Minister piloting the Bill (and I must say here and now that he is a gentleman for whom I have a lot of respect), that an opportunity was given to MLAs to meet and discuss the draft Bill at a recent meeting which Government held with the Council of Associations, I wish to make it quite clear that I was not informed about it until the meeting had been called for about 20 minutes. I asked the young lady who called me to come to the meeting (and she apologised for the late call that I received) if it had started yet, because I was busy doing something on my computer. She said, “I’m sorry, but it started about 20 minutes ago.” I then asked her to extend my apologies to the chairman. I am making it very clear that my non-attendance was through no fault of my own. I received no invitation to the first meeting held with the Council of Associations, and I do not believe that my Opposition colleagues received one either.

Nonetheless, I believe that the principles and objectives of the Bill are not all bad. However, the scope of the areas affected leaves me with certain concerns.

I wish to also make it clear that I have no major problems with the imposition of certain infrastructure fees within certain designated areas on the West Bay strip which have been designated on the registry map. I like to refer to that area from the cemetery in George Town, to the cemetery in West Bay. However, I fail to see the reasoning behind the increases in other areas of the island, more specifically referred to as area ‘B’, and area ‘C’.

It can be seen that the areas on the map on the West Bay strip are in an area that is already heavily developed. The whole idea of having impact fees levied on those areas will have a dual effect. Perhaps the most important effect would be that it would decrease, or keep at the present level, the amount of traffic on that road. But it would have a dampening effect on developers wishing to further develop in that area.

The other effect of this is that they will no doubt move into other areas of the island which would benefit more from this type of development, such as the eastern districts. If this Bill for infrastructure fees had been directly related to this particular area, I would have found it very difficult to stand here and criticise it in any way. But to extend this to other areas where we are already trying to encourage development is somewhat foolhardy.

The collection of these fees is by way of what is called a ‘Building Permit.’ Having looked at the regulation, and noting the level of fees that will be collected, I find the proposal contained in the amendment somewhat of an administrative nightmare.

I would like to make reference to section 5 of this amendment Bill which gives the definition of ‘construction costs.’ It reads: “(a) ‘construction costs’ in respect of a development includes the cost of preparing land for development, mobilisation costs; professional fees relating to the construction including the fees for architects, quantity surveyors, surveyors and attorneys-at law, the costs of labour and materials to be used in the construction of a building with its fixtures, the costs of installing plumbing and electricity facilities and such other construction costs as shall be determined by the Authority who may require an applicant for planning permission to provide such evidence or information as the Authority considers necessary to make that determination.”

Mr. Speaker, I respectfully submit that this will not work. It is an administrative nightmare. Who is going to value all of the work? Is this going to be done through the Planning Department? How can one quantify the professional fees up front? This is going to be in the permit application. How will these fees, in particular the professional fees, be quantified up front? The professional fees are spread over years, and are impossible to identify up front.

What if the Authority goes to a legal office and wants to get certain information on demand? What happens to the Lawyer/Client privilege? What happens to the confidentiality? Will the Authority demand that these professional offices involved open up their books for scrutiny?

This Bill has not been properly thought out. Is Government going to ask for accounting records to confirm the fees? Will the special interest groups be assessed lower development costs than someone the Government does not favour? The larger contractors will be at a disadvantage over others as their overhead is generally much higher. This Bill is setting up a situation where the fees will be at the discretion of the Planning Department.

As alluded to earlier, the Financial Secretary will have the power to vary the amounts in the Bill from "time to time." Notwithstanding the honesty and integrity of the holder of that post, it appears that with no further legislative review these fees could be doubled or tripled. The infrastructure fund is actually proposed as a part of Government's general revenue.

The Bill calls for payment up front on all costs. How is that possible? While we want fees up front, this is not possible with the proposed Bill, as most costs will not be known for years—perhaps, not until the end of the development period. The proposed fees are based on total cost instead of square footage or other method of calculation. Perhaps it would have been better had Government considered that this fee would have been collected prior to the issuing of a Certificate of Occupancy, and that it would have been based on a well established and recognised valuation from a quantity surveyor selected by Government.

When this Bill becomes Law, the possibility exists that all architectural drawings and drafting will go off shore, and all quantity and cost estimating will go off shore. Some legal services may even go overseas, as developers do their contract preparation and review off the island. The cost of this will never be revealed to Government, and all of these local industries will experience a loss in business. There is currently no legal protection for the architecture and drawing profession on the island.

The plan is to also add building permit fees to developers, the scope of which has not yet been dealt with.

I know that many comments have been made about the Council of Associations. I am not here as their advocate, but I recognise that they represent a significant cross-sector of the working population of these islands. Any Member of this Honourable House who ignores that fact is acting in a somewhat naive manner. While we do not have to comply with the bidding of the Chamber of Commerce, or any other group (whether we term them a special interest group or not), I feel that with the understanding that we have been put into this Honourable House by the people of this country, we should start listening if we are not already doing so.

There is often the mistaken view that increased taxes equates with increased revenue. This is a fallacy, as can be seen from the positive results of taxes on Cayman Brac. This was even spoken of by present Ministers of this Government back in 1990 when the Hospital Loan was brought to this Honourable House.

Mr. Speaker, with your indulgence, I would just like to make a quick reference to the Hansards. This is what the present Honourable Minister for Tourism had to say about that. He was then the Financial Secretary. He said: "To give the discussion an air of completeness we must pull the two issues discussed, under the general heading: 'The general economic effects' of the changes in the fee increase. There will be three principle economic effects of the increases in the rates suggested, plus some subsidiary effects" Then he gave them, as follows: "(1) An increased withdrawal of money from the floor of national income into the economy; (2) the fee change multiplier effects; (3) the public spending multiplier effects." Then he said: "Dealing with (1), that is, the possible money withdrawal effects of the fee increase, all forms of measures designed to increase Government revenues represents a withdrawal of money from the 'circular flow' of income in an economy. If the suggested increases fall mainly on private sector business firms, then a larger part of the money earned by these firms from their sales of goods and/or services will not be available to be passed on to the employees as increased wages or salaries or to be used for further business expansion or new investments." It is a pity that that Honourable Member did not use the same reasoning when this Bill was coming to the House.

He continued to say: "If the increases fall mainly on individuals, either directly or indirectly, then a larger part of their earnings received will not be available to pass back to business firms in the form of consumption purchases. This is one of the fundamental reasons that most people tend to be politically, as well as economically averse to most forms of revenue increases."

Mr. Roy Bodden: He was the Financial Secretary....

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: He also says, and this was the Financial Secretary, "The withdrawal of money from the flow of national income through increases in the fee structure will initially reduce the amount of money flowing back and forth from businessmen to individuals... But by how much will national income initially fall as a result of the amount of money withdrawn from the economy via these increases..." is a question. [Hansard 11th July, 1990]

I know that when I am through there will be no problem getting someone to speak. But I felt that I had better make reference to what some of these Members said in the past, before they decide to get up and criticise what I am saying.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Hear, hear!

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: You were in Executive Council in 1990. (Some Members: Laughter.)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: The Members of Executive Council during that period of 1988 to 1992, included me. The Honourable Thomas Jefferson was the Financial Secretary.

The Honourable Truman Bodden, who is now Minister for Education, was a Member of the Backbench at that time. Here is what he had to say: "The Government has mentioned that they had certain options with bringing this tax measure and the options were: 1)

To introduce more efficient systems for collecting existing fees or, 2) Reduce existing or proposed expenditure, or 3) To increase the level of existing fees; or 4) To introduce new revenue measures. I submit the fourth one, at least as far as it impacts on the people new revenue measures, I think this country has exhausted about all of the indirect revenue measures it can do." [Hansard 13th July, 1990]

Mr. Roy Bodden: Read that again.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: That Honourable Minister, who is now piloting the Bill, repeated those words back in 1990. He said: "...this country has exhausted about all of the indirect revenue measures it can...." How he can now bring this Bill—which is going to exacerbate that situation—is beyond me.

I am not finished with him yet. He continued: "So the choice between reducing existing or proposed expenditure, or increasing taxes on existing fees, the Government has chosen to increase the levels of the existing taxes." Just as he is doing now, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Preach, preach!

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: He goes on to say: "I want it to be made abundantly clear that when you are dealing with a tax package of this magnitude [that was for $10 million, Mr. Speaker—and they have already collected some $14 million for this year, and that does not include these impact fees!] He said: "I want it to be made abundantly clear that when you are dealing with a tax package of this magnitude for the Government to totally reject the option of decreasing existing or proposed expenditure has got to be a situation where there is a total disregard for the hurt that this is going to put on the people of the Cayman Islands."

Mr. Speaker, one should not blow hot and cold at the same time.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Tell him!

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: The Minister piloting this Bill was warned about increasing the taxes in this country. Now he is the one proposing it!

Mr. Roy Bodden: Hear, hear!

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Your cheerleader is doing well!

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: He continues to say: "It comes back to the same problem that we have seen throughout, that Executive Council must have its way and it must spend the peoples' money as it wishes and to such an extent as it wishes on projects which we, the Backbenchers [he knew how it felt then, but he's forgotten] say are exorbitant and the money could be better spent doing substantially the same job in a much cheaper way." That was what the Honourable Minister now piloting the Bill said.

Mr. Roy Bodden: The chickens have come home to roost.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I will read a little bit more of what he said, and then I will turn to the rest of my debate. He said: "There is a traditional and accepted principle that Governments during a boom period should save and their spending should be done during the time of a recession."

This is one of the greatest boom periods this country has known, yet they are spending, and spending, and spending, like there is no tomorrow! What are they going to do in a recession? He said: "That makes good sense because in a boom period Government is in a position to reduce and cool off the over-heating in the economy by holding back on its large projects and then when a recession comes, using funds to spend during that period which would assist people that may be unemployed at the time."

We are now dealing with increased taxes in this country, so any reference to the Hansard is in order, regardless of any grumbling I hear in this House.

(Interjections)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: He also said: "Secondly, excessive heavy spending during a boom period is going to have very serious effects on Immigration, the number of work permits, the number of people in this country who are coming in and as I have just pointed out, the number of Caymanians to foreign nationals working in this country is nearly equal." [Hansard 13th July, 1990]

The principle still remains. That has not changed. I would respectfully let anyone who may interrupt me know that if they have not already had a chance to speak, they will.

Mr. Roy Bodden: True, Honourable Member, true.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: As stated earlier, there is often the mistaken view that increased taxes equates to increased revenue—not so! That is not the case.

I also mentioned that Cayman Brac is experiencing a boom. I wish to congratulate the Government...

Mr. Roy Bodden: Don't do too much of that, now.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: ...for the efforts that they have continued...

(An Hon. Minister: Thank you.)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: ...to try and develop Cayman Brac. But I want to remind them that a lot of the infrastructure was already put in place by the 1988 to 1992 Government.

(Some Members: Laughter)

The Speaker: Would this be an opportune time for the luncheon break?

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Proceedings are suspended until 2.15 PM.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 1.02 PM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 2.59 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated. The Third Elected Member for George Town, continuing.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Before the break for lunch, I touched on the advantage of a reduction in fees, and used Cayman Brac as a good example. Since certain fees have been reduced there, it has been reported that the island is doing very well economically.

I was hoping that we would get out of here by 4.30. As you can see, we are just now starting at 3.00, so that is very unlikely. However, if the people speaking after me make it short, we should be able to get out of here by 4.30. (laughter)

The advantages of a reduction in fees in the eastern districts would also have made that an attractive area for new business ventures. It would have encouraged more people to go in there and work, and the residents of those areas would have been able to find employment there. That would have been one advantage. Another major advantage would have been a reduction in the traffic congestion on the roads from the eastern districts. There are many advantages to decreasing revenue, and also reducing expenditure. If consideration had been given to reducing the fees in the eastern districts I believe that major advantages would have accrued to that area.

We do not want to adopt the 'soak-the-rich' attitude. That mentality has destroyed a number of countries in many of our neighbouring Caribbean islands. We saw what happened in the 1980s in the Bahamas; we saw the almost economic demise of Jamaica and other places. We should learn from those experiences.

It is very easy for some of us to get up in this Legislative Assembly and criticise the people who make the wheels of our economy turn. The members of the Council of Associations are such people. We should be very careful when we get in here and totally disregard the input those people make to our economy.

Much of another Bill coming before us could have been dealt with simultaneously with this particular Bill—that is the Stamp Duty (Amendment) Bill. Of course, I cannot debate that now because it is not before the House. Without anticipating the Bill, I wish to say that since it is going to cover much of what is already before us, it would have saved this House much time and effort if the two Bills had been taken at the same time.

What is needed at this point in time is a proper fiscal and economic plan. I am very pleased to hear from the Honourable Financial Secretary that such a plan will be put in place. It will avoid the need to manage (and I know this word is not much liked in this House) by 'crisis'. When the Budget is being prepared there would be proper guidelines telling the people involved—the Financial Department, the Financial Secretary, and others—the parameters within which they are allowed to work. That would take into account both the revenue and the expenditure sides of the Budget. We would not have a situation where tax measures are brought to the House, and then withdrawn, with many weeks wasted while waiting to have them adjusted.

I was criticised for saying that the Government should have consulted with the Council of Associations prior to bringing those measures to the House, rather than having to do it after the fact. I stand by those comments. I do not wish to even make direct reference to where that criticism came from as I do not regard it as important.

There are three proven methods to improve the bottom line: They are (1) to increase your taxes, your revenue; (2) to reduce expenditure; (3) or a combination of both. Many times, especially when the country's resources are stretched, it is prudent to consider whether we should spread that expenditure over a longer period.

I was recently having a look at some correspondence on the Cayman Islands. It was written by The Offshore Business News and Research Group. This is a very widely circulated paper. I was amazed to note that the Cayman Islands is already regarded as the most expensive area to do business in the Caribbean. Increases in taxes like this will only exacerbate that already bad situation. When this article was being written, it was felt that the impact fee would have been withdrawn because it was noted that many developers had already withdrawn their plans for any further development.

It is important that we, as legislators, look at both sides of the coin. It is easy for us to get up in here and pontificate, using a lot of big words; but that does not help the wheels of the economy to turn. We, sitting in here, have very little to give to the economy of this country. It is the people within the Council of Associations, and other places we are criticising, who make the wheels of this economy turn—not the politician who sits in here criticising for the sake of criticism.

Mention was made by the Mover of the Bill that it is necessary to provide funds for, inter alia, the Harquail bypass. I wish that another example had been used for justification, because, in my humble opinion, the Harquail bypass is going to create more confusion than help. I want to see what is going to happen in the evening when traffic is returning on the West Bay Road and everybody is trying to exit onto West Bay Road. Are we going to put a traffic light there? That is not the topic of discussion. I am just making the point that it was a bad example for justification of these increased fees.

Where are we financially? Right now we should be trying to save every penny we can. One good example appeared in an article in the 30th April issue of the Caymanian Compass, captioned, "US Law Change Could Affect Cayman Funds Industry." While I have not yet had an opportunity to discuss this with the Honourable Financial Secretary (I will do so), I am concerned that while things may be nice and rosy now, they may not continue so forever. We have to be very careful about the level of expenditure in this country.

We were also told that the new fee (that is, the infrastructure fee) is different from the impact fee—but we were not told in what respect. My position is that a rose by any other name is still a rose. I believe that the infrastructure fee is just another name for the impact fee.

We need to listen to the public. The public put us in this House to represent them. We may criticise the Chamber of Commerce and the Council of Associations as much as we want, but we should remember that much of what they say is just an echo of what is being expressed by the general public.

Perhaps Government should consider spreading the expenditure. Perhaps they should consider whether or not this Bill should really go forward without further study. I made the point this morning that it is going to be an administrative nightmare. They should consider if it is necessary to rush this Bill through at this point. I know they need the money—and I also know there was no such thing as $60 million profit—but that is no reason why we should pass legislation which could be detrimental to this country. With the 1997 National Budget of some $255 million, each person in this country—a population of 35,000—has a burden of some $7,000 on his shoulders—not to speak of the public debt!

I would admonish each of my fellow legislators to tighten the reins, to cut back on the spending; I ask the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning, to heed the advice he gave to the Government in 1990.

Mr. Speaker, I promised you when I started that I would not be long, because we need to get out of here by 4.30. So, in closing, I will say with all honesty, that if the Government would see fit to reduce the fees on the eastern districts and other areas designated in areas 'B' and 'C', and would also produce a more reasonable and acceptable way of collecting the permit fee, perhaps my position could be different. As the Bill stands at present—even though I accept that the principles and purposes of the Bill are not all that bad—I feel that the scope of this Bill is unacceptable and will only create confusion and hardship to the people of these islands. Therefore, I am unable to support this Bill.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

(3.15 PM)

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I rise to thank the Honourable Mover of this Bill, and his colleagues, for once again illustrating their genuine concern and commitment to jump-starting the economic situation as it particularly relates to Cayman Brac (and, to a lesser extent, Little Cayman) by placing it in the area 'C' category. For the purposes of clarification this will attract the lower spectrum (being .5%) of the construction cost of development on Little Cayman. More significantly, they have exempted the Brac as far as the applicability of this Bill.

I believe that is a wise and prudent investment by the Government, and it will not only have a limited benefit to Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, but, indeed, to the entire Cayman Islands.

This is not an afternoon for testing the tea bag, so I will conclude my comments at this stage.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? (Pause) The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

(3.17 PM)

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I am certainly mindful that we began this process in the very early days of March of this year (that is, dealing with the Budget and revenue enhancement measures); it is also true that we did take quite a considerable amount of time in speaking to members of the private sector, whether they were members of the Hotel and Condo Association, or members of CASE or members of the Restaurant Association, or the Contractors' Association. So, in essence, we listened. It is right for a Government to listen to the views expressed to it by everyone who has something to say about what the Government is proposing.

I must say that in all of the quotations made by the Third Elected Member for George Town, he was never once able to quote that when they raised that $10 million, they discussed it with any of the groups I just mentioned.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Those groups did not exist back then.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town says those groups did not exist back then. I hope those members take notice.

Someone mentioned that we did not have protests. The largest protest demonstration that took place in this country, took place in 1990 when the Third Elected Member for George Town was the Executive Council Member for Agriculture, etcetera, etcetera.

(Laughter and interjections)

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: If they want to continue to interrupt me, I welcome it—I can answer!

I want to say that many people talk about agreeing 'in principle,' then deviate and say that they cannot support the Bill. I wonder what the end principle agreement was? Every organisation in this country should make a contribution to the way of life in this country, to the facilities in this country, to the harmony we have in this country. This is the only Government I know of that is more in line with what they call laissez faire environment—meaning that we have no regulations, really. People can come into this country and buy any piece of land without any restriction; make any profit they can without any restriction, and the Government says, “I don’t want to see how much you made.”

It is a risk they take when they make this investment. But do you know why they make it? Because the economic environment of the Cayman Islands attracted them—and continues to attract them. The political stability in this country is not equalled easily by any organisation or any country in the Caribbean, or any other part of the world.

So, we can quote and make all sorts of references, but the bottom line is that we have a country where just about every person who comes here (whether it is a developer, a casual visitor attracted by the warm weather destination, the infrastructure and the way of life we have in the Cayman Islands) has a general reluctance to leave. If they leave, they come back! Where do you think the largest percentage of return visitors is in the Caribbean? The Cayman Islands—with 40-odd percent! Why is that? Let us not worry too much about what the Opposition says, because they know—and the world knows—that the Cayman Islands’ Government is responsible, fiscally and otherwise. We run (for lack of better words) a good show; and they come here to see the show and to participate and make profits at that show. And we say “Welcome!”

But the Opposition would like us to drop this proposition of establishing an Infrastructural Fund. They would like us to keep going out and borrowing the money, so that they can beat us over the head with two or three mauls, saying, “You are committing the Government,” and, “You’ve gone wild with your spending,” as has been said to some extent by the Third Elected Member for George Town.

But I know about spending too. What he should have answered about was what took place in 1990 and 1991. What he should have answered about, as well, was why he (being the Government) decided to add $10 million taxation—which is taking the money out of the national income, out of circulation, and bringing it into Government—at a time when there was a recession. He needs to answer that economic question. I don’t invite him to answer it now; but let it wash over him and he can try to answer it at some stage.

We have development in this country, and we are asking them to make a contribution to an infrastructure fund which is going to deal with roads—and just about everybody in this country is saying that we have to do something about the roads. We have done a considerable amount over the last four years, but there is a lot more to be done. Now, do you go out and borrow for it, and let the little people (only Caymanians) deal with it? Or are we going to say, “Look, friend, we like your development, we have always tried to be fair, it is time to make a contribution...”? That is what this Bill is about—it is time to make a contribution to the future development of the Cayman Islands as we march into the 21st Century.

I am not worried about the Council of Associations. We are talking about where we are taking this country in the 21st Century. Are we going to stick with the old mode we used to have? The Third Elected Member for George Town keeps saying to us that we did not have any other view about how to develop new revenue. Then, when we come with it, he says he cannot support it. But if we put it on cemetery to cemetery, he would support that. Then at the end of the day, after he makes his strong speech, he says he is not able to support the entire Bill.

I heard the point made about the definition of construction costs. I said to myself, “You know, it’s time to listen again.” So I called the Planning Department and spoke to a relevant person—not the secretary; not the clerical officer; not the executive officer... I spoke to the relevant person—and said, “Let me read this to you, and you give me your reaction.” I read the definition of construction costs. The reaction was (and it was a male), “I think that is a good definition of construction costs.”

Of course, anything you do can be interpreted to be an administrative nightmare, if you want to put that spin on it. But if you are positive about it, every time you put something new in place, you have to work the system; you have to try to find ways to remove the nightmare part of it, if it is there, to make it so that it does not turn off anybody paying the fee.

The Planning Department justifies my saying that they have a way of dealing with these things. They have done it before. They know their business, and they have catered to development for the last 27 or 30 years. They are not in the dark about what we are doing. They were asked, in addition to the Economic Development Section, and the Lands and Survey Department (three people as a team), to put together this proposal; to look at it in depth, and to come back to Government with a recommendation.

I am not going to try to get technical, because I will lose half of my message, but what we are saying is that Seven Mile Beach and particular areas of George Town are designated as area ‘A’. Construction in that area should make a contribution to the Infrastructural Fund (which is being established by this legislation) of 2.5% of the construction cost. I think it is fair to say that usually the selling price of a million dollar condominium has a construction cost somewhere in the range of $.5 million or $500,000. If we look at 2.5% of that—the Third Elected Member for George Town could do this calculation for me because he’s an accountant, but I deem it to be $15,000.

Are we saying that a developer involved with a condominium with a construction cost of $.5 million (which he is going to sell to someone else for $1 million!) is going to be run off by $15,000? Please, I have been around here long enough to know that that is not going to happen.

Not everybody buys a million dollar condominium for $1 million. Suppose the sale price was $300,000. Suppose the cost of constructing this apartment was $200,000. At 2.5%, it would be $5,000. Is that right? I am just trying to make sure that my calculations are right because it is late in the afternoon. I don’t want to mislead the public. Are we saying that a condominium with a construction cost of $200,000—which the developer will sell for about $400,000 or $500,000.... Are we saying that because we are asking him to contribute $5,000 to an Infrastructural Fund (which is ring-fenced and can only be drawn down by the Legislative Assembly or the Finance Committee) he will turn away? Come on!

Every facility, every condominium, every hotel, every restaurant, every commercial property, creates an impact—not only on roads, but on the whole infrastructure of the Cayman Islands. Are we saying that $15,000, or $5,000, is too much for that? Then tell me how we are to cross the threshold into the 21st Century and still have a sound financial position in this country. If you think that is not important to the developer, I ask you to revisit the thought. The way in which this country has been run over the years is one of the key factors for attracting development.

The recession came on in 1991. We came to power in 1992, and what did we find? Three million dollars in general reserves, and that was all there was. Over 1,000 people were registered as unemployed. And we know how Caymanians are—some would not come out and register because they had too much pride, and did not want to say they were unemployed. My colleagues and I are going to take credit for the fact that we took the country out of that position and created an economic boom in this country—the likes of which we have not seen for a very long time, if ever!

Are we now saying that this Government which created that healthy economic position should not in any way benefit from it while leading the people of the Cayman Islands into the 21st Century? so that we do not have to go any borrow more and more money? so that when we want to do something for roads we can take it from this infrastructure fund? If we want to build something for the school in Savannah, or West Bay, or any other district, we could take it from that fund, rather than having to borrow money. It sounds logical to me, Mr. Speaker, to head in this direction.

Yes, we are going to have differences. We are all individuals. We have different opinions. God bless us that we do. But let's look at what the real situation is.

They quoted a lot of things that I said. Even the Third Elected Member for George Town (who I think got the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town to research the piece he was quoting from) 'yellow crayoned' it, if I can use that expression. I found that too. But let me just say (and I am not going to get into explaining multiplier effects or increase of withdrawal of money from national income), is that if you are going to take any money from anybody at all at any point, should you do it like the Third Elected Member for George Town did it when there was a recession and we did not have much money in our pockets? Or, should we do it now when we have money in our pockets? You take it at the time when the economy is buoyant, so that when you get to the recession you still have money to spend and you don't have to come back and tax again. That is a simple economic lesson.

This is not about bashing anybody. I am just trying to get the public to understand what the issue is and where this Government is taking this country as we serve our term, implementing those promises we made to the people of this country. It does not matter if they voted for us or not, we are now responsible for everybody in this country and for the direction we are taking it.

This Bill also gives exclusion. There is no fee for houses under 4,000 square feet. We are trying, in this Bill, to be careful about the smaller person and the amount they would have to pay. Somebody might say that a smaller person should not be building a 4,000 square foot house. That may be, but they are doing it.

Area 'A' is the area of Seven Mile Beach between the cemetery in West Bay and the cemetery in George Town, and the blocks in George Town which are deemed to be commercial. Some of it is on North Church Street, some is on Eastern Avenue. That is not an exhaustive list. Then we have area 'B', North Side and East End. We happen to have within the National Team a Minister from one of those districts, and a lady Member from the other. So, we have taken views on it from within the group and outside of the group. We met on this particular matter on April 17th or 18th, so we have been listening since then.

We have taken views from the Real Estate industry, from CASE, which is the Civil Engineers, Architects, Surveyors and Engineers. We have taken views from representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, we have also taken views from representatives of the Merchants' Association. We got a lot of input. We listened. We changed the earlier proposal which is why we decided to listen in the first place. We would not have listened if we had our minds made up. That is not the way the National Team Government works. We listened to show that we did not have all of the facts, and to hear the other side to see how we could make it work.

But having done all of that, the Government had to take a decision. What we are saying is that in North Side and East End is reduced to 1.5% of construction cost. The public should be mindful that we are not talking about the entire district of North Side, nor the entire district of East End. There are specific areas mentioned in this Law which basically deal with the Queen's Highway (as far as East End is concerned), and in the area of Rum Point and Cayman Kai (in regard to North Side). In all the other areas it is .5%. I believe that we have listened and it is now time to make a decision.

We are not saying that we are 100% right. That is not the point. But there is a need to come to a conclusion about this matter. There are very few things in life where you have all the information you need to make a decision; but I think that we have sufficient information to make an intelligent decision, and for me to say that I support this Bill.

We will put it into implementation and see how it works. We are big, bold and honest enough to come back and change it if we find it is not right. I am sure that the Civil Service, in particular the Planning Department, will do everything within its power to ensure that this piece of legislation would never be labelled with any rubber stamp as an administrative nightmare.

The fund created by this legislation is to be collected by the Planning Department, based on construction cost in the percentages mentioned. To my mind, it is the correct place for it to be collected. As I mentioned earlier, they have been dealing with development planning applications, etcetera, for the past 30 or more years. Not only should they know—they do know what to do, and how to do it.

The objective of this fund is to have sufficient money to avoid Governments of the future always having to borrow money to do capital works. Yes, there will be a need to do some borrowing in the future, but this fund reduces that need. Certainly, everybody who is doing business in the way described by this Bill, has, in my view, an obligation to make a contribution to the good Government of the Cayman Islands; the smooth traffic-flow in the Cayman Islands; the good quality of hospital services in the Cayman Islands; the good educational system; and the safety and law and order in this country.

I have no difficulty in supporting this Bill.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for West Bay.

(3.49 PM)

Mr. D. Dalmain Ebanks: I want to make a little contribution to this debate. I find this Bill very appropriate. I feel it should have been done before, but you can never get everything done at one time. The world probably could have been built in one day by the Great Supreme Being, but He decided to teach us a lesson.

I have to support the way this Bill is put, as I feel it will be helpful to the country. The developers and business people do not come here out of their love for the Cayman Islands, but for what they can make from it. Some have good feelings for it, but they are here to make money. I feel that anybody who comes to our country, and makes the kind of money they do, should be quite happy to contribute something to the Government to help us run this country—off which they are making a great living.

There is one thing that I wish this Government would do, and that is, stand firm on their decision. Try this, and if it does not work, then change it; but let's give it a try and not just throw it out. They are holding a hatchet over the Government's head—if you do this or that, they will withdraw. They will not withdraw from here. Those people come here because this is the best of any island. The Cayman Islands offers them things they can get in no other island.

I will name a few things: It's tax free; income-tax free; almost crime free... you name it! The greatest thing that can happen to them has happened to their money here in the Cayman Islands. They can work for that money and walk out of the country with all of it. There is no other country in the world where they can do that. And they are going to leave all this for a measly $500,000 (or whatever amount of dollars) when they are making millions? No way!

I give this Bill my support.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

(3.53 PM)

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I rise to lend my support to this piece of legislation which attempts to bring the planning fees in line. I was told that Government subsidises the Planning Department to the tune of about 50% to 70%. In other words, they do not make enough in that department to even cover the cost of the services, as far as labour and salaries, etcetera.

I am reminded of a little story I heard many years ago about a young boy, an old man and a donkey. The old man was leading the donkey and the boy was riding it. They came across someone who said, "That's not fair. Why should he ride and you walk, when he is so much younger than you are?" So they changed places, with the old man riding the donkey and the young boy leading it. They met someone else who said, "You should be ashamed of yourself. You're riding and the boy is walking? Do you know what you two should be doing? You should be carrying the donkey!" At the end of the day, they all fell into a river. Why? Because they attempted to listen to everybody who had something to say.

I am a firm believer in being fair. I believe that the National Team Government cannot be accused of being unfair. We have demonstrated over our four years in office that we also have a genuine concern about the average Caymanian. In everything we do, we take into consideration the effect it will have on the average Caymanian. We did that with this piece of legislation also.

I read the papers too, and never have I seen any gesture on the part of the Council of Associations (which now has so much power) to reduce their fees, or the cost of liquor, or architectural fees, or other services they provide. They continue to charge whatever they want. At the end of the day, Government provides the services we all demand, while they make no contribution whatsoever.

It has been mentioned by previous speakers that the Cayman Islands offers a special environment. I have travelled widely, and I can say that I have never seen any other jurisdiction comparable to the Cayman Islands—not one! I was listening to the political 'pandering' of the Third Elected Member for George Town as he attempted to justify why Government should not consider this. Anybody who has the money to pay a million dollars for a condominium should not think twice about throwing $15,000 into the kitty to be used to provide the services we all need in this country.

It is a fact that most people who visit the Cayman Islands are totally amazed, and immediately fall in love with the kind of environment and atmosphere we have in this country. We have political stability, we have social and racial stability, and we have financial stability. Many years ago the Government took a decision to repeal the exchange control regulations, meaning that if someone comes here and makes a prudent investment, then gets a good return on it, the Government says "God bless you," and you walk out with your million dollars.

Can we continue as a Government, in all good conscience, to be too afraid to say to the investor "You can keep $900,000, rather than $1 million on your investment," (because he might move somewhere else), and continue to tax the little man on the street to support Government's annual budget? I think that is very unfair. I believe, with all due respect, that the foreign investor comes in here for one reason—to make money. He also comes because he is convinced that this is a stable environment. I do not believe that the average person coming into this country would have a problem with making a contribution to ensure that the atmosphere and environment we have here continues. But, like anything else, if we don't ask, they will not contribute. Why should they?

Being a representative of the people is not an easy job. It is a position where sometimes unpopular decisions have to be made because we believe that it is for the good of the country as a whole. I believe that the National Team Government has bent over backwards trying to listen to everyone, trying to accommodate whatever concerns were expressed. We took those into consideration and we made adjustments. I do not believe, as the Third Elected Member for George Town tried to accuse, that we did not give people enough time to study the proposals. I think they had more than enough time. I believe it is time for us to now get on with the job; put the legislation in place and let us start collecting some money to provide the services we all need and demand in this country—good roads, good hospitals, good schools, and a society which continues to enjoy social harmony.

I give this legislation my full support.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? (Pause) If not, does the Mover wish to exercise his right of reply? The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

(4.04 PM)

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Up until two hours ago, this was a fairly non politically-inflamed Chamber. I must reply to certain areas which have been raised relating to this Bill.

First of all, this Bill's definition of 'construction costs' is precise. It states very clearly what is included in 'construction costs.' The attempt by the Third Elected Member for George Town to say that this is not precise, or not workable, means that perhaps it is not clear to him. But if he takes his time and reads it, he will see that the definition is very precise. The reason for objecting to this is not because it is imprecise, but because it has certain fees which that Member feels should not be included.

In this country we have clear interest groups. Many times they do not wish to have anything done that will affect them. But what this House has to consider is the overall good for the islands. The reason why 'construction cost' has been put in this is because the 'little man' (to use the words well coined by the Third Elected Member for George Town) who is building a 1,000 square foot condominium (I should say the 'little investor' rather than 'little man') in East End or North Side, that costs $100,000... that same square footage would cost $1 million to build on the Seven Mile Beach area. The people buying the million dollar condominium will pay ten times more than the person buying the $100,000 condominium. It is very clear.

What has been suggested by the Third Elected Member for George Town would make it easier for people buying the larger, more expensive condominiums, but would hurt smaller investors buying smaller condominiums. Therefore, the economics of that cannot be right. The Planning Department has no problem dealing with the definition of this. I believe the reason why the Opposition opposes this is because they know that it will bring in substantially higher amounts of money that will go towards roads and the Infrastructure Fund than if it were put only on the square footage. The logic is clear in that respect, you can have varying amounts.

This Bill does not affect houses under 4,000 square feet, therefore it does not affect the average person, and the vast majority of persons in the Cayman Islands. But, listening to the Third Elected Member for George Town saying that he agrees with the principles of this, but disagrees with the Bill, is, surely, a hot and cold situation. He cannot have his cake and eat it too. The Honourable Member is either with the Bill and the people of the Cayman Islands, or he is not with it. He is not with the principle of the Bill because if you oppose the principle, you oppose the Bill. You cannot vote against the Bill and then say you agree with it. The people out there are not that stupid to believe that sort of rationale.

The amounts put in this in relation to area 'A' (which is the Seven Mile Beach and commercial George Town), of 2.5%, as the Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport quite clearly pointed out, is very small. The amount in the Cayman Kai area and Queen's Highway area between the Queen's Highway and the sea, is smaller still, and the rest of the islands, excluding Cayman Brac, is just .5%. A building costing $500,000, will have a $2,500 fee paid to the Infrastructure Fund in area 'C'.

The person who wishes to oppose can always find reasons for it. But when we look at those reasons we can see what is authentic and what is not. A statement made by the Third Elected Member for George Town, that the Financial Secretary can vary amounts in the Bill from time to time, and that it could be two or three times more, is totally unfounded. I do not know where in the world he got that from. There is no power in this Bill for the Financial Secretary to vary the amounts in this Bill. They are fixed: area 'A' is 2.5%, area 'B' is 1.5% and area 'C' is .5%. I do not need to deal with that any more other than to say the Bill...

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: May I hear the point of order Third Elected Member for George Town?

POINT OF ORDER

(Misleading)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: The Honourable Member is, perhaps inadvertently, misleading the House. What I said was what I read from Part V(A) of the new section that has been brought under the Planning (Amendment) Law. It reads: “The funds shall be administered in accordance with the directions issued by the Financial Secretary from time to time...” That is exactly what I read, Mr. Speaker, and that is in the Amendment.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: That is quite correct, but what the Honourable Member has interpreted that to mean is not correct. With respect, this is the fund, this is money, the 2.5%, the 1.5% and the .5%, that is put in the fund... the expenditure of that on roads is under the Financial Secretary. It has nothing to do with the raising of money. The point that I have taken, and I am right on that point, is that the Financial Secretary has no power to vary the percentages and the raising of funds under this Law. I am very happy to sit down at any time and have the Third Elected Member for George Town show that to me, because that is what the Honourable Member said.

Now, he may be confused, but I can assure this Honourable House that the Financial Secretary has no power to vary the percentages and raising of money under this Bill.

What he precisely said was, “Without the Legislative Assembly the Financial Secretary can double or triple fees.”

The Speaker: Would the Third Elected Member for George Town agree that it says “the fund...” that he will be administering the “fund”?

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I agree to exactly what I read which was, as I said earlier, in part (2) “The fund shall be administered in accordance with the directions issued by the Financial Secretary from time to time and shall consist of monies received under section 4.” Section 4 has to do with the collection of the fees on these developments. That is precisely what it was, and I went on to say this could give him carte blanche (something to that effect) where he could double it or triple it. I am sure that this was not the intention. That is my view.

I also said, knowing the Financial Secretary as I do, that I am sure that with his integrity and honesty we have nothing to fear. If you check the Hansards you will see that was near to what I said when I was speaking.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: We do not differ on what the Honourable Member has said; it is that his interpretation is totally wrong. The Financial Secretary cannot, as he said (and I wrote it down, and we can get the verbatim if you wish), vary amounts in the Bill from time to time without the Legislative Assembly. He cannot double or triple or vary fees.

This does not relate to the fees. It relates only to the fund after the fees are collected. I am saying that the Legislative process here has produced a precise Bill which cannot be varied as to the raising of the fees by the Financial Secretary. That is the legal position.

The Speaker: I must agree with the Honourable Minister for Education. This is the responsibility of this Honourable House, not the Financial Secretary.

Please continue.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The other area I would like to address is the area in relation to the question of notice in relation to meetings. The discussion on the fees has been going on for about the last six weeks. This was one of the initial areas dealt with at the first round of negotiations, and throughout several negotiations from time to time. But the Members of the Legislative Assembly and the Council of Associations reached a sticking point on this area and it was basically ring-fenced and set aside and then dealt with through a series of a further two meetings on this area of the Planning fees only.

All Members should have been given notice of that, but if the Third Elected Member for George Town was really so interested in meeting with the Council, even if the notice was late... since it was such an important matter to him, I would have thought that he would have made a bit of time and come into the meetings. The other Backbenchers came into the meetings. The principle here is that all the Members of the Legislative Assembly had an invitation—not just the Government, and the Government Backbenchers—to meet with the Council of Associations. I think that democratic principle is very important and should not be derogated from with lame excuses.

I believe that many of us spent time far beyond when we could have been doing other things, but we put in very long hours meeting with the Council, listening to their views, weighing that and trying to find a solution to this problem. But the Council realises, as they stated, that, in fairness, we can listen and negotiate. We compromised in a vast amount of things in different areas, and this is the first time that a Government has sat down on the issue of raising import duties and revenue measures with the Council and actually tried to work out a compromise. I think in the end we were able to accept the vast majority of what was put forward, but this was one area where we had to do what we thought was in the best interest of the country.

The Third Elected Member for George Town made reference that there is no legal protection for local architects in the Cayman Islands, giving them a monopoly (presumably) on doing work locally. There is no monopoly in the other professions to do this. Opinions in law can be done overseas; people here get opinions from counsel overseas; accountants have to deal with people in overseas offices. The place to actually address this issue is not in a fiscal Bill such as this, or not in a Development and Planning Law. If it has to be addressed, we have Select Committee meetings of the Legislative Assembly on Trade and Business and Immigration. These matters can be raised there. Perhaps even more appropriately it can be dealt with in a Bill that relates to architects and quantity surveyors, whatever, within that category of the profession. I believe bringing this in will cloud the issue at this stage. In any event, I know that the issue will come up in the Trade and Business (Licensing) Select Committee.

The reference to having to pay these fees up front and the fact that some of the fees may not be known is a matter that really does not affect the precision of the construction costs, as defined. They are clearly defined. The money for collection had to be looked at either before construction or at the completion. The easiest way to get the money is at the time when construction begins, because at the end of the project the developer may not have the money to pay Government. We know that what happens many times, is that the Government ends up as the one not paid.

But I want to make clear that the time of collecting this is different from the time that the Planning fees are collected. There are three stages: There are the Planning fees right at the beginning when you get a plan approved; then there is a period after which the developers say they wish to start construction; then the letter is given at that stage to move on with the construction. That is the time that these fees have to be submitted and become payable. After that, the construction moves on. At the end comes the Certificate of Occupancy which would apply to developments, not to Caymanians moving into their homes.

The choice was when to collect it. We felt it would not be fair to collect it when the Planning fees were taken right at the beginning. If someone decides not to go on with the project, it would not affect them. But the vast majority of people who apply for a building permit prior to construction are obviously in a position to go on. I do not think that collecting the fees at the end of the project would be wise.

I would like to move into an area that was dealt with in some depth by the Third Elected Member for George Town, about 1990 and the bad old recession days, and the hardships that the public suffered during those hard years.

Mr. Speaker, I was just wondering if the House will sit beyond 4.30 or not, before I embark upon another subject?

The Speaker: I am in your hands. What is the wish of the House?

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Speaker, perhaps we could get through if we went on to maybe 5 o'clock or 5.30 this evening without taking a break. There is another short Bill coming before the House.

The Speaker: And a Motion.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I would be prepared to stay until 6 o'clock.

The Speaker: I am not optimistic that we can finish, but I am certainly willing to continue on.
What is the wish of the House?

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Mr. Speaker, I, too, vote that we go on.

The Speaker: I need a motion to continue beyond 4.30.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 10(2)

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I move the suspension of Standing Order 10(2) to enable the House to continue beyond 4.30 PM, or until you decide to call an adjournment.

The Speaker: Would Members want to set a time?

Mr. Roy Bodden: Monday at 10.00 AM, sir.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Mr. Speaker, I would suggest at least until 6 o'clock PM.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak?

Mr. D. Dalmain Ebanks: Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I do not truthfully think we all know how long the other Bill might take. I suspect strongly that we will not be able to finish this evening. What I suggest is that we complete the Bill being dealt with, and at the end of that we close off for the day.

There may be some problem with Monday, but that is for the Government Bench to decide. My suggestion is for the Mover of the Motion to complete his winding up and maybe deal with it at Committee stage and then close off for the day.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I am happy to do whatever the majority wants, however, I do not wish to deprive any Member of the right to speak. I can go on as long as you wish.

The Speaker: I will put two questions. First, that the House do continue until 6.00 PM. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES and NOES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED: STANDING ORDER 10(2) SUSPENDED. HOUSE TO CONTINUE UNTIL 6.00 PM.

The Speaker: The other question is that we continue until we finish all the work on the Order Paper.

Maybe I should put it this way. The First Elected Member for George Town suggested that we complete deliberations on this Bill then adjourn at that time. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

Nobody for, or against?

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Speaker, it seems that we are totally confused here. I suggest that whoever needs to, move a motion to adjourn until Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

The Speaker: The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Mr. Speaker, I think you have put the question whether we continue until 6 o'clock, and that was carried by the Ayes. Therefore, I think we should continue until then.

The Speaker: Since that was the wish of the House, we will continue. Please continue Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Boddan: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I will speed up considerably.

Going back to the recession days of 1990, when this country saw its worse economic situation, the Third Elected Member for George Town was then the Executive Council Member for Agriculture, Communications and Works. This small increase in revenues is peanuts compared to the problems that existed in 1990. In the middle of the worst economic recession this country has ever seen, that Government imposed $10 million in taxes, and the following year they imposed a further $10 million, which meant $20 million in the second year.

Worse than that, the Government refused to discuss the matter with the Chamber of Commerce, the Council of Associations, or anyone else. This erupted in the worst demonstration this country has ever seen. On Tuesday, 17th July, 1990, the Caymanian Compass reported that "a demonstration of between 600 to 700 residents marched through downtown George Town on Friday afternoon, supporting a petition against Government's move to add Official Members to Finance Committee." The largest single demonstration, with demonstrators stretched out over nearly a mile. A petition signed by 2,780 was presented against the Government, of which the Third Elected Member for George Town was then a Member.

That Member's track record relating to import duties and taxes and revenue measures... and, indeed, the Government of that day saw the single largest uprising this country has ever had. The reason was the harshness of the imposition of the taxes and the refusal of the Government to meet with the people. It was reported in the same issue of the Caymanian Compass that the number of persons signing the petition (2,780) represented 59.41% of the persons who were contacted to sign it. The vast majority of the public had actually petitioned against the Government which had very rigidly refused to amend—they railroaded—the taxes, which pushed this country into a further recession.

Because I would like to get this cleared up without going into other areas (I'll save that in case we come back on Monday), I do not think that this country will ever forget the demonstrations. There was not just one. I am referring to the large one, and it was extremely large, when the petition was presented to the Governor against the Government. Actually, the petition called for the Government to step down because they had lost a majority of Elected Members in the House.

The only other area that I would like to mention is that back in 1991 the issue was the Master Ground Transportation Plan. Despite the criticism of the Harquail bypass by the Third Elected Member for George Town, it runs substantially where the Master Ground Transportation Plan (MGTP) had put it. The difference is, instead of $200 million (which would have wrecked this country because that specific road would have been 120 feet with double lanes and a corridor in the middle), we have put in a sensible and reasonable size road with two lanes and a reserve which can be extended to four. If it is not good now, it must have been no good then. So, the Honourable Third Elected Member for George Town is blowing hot and cold.

Perhaps Members may wish to ensure that they are in a position to vote fairly shortly. The country is now in an economic boom—the best it has ever been in. We have also seen and heard that if revenue measures such as this have to be raised, the best time to do it is in a boom period so that reserves can be built up. A recession is a time to spend, but definitely not a time to put taxes upon the people of the country. So we are definitely not doing what the Government of 1990 - 1991 did—put relentless and cruel taxes on the people of this country in the middle of an economic recession.

I ask Members to support this Bill. Those Members who said they support it in principle, should be men enough to put their votes where their principles lie.

The Speaker: The question is that the Development and Planning (Amendment) Bill, 1997, be given a second reading. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

time span. Let us further assume that the annualised expenditure will amount to $3 million—$1 million from local revenue, and $2 million from loans over the period. Instead of the relevant information being set out at a single point in the Estimates, it will be broken down to show $1 million being financed by local revenue in one section of the Estimates, and $2 million be financed by loans in another section. Unless a Member of this House is very familiar with the Estimate document, it could be easily missed that the sum of $3 million had been provided. Simplicity leads to greater clarity, and greater clarity will inevitably lead to greater efficiency.

The setting up of the segregated account will enable Government to better allocate its revenue, not only in determining what percentage will go towards capital development, or the Infrastructure Development Fund account, but also what percentage allocation should be made toward General Reserves and Recurrent and Statutory Expenditure. As one Member pointed out, this Bill is closely linked with the one presented by the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning, that the two of them could have been taken together. But, for the information I have just outlined, I thought it would be very useful to be presented in this order.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill for a Law to Amend the Stamp Duty Law (1995 Revision) be given a second reading. The motion is open for debate.

The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: The position of the Government at this time reminds me of that of Madame Bovary in the celebrated French author's story of the same name. The National Team has lost its innocence. In their Manifesto of 1992 and of 1996, they boasted that they had reduced the stamp duty. This boast is no longer applicable with the introduction of this Bill. But more significantly, I am puzzled by the seeming urgency to raise what I consider a small sum ($1.8 million) at a time when this will so unsettle the already muddy waters.

In taking my position it is necessary for me to make a statement: I have never been one to sit around in the grey area occupied by timid minds and feeble souls. Anyone who knows my performance since coming to this Parliament, will know—and the Hansards will bear me out—that I, sometimes against overwhelming odds, stood up as a lone wolf and expressed my opinion. I reserve that right, and that is what my constituents expect me to do when I see and believe that something is not in the long-term best interest of this country.

This is a House of democracy and debate. Any Member can take any position he or she wishes to take. While I might not agree with that position, I certainly agree with giving them the right to take that position. So, let me say that I resent, in the most stringent terms, anyone casting aspersions on the position I take. Each man has to give an account for his own actions. The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town is quite prepared to give account for his when called upon to do so. The fact that I have been returned three times should serve to show the unknowing and stupid that my constituents must see some merit in my performance here. Those who care to express their differences in such a contemptuous way better prepare themselves for when they have to render an account and put their records on the line.

Enough said on that!

I almost feel sorry for the National Team Government having to resort to this position. It was a Government which (even though I hold substantial differences with some of their ideas) held out such great promise regarding the management of the country. Now, to come and introduce this kind of piecemeal legislation, with seemingly reckless disregard for the opinions of those people who claim that they are concerned because it is going to affect development, is a matter which should give us great concern.

I agree that the development of this country should be a partnership between those who have money and those who provide services—be those services labour or otherwise. But, we cannot afford to disregard any one element when it complains.

In the past, I have expressed my concern about these kinds of things. I shall continue to do so, because I have always called for a system of development where we take a long-term approach; where we can see certain things and plan and organise so that they will have minimal effect. I take this opportunity to again make the point that we need some kind of development strategy, because it has to be a two way street.

The evening is approaching, and I do not need to be long-winded. I have stated my concerns and I hope that the Government is sufficiently flexible that they can take them under consideration.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak?

The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I will not be long-winded, nor do I believe that just by speaking I will be able to effect the changes in this country I feel need to be effected, and that I think are at least being assisted by this Bill.

I am happy that I sit, as Fourth Elected Member for George Town, as an independent candidate. I do not have to see-saw with legislation which I consider to be for the good of this country. I believe that the legislation to create an Infrastructure Fee in certain areas which are highly dense and developed, and also the legislation to increase the stamp duties in these areas, are two pieces of legislation which go together, and are correct in principle. If something is correct in principle, it means that I must at least compliment those responsible for the creation of those principles.

I am very happy that I did win a seat at the last General Election. I am not sure that I will win a seat in the next General Election, but I can assure Members of this House that if I fail to win a seat, it will not be because I failed to be honest. I am not here trying to secure any other future more important than the future of the people of these islands. I believe that it is time for the burden of indirect taxation to be switched away from the little man, or the poor person, towards the richer people who can afford it—those people who are amassing profits in this country as a result of the environment which God has given to all of us to share and care for.

There comes a time when we must say that some type of re-distribution of the rewards and fruits of the prosperity of this country must be attempted. It cannot be attempted if we continue to put indirect taxation on import duties in this country without concern for the little man.

We know that Government must have revenue, yet the Members of the Opposition come with no suggestion as to how Government might be able to raise revenue to improve the quality of life for the average people of this country today. Hypocrisy was the downfall of members of the Opposition in the last General Election, and hypocrisy will be their downfall in the next General Election. If I fall at the polls, it will not be because I did not speak in the name of the average person.

I do not mean to insult the rich, but I do mean to tell them that they must pay their share of the burden of this country. We read today that the prisons are overcrowded. We must be responsible for raising revenue from the local people to pay for the incarceration of our own people who are mainly in prison because of the rapid development in this country over the last 30 years. For 30 years we have had rapid development with no consideration to the needs for the development of an infrastructure.

Today the Opposition Members are telling the Government that raising over $1 million is not worth it. The Council of Associations is saying that to raise $800,000 will create bureaucratic nightmares. Well, the nightmare will only be created if the people who are supposed to cooperate, do not cooperate with the process.

Anyone can break the Law, but if they want to cooperate, they will find that what the Government is doing at this particular time is to pay for the infrastructural development of this country—and that is not just a question of roads, that is a question of drug rehabilitation, and teaching people skills to work. We are talking about the fact that the average Caymanian is saying that the country has developed too fast, yet we do not want to create legislation to limit that development. Nobody is suggesting that, but there is no reason why, when the fruit is so plentiful that we should not be asking for more.

The stamp duty was reduced before because of recession. There is no reason why it should not now be increased. It has been said that if we go to a tree and there is fruit on it, we pick it; we collect it and save it. The fact that the Government is collecting revenue does not mean that the Government must spend the money that is being collected. We need to also collect for the rainy days.

It is quite obvious to me that Members of the Opposition are not wanting to take a side. A debate has to do with taking sides. We can explain the merits of the Bill, while at the same time be saying "I understand that it is right in principle. I can understand that, in principle, if I were in your position I would be doing it, but I cannot agree with it because you are doing it." I agree with and support this legislation because in principle the legislation is correct. If I were in that position, I would be doing it. Therefore, although I am not a Member of the National Team, and I am not one of their Backbenchers—I am here as an independent candidate supporting the interests of the people—I will go along with the National Team, as long as I believe that what they are bringing here is sound.

I say that I especially trust the Financial Secretary. I do not believe that he is trying to take our ship aground. I do believe that the Council of Associations represents an interest group, because they do not come down where I live to listen to what the people have to say there. They do not come here to tell me anything about what these people have to say. There is more to this country than the interest of a few architects or surveyors.

We have not had any developers come down here. We have people who want to preserve their profit margin. I have nothing against people making a profit; but just like the people who work in the hotels for less than $4 per hour—we do not have anyone coming down here agitating for a better living wage for these people. Why are we having Members of the Opposition labour so hard to support the demand for the extension of greed?

We always hear them talking about the rich, while at the same time saying they support the average person—the little man. But they live like the rich; they drive the cars of the rich; they live in the houses that the rich live in; they go to the restaurants the rich go to. So, in principle, they are rich! They are here in this Parliament to protect the interests of the rich, and not the interests of the little people.

Anybody who is here to protect the interest of the little people can see clearly that what the Government is attempting to do is to collect the revenues necessary to see that people can live a standard of living. We do not want to create the 'haves' and the 'have-nots' in this country.

But it was not the fact that Government tried to bully the rich that caused the problems in Jamaica and other places. They were caused because there was never any real concern for the poorer person; there was no representation of the poorer person. There was a pretence, because when election time comes the candidates go around talking about housing. But how can we improve housing if we cannot improve on the revenue-raising measures? How are we going to have houses for the little man when we cannot raise money?

The Speaker: Honourable Member, could I ask you to please return to the Bill?

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Speaker, I believe that I am talking about the Bill because the Bill is seeking to raise money. I am talking about why we are seeking to raise money. All of these things are inter-related.

Somehow I feel that we need to convince the public that these measures have merit, and that the Opposition's attempt to discredit these measures is based upon their playing politics with our country—getting in gear for the next election, rather than getting in gear to see how we can solve the problems of housing, crime, delinquency and unqualified people; how we can solve the problems of single mothers in this country.

All of these things are caused by the rapid economic development and lack of any kind of sociological concept in terms of planning, because we continue to see planning and infrastructure as having to do with roads and nothing to do with brains. Infrastructure has to do with brains as well as with roads. We need to improve the brains; therefore we need to spend more money on schools. That is why we need more money.

You cannot say that you are on the side of the 'little man,' and then be against what can improve conditions for him. How can you be for him? You are only paying him lip service because you hope he will vote for you. But you will not vote for the things he needs. The Government is the people. The 15 people here are not collecting this revenue for their pockets—they are collecting it for the majority of the people. Although a minority of the people might disagree, I say it is correct and late in being collected. Thank God that it is now being collected. I just hope that it will be spent properly. For the next four years I will be here to see that it is. If it is not, then I will talk about it. Until then I support these measures.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? If not, does the Honourable Mover.... The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The Bill that we are supposed to be debating here is entitled, A Bill for a Law to Amend the Stamp Duty Law (1995 Revision). It basically seeks to "...amend the Schedule of the Stamp Duty Law (1995 Revision) to provide that conveyances or transfers of immovable property in certain specified registration sections, blocks and parcels shall be subject to 9% stamp duty."

Unfortunately for us, other issues have come to light in the debate. I trust that whatever I say this evening (which might refer to anything else which has been said before) will be allowed—simply because I would not be speaking on what was said had what was said not been allowed. I do promise to debate the 9%.

I have been drawn into what I suspect was an individual situation by what the last speaker said. Because I know better, I will not allow myself to get lost in it, but there are a few things that I think need to be said.

I am termed loosely by others as a Member of the Opposition. I listened to the Fourth Elected Member for George Town paving his way through his discourse, and I saw myself in the recent past. But what I wish to make very clear is that while I may be termed "Opposition" within this House, my style, my thoughts, my intentions and my will have not changed. If we come to a point in time when we are debating an issue and it is my belief that I need to take a position given the consensus of the people I talk to, I will do that. That is exactly how the Government operates on a daily basis. That cannot be denied.

Because we have beliefs, thoughts and good wishes for the people of this country, sooner or later we have to also accept what is real. So, now we come to the 9%. In moving the Motion, the Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development discussed the fact that based on the recent past performance with such transfers in the areas designated, that approximately $1.8 million should be raised. That $1.8 million is estimated to be the 1.5% difference between what is now and what will be upon the passage of this Bill.

If one wishes to take it very lightly, one can say that what that represents, spread over X number of transactions, might not be something scary. I believe that is how the idea is wished to be viewed. But, we have just finished talking about some other increases. I believe consideration has to be made as to whether or not (although you are shifting where the money is being paid from), when the whole scheme of things is put together, it does not make it a bit cumbersome all coming at one time.

Someone mentioned earlier about taking a position. Let me say that when it comes to taking a position, I believe it is right to assess the pros and the cons. Something else was also mentioned. I pray to God that the thought was not meant for me. In fact, I don't even know if I should talk about it. Anyway... this thing about taking positions... I believe it is important for each and every one of us here to be able to deliberate on one side and the other to ensure that whoever talks about whatever issue is at hand has the ability to grasp from the other enough of a perspective to make sure that the final decision is a sound one.

Where others might, I certainly do not have a problem talking about both sides of a situation and listening to both sides of a situation because I believe that it helps me make my final decision.

I just said that I am not sure whether the entire package, as seen now, is one which is going to have any negative effects or not. All the facts which have been laid out need to be brought into one picture because the previous Bill, which dealt with the 2.5%, the 1.5% and the .5% in the sections lettered 'A', 'B' and 'C', affects the developer of the properties. There is also a part of the other Bill dealing with building permit fees which also affects the developer. This Bill before us now deals with the person purchasing the property. But we have to bear in mind that although the money is coming from the purchaser, this also can affect the developer. In principle, as I said when I discussed the other Bill, I acknowledge that we have to help pay for our existence. I have no problem with that basic principle. There are few in my district who I do not know. I do not care where they come from, or what they do. Anyone who is misled to conclude that I have any hidden agenda is sadly mistaken. When I stand here trying to come to grips with the Bill before us, let no one misunderstand...

The Speaker: Honourable Member, would you just pause for a minute while they change the tape?

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Yes.

MASTER TAPE CHANGED

The Speaker: Please continue.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Just before the pause, I was trying to make sure a few things were very clear. I had time to think, so let me put it in another way so that it is clearly understood.

I did not come here to deal with showmanship, or one-upmanship or anything of that nature. I am here simply because of what I believe. If that is not good enough, then I (or those who put me here) will know what to do. There is a need for us to understand that we do not have to be at each other to accomplish something. Maybe in time we may all learn to be just a little bit more sensitive, and maybe we will not have to fly off the handle. Maybe we can stick to the issues and not get side-tracked. Because I am the one doing the preaching right now, I will try to prove that point.

This Bill is one that paints the entire picture of three different areas where the same situation is being taxed. I am not sure whether we should go that far. Let that not be construed for what is commonly termed 'waffling.' Let it not be understood to mean that I cannot take a position. Let it simply be understood that I am concerned, because I want us to do the right thing.

It is obvious, since the Government has brought these Bills, that they believe it is the right thing. I have heard both Motions. While I understand exactly what the intent is, and concur with the it, the question that remains in my mind is: Are we sure that the intent will be achieved, or do we run a certain risk with the results not being as good as we anticipate them to be, because some people might have a problem going as far with their investments as they had without these measures.

If we are fair to the situation, that can be the only concern that matters as to whether or not we should do it. It is not a question of the intent. It is a question of the results.

I can be talked about forever after this, but my position—and I have listened, and I have tried to come to grips with it myself, and put myself in the position to see how it would feel, and see what the reaction would be—but I am unable (in two days) to come to grips with the fact that there might not be any problems. I have no doubt that the Bill will pass. It is obvious from the way the debate is going that it will pass. But, because I am not sure, I am not going to support the Bill. In fact, because I know it is going to pass (and maybe just to be talked about) I am not going to support it. Again, I understand all of it, but I am not sure that the intent will be achieved when this is all over; and because that is my position, I will not be supporting the Bill.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? (Pause)

If not, would the Mover wish to reply? The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I would like to thank Members for their support. The First Elected Member for George Town said it would be useful to bring together the sum that will be raised from the revenue enhancement measures that have been discussed. Although we have not yet dealt with the Government Motion dealing with the Building Permit fees, what is envisaged from the proposed enhancements will realise an incremental revenue of $1.2 million. This is what has been estimated.

When this is added to the $.8 million that will be going towards the contribution to the Infrastructure Development Fund this brings it up to a value of $2 million. I pointed out earlier in the second reading of the Stamp Duty Bill, that it was envisaged that $1.8 million would be raised. This brings the value of the revenue measures up to a sum of $3.8 million.

The only amount out of this remaining unrestricted will be the $1.2 million under the Building Permit fees because that will be going into General Revenue in order to defray the operating cost of the Department. The remainder of the money will be ring-fenced. As I pointed out, this will be going into the Infrastructure Development Fund account.

Consistent with that, we are looking at Budget reforms for 1998. It is now being considered by the Government to establish a Capital Development Fund. I pointed out that we want to stream line the budgetary process, especially that dealing with the capital section. You have to look in two places within the Estimates, and these points are not easily cross-referenced so that users of the document (MLAs) can see at a glance what is happening. I think it will be useful, if the Government is going to undertake the construction of, let's say, a school facility for $9 million commencing in 1997, that there should be an historical picture following the project from conception to conclusion. So, when we start in 1997, and if there are variations in 1998 resulting in increases or decreases, all of that information will be set out as a part of the project document. When we get to 1999, when the project should conclude, and come back to this Honourable House, Members will see all of the relevant information in connection with that project in one glance.

For example, the capital development to be undertaken by the Government in a given year amounts to $40 million, with $29 million coming from local revenue, and $11 million from loans. I do not think there is a need to separate the projects for expediency, I think it is necessary to keep everything together. Then we can look in terms of what resources are available, and information can be set out with such clarity to show what portion of the funding will be coming from what sector—whether it is local revenue or borrowings, etcetera. It is hoped that everything will be going into the Infrastructure Development Fund Account.

When a given percentage of revenue is earmarked, for example $200 million, and the Government decides to contribute 10% of that (which amounts to $20 million), if the value of projects to be undertaken in any given year is less than the $20 million, that fund will continue to have a balance because it is a segregated account. So, in the streamlining of the Budgetary process, there are many variables being looked at.

We know the present cash system has certain deficiencies. We are hoping that the consultant who will be assisting with the Budgetary reform will arrive next week. What we really need to arrive at is a modified accrual basis. I think we should spend, based on what we have. But at the end of a given year it is necessary for the Government to assess the liabilities in terms of what obligations are outstanding, and revenues to be collected.

Using an accrual accounting system, let us say the Government's revenue-earning potential in a given year is $200 million, but $180 million of that was collected in cash, while $20 million is deemed to be good indebtedness, which is collectable. That money may not have come in hand; yet, because of the fact that it is set out in the income statement, the Government (or an entity) can spend to the tune of $200 million. When it is based on the $180 million that is collected, under the modified accrual system the $20 million in arrears would be shown as an asset—monies outstanding owed to Government, monies which are due and payable. Therefore, the Government knows that it has an asset within reach, but it does not spend against what it has not yet collected.

At the same time, if the Government incurred liabilities to the tune (let us say) of $200 million, but has only paid out $180 million, the differential between $180 million and $200 million would be shown as liabilities in the Government's financial statements.

That is why many corporations today are looking at cash flow, because you can be asset rich and cash poor. Many major financial institutions have gotten in trouble over the years, and it comes down to your basic cash position. I would not like to see the Government lose sight of this. It is very important to spend based on what you have in the bank and what is within reach. Although you can spend against your potential to raise revenue, it is good when expenditure is consistent with the resources that are available—we know we can go on a budget with a proven track record whereby we are taking in money we are spending. But when we start to spend against what we have not collected, it puts us in what I would call the danger zone.

We know that accountability, and reporting the Government's financial position on an ongoing basis is very useful and informative, and we are looking at ways to improve that. We have also mentioned that the Medium Term Financial Strategy will be coming to the House very soon. These are issues which are presently under review at this time.

I thank Members for their support, but I felt that this bit of expanded information would be useful. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

GOVERNMENT MOTIONS

GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 5/97

The Development and Planning Regulations (1995 Revision)

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I move Government Motion No. 5/97, which reads:

“WHEREAS it is desirable that the Development and Planning Regulations (1995 Revision) be amended;

“BE IT RESOLVED that the (attached) draft Regulations entitled the Development and Planning (Amendment) Regulations, 1997 now being laid before the Legislative Assembly be hereby approved in accordance with Section 38 of the Development and Planning Law, (1995 Revision).”

These regulations were agreed with the Council of Associations and were, in fact, supported by those Members of this Honourable House who I spoke to and who were involved with it. They deal with the regulations for building permit fees and the aim is to bring the Planning Department to where it will no longer be subsidised but will be self-sufficient.

The only difference from the recommendation by the Council of Associations is that we have put no fees for houses less than 1200 square feet, and apartments less than 600 square feet. Over that size on houses it is very small, 10 cents per square foot—1200 sq. ft - 1500 sq. ft.; 15 cents (per square foot) between 1500 sq. ft. - 2000 sq. Ft.; 20 cents (per square foot) 2000 sq. ft. - 2500 sq. ft.

I would ask all Members, since I believe these Bills have been debated out of existence, to give their support to this.

The Speaker: Government Motion No. 5/97 is now open for debate. (Pause) No Member wishes to speak?

Does the Mover wish to reply? If not, I shall put the question that Government Motion No. 5/97 do pass. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED: GOVERNMENT MOTION 5/97 PASSED.

The Speaker: That concludes the business for this afternoon. I will now entertain a motion for the adjournment.

The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I am happy to move the adjournment of this Honourable House until the 9th of June, 1997.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Prior to putting the question, I would like to thank Honourable Members for their tolerance to the Chair during this Meeting, it being my first. I have a lot to learn, and I thank you all for your cooperation.

I shall now put the question that the House do now adjourn until the 9th of June, 1997. Those in favour please say Aye... Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it. The House is accordingly adjourned.

AT 6.00 PM THE HOUSE STOOD ADJOURNED UNTIL 10.00 AM, MONDAY, 9TH JUNE, 1997.

EDITED
MONDAY
9TH JUNE, 1997
10.19 AM

The Speaker: I will ask the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation to say Prayers.

PRAYERS

Hon. Anthony S. Eden: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that we may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of our high office.

All this we ask for Thy Great Name's sake.

Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

The Speaker: Please be seated. The Legislative Assembly is in Session.

Questions to Honourable Members/Ministers. Question No. 81 is standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE
MEMBERS/MINISTERS

QUESTION NO. 81

No. 81: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture, what plans, if any, are being considered for the installation of a central sewerage system in George Town?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: There are basically two reasons why the public sewerage system could be considered necessary in central George Town and, in fact, in any developed areas of these Islands:

(1) First and foremost, is the protection of public health. In the past, George Town residents (and many residents in other areas of the country) depended upon ground water for drinking, cooking and bathing. Over the years, cesspits, soak-aways and septic tanks have contaminated the ground water in George Town with bacteria and have made it unsuitable for potable purposes. However, with the completion of the public water supply in many areas of the country, and in particular within the George Town area, this is no longer such a pressing concern. The Water Authority continues to invest millions of dollars to expand the public water supply into other districts such as East End and North Side in order to reduce the population's reliance on unsuitable sources of drinking water.

(2) The second reason for providing a public sewerage system is to protect the environment and, most importantly, the marine environment. The Water Authority, in conjunction with the Department of Environment, has monitored the marine environment in Hog Sty Bay since 1991. Samples are taken regularly and tested for contaminants which stem from human waste in order to determine whether the marine waters have been affected by development in the central George Town area. To date, these tests have indicated that there is very little, if any, pollution entering the coastal marine environment.

More importantly, there has been no discernible trend in the results. This indicates that despite increased development in the George Town area, the marine environment has not yet been adversely impacted. However, the Government and the Water Authority are keenly aware that at some point, with continued growth in the area, a centralised sewerage system will be required to pre-empt damage to the marine environment.

In 1993, the Water Authority commenced work on a preliminary design for a centralised sewerage system in George Town. This concept was included in the Ten Year Plan for Water and Sewerage Infrastructure which was considered by Government late last year. This plan indicates that George Town sewerage will be necessary some time after the year 2000. Current plans for increasing the capacity of the present sewerage treatment works, which services the West Bay Beach area, have taken into account the possible inclusion of wastewater from George Town.

Mr. Speaker, I can also tell this House that there have been at least three enquiries from private companies (all overseas) who are interested in looking at a system for the Cayman Islands.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. In the substantive answer the Honourable Minister stated that the Ten Year Plan, in the case of George Town sewage, will be necessary sometime after the year 2000. We know that the year 2000 is just 2 1/2 years away. Can the Honourable Minister indicate more clearly what sort of time-frame he is thinking about?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The Authority is presently re-designing the treatment works to be able to handle further expansion, with a view to expanding in George Town. I just talked to the Director, who is unable to give a date yet. I hope to say more about this in the near future. My hope, as I said, is that a private concern will come up with a plan suitable for the country and be able to get a franchise. That is a possibility. We are presently re-designing and going ahead.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: In the substantive answer the Honourable Minister also said that the Department of Environment has been monitoring the effect of pollution especially in the Hog Sty Bay area since 1991. Can the Honourable Minister also state whether any tests have been carried out on the well water in George Town, and whether or not he is aware of any wells being used for drinking purposes?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Error! Bookmark not defined. Yes. The Member might recall a report about gasoline in some ground water. That was detected, in part because of the usual testing procedure by the Department of Environment. In the other part of the question concerning well water, that is where the gasoline was.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Earlier in his answer the Honourable Minister mentioned that three companies had expressed an interest in developing a system. Can the Minister say if these companies wanted to develop the system and run it themselves, or whether they were prepared to set the system up for the Government to operate as they are doing now with the Water Authority?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr. Speaker, the indication is that they would want a franchise.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Can the Honourable Minister say if the water in East End and North Side is unsuitable, since in the first part of his answer he stated that the water was unsuitable?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr. Speaker, my understanding is that in the East End district there were a few wells with contaminants, but none in North Side. Except for the water being brackish, it is good.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Error! Bookmark not defined. Mr. Speaker, perhaps this question may be better answered by the Minister for Education, but I wonder if the Honourable Minister is able to tell us whether our Public Schools and Private Schools are being hooked up to potable drinking water, or whether any of these schools may be using well-water at this time?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Error! Bookmark not defined. As I understand, all schools are now hooked up to the Public water supply system up to Bodden Town. East End has its own water supply system.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I would like to know whether or not it is the understanding of the Water Authority that all water which comes from the ground, or from rain, is unsuitable water.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The East End source, as we know, is in use and very suitable; also the Savannah and Lower Valley source. Of course people could have water in their cisterns and that would be suitable and there are some wells that have not been contaminated. Without having my chemist at hand, I can only say that there would be some water that could be used.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: The Honourable Minister mentioned that there was a provision made in East End, and I understand from the Member for North Side that there is also a cistern being used by the children in North Side. I wonder if the Honourable Minister could say whether there is a regular check carried out to test the water in these cisterns to determine whether it is good, potable water for the children to drink?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: From what I understand there are checks on the school catchments, and all schools also purchase bottled water for drinking—commercial bottled water, that is.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, we will move on to question No. 82, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 82

No. 82: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation, to provide an update of the total construction costs of the new Hospital, and the projected total costs, including equipment and furnishings, to completion.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: The total expenditure on the new Cayman Islands' Health Services Complex as of 30th May, 1997, was:

(1) Construction work	$ 9,738,310
(2) Consultant fees	1,258,984

(3) Project Management	542,983
(4) Medical equipment	725,537
(5) Furniture and furnishings	153,652
Total:	$ 12,419,466

It is difficult at this time to give an accurate projected total cost as in a project of this magnitude and length of time, it is normal for unanticipated costs to arise. The contingency portion of the project budget is at present 2 per cent and we are considering raising this to the more typical construction rate of 10 per cent, as a prudent safeguard to cover, if necessary, unanticipated costs that have been incurred to date and those which may be incurred in the future. In the interest of keeping Honourable Members informed about this important project, I would like to give some typical examples of unavoidable costs we have faced or are likely to face. These are as follows:

- (1) Costs related to un-foreseeable ground conditions which required extra excavation, fill and structural modifications to the footings and foundations of the buildings.
- (2) Excessively bad weather, especially in November 1996 which impacted exterior work.
- (3) Increase in contractor's staff costs to be brought about by the Health Insurance and Pension plans.
- (4) Increase in project team's salaries in accordance with the increase in civil servants' salaries.
- (5) A change in the policy of Cable and Wireless which now requires the owner to pay for interior telephone wiring.
- (6) Contractor's costs related to potential prolongation of the above construction period due to additional work described above and to inclement weather.
- (7) A recent increase in the cost of cement.

The Cayman Islands' Health Services Complex Steering Committee is keeping expenditure on this project under continual review to contain costs wherever possible. But, as can be seen, situations beyond our control can arise when unavoidable increases in costs occur, and it is only sensible that we increase our contingency to have the funds available to meet any increase, should this be necessary.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Taking into account that the Honourable Minister is considering raising the contingency portion of the project budget from 2 to 10% as a prudent safeguard, against this background I wonder if he is able to give some ballpark figure of what the total cost of completion will be for this project?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: The original cost was approximately $26.2 million. If we use that contingency it will be an additional $2 million, which will bring it up to $28.8 million—that is, if we use all of that contingency.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Part of the answer provided by the Honourable Minister (No. 3 on page 2) reads, “Increase in contractors’ staff costs to be brought about by the Health Insurance and Pension Plans....” I wonder if he is able to say what amount this is calculated to be; what increase will be caused through health insurance and pension plans?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: That is not possible at this time, but once it is revealed I will share it with the Honourable Member.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I would like to ask the Honourable Minister (who is also bringing the Bill with regard to Health Insurance) if in his opinion that is something which will affect salaries paid out by employers and other areas as well.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health.

Hon. Anthony Eden: I anticipate that this will have some impact. In these areas I would encourage people to look at the overall effect of the provision for pensions and health insurance. Just last year there was one individual for whom we had to provide services which cost over $700,000. A person can pay less than $20 per month for health insurance (if it is one employee). I see this as an investment in this area.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 83, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 83

No. 83: Mr. Linford A. Pierson asked the Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works to provide a progress report on the status of the street-naming and property-numbering systems.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John B. McLean: All streets on Grand Cayman, Cayman Brac and Little Cayman have been assigned a name and address. As far as actually going door-to-door to notify property owners of their street names and numbers, Grand Cayman is at least 80 per cent completed. Before property numbers can be dispensed and additional street signs erected, legislation (which was passed at the last Meeting of the Legislative Assembly) has to be gazetted and brought into effect. Once this has been finalised, these processes will be implemented.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I wonder if the Honourable Minister can say whether there will be any cost involved to the home owners? Are people encouraged at this point to put up numbers on their homes, or should they wait until this is officially done by the people involved?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Mr. John McLean: I think it would be wise for homeowners to await the full exercise and the numbers assigned by Government, rather than ending up with different colours and different sizes of numbers, etcetera. Regarding the cost, it is my understanding that Government will have the signs made up and placed on doors of individuals.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member of George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Could the Minister describe the process by which the names of the streets were decided upon?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Mr. John McLean: A committee was formed, chaired by the Director of Lands and Survey, with representatives from all over the island. Each district had representatives on it. The naming process was carried out by these individuals.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 84, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 84

No. 84: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport whether any guests from the Cayman Islands were invited to the recent Caribbean Tourism Organisation's function held in New York.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: The answer is, yes.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say how many guests took this invitation, and whether his Ministry or the Department of Tourism was responsible for any portion of the travel or accommodation expense?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: The invitation was issued by the Ministry of Tourism. A number of Members of this House were invited and the Government did pick up the cost of the accommodation, etcetera.

The Speaker: The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Would the Honourable Minister say the reason for inviting Honourable Members of this Parliament to New York at that particular time of the year is to allow them to visit with the public relation companies, and the Department of Tourism, to see exactly what is happening on behalf of the Cayman Islands Government in tourism?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: The invitations to Members of this Honourable House did not happen on the first occasion in 1997. It has been happening for the past five years. Rather than the Ministry, or the Department always talking to Members about what we are doing the intention is to invite Members to New York where the advertising agency and the public relations agencies are located in order for them to see the advertising programme firsthand and understand it, so that when the Ministry or the Department comes to this Honourable House for any money—whether it is the budget, or whether it is supplementary (Which we have not done so far!)—they understand the process and how the funds are being utilised.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Just a matter of clarification. I wonder if the Honourable Minister can say whether it is the intention of his Ministry to alternate the names of the Members who will be invited in the years to come?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I believe some of the trouble that I have had in recent times was because some Members wanted to constantly go. They love to be in this exercise. I must say that since 1982 I have been invited to New York by previous Members of the Executive Council in order for me (at that stage, as Financial Secretary) to understand clearly what Tourism and the Department of Tourism (that is, the Portfolio of Tourism) were doing.

Yes, we have also been alternating among Members of the Backbench, and we continue to use the same objective as we have over the last five years. That is about all I can add to this.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 85, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 85

No. 85: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport whether there is any member of the Tourism Advisory Council who is not a Caymanian.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Mr. Speaker, very crisply, the answer is yes.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister tell the House what the criterion for the composition of this Council is?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I think if we look at the Tourism Industry with an analytical eye we will see a number of persons who are not Caymanians are at very senior levels in hotels and other areas. It seems to me that it makes sense, not only in the Tourism Industry but also in the Financial Industry, that we all work together hand-in-hand for the betterment of the Caymanian people, and that is the objective under which this is done.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Minister say, that being the case, what steps are taken to ensure that those members have no conflicts of interest?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: On this occasion the Chairman of the Tourism of Advisory Council is the Minister for Tourism, and whenever it comes to my attention that someone has a conflict of interest when we are discussing an item, whether it is a non-Caymanian or a Caymanian, he (or she) would have to be excused from that discussion. However, I think it is right to say that as far back as I can remember (right back to the early 1970s) there have been Caymanians and non-Caymanians on the Tourism Advisory Council.

The Speaker: The next question is No. 86, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden.

QUESTION NO. 86

No. 86: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport whether the Department of Tourism or the Ministry was in any way associated with the attempt of Francisco "Pipin" Ferreras to set a new world free-dive record on 31st May, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Mr. Speaker, the answer is no.

The Speaker: Are there any supplementaries? (pause) If not, the next question is standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 87

No. 87: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture if the Kirkconnell Community Care Centre (otherwise known as Cayman Brac Rest Home) owns a patient lift?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: No, the Kirkconnell Community Care Centre does not own a patient lift.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I wonder if the Honourable Minister can say whether or not the need has arisen for the acquisition of such piece of equipment?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: It is hoped that we will be able to purchase one if funds are provided. The Programme Supervisor will be looking into the cost of such equipment, and will make recommendations as to the most appropriate type of equipment to acquire. So, yes, there is a need for one.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: As he just referred to funds being provided, can the Minister state if this is a situation whereby supplementary expenditure would have to be asked for?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Yes, Mr. Speaker. Funds are not in this year's budget.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 88, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 88

No. 88: Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport if he could state whether any employee of the Department of Tourism in Cayman Brac has tendered his/her resignation?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

DEFERMENT OF QUESTION NO. 88

Standing Order 23 (5)

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Mr. Speaker, under Standing Order 23(5), I ask the leave of the House to defer this question to another day. I do have an answer, but I also have additional information which is not included in the answer, and I would like to put the two together.

The Speaker: The question is that the answer to question No. 88 be deferred until a later Sitting. I shall put the question. Those in favour, please say Aye... Those against, No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. QUESTION NO. 88 DEFERRED UNTIL A LATER SITTING.

The Speaker: The next question is No. 89, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 89

No. 89: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation to provide the number of visits the Government Dentist made to the Cayman Brac Dental Clinic since 1st April, 1997, to present?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Between 1st April, 1997, and 5th June, 1997, the Government Dentist has made 11 regular weekly visits to the Cayman Brac Dental Clinic. Most visits have been for two or three days, and the total number of days he was in attendance is 22. During that time the dentist saw an average of 13 patients per day and provided the same range of general dental services as is provided at the George Town Dental Clinic.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Minister state if he knows it to be a fact that the Dental Clinic is satisfied that the service being afforded to the Brac is up to scratch and totally satisfactory to the people of the Brac?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Mr. Speaker I have not had any adverse information to that effect; but if there is anything I will certainly look into it. We do plan to continue upgrading, and we hope to get it to the standard we have here in George Town.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I wonder if the Honourable Minister can say how long the present dentist is anticipated to be servicing as he is presently? Is it a temporary arrangement or is it anticipated for a longer period of time?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: It is temporary until we can get something more permanent put into place.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Minister state if his last answer means that Government is looking into having a dentist stationed permanently at the Cayman Brac Dental Clinic?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: I do not feel that at this time it would be cost-effective to have a dentist stationed there full-time, but as the demand increases, we will address it accordingly.

The Speaker: That concludes Question Time for this morning. I will ask for the suspension of Standing Orders so that we can take the Monetary Authority Bill. The Honourable Third Official Member.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 46

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Speaker, I beg to move the Suspension of Standing Order 46 to allow a Bill entitled, The Monetary Authority (Amendment) (Membership) Bill, 1997, to be taken.

The Speaker: The question is that Standing Order 46 be suspended to allow the Bill to be taken. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED: STANDING ORDER 46 SUSPENDED TO ENABLE THE MONETARY AUTHORITY (AMENDMENT) (MEMBERSHIP) BILL, 1997, TO BE READ.

SECOND READING

THE MONETARY AUTHORITY (AMENDMENT)(MEMBERSHIP) BILL, 1997

Clerk: The Monetary Authority (Amendment) (Membership) Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I beg to move the Second Reading of a Bill entitled, The Monetary Authority (Amendment) (Membership) Bill, 1997.

This Bill amends the Monetary Authority Law 1996, by increasing the number of members of the Board of Directors by two, and by increasing the quorum of the Board from three to four members. As this Honourable House is aware, the Board is currently made up of the Financial Secretary, as Chairman, and four other Directors. These Directors include: a representative of the Bank of England, a representative from the Solicitor General's office, the Managing Director of the Monetary Authority, and one private sector member.

Mr. Speaker, this Honourable House is very much aware of the significant contribution that has been made by Sir Vassel Johnson to the financial industry. In fact, he is often referred to as the father of the financial industry.

Sir Vassel has been approached, and he has agreed, to become a member of the Board of the Monetary Authority. This will add strength to the structure of the Board, and, overall, it will be in the interest of the Monetary Authority to have a person of such standing as a member of the Board. Accordingly, this Bill is presented for Honourable Members' consideration and support.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill entitled, The Monetary Authority (Amendment) (Membership) Bill, 1997, be given a second reading. It is now open for debate. (pause)

If there is no debate, would the Honourable Mover wish to reply?

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Speaker, I cannot add anything more at this stage. I can only thank Honourable Members for their support.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill entitled, The Monetary Authority (Amendment) (Membership) Bill, 1997, be given a Second Reading. Those in favour please say Aye.... Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it. The Bill has been given a Second Reading.

AGREED: THE MONETARY AUTHORITY (AMENDMENT) (MEMBERSHIP) BILL, 1997, GIVEN A SECOND READING.

The Speaker: The House will now go into Committee to consider The Monetary Authority (Amendment) (Membership) Bill, 1997.

REPORT ON BILL

THE MONETARY AUTHORITY (AMENDMENT) (MEMBERSHIP) AUTHORITY BILL, 1997

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I am to report that a Bill entitled, The Monetary Authority (Amendment) (Membership) Authority Bill, 1997, was considered by a Committee of the whole House and passed without amendment.

The Speaker: The Bill has accordingly been set down for third reading.

The next item is Government Motion No. 6 of 1997, The Standing Business Committee. The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

MOTIONS

GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 6/97

THE STANDING BUSINESS COMMITTEE

Truman M. Bodden: Thank you Mr. Speaker, I wish to move Government Motion No. 6 of 1997, which reads:

BE IT RESOLVED that Government Motion No. 1 of the November 1996 Session of this Honourable House being the appointment of the Standing Business Committee be hereby amended by the addition of a new paragraph (f) after paragraph (e) in the first paragraph of the resolution the following: '(f) to inform the Clerk the order in which laws should be set down on the Order Paper and that all other provisions thereof are hereby passed and confirmed as is set out herein in full.

The Speaker: Government Motion No. 6 of 1997, Standing Business Committee, has been duly moved. Do you wish to speak to it?

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker this is just a very short Motion that adds to the list one area which I felt should be specific in the Motion.

The Speaker: Thank you. Does any other Member wish to speak? (pause) If there is no debate I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye... Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED: GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 6/97 PASSED.

The Speaker: The Chairman of the Standing Business Committee is, of course, the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Government Motion No. 7/97. The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 7/97

STANDING HOUSE COMMITTEE

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I wish to move Government Motion No. 7/97, the Standing House Committee, which reads as follows:

BE IT RESOLVED that Government Motion No. 2 of the November 1996 Session of this Honourable House, being the Appointment of the Standing House Committee, is hereby amended by increasing its composition to six Members, but that all other provisions thereof are hereby passed and confirmed as if set out herein in full and that Mrs. Edna M. Moyle, MLA, JP, be now appointed as the sixth Member thereof.

The Speaker: Government Motion No. 7/97 has been duly moved. Does the Minister wish to speak further on it?

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. This Motion basically adds one extra Member to the House Committee, and it is to that effect that I have moved this amendment, sir.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town .

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I noticed also that when this Committee was originally comprised, there was no vote taken. So it would seem to me that the House would need to rectify this matter, and this occasion would seem to be the appropriate one for us to have the composition of this Standing House Committee legally and appropriately constructed.

I could say other things, but I bring this to the attention of the Chair and hope that we can have this matter effected.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? Would the Honourable Minister wish to address that point?

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Just very briefly, Mr. Speaker, to thank the Member who spoke and those who did not. This basically adds one other Member, and it confirms the balance of the Resolution before the House.

The Speaker: I shall now put the question. Those in favour please say Aye.... Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it. The Motion has been passed.

AGREED: GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 7/97 PASSED.

The Speaker: Government Motion No. 8/97, The Development and Planning Law (Amendment No. 2) Regulations, 1997. The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 8/97

THE DEVELOPMENT AND PLANNING LAW (AMENDMENT NO. 2) REGULATIONS, 1997

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Thank you Mr. Speaker. I wish to move Government Motion No. 8 of 1997, the Development and Planning Law (Amendment No. 2) Regulations, 1997, which reads:

WHEREAS it is desirable that the Development and Planning Regulations (1995 Revision) be amended to increase the height of five-storey buildings to permit additional space between floors and ceilings for electrical and engineering services and to allow developers flexibility to increase standard room heights;

BE IT RESOLVED THAT the (attached) draft regulations entitled Development and Planning (Amendment No. 2) Regulations, 1997, now being laid before the Legislative Assembly be hereby approved in accordance with section 38 of the Development and Planning Law (1995 Revision).

That is the Motion which I so move.

The Speaker: Does the Minister wish to speak further on the amendment?

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, the explanation on it is really set out in the Motion. The number of storey's is not being increased, but the height these days is important in that utilities and electrical and other things go on the ceiling rather than into floors or into the actual concrete... or on the roof as one Member mentioned. This will also allow the actual room space on the floors to be higher than it would otherwise be. It has been a problem for some time, thus my moving this Motion at present.

The Speaker: Does any Member wish to speak to the Motion? Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: My comments will be relatively short on this, as, in principle, I have no objection to this amendment. However, I wonder why at this point in time it is deemed necessary to once again bring this type of piecemeal amendment to the House, when in fact the Development and Planning Law (Amendment No. 2) Regulations, 1997, are now being considered by a committee which has been in process for quite a long time. I wonder whether or not this would not have formed the proper basis for an agenda item for such a committee rather than being brought here to have this amended in this sort of fashion.

I understand, of course, that the storeys on the buildings will not be increased. Nonetheless, I do note in paragraph 2 of the amendment that the word "fifty-five" will be deleted and replaced by the word "sixty-five." I can only take it that that has to relate to the height of the building. Perhaps the Honourable Minister moving the amendment would clarify that point.

As I said, I have no major objections to this—as a matter of fact I support the amendment. But I wish to make those few observations.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? Does the Honourable Minister moving the Bill wish to reply?

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Yes, Mr. Speaker. The fifty-five and sixty-five does relate to feet. What I would say to the Honourable Member who spoke is, thank you for supporting it, but this amendment should have been done a long time ago. Secondly, what is being dealt with this year will be the Development Plan. The Law on the Regulations will subsequently be amended, but the first thing to come here will be the Plan.

My father always told me: 'Never leave for tomorrow what you can do today.' I take that approach. If something is necessary, even if it is piecemeal, I would rather do it now than wait another year and then find that the building is built at or just above sea level (which makes it subject to hurricane problems and flooding) in an effort to stay within what the Law mandates, which is 55 ft.

This Motion can only help, it cannot hurt. I would really ask all Members to please support it. I undertake, once the Plan is through, to come with regulations and amendments to the Law.

The Speaker: I shall now put the question. Those in favour please say Aye.... Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it. The Motion has accordingly been passed.

AGREED: GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 8/97 PASSED.

APPOINTMENT OF CHAIRMAN TO THE STANDING HOUSE COMMITTEE
(Government Motion No. 7/97)

The Speaker: I would like to make one statement on Government Motion No. 7/97, The Standing House Committee. I will leave the appointing of the Chairman to the House Committee at its first meeting.

That concludes the business on the Order Paper for today. I will now entertain a motion for the adjournment of this Honourable House.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. Truman M. Boddin: Mr. Speaker I move the adjournment of this Honourable House until Wednesday at 10.00 A.M.

May I just say that I had not expected that we would have finished this early, otherwise the Committee may have been able to put further business on the Order Paper. It is not always possible to estimate the length of time each of the 18 Members will speak, but I would like to thank the Members very much for their cooperation. Days like this are really progressive, sir. Thank you.

The Speaker: The question is that the House do now adjourn until Wednesday at 10.00 A.M. Those in favour please say Aye... Those opposed No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it. The House is now adjourned until 10.00 AM. Wednesday, 11th June, 1997.

AT 11.26 AM THE HOUSE STOOD ADJOURNED UNTIL 10.00 AM WEDNESDAY, 11TH JUNE, 1997.

EDITED
WEDNESDAY
11TH JUNE, 1997
10.30 AM

The Speaker: I will ask the Member for North Side to say prayers.

PRAYERS

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that we may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of our high office.

All this we ask for Thy Great Name's sake.

Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

The Speaker: Please be seated. Proceedings are resumed. Questions to Honourable Members/Ministers.

Question No. 90, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE
MEMBERS/MINISTERS

QUESTION NO. 90

No. 90: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture what procedure is in place for reporting injuries and/or illness of patients of the Kirkconnell Community Care Centre to their immediate families.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Perhaps this question can be set aside until the Honourable Minister is in place to respond.

The Speaker: In view of the Minister's absence, that would be appropriate. Is that the wish of the House? Thank you.

DEFERMENT OF QUESTIONS NOS. 90 AND 91
Standing Order 23(5)

The Speaker: We will go on to question No. 92, which stands in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 92

No. 92: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation to state the delivery date of the additional ambulance for the Faith Hospital and Cayman Brac.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

DEFERMENT OF QUESTION NO. 92
Standing Order 23(5)

Hon. Anthony Eden: Under Standing Order 23 (5) I ask that this question be deferred until a later date in this meeting.

The Speaker: The question is that this question be deferred. Those in favour say Aye... Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it. The question is deferred until a later sitting.

AGREED: QUESTION NO. 92 DEFERRED UNTIL A LATER SITTING.

The Speaker: Question No. 93, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 93

No. 93: Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works if any Road visits have been made for the District of George Town since November 1996.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: There has not been an official Road visit made for the district for George Town since November 1996.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Minister state if there are any plans to do such a visit in the very near future?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: It is my understanding that quite a few unofficial visits have been made. I have actually visited some myself at the request of the Honourable Minister for Education. But as a group, no.

Road visits will definitely be carried out, and we have started already. Due to the fact that the last Meeting of the House was quite long, the only visit that has been done is the visit to the Bodden Town District.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: The Honourable Minister has just said that visits were made on the request of the Honourable Minister of Education. Can the Minister state if other Representatives for the districts can ask for such visits at any time?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: Mr. Speaker, I tried to make that as clear as possible. I said it was not an official visit. There were two occasions that the Honourable Minister for Education asked me to look at roads in his district. As far as I am concerned, any Member of this Legislative Assembly has a right to make such a request.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Minister give an undertaking that if other Representatives from the district make such a request he will do everything possible to accommodate them?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: I would like to ask that Member if at any time I have not?

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Speaker, with the greatest of respect, I asked the question—I did not ask to be asked one. (Interjections)

Mr. Speaker, I repeat, I asked a question and I do believe I deserve an answer.

The Speaker: Would you please repeat the question?

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Yes, Mr. Speaker. I asked if the Minister would give an undertaking that if other Representatives from the District made similar requests, that he would do his very best to accommodate such requests.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: Mr. Speaker, I have said that I always do.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Thank you. I wonder if the Honourable Minister could state if it is a fact that the monies allocated in the 1997 Budget for roads in the district of George Town have already been mostly expended on continued 1996 works leaving hardly any money left for 1997.

The Speaker: I am not really sure that that comes out of the substantive question. If the Minister wishes to answer he may. The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: Mr. Speaker, I abide by your ruling. It is not part of the question.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister clarify the difference between an 'official' and an 'unofficial' visit?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: What I consider an official visit is exactly what I did with that same Member just a few weeks ago.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Are we to understand that requests for road works can be tendered as a result of official visits and also as a result of unofficial visits?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: Any time during the year that any Member calls my Ministry, or me, and complains of a problem within their district—regardless of whether we want to call it official or unofficial—if it is brought to my attention and I am asked to look at it, that is exactly what I will do. In turn, I will go to the Public Works Department and, if the funds are available, I will try to have it corrected.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Speaker, I was wondering if the Minister would undertake to do an official visit in the near future, since it is now the month of June, undertaking to include all the Representatives of the district of George Town.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: Mr. Speaker, as I have stated, this has been the norm for many years. Unfortunately, this time we were tied up in here and I have only been able to do one official visit which has been to the district of Bodden Town.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Speaker, with all due respect, the question was, really, if the Minister would undertake to visit in the near future. If he does not have the time, he can say he does not have the time, and I will understand.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: Mr. Speaker, I am not going to say I do not have the time. I said that we were busy in here. It has been the norm for us to visit all districts—and this will be done.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I would like to ask the Minister if we can expect an official visit before the month of November.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: If a visit is not carried out before the month of November, we might as well wait until next year. So I trust that it will be before that.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: We seem to be having an adversarial exchange here. I wonder if the Honourable Minister would undertake to prepare a schedule of visits so that Members would know in advance approximately what time these visits would be made, so that they could attend those visits with the Honourable Minister.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: As I mentioned, we visited Bodden Town, and that is the way it was done. So, definitely, whatever district we are going to visit, the Members would have to be notified in advance.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Thank you. In the supplementary answers which the Honourable Minister has given mention was made of 'official' and 'unofficial' visits. For purposes of clarity, can the Minister outline for the Representatives exactly what the proper procedure is with regard to getting any road works done in their districts?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: Mr. Speaker, I was on the Backbench too—as an Opposition Member—and it did not stop me from making a formal request to Members of the Government. As a matter of fact, one is sitting over there now and he knows that is a fact. I wrote my request to him each time. Once I visited my district and saw what was necessary, I had no guarantee it would be done, but I requested it. So, as far as I am concerned, any Member has that right to submit requests. Then, it is left to Government to construct.

The Speaker: Any further supplementaries? If not, we will go on to question No. 94, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 94

No. 94: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works if Government has received any application to import a new distributor truck for the spreading of asphalt.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: Yes. On April 30th, 1997, Government received an application from Quarry Products, a company with a valid Trade & Business Licence in the category of "Civil Engineering Contractors, Production and Placing of Hot and Cold Mix Asphalt and Chip and Spray Road Surfacing" for permission to import a new Etnyre Distributor Truck for their business.

Quarry Products has had a Business Licence and been in the road surfacing business for the past 12 years. For reasons known only to Quarry Products, the company requested the application to be withdrawn on 14th May, 1997.

The Speaker: Are there any supplementaries? If not, we will go on to question No. 95, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 95

No. 95: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Member responsible for Finance and Development what Government's policy is regarding travel expenses and allowances, as it relates to official travel.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The present system which provides for civil servants travelling abroad on official business is that the Government meets the cost of airfares, airport to hotel travel, accommodation and meals. A per diem allowance is provided in addition to cover the cost of local travel and other incidental expenses. This is CI $50 per day for officers in the super scale, and CI $35 per day for other officers.

Generally, officers claim overseas travel advance for their estimated expenses. Upon their return they submit a claim with supporting proof of expenses. The balance of monies due to either the Government or the civil servant is then settled.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say if there are any instances in which there may be variations of this policy?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: This policy is applied uniformly throughout the Civil Service without any variation.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say if there is a time limit placed on the settlement of the difference in monies?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The normal time allowed for settlement is one week.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say what the procedure is in instances where the settlement is not forthcoming within this time?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Mr. Speaker, where settlement is not forthcoming within a week, the Treasury will follow up with the officers concerned. If settlement is not made within a reasonable period the Treasury has the recourse to make a deduction from the officer's salary.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Are there any penalties or sanctions imposed as a result of delinquent payments, or is it a system where the exact amount is deducted?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: There are no penalties for late settlement, just the nominal amount that is due.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, question No. 96, is standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 96

No. 96: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development whether there are any outstanding customs duties owed by any large hotels in the Cayman Islands?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: There are no outstanding customs duties owed by any hotel in the Cayman Islands.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Is there any arrangement with any of these hotels whereby their imports are held in bond and the duties paid upon the use or claim of such goods, or is it the case where all duties are paid upon entry into the island?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: No arrangements exist for inbound facilities to accommodate imports by any of the hotels operating within the Cayman Islands.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Sometime ago there was a difference of opinion regarding duties on some furniture imported by the Westin Casuarina Hotel. Has that matter been settled to the satisfaction of the Government?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I would say that the matter has been settled, but not necessarily to the entire satisfaction of the Government. Following an exhaustive review of the circumstances the Legal Department advised that there was no firm basis on which a claim could be pursued against the hotel in question.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say whether the House is to understand that the matter has to be accepted by the Government?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Based on the advice that has been rendered it would not be advisable for the Government to pursue the matter further. As a result, the duty that would otherwise be applicable to the furniture and fittings in question would have to be foregone.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: May I ask the Honourable Member what policy the Government has implemented so that this ambiguity may be alleviated in future instances?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: This was a one-off exception. We hope that this will not occur again in future. Whenever decisions are taken by Executive Council, their decisions will be specific in terms of what exemptions should be allowed. The decision that was taken was specific, only that consideration was given on the importation of goods for another hotel by the same developers, and they applied for the same exemptions to be allowed. It was on that basis that the Customs Department arrived at the conclusion that the same exemptions given previously were also extended to this hotel in question. It is a matter of ensuring that full compliance is made with the specific instructions that are given by Executive Council.

The Speaker: Are there no further supplementaries? I note that the Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture is still not in the Chamber. Has any Honourable Minister been empowered to answer question No. 90 or question No. 91?

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Perhaps those questions can be put down on another Order Paper at a later date.

DEFERMENT OF QUESTIONS NOS. 90 AND 91 Standing Order 23(5)

The Speaker: I shall put the question that the answer to questions Nos. 90 and 91 be deferred. Those in favour please say Aye...Those against No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED: QUESTIONS NOS. 90 AND 91 DEFERRED UNTIL A LATER SITTING.

The Speaker: That concludes Question Time for this morning. The next item is Statements by Honourable Members/Ministers.

The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

STATEMENTS BY HONOURABLE MEMBERS/MINISTERS

CAYMAN AIRWAYS LIMITED

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: This a statement to the Legislative Assembly. As the National Flag Carrier of the Cayman Islands, Cayman Airways Ltd. is very important and very near and dear to the hearts of most Caymanians. Thus it is only right that any discussion of Cayman Airways takes place within the proper historical context.

Cayman Airways is undeniably an integral part of the national infrastructure of the Cayman Islands. It is a vital element of the local economy, underpinning and supporting both the tourism and financial industries. It is important that we consider where the Airline has come from over the past few years, where it is today, and where we as a country want to be on the eve of the next century.

Where did Cayman Airways come from 1988 to 1992?

As Members of the Legislative Assembly should be aware, Cayman Airways was in serious financial difficulties for several years prior to 1993. It was clear to all that the Airline could not continue to sustain massive losses and expect Government to pay the bills. During the period of 1983 to the end of December 1992 the Airline had total accumulated losses of US$36,962,559, and had spent all of the $12.5 million received from the sale of the Boeing 727-200 in 1989. Also, in 1989 CAL reported a profit of $976,662, the first profit in several years.

When this Government took over in December 1992, I found Cayman Airways in a horrible financial state. I acted decisively to turn the Airline around. A new Managing Director was appointed, and we quickly set out to sort out the financial mess that we had inherited. In December 1992 Cayman Airways had contingent liabilities of over $73 million categorised as follows: $45.5 million to ILFC; $6.7 million to GPA to break the lease and for them to take back their two aircraft of which $110 million future rental had been a contingent liability before the breach of the lease of the two 737-400s with GPA; and a further $21 million to GPA for the lease of the same two aircraft beginning in February 1994.

In December 1992 we reviewed the Airline's Budget estimate for 1993 prepared by the previous Managing Director and found a forecast loss at the end of 1993 of approximately $12.8 million. Under the new Managing Director and the existing Board of Directors the Airline was downsized, restructured, and given a new lease on life. By the end of 1993 we had produced a projected loss of US$3,988,387, thereby saving the Government almost $8 million.

At the time, Government's commitment to the Airline was to recapitalise the Airline with a once off investment of $20 million—which the previous Government had authorised, but were unable to raise as a loan because of their bad credit record—and to continue to subsidise the Airline through an annual subsidy of $4 million.

It is very important to remind Members that this Government did not simply hand the US$20 million over to Cayman Airways' previous management for them to further squander, as was done with the previous US$12.5 million profit from the unfortunate sale of the Boeing 727-200s in 1989 (the first time since 1983 that CAL had made a profit). Every cent of that $12.5 million was gone within a year.

On the contrary, every dollar of the $20 million went to pay past debts. Not one dollar of the $20 million was available to the new Managing Director as working capital. And that was still not the end of it. After all I have just described there was still US$19,294,287 of liabilities remaining. Yes, in 1993 after paying off $20 million of debts we still inherited a balance of over $19 million in debt from the previous Government.

Since the end of 1992, we have been able to reduce the liabilities from US$19,294,287, to $15,150,843 in 1995, for an overall reduction of $4,143,444. For the first time in five years Cayman Airways reported a small profit of US$1,568,473 in 1994. In 1995 the Airline reported a loss of US$1,181,240, and in 1996 an unaudited report puts the loss at approximately $1.6 million.

It is also important to consider the performance of the last three years in their proper context. During this time Cayman Airways has worked diligently at improving its overall performance. It has systematically worked at reducing its debt; it has awarded three pay increases to staff; it has consistently made lease payments on the Boeing 737-

200 aircraft (registered as VR-CAL and owned by the Government).

A point to note is that Government purchased the aircraft, and as a result of CAL's payments the Government has built up equity of over $1.75 million in an asset that has appreciated some $2 million above its purchase price (according to analysts in the airline industry). Consequently, less than US$3 million remains outstanding on the loan used to purchase the aircraft.

CAL has remained current with all of its external creditors and in 1996 the Board approved $100,000 for a Management Training and Staff Development Programme. Also, in 1996 the entire staff of Cayman Airways Ltd. took part in developing a Vision and Strategic Plan for the national carrier. This plan was approved by the Board in October 1996, and later ratified by Executive Council.

Where we are now in 1997.

However, by the end of 1996 it was evident the Airline was headed for its second year of consecutive losses, and the preliminary Budget Estimates for 1997 had forecast a loss of US$2.6 million. I decided to take the situation in hand at once. Unlike the previous Government, I refused to let the problems escalate to the point where the Airline was once again losing as much as $14 million a year.

In February 1997, the Board took the decision to ask the former Managing Director, Mr. Ray Wilson, to return to Cayman Airways Ltd. to lead a quick turnaround exercise. Since his arrival, Mr. Wilson, working closely with the General Manager Mr. Mike Adam, has been able to reduce costs by $2.6 million, and the budget now forecasts a small profit at the end of 1997.

However, what has become clear to the Managing Director, the General Manager, the Board of Directors and the Ministry, is that the financial problems faced by Cayman Airways in 1997 are not of a nature that we can downsize our way out of; neither can we significantly reduce costs any further. The Airline's survival is now critically dependant on its ability to generate revenues. In order to generate revenues the Airline needs to have sufficient working capital.

Cayman Airways Ltd in the 21st Century

Where does Cayman Airways go from here? The Ministry, Board, and Managing Director began with CAL 21, the Strategic Plan developed by the Airline's own staff over a period of eight months in 1996. In CAL 21 the staff produced a new mission statement which, as part of the plan, was also approved by the Board and ExCo. The new mission statement of Cayman Airways is, and I quote:

“The mission of Cayman Airways Ltd., the National Flag Carrier of the Cayman Islands, is to advance the national economic interests by operating a world class airline that is characterised by safety. Premier service in the movement of passengers and goods, aggressive marketing of international and domestic routes, professional and visionary management, and responsiveness to our customers, business partners, share holders, employees, and community.”

CAL 21 outlines nine strategies necessary to achieve this mission:

(1) We will ensure safety is paramount in all of our operations.

(2) We will ensure premier service.

(3) We will develop and optimise our human resources.

(4) We will develop and implement an aggressive marketing plan to achieve our mission and our objectives.

(5) We will create and maintain systems which produce timely and accurate information to ensure effective communication and decision making.

(6) We will guarantee visionary and professional management throughout the organisation.

(7) We will advance economic interests of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman consistent with our mission.

(8) We will develop and implement a political and legal programme to the benefit of Cayman Airways Ltd.

(9) We will create and implement a comprehensive financial plan to maximise profitability.

At the Annual Strategy Meeting of the Board, Cayman Airways Ltd's directors critically assessed the current operation. The Board agreed the Airline's current performance and levels of service were still a long way from the Airline described in the mission statement. In fact, the Board acknowledged that CAL in its present mode was not in harmony with the image being projected by the Minister and Department of Tourism—that image of Cayman as a premier vacation destination—nor was it in harmony with the image being projected by the Financial Secretary—that of Cayman as a leading offshore financial centre.

The Board concluded that the only type of Airline it could endorse and support was a safe world class (or Caymanian class) Airline that fully represents the best of Cayman. In all fairness, it was also the only type of Airline I could ask the shareholders and people of the Cayman Islands to continue to so faithfully support. The Board then reaffirmed its commitment to the CAL 21 mission.

The Board determined that in order to re-create the national Airline and produce a world class airline envisioned by the staff in CAL 21 it has become necessary to make significant improvements in the product. Similarly, it would be necessary to aggressively promote the new Cayman Airways both locally and internationally, and to continue the training programme already in place.

It is daunting to consider the Cayman Islands without its national carrier. Cayman Airways is, as I have frequently stated, the insurance policy for the entire economy. It is a way by which Government can guarantee to the tourism industry and investors the continuity of access to the islands. Cayman Airways is the way in which we ensure that Cayman is always accessible at a reasonable cost. The dangers of depending on a monopolistic foreign carrier to solely underpin our economy are simply not acceptable.

We have only to look at the past to see how tenuous the commitment of foreign carriers to these islands was. More recently—in February, with the threat of the scheduled American Airlines strike looming—we witnessed the panic and crisis faced by other Caribbean countries which depended entirely on foreign carriers. Fortunately, we had Cayman Airways, which would have kept Cayman open and accessible, and which would have also been able to increase its frequencies in order to move passengers.

A final point, which few of our critics consider, is the commitment of the national carrier to Cayman Brac and Little Cayman. In the absence of Cayman Airways Government would still be obliged to ensure high quality air transportation to Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Turning now to the recent staff matters. The decision to restructure the management of Cayman Airways meant that one senior member of staff resigned, and two others had their employment terminated in Grand Cayman. No member of staff was fired or dismissed. Two were terminated and one resigned.

This decision to restructure management was deemed by the Board to be essential for CAL's future success, and was balanced against the potential loss of some 250 jobs held by Caymanians if CAL was to fail and go under. It is important to point out that over a year ago when the staff of the Airline developed the strategic plan, the need for what they termed 'professional and visionary management' was so strong that staff highlighted it in three separate areas of the plan. First, in an internal assessment of the organisation, staff deemed management at the Airline to be an organisational weakness. Secondly, in the mission statement the staff called for, and I quote, “...a world class airline that is characterised by amongst other things, a visionary, and professional management.”

Thirdly, staff also felt that effective management was so important to the achievement of the mission, that they developed an entire strategy separate from the human resources strategy to ensure the Airline had visionary professional management in place.

The three managerial staff members who are no longer with the company were fully and fairly compensated. Payments were made in accordance with the law. I thank them for their years of service with Cayman Airways Limited.

The decision by the Board of Directors was taken in the overall best interests of the Airline and its other 250 plus Caymanian employees. As outlined in the CAL 21 plan, management was also concerned for the staff. Unless early corrective measures are taken to reduce the losses (while the losses remain relatively low) the Airline could drift into the huge losses of $14 million, as was the case in 1991. The people of the Cayman Islands cannot afford the losses to return to the 1991 levels.

I support the Board of Cayman Airways Limited, I support its Managing Director, and its General Manager. I believe that Cayman Airways, with the continued efforts and team work of its staff, will fulfil its mission and continue to serve the Cayman Islands as a national flag carrier. Cayman Airways, after all is said and done, is not just another Airline, it is our Airline. I urge all of you to pledge your support to our national airline—Cayman Airways Limited. Thank you.

SHORT QUESTIONS
Standing Order 30(2)

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Speaker, in accordance with Standing Order 30 (2), I wish to ask the Honourable Minister making that statement a few short questions.

The Speaker: I would like to address that Standing Order. Standing Order 30 (2) says “No debate may arise on such a statement but the Presiding Officer may, in his discretion, allow short questions to be put to the Member making the statement for the purpose of clarification.” For this purpose please continue, Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Speaker, having heard what sounded like CAL's obituary read by the Minister, I wonder if he could tell this Honourable House what the accumulated losses are as at the 31st December, 1996, or the most recent figures if those figures are not available. Secondly, is he in a position to say exactly how much funding CAL will need in the very near future?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, what I read was CAL's revival and survival from the doomsday period which that Honourable Member left the Airline in, in 1991. The accumulated losses now are approximately the same as what that Honourable Member left the Airline with in 1992 overflowing into 1993. It has accumulated over the years to the region of $40 million.

During my time, the profit I made has offset the losses made in those two years. I would like to point out that in August of last year, we had a profit of approximately $900,000. The political attacks and antagonism on Cayman Airways, during a period when I was unable to keep as close an eye on it as I could, resulted in Cayman Airways losing $1,051,619 in September last year, and in October, $1,025,221.

The majority of losses in 1996 were made just before the elections when political pressure was tearing Cayman Airways apart. I would like to repeat, sir, that during my time not only has the profit substantially equalled the losses, but I have paid back $1.75 million on the loan—part of the $19 million left by the 1991 Government, after spending the $12.5 million that was received for the 727-200s. We have paid back $1.75 million on the loan for one of the jets owned by Government, and in three years' time it will be owned outright without any debt.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Speaker, having again heard the excuses from the Honourable Minister, and having heard him state that the losses are the same now as they were in 1992—some five years ago when he took over—I wonder if he can explain to this Honourable House why this is the case, in view of the fact that the Airline has been reduced to two planes as opposed to five when he took over?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, the Member is not quoting me correctly. What I said was that when he left Government, he left over $36 million in losses which with the overflow into 1993 ended up at $40 million. They are the last Government's losses, not our losses. What I said was that the accumulated loss of $40 million was inherited and projected into 1993. In fact, Mr. Speaker, in 1992 the previous Managing Director projected losses of $12.3 million for 1993, which we reduced by $8 million, otherwise the accumulated losses left by the last Government would have been $48 million.

They left $40 million of losses and that is the amount that is still there. I have not in any material way added to it because a profit was made in one year and a loss in the other and there is a projected loss for last year.

I would like to repeat that the $20 million only paid off half of the debt and liabilities left by the previous (1991) Government. I still have about $16 million of debts and losses left by the 1991 Government. Maybe that Honourable Member can let us know how he proposes to pay the $19 million loss and debt left by his Government.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: The Honourable Minister said on page 7 of his statement, “No member of staff was fired or dismissed. Two were terminated.” For purposes of clarity, can the Honourable Minister explain what is meant by 'terminated'?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I hoped that I would not have to get into a primary school lesson, but when you fire someone, you fire them for cause; when you dismiss them, you dismiss them for cause under the Law. When you terminate them, you simply let them go by carrying out the terms of the contract. For example, if you have a contract that says either side can give one or three month's notice (which was the case in one instance), then you give three month's notice without cause.

All members were compensated well in excess of what was required by the Law, and cheques were issued. I would like to point out, because of a rumour going around, that they were fully paid.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, you will excuse my primary school mentality, but is the Honourable Minister saying that these two were contracted officers whose contracts were not renewed?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, there is a difference between not renewing a contract and terminating it. If I may explain, when you do not renew a contract it means it has expired. Many staff are employed on the basis that there is no expiration date on the contract, but there is a termination period in it—for example, a month, or three months. With that type of contract, the way that it ceases to be a contract is when notice is given by either side, or the salary is paid by either side. In these instances it was a termination, it was not a failure to renew because there was no renewal process, as I understand it, in the contract.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Speaker, as a new Member in the House, I am a little bit confused as to why the Board of Cayman Airways did not make a statement to the Press and to the public, and why this statement is being made here now in this political arena. I thought that they had achieved at least a degree of separation of duties, in that the Airline's Board was responsible for the contractual relationships that it has with its employees. My question is: Why has the Airline's Board not taken that responsibility, and made the statements to the public, and why is it now being made in the Legislative Assembly?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I have always taken the approach that, out of courtesy to my colleagues in this Honourable House, it is better if they hear the position firsthand, rather than reading it in a newspaper. If the House had not been sitting, then what the Honourable Member has mentioned would have happened. But while this House sits, and if it's a matter of importance, as it obviously is, then out of courtesy I have made the statement in the House.

I do not sit on the Board of Cayman Airways and that separation does remain. However, I am the Minister responsible to this House for its finances, and, really, the only one who can answer in this House. That was the reasoning on it. It is not the first time that I have done it in this fashion during a Sitting.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, may I ask the Honourable Minister if this is a recent change of policy (or perhaps change of heart, on his part)? In the last Sitting I asked questions regarding Cayman Airways and he gave me an entirely different answer, in that he was not responsible for the day-to-day affairs of the Airline. Is this not dealing with the day-to-day affairs?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, if I remember correctly what that Honourable Member was trying to extract would have been a question that could have been highly damaging to Cayman Airways, because it would have told our fierce competition (both American Airlines and Air Jamaica) very sensitive trade matters. This is dealing with very senior staff, it is not the day-to-day running of the Airline. That is why I have not gone into detail. I have given a policy statement that originated with the staff through the Strategic Plan CAL 21. It is therefore materially different from stating anything on the day-to-day running of the Airline.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: On a positive note, as part of the visionary outlook for the future, I wonder if the Minister can say what the immediate needs are, as far as Cayman Airways is concerned? What do you need right now in order to achieve the goals you are ensuing?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The Board is now doing an assessment. Now that the CAL 21 Strategic Plan has been put in place—and it has only recently been accepted and the implementation and action plans are being dealt with. Once these are achieved, I will be in a better position to do so. However, one of the things the Board is looking at, since we are now two years out of five into buying one jet which we will own outright in three years, we are leasing at present a second jet which goes back in two years. Subject to this Honourable House and Finance Committee approving it, the Board is looking to purchase a third jet which will give us better reliability because it can be used more as a back-up, rather than being put fully into operation. It will give us two years, and if we find that three jets is not good for the company, the third jet will go back within about 18 months from the purchase of that.

I would like to point out here that if the vast sums of money being paid for rental could be diverted into purchasing a jet, whether we remain at two or go to three, then after awhile, unless a very stupid Government comes along and sells them again.... And God forbid that should ever happen again because we would not have to be purchasing these two now if we had owned the 727-200s (which we would have owned about four years ago, as we had been paying no rental and had two jets that were equal in capacity to the three jets that we are now trying to get up to). I would not like to go beyond that.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: In his statement the Minister mentioned 'keeping up' the image expected of the Cayman Islands and the Department of Tourism, etc. I wonder if he could tell us briefly what has been done as far as upgrading equipment, and what plans are in place to put us in a better competitive situation as far as our equipment.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, in relation to the equipment, we have put new seats in the VR-CAL which is the one we are purchasing. We are also looking at putting in First Class (or Business Class I should say) in both planes. We are also looking at changing the seats in the jet that we leased because those seats can be kept by us and put in the new aircraft. Many of the complaints are in relation to the leased aircraft where the seats are much thicker, they go much further down, and there is far less leg space. We hope to put in new seats which will possibly give another two inches of space.

Also, we have put a fair amount of money into training staff, from management on down through the ranks. We consistently make the staff aware that the public pays their salaries so they must be helpful and nice to the public. That training is done through the IATA Programme and by senior management, and there is also internal training of junior staff. We are trying to upgrade the staff's ability and their approach, especially in the ticketing and the reservation sections.

We put a new phone system in Miami which is linked in with the Department of Tourism and is saving us money. Many calls come in under one number, and at present the two systems are separate. So a note has to be sent from one room to another. It is hard to believe, but that is what has been happening. So it will help the Cayman Islands, and it will help tourism.

Recently we had a two day conference with the Minister of Tourism and some of the staff in a joint effort to promote Cayman Airways, because tourism can and will give us a lot of help in this area. I would like to say that a marketing plan is now being developed and it will encompass both the marketing and the local sectors, because we have many, many loyal Caymanians who really appreciate Cayman Airways, and I appreciate them flying with us. I think they know how important Cayman Airways is to the Cayman Islands.

For example, Turks and Caicos would have had no jets flying in there had the strike of American Airways taken place. If that happened with one airline dominating—which American Airlines does. It dominates and runs the competition off many routes and then it increases the fares. I think Cayman Airways is our insurance policy. Before the losses got too heavy we had to take this approach, and I am certain that we will be able to correct it.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Speaker, I appreciate Cayman Airways. However, if statements like this are brought before the House then I think that we, the Legislators, have to answer to the public. If it is brought before us and we do not understand completely then we will be held responsible. In protecting my position, I would like to ask the Honourable Minister if, in his opinion, the island can afford a world class airline in harmony with the image being projected by the Department of Tourism (which is also spending a tremendous amount of money), and the Financial Secretary's concept of what the Cayman Islands is?

I mentioned that I thought the Cayman Islands were a lot poorer than we sometimes admit. The question I have is: What will it cost us at the end of the day to support a world class airline? Is this feasible at this time, or is it just a problem with management?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: What we are looking at presently is putting first class seats in. This is where the upgrading will be. They will be in small areas such as that.

I will say that if we can afford to spend the vast sums of money to promote tourism and the financial centre—the joint amount spent on those two is probably in the area of $40 million—then I believe it is good money spent to give Cayman Airways a $4 million subsidy, part of which would have to be paid to subsidise another airline in any case to fly to Cayman Brac.

I will pose the question another way: Can we afford not to have Cayman Airways? If American Airlines had gone on strike it would have been a very serious matter, as they were the dominant airline—as they were in Turks and Caicos and Puerto Rico. In fact, Turks and Caicos called us and asked what they were going to do, because their country would have been shut down by the strike.

If we had three to six weeks, or even one week when Cayman Airways was cut off from the world, where would we be? Confidence in the financial sector and confidence in tourism would disappear. The $40 million that we are paying out to promote tourism, to promote the financial sector would be down the drain.

I believe we have to look at Cayman Airways as an insurance policy. If the Honourable Members really ask how much premium are we prepared to pay for that insurance policy, I would say that the $4 million that this Legislature gives annually, when weighed against the fact that we are guaranteed that Cayman will remain linked to the outside world; when weighed against the fact that we employ 250 Caymanians in Cayman Airways; and in a hurricane if it becomes necessary we can run the jet, whereas we cannot order American, Northwest or anybody else to assist in the event of a disaster.... I would also like to point out that when the threat of a strike with American Airlines came on we tried to lease another jet, and other airlines in the United States had already leased literally all of the jets to fly the domestic routes. I want to point out that when this happens it is not a matter of running to the United States and just leasing a jet as you can do when the US is not in an airline crisis. If American had gone on strike the United States (which I think carries close to 40% of the internal and domestic travellers) would have been in a crisis. Their national airlines have to cover for the United States.

All in all, I would say to the Honourable Member is that if losses reached $14.3 million as they did in 1991 I would be the first one to stand on the floor of this House and say go back to the public for the referendum because I do not believe the public would support that again. But, I believe that what is being done now, plus the fact that in another three years, Government—not Cayman Airways—will own a jet worth $7 million, is well off-set by the $4 million that is being paid annually to Cayman Airways.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Thank you Mr. Speaker. I note the commitment of the national carrier to Cayman Brac and Little Cayman has been expressly crystallised in the Minister's statement. I wonder if the Honourable Minister can say how this commitment has been illustrated by any recent changes to the schedule?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, with two jets we are presently flying into Cayman Brac once per day, seven days a week. We recently changed the schedule at the Honourable lady Member's request on Wednesday, which will assist the Brac further. The timing is much better.

When the 1991 Government had five new jets they were only flying in there four days a week. With two jets we are flying in there seven days. With a third jet we can improve on the times, and we will improve because I have done everything I can in Cayman Airways to assist the people of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, and I pledge to continue to do that. I will work with both Members—you, sir, and the lady Member from Cayman Brac and Little Cayman—to improve it in any way that I can.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: Thank you, sir. There was a question raised with regard to the cost of Cayman Airways and whether or not we can afford it. I would like to change the question and ask what is the latest estimated contribution that Cayman Airways makes to the local economy?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, at present CAL flies in nearly one half of all passengers, and the contribution from tourism to the Cayman Islands is estimated at $376 million for just one year. Therefore, I would say that for the $4 million we are getting nearly one half of that contributed through tourism. But, more important, the second largest part of our economy comes from the offshore industry. Their contribution has to be in the hundreds of millions of dollars as well. We also carry their passengers.

People would not come to Cayman if they believed that Cayman could be cut off from the world. People would just not come here to do business. That trickles down throughout the full economy to everyone. I think the tourism dollar reaches everybody; the financial sector dollar reaches many, many people. But it is not as well spread as this.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: From the point of view of the public's question regarding the three members of staff mentioned in the Honourable Minister's statement, I have two questions. The first one is: Is it reasonable to expect an explanation as to why the method was chosen whereby they were advised of their termination on the same day as their last day of employment? Secondly, this being the case begs the question: Are there going to be internal promotions to fill these positions? Are these three positions going to become redundant? Is it possible that the positions might be filled by non-Caymanians?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, it is usual practise that when you terminate, it is better to part ways then. I should point out that they were paid for the time that they would otherwise have just sat in an office. If the Honourable Member is saying that the staff should have sat there after termination and instead of getting.....

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order.

POINT OF ORDER (Misleading)

The Speaker: Please state your point of order.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Speaker, I asked a question, and I do not think the Minister, or anybody else, can try to tell me what I am trying to say. He must desist! He is misleading everyone when it comes to what I have asked.

The Speaker: Would you please restate your question?

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Speaker, with the greatest of respect, the Minister understands the question, he just wants to answer it his way. I do not have to repeat it. If you tell me to, I will, but I know I do not have to repeat the question.

The Speaker: Will you answer the question, please? The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I am sorry if the Honourable Member has got a bit warm under the collar. What I was trying to say, and I won't go into it, is that there is a difference between terminating and paying someone for the time that they would have been given notice. It is either notice, or it is payment. Payment was made.

The answer to the second part of the question is that any post which can possibly be filled within, Caymanians first is the policy of Cayman Airways.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: For the Minister's information I am not hot under the collar. Just for purposes of clarity, the Minister has just stated that there will be attempts wherever possible to fill the posts from within. Again, to make sure, does it mean then that these posts are not going to become redundant? And would he go further to state, if these positions cannot be filled within, if they will be advertised locally and or overseas?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker. I think I probably covered that before in saying that the policy of Cayman Airways is that we first employ Caymanians—we do have 250 Caymanians employed—and, secondly, we try to fill the post from within. If it becomes necessary, if there are no Caymanians and none from within who can fill a post, then, obviously, we have to turn to overseas. I should say that I think the duty of the Board is to ensure that those posts are properly filled to avoid getting into another $14 million a year loss. The country cannot afford that. I think the present Board has the largest percentage of Caymanians employed than any other large company here.

Could I just mention one thing, sir? I understand that S H & E in their 1991 report stated that Cayman Airways contributed over $250 million per year to the economy. This was information just given to me, to add on to the question asked by the Honourable Member from West Bay.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Thank you. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if the Honourable Minister is in a position to say anything regarding training with specific mention of these posts? There may well be staff who have the potential ability to fill these posts who may need a bit of training. Maybe the Minister would comment as to whether consideration may be made along those lines.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I believe that the Board, the Managing Director, and the General Manager will do whatever is possible to assist with training. Like I said, we put $100,000 into training this year, from top management straight through to all of the ranks. This will continue.

I must caution this Honourable House that the airline business is one of the most difficult, most fickle and most complex businesses I have ever seen. Very large losses can be incurred in a month. As I showed, just before the election (when the pressure was on) in two months alone, over a million dollars were lost in each of those months. So the Board's decision has to be one which is expeditious and reasonable.

And, yes, if a person can be trained to fill a post and it can be done expeditiously, that is the route that we will go. I would like to add that throughout my time in all of my businesses in these islands, I have never had to face the problems that I both inherited and continue to have with Cayman Airways because I have been basically a banker and a lawyer and I am very conservative. I have brought this conservative approach to the running of Cayman Airways in the hope of stabilising it—which I have.

Sometimes you cannot take the time in Cayman Airways to make the decision you would in a bank or in a law firm. Things just move too quickly. Within a matter of a month, half a million or a million dollars can be lost if the Board and management do not stay on top of what is happening. I am just mentioning the difference and the complexity of the airline business.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Getting back to the issue of training, perhaps the Minister might be able to comment if, regarding the two people who were terminated and the one who resigned, one of the problems was lack of training for those individuals in the areas where they worked; or, without his going too far, was there a situation which arose whereby it was a lack of performance where they were not able to cope with the responsibilities?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I really do not wish to, and I would ask the Member not to press within this area for two reasons: First, it can damage the three staff members, and if there are questions of that sort, I can assist privately, within reason. I really would not like to get into it.

I must say that I think approximately 150 staff members have been involved with training in Cayman Airways. The management course lasted nearly four weeks. So, the training is extensive and is carried out at the senior level normally by the International Air Traffic Association, which is a world renowned body that deals with the training.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Mr. Speaker, the Honourable Minister stated in his statement on page 7 paragraph (2) that the basis for the removal of the three management staff was on an internal assessment of the organisation that was carried out by management at the Airline. Secondly, based on a mission statement, they needed visionary professional management. I think that is the basis.

Could the Honourable Minister state whether this internal assessment was carried out by senior or junior staff in relation to the three management staff that were terminated, and whether the three management staff are in fact being used as scapegoats for other areas of incompetence?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: First, I would like to point out that what I said is that the internal assessment was carried out by staff, not by management. The full staff were involved in this. Mr. Speaker, this was dealt with through all levels, this was not just management. The staff of Cayman Airways deemed management to be an organisational weakness.

Second, they called for a world class airline characterised by professional visionary management. Third, the staff (all staff) felt that effective management was so important to the achievement of the mission that they developed an entire strategy to ensure the Airline had visionary professional management in place.

I would like to point out that this was not an assessment of specific individuals; this was an assessment that was carried out on Cayman Airways generally. It was not a matter of assessing staff. They said there was a problem in management, organisational weakness. It is then the duty of the Board and the Managing Director, and the General Manager to apply that. This was part of the basis for the termination.

The Speaker: I think we have pretty well reached the saturation point in questions on this statement. If no one has a particular question they would like to ask, I would like to move that we adjourn for the morning break. Let us suspend for 15 minutes.

Statement on the National Pensions Law and Regulations. The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

STATEMENTS BY HONOURABLE MEMBERS/MINISTERS

UPDATE ON THE NATIONAL PENSIONS LAW AND REGULATIONS

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Mr. Speaker, Honourable Members of this House as well as the public are aware that the National Pensions Law (passed by the Legislative Assembly in July 1996) is scheduled to come into force on 1st July, 1997. I previously announced, in and outside of this House, that as a policy Government would not be enforcing the legislation, particularly with respect to Registration of Plans or Providers, until after 1st January, 1998.

The National Pensions Law and Draft Regulations reflect Government's policy on Pensions which views Government's role as the regulator and supervisor, with suitably equipped private sector entities serving as providers. After many years of discussion, which was intensified by my Ministry approximately three years ago, I am confident that the public accepts and respects the policy on pensions, and the enabling legislation to be timely, fair, and current.

Mr. Speaker, Honourable Members of this House are aware that Government's stated policy on pensions calls for the introduction of legislation to enable Government, through a relevant inspectorate, to properly regulate all existing and future pension plans. All persons between the ages of 18 and 60 who have been working in the Cayman Islands for 3 months or more (except for Domestic workers in private homes) will be subject to the law.

Existing pension plans, either offered by the employer (in-house) or marketed by other Approved Providers (such as insurance companies or financial institutions), will be allowed to continue to operate under the new regulatory framework, provided they can meet or exceed the standards as prescribed in the Law and Regulations.

In summary, the main standards for pension plans to meet in order to be approved will include: immediate vesting (as opposed to long vesting periods of 10-15 years); portability from employer to employer and plan to plan; employee involvement in the decision making; contribution rate cost-sharing of 50/50 between the employee and employer; regular actuarial assessments and audits; regular reports and information to contributors and retired members; all investments of the pension plans' fund must fully comply with the investment guidelines and allocations, and clear and fair transition rules regarding switching to new plans or switching from a defined benefits to a defined contribution pension plan.

All pension plans will be subject to on-going monitoring by the Office of the Superintendent of Pensions, which is a new two-person unit, which is in the process of being established under my Ministry.

I now wish to give this House an update on the legislation as well as to reiterate a number of key principles of this national pensions system.

REGISTRATION: Section 9 of the Law sets out the procedure which the prospective approved provider (whether it is an employer or a multi-employer pension plan) has to follow in order to apply for registration so as to be able to maintain and/or market their plan. Section 10 of the Law outlines what features and information each pension plan must contain in order to be registered.

Each prospective provider must apply to the Superintendent to be registered, following the provisions of these two sections. For plans which were in existence before the Law comes into force, the employer may choose to apply to have that plan registered so that it may continue uninterrupted. In so doing, they will have to demonstrate that the plan is in compliance with the legislation, particularly in areas I mentioned previously, such as: immediate vesting, portability, employee involvement and information/reports, a locally based administrator, investment strategies to comply with the guidelines in the regulations, actuarial assessments and audits as required, and the other fundamentals of the legislation. If existing plans can be modified to comply with the legislation—and, Mr. Speaker, several of the larger existing plans have already indicated that they are now in the process of improving their plans in order to comply with the legislation so as to be registered—then they will be registered by the Superintendent. They can therefore continue their Plan, offering benefits which are equal to or better than what is prescribed in the legislation.

If a provider of an existing pension plan is able to make the necessary modifications and improvement, but find themselves in a situation where their plan is not fully funded at the time of applying for registration, the plan may still be registered as an approved provider. Section 45 (2) allows a defined benefit plan to have five years after the commencement of the Law to be fully funded, that is they will be able to cover all of the retirement benefits which have accrued to employees over the years.

The concession in section 45 (2) is meant to allow the good but inadequately funded existing plans to remain in place, and gradually become a 'real' pension plan and not just a 'promise'. By this I mean that historically some employer sponsored pension plans, particularly defined benefit types, were used by employers not as a true part of the remuneration package, but instead as a tool to retain employees for a long time through the protracted vesting periods.

Also, it was (and perhaps still is in many cases) common practice for the actuarial assumptions in defined benefit plans to be based on a percentage of the employee's resigning or being terminated before becoming vested in their pension plan. The result of this is that the contributions of those employees who would not be receiving benefits from that pension plan would be used to subsidise the contributions of others in the plan.

If we assume that pensions are a part of the employee's salary package, then it is only right that there be immediate vesting and portability of benefits. When the National Pensions Advisory Committee began working on this legislative initiative, it fully endorsed that pension plans should be fully funded as opposed to pay-as-you-go schemes which seem to have other motives and which have crippled pension plans in other countries.

It is also important to stress that existing plans which may offer employees better benefits (for example, lesser contribution rate), will be able to continue if they wish. Section 5 (1) of the Law clearly allows plans which are more advantageous than those specified under the Law to be registered and operated.

If, on the other hand, employers or existing plans choose to wind up or suspend their plans because they are substantially under-funded and cannot be rectified within five years, then section 5 (2) of the Law provides for regulations which can ensure that the employees or contributors do not lose any of the accrued benefits which have accumulated under those plans.

So, the pension legislation will not displace any employer who has been farsighted enough to offer a pension plan even before the Law, or to lessen any benefits to employees. The legislation will make things much better—not worse.

CONTRIBUTION RATE: The Law prescribes a contribution rate of 10% (split evenly between the employer and employee) for defined contribution plans; and at a rate which gives the employee the prescribed or benchmark retirement benefit for a defined benefits plan. The benchmark which is being used for the contributor is 1.5% of a member's highest average pensionable earnings for each year of plan membership, subject to a maximum of 40 years of membership.

A member's highest average earnings is the average annual rate of earnings received by the member in the 60 month period (or period of membership if lesser) during which his or her earnings were the highest. The 10% contribution rate was selected after an actuarial assessment was carried out to determine the reasonable amount of retirement benefit, the inflation rate, investment return, and salary increases.

PHASE-IN OF CONTRIBUTION RATE: Section 46 (9) of the Law provides that contributors in several age categories may phase-in the quantum of their contribution rate over three to five years. Those persons 40 years of age or younger may do so over five years; those between 41 and 45 may do so over three years. Employees 45 years or older do not have the option of a phase-in of their contribution rate and must begin at the minimum of 5% for a defined contribution plan. Members and the public will appreciate that this phase-in option will make it more convenient for both the employee and employer to accommodate the provisions of the National Pensions Law.

BENEFITS: The National Pensions Law provides for a retirement/pension which is commensurate with the level of contributions which have been paid in over the working life of the contributor. The benchmark for those younger contributors who have contributed for the maximum period (i.e. 40 years) is a monthly pension of 60% on the highest five year average annual earnings.

There is also a disability benefit and a survivor's benefit. In the event there is no survivor, the benefits can be paid to other beneficiaries or to the Estate. The Pension benefit can be paid through a standard annuity, or through any other approved vehicle offered by the approved provider of the financial institution.

EMPLOYEE INVOLVEMENT IN THEIR PLAN: The National Pensions Law encourages an environment of participation between the employer and employee. The employee is also contributing to the fund to the tune of 50%, and therefore it is only prudent and right that he should be involved with and aware of what is taking place in his pension plan and the funds. That is why the law provides that Employee Advisory Committees can be established for pension plans.

Also worthy of note is the consultation process between the employer and employee on the selection of the approved provider, as well as the level of the contribution rate for those employees who are eligible for the 5-year contribution rate phase-in.

STATUS OF REGULATIONS: Honourable Members of this House, and the public, are aware that two of the three sets of draft Regulations were released for public input in May. These Regulations were provided by the Legislative Drafting Department, with technical assistance from Mr. Robert H. Hawkes, Q.C. These regulations deal with investment guidelines, and general matters.

There has not been very much verbal or written input provided to my Ministry on these two drafts. The submissions received however were constructive and of a high quality. All input was carefully reviewed and noted by my Ministry and a sub-committee of the National Pensions Law Advisory Committee.

Presently, the international actuarial firm of Towers Perrin, of Toronto, Canada, is carrying out further technical assistance for Government. Towers Perrin is reviewing the Law and two sets of draft Regulations, and will comment on the technical soundness and consistency between these. The most important part of their work will be to provide comprehensive drafting Instructions for the preparation of the third set of regulations, that will deal with actuarial and valuation issues (particularly for defined benefits plans).

Towers Perrin is working closely with my Ministry and the National Pensions Law Advisory Committee, and it is hoped that a report will be given to Government later this month.

I had previously announced that the Regulations would be presented to this Honourable House in this Meeting for the affirmative resolution as required under this Law. Despite this delay in the technical review of these complex regulations, I hope to be able to table at least a draft of the revised two sets of Regulations, and a draft of the new third set of regulations to this Honourable House in this Meeting for consideration by the House in September.

In my humble opinion all parties concerned should be able to continue to proceed with their pension plan development or subscription by using the comprehensive Law and the draft Regulations until such time as all formalities are concluded.

Mr. Speaker and Honourable Members, I should also say to this Honourable House that as a result of the review being undertaken by the consultants, and submissions by others, the Advisory Committee may recommend to Government that a few 'house-keeping' amendments be made to the Law to clarify a few general clauses. Any proposed revisions to the Law will be introduced to this House in the September Meeting. These minor amendments however would not delay the effective date of 1st July, 1997, with enforcement commencing on January 1st 1998.

I am again encouraging all employees and employers to become familiar with the Law and Regulations, because they will all be affected by and will all benefit from the legislation.

PROSPECTIVE APPROVED PROVIDERS: Presently there are three multi-employer pension plans being marketed in the Cayman Islands. I urge all employees and employers to individually and collectively investigate carefully the details of each plan, including investment details and retirement options. No one should be pushed or coerced into any plan by any prospective provider. I urge anyone who has questions or concerns about the legislation, or about the offering or tactics of either of the prospective providers, to contact my Ministry without delay.

Mr. Speaker, I am certainly honoured and pleased that the time is coming when all workers, including those who do not have pensions, will have an opportunity to start saving for their retirement, and those who already have a pension plan will be given the protection and regulation of the legislation to protect their assets. There will be no classes—all participants will be protected.

This legislative package establishes a pro-active, current and prudent system which will benefit this and future generations, and maintain a decent level of financial independence for all contributors when they are not able to be as productive. This is a long overdue matter, and I am happy to be the Minister responsible at a time when this initiative is reaching its rightful conclusion.

Mr. Speaker, I thank you and the House for allowing this long statement. There have been inquiries and misinformation put out. I thought it timely to make this statement, even though long, to the Honourable House.

Before I sit, Mr. Speaker, I wonder if I may be allowed briefly to mention the situation in Cayman Brac with the recent floods?

The Speaker: Please continue.

HEAVY RAINS IN CAYMAN BRAC AND LITTLE CAYMAN

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: Members might be aware that over the weekend in Cayman Brac heavy rains fell in several areas. Several homes, roads and other properties were severely damaged, particularly in Spott Bay and in Watering Place.

This matter was drawn to Executive Council's attention by the First and Second Elected Members of Cayman Brac, also in attendance was the Member responsible in Executive Council, the Honourable First Official Member. We took a decision that my Ministry, in conjunction with the Ministry for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works, would address the matters with some urgency.

Indeed, rain has caused damage, not only in those areas, but to some properties here in Cayman over the weekend. I just wanted to inform Members that Government is moving ahead with some urgency to address those situations.

Thank you very much Mr. Speaker for allowing me this moment.

THE HEALTH INSURANCE BILL, 1997

Clerk: The Health Insurance Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Mr. Speaker, there has been a lot of history in regard to health insurance in these islands. I ran across a little note this morning which says, "Those who live in the past will bankrupt the future." What I have tried to do in my Ministry's approach to health insurance is not to delve into the past.

Honourable Members may recall that on 11th December, 1995, I tabled in the Legislative Assembly a draft Bill for a Law Relating to the Provision of Health Insurance, as a discussion paper. My statement at the time took note of the fact that these islands had been richly blessed over the past 30 years or so, and we cannot say now (as we could then), that we are the place that time forgot. As we have developed we have had to recognise that issues which did not affect us in the past certainly do so now. The need to protect ourselves against rising health care costs is only one of these issues. The experience of the Ministry and Health Services Department since I made this statement in 1995, has only served to confirm this reality.

Mr. Speaker, whatever we may do, we cannot escape the certainty that provision of health care in the Cayman Islands is not, and cannot be, free. We can choose to distribute this cost equitably across our resident population through compulsory health insurance, in which all persons who are able will share this cost for the health care benefits which they receive. Alternatively, we can continue with our present system of paying for the provision of health care from the pockets of our visitors and residents alike through the increasing collection of revenue. One way or another we will have to pay. Today, I propose to Members of this Honourable House that they support what has been put forward in this Health Insurance Bill, as this is a far more equitable approach for those who can pay for provision of health care, as well as for those who cannot afford to pay.

Government also recognises that there are various categories within the resident population of the Cayman Islands to which it is committed to provide free health care benefits. It is a fact, however, that the numbers in certain categories continue to increase; and Government has considered how it may best protect itself against the risk of costs arising out of cases of catastrophic illness. The proposed legislation sets out how this will be accomplished in part.

Government is now seeking to ensure that the burden of payment is shifted from Government to the recipients of health care services. For this reason it is proposing that health insurance be mandated by Law for the entire resident population of the Cayman Islands except the uninsurable persons, and that payment will be due through health insurance coverage for all services provided at Government health care facilities in the Cayman Islands, unless that user or service is otherwise exempt.

The Speaker: Would this be a convenient time to take the luncheon break?

Hon. Anthony Eden: That would be a good idea.

The Speaker: Proceedings are suspended until 2.15 PM.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 1.07 PM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 2.37 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated. The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation continuing.

Hon. Anthony Eden: When we took the break I was about to comment on the background of this Government's present position on compulsory health insurance for these Islands.

Honourable Members will remember that following the General Elections in November 1992, Government suspended the previous Health Insurance Legislation (The Health Insurance Law, 1992, and the Health Care Insurance Regulations, 1992) in order to re-assess many of the concerns that were felt and expressed prior to the Election. A committee was set up by the former Ministry and the private sector which began the process of investigating the provision of realistic health insurance coverage.

Among the concerns referred to above were: (1) The very strong belief on the part of health insurers and others that the prescribed maximum premium for a standard health care insurance contract was unrealistic and unworkable and would therefore have, of necessity, to increase dramatically in the second and successive years of operation.

(2) A wide spread belief that if insurers were not prepared to sell the basic package of the mandated premium that they would not be allowed to sell any other kind of health insurance in the Cayman Islands. Many employees feared that, as a consequence of this, they would lose excellent existing benefits under the present health insurance schemes.

(3) The maximum premium for a standard health care insurance contract for those over 65 was felt by many to be unnecessarily high.

Mr. Speaker, the public will remember that the 1992 legislation mandated a premium of $179 per month for those 65 and older, and $45 per month per person for those under 65. In this new proposal the single premium rate for all ages came as a result of frequent and compelling requests for no difference in premiums for persons aged 65 and over.

I have taken account of these very compelling and practical considerations. As a result, I have prepared and circulated the draft Bill and my statement to many individuals and interest groups. Then, based on feedback which I received, I amended the draft Bill and produced draft Regulations for further discussion. These I tabled in the Legislative Assembly on 17th July, last year.

We also recall that in September 1996, I withdrew the Bill for Health Insurance and the draft Regulations from debate by the Legislative Assembly. At that time it was felt that public concern about the estimated monthly premium was significant and further information was needed on just what effect the premium would have on families, especially those in the lower income bracket.

There was also a perception that an employee with multiple dependants would have to pay the full cost of the premium times the number of dependants. This is simply not so. The standard practice in the insurance industry when more than one family member is insured is that the premium become less, and it has been indicated to me by one of the insurance companies that in the family plan there is even further significant reduction in premium costs.

Mr. Speaker, there have been comments about the coverage of children being put in place in this health insurance scheme. That is so. We know that by June of next year the Health Insurance Law, 1997, will be in effect and all school children will have to be insured. However, during school hours, school time student walk-in patients or emergencies will be treated free of charge at all Government Health Care facilities.

Mr. Speaker, when looking at the newspapers, just this week alone, we can see that the amount of money involved when a child has to go overseas for tertiary care becomes significant. If these children are not covered under insurance, where do they go to? What happens to them? They ultimately have to come back to Government. They have to sacrifice their homes or land, if they have a piece of land, this is the reason why we feel the need to adequately address this problem. I am pretty sure that most of the companies in the Islands already cover their employees with what we are putting forward in this plan to at least the standard premium coverage we have here, and most of this is already in place. I do not anticipate seeing this as the burden some people would be putting forward.

Mr. Speaker the withdrawal of the proposed legislation at that time also allowed further work to be done concerning the provision of coverage for high risk insurance persons. The concept of a high-risk pool, whereby all the approved providers of health insurance coverage would accept and share equally the risk of insuring high-risk insurance persons, was extensively explored. But, until now, the details of setting up and operating the high-risk pool have not been satisfactorily resolved. In the interest of time, provisions have been introduced into the bill for the high-risk insurance person.

Moving now to the Memorandum of Objects and Reasons: "This bill seeks to establish a system of compulsory health insurance in the Cayman Islands, whereby all persons resident in the islands including the unemployed must obtain health insurance. This bill also seeks to establish standard health insurance contract."

"Clause 3 provides for the establishment of compulsory health insurance. Under this clause an employer is responsible for effecting and continuing in force a standard health insurance contract on behalf of himself, his unemployed spouse and children, his employees and the unemployed spouse and children of his employees. Any person who is not covered by a contract effected by an employer must effect a contract on behalf of himself, his unemployed spouse and his children. The Government may effect health insurance contracts on behalf of its employees, public office pensioners, indigents and others.”

Mr. Speaker, just to say at this point, that coverage can be no less than what they are now receiving.

“Clause 4 provides that high risk insurance persons shall be insured as prescribed by regulations.

“An employer is required by clauses 5 and 6 respectively to pay the premiums under a health insurance contract but he is entitled to deduct half of the cost of the premium for the employee and the total cost of the premiums for the unemployed spouse and children from the remuneration of the employee.

“Clause 7 provides that it is an offence for an employer to deduct more than the amount that he is entitled to deduct and an employer is liable on summary conviction for such an offence to a fine of $2,000 or on conviction on indictment to a fine of $5,000.

“An employee is required under clause 8 to keep his employer informed of all facts relating to the employer’s liability to insure that employee. An employee who fails to keep his employer so informed shall be liable to his employer for any expense incurred by the employer for which the employer would otherwise not have been liable.

“Under clause 9 an employer must provide his employee within 15 days after the employment of that employee with a statement containing among other things the name and address of the approved provider with whom the contract of insurance has been effected. Failure to comply with this provision is an offence punishable with a fine.

“Clause 10 provides that an employee may recover from an employer who has failed to effect a contract or to pay the required premiums, a sum equal to the amount of any benefit lost.

“Under clause 11 it is provided that any person may voluntarily conclude a contract of health insurance with any insurer.”

At this stage I would urge all people out there to look at this. They are allowed to continue the benefits they have above the standard contract and most prudent Caymanians will continue to do this. All this is saying is that we must have the basic package.

“Clause 12 specifies the circumstances under which a health insurance contract may be terminated and clause 13 provides a penalty for the making of a false statement or false representation etc. in respect of a health insurance contract.

“Clause 14 provides for the liability of officers of corporate bodies and clauses 15 and 16 provide for the recovery of sums owed under a health insurance contract.” Mr. Speaker we will not be taking away people’s houses and cars and land.

“Clause 17 provides for the determination by the Authority in the first instance, of any claim to a health benefit or question arising in connection with a standard health insurance contract.

“Clause 18 provides for appeal to the Grand Court from any decision of the Authority under clause 16 and clause 19 specifies the matters for which the Governor in Council may make regulations which shall be subject to affirmative resolution.

“Clause 20 repeals the Health Care Insurance Law 1992.

“It is proposed that every approved provider must within 6 months of the enactment of the Law be able to provide standard health insurance contracts and that the provisions of the Law relating to penalties will be brought in force 1 year after such enactment.”

There are those who will say that this is not a perfect Bill. But I believe it is affordable and workable, and I am proud that it provides benefits to people of all ages without discriminating against those over 65 years of age. We must start somewhere. We cannot continue to leave our people liable at times to catastrophic health risks, and I believe this Bill addresses that concern to a large extent.

It is a very important piece of legislation, and I would like to conclude by thanking the Members of the Health Insurance Advisory Committee who have devoted many long hours to the task of bringing it to fruition. I would also like to thank the Caymanian Compass, and especially Mr. John Redman who has done an excellent job in helping to educate our people by carrying excerpts of the Bill in the Caymanian Compass.

I would like to thank the members of the Council of Associations and other big companies who have indicated their tentative support of the Bill at this time. It is anticipated that Government will consider a delay of two years after commencement of the implementation of the scheme before effecting increases in the fees under the Health Services (Fees) Law of 1993. This will allow time for the Bill now proposed and the Regulations to come into effect and for the experience gained thereby to be utilised for future revisions of the Law and Regulations.

Mr. Speaker, when we passed the Law on to the providers we asked for quotes back from them. I will give the range of what some of these insurers have indicated to us the premium would be. The lower end of the scale was around $35.00, and the upper end of the scale was $65.00. Some people have advocated that we should set the premium, but when this was banded about last year and the amount of $60.00 was put forward, all of them said ‘if you fix the premium at $60 there will be no attempt made to provide a contract of health insurance for a cheaper rate.’

As you know, the Cayman Islands live by the free enterprise system where the law of supply and demand rules. I feel that this approach will ultimately be the best for our people by allowing the people out there to compete. I anticipate that some of these premiums will even go lower because once more people are in a group situation we all know that the premiums drop significantly.

Mr. Speaker, in closing I would like to say to this Honourable House that we need to act as responsible representatives. Cayman is not like it used to be. We need to help our people and educate them on the benefit of health insurance, as well as pensions. They must attempt to protect themselves against catastrophic losses. That is the reasoning behind this Bill.

I have seen in recent times where individual families have incurred up to $500,000 in medical costs. There is not one of us in the Cayman Islands or, literally, anywhere, who could deal with that kind of expenditure.

Mr. Speaker, as with the construction of the new hospital I have attempted to take politics out of decisions that must be made for the benefit of our people. Cayman has waited a long time for proper health care facilities and adequate health insurance coverage. I agree with my good friend, the Third Elected Member from George Town, when he said to me some time ago that we should not oppose for opposition sake, but we should do what is good and right for the people of these islands.

I have no hidden agenda in the putting forward of this Health Insurance Bill. We have tried to eliminate as much Government bureaucracy as possible and to allow our people to benefit from it. This sets out very briefly some of the highlights of the health insurance Bill to be debated, and I commend it to the Honourable Members and seek their support in passing it. Thank you.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill entitled, The Health Insurance Bill, 1997, be given a second reading. It is now open for debate.

The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

(2.59 PM)

Dr. Frank McField: Mr. Speaker, I will start my contribution to this Health Insurance Bill, 1997, by saying that it is true that for a very long time we have needed health insurance to cover all the people in these islands. It is obvious that the need for health insurance in the Cayman Islands was recognised by the previous Government and by members of the public as well. The discussions prior to 1992 resulted in their bringing a Health Insurance Law, 1992. The fact that we are today repealing that Law, and bringing into Law The Health Insurance Bill, 1997, is a consequence of the fact that it is not easy to arrive at a unanimous conclusion as to what is the acceptable standard for insuring our people.

It is something that I would like to see work in these Islands. However, I am not sure at this point that this Bill can accomplish what I might wish it to accomplish, which is, to give greater security to the members of our society, and to alleviate the financial stress on Government which arises as a result of people having to seek medical attention without being insured.

Mr. Speaker, I am beginning to understand more and more the difference between law and society. Law is something that can be thought up, also it is something that can actually be enforced. But in society there are realities that the law itself cannot change. As a result of that, the law sometimes finds that it creates more difficulties, more havoc, than it intended to. The intentions and motives of lawmakers in most cases are honourable, and in this particular case I believe that the Honourable Minister for Health is very honourable in his attempt to give the people of these Islands the kind of safety net that they so deserve.

However, there are certain clauses in this Bill, there are certain wordings and certain burdens that I think need to be more explored, simply because in making laws and in dealing with institutions such as insurance companies we tend to be borrowing the culture of other countries that have dealt with these issues before we have the opportunity to do so. So we are not creating something that is unique. In fact, we are attempting to transpose something from one environment to another environment. Its not always the case that it will fit.

The history of pensions, the history of insurance, the history of distribution of wealth and the history of equality in a lot of societies, has been debated and implemented into law, in that people have always asked the question: 'How do we arrive at a society where the greatest number of people can enjoy the greatest amount of good?' We have charged certain institutions, like their work place, with responsibilities. Perhaps in America and Europe, where they have large firms and large corporations, this is workable.

So, to use the word 'employer,' for example, and to say that the employer is responsible, is almost as if we are trying to transpose the responsibility that would have existed in a place like England, Germany, or America (with perhaps fewer contradictions). The typical employer is someone who employs someone's labour and who makes a profit at the end of the day from that person's labour; someone who has capital at his or her disposal and someone who is carrying on functions in a society that are already bureaucratic enough for them not to have to create any additional machinery in order to manage these types of responsibilities that we are today charging the employer with in this Bill.

An employer in the modern-day society of the Cayman Islands could mean also a secretary working at Barclays Bank who also employs a domestic. An employer could also mean someone who is employing a gardener, because the responsibility that we are giving to the employer is not confined to 5%, 10% or even 25% of the population; but that responsibility (because of the nature of our society) is being distributed very widely. If the employer is, by law, responsible to see that his employee and his employee's unemployed spouse and/or child is also insured, from the point of the administration of this Bill, we might experience a few difficulties. I would beg the Minister, when he winds up (after he has had some thoughts about this) to give me some idea that will cause me not to worry about this particular definition of responsibility.

Saying that an employer is 'responsible' could include a very uneducated person who does not even have the capacity to fill out an application—because once you are employing, you are employing.

In speaking on this I would also say that I would have preferred for domestics to have been left out of this particular category. It creates a kind of bureaucratic atmosphere that I do not think will work very well with all of the people.

Because we all have capital or access to a certain amount of money, we can all 'employ'; but, at the end of the day, we are not necessarily reaping any kind of major reward for employing someone. Therefore, to charge the person who employs a domestic with the responsibility of paying a portion of that health insurance is based upon the atypical type of idea that the employer is making a profit. The whole inference here is to try to redistribute some type of wealth, and to therefore create some kind of social equality in the society by instituting this type of health insurance. I think it is quite clear that there are many of us who are employers but who are not making any money.

In looking at the fact that the appeal body is the Grand Court.... Most of the things in this Bill (as a point of law) are acceptable to me. I have problems with the whole idea of the power which the Minister of Social Services (the person responsible for Social Services) is going to have as a result of this Bill. I do not understand how this concept got into it. I do not know if that was in the previous Law. It is one thing to have the Department of Social Services involved in assessing cases and deciding who qualifies as an indigent person, but when we are going to have information about individuals passed from one Ministry to the next, we have to be careful. We have to remember that in a lot of developed countries there are laws prohibiting the sharing of information.

We have to also understand that dealing with the Department of Social Services and dealing with the Ministry, where other issues and other departments are being taken care of, could create a bit more of a problem in terms of confidentiality—the kind of confidentiality which exists between a patient and his doctor. We would like to see that maintained. The question is: Will it be maintained best when it is floating above the Department of Social Services? Maybe that is exactly where it should be cut off—at the Head of the Department of Social Services.

There is also a political aspect to this. I think we have to be very careful. For instance, if somebody contracts AIDS tomorrow, he will not be covered by the insurance. Therefore, you have to make a political decision. At the end of the day it is something that a politician will have to make a decision on.

I think we also recognise that there is a clear difference between the functions of the Administrative branch of Government and the Political branch of Government. In this case we are going to subvert the authority of the Administrative branch of Government in order for the Political branch of Government to make the final decision. If we are going to accept that particular part of the Bill then I say that some kind of committee needs to be formed to look into these situations. We definitely cannot afford to take the risk. We are not casting aspersions on any particular person, but a Ministry is a position that will be there in the future. We do not know what the future holds. When we make laws we must make laws with a vision of the future. It is best to take that precaution there.

Another part of the Bill is talking in terms of indigent people. I understand that that is a needy person. I looked it up in the dictionary just to make sure, and the dictionary I used gives the same one word definition—'needy.' It does not give us any kind of social economic criterion. In other words, would my sister—who has four children, who has one job and who has to raise these children by herself without a husband—be considered a needy person? The salary she makes is not fantastic compared to the cost of living in the Cayman Islands. Perhaps if I was the Minister of Social Services, and she came to me, I would make sure (being that she is my sister!) that she fit into that classification. Those are the types of situations we have to be very careful about because, since I am not the Minister for this particular Portfolio, I would hate for my sister to say that someone else got it and she did not.

So in the administration of fairness and justice we have to be careful. We have to try to achieve an acceptable definition of indigent; a definition not left to a subjective judgment by anyone, but a definition we can all carry around with us. Then, as we come in contact with these people we can say that these are the people we think Government should be supporting.

I have always been in praise of the way Government has exhibited Caymanian humanitarianism towards the people by providing everybody with medical attention. We are now going to slightly stray away from this because we can no longer afford to provide the type of quality care for people without them contributing back to this system. I believe that it is good to encourage everybody to take out whatever amount of health insurance they can afford, so that if they are sick they can pay for the medical attention.

I also believe that if we accept the fact that there are indigent people in our society, people who cannot be insured because of particular illnesses, we will begin to say that the system is limited. In other words, the insurance system is not a perfect system. The insurance system is a profit-making system; it will not do anything unless it can realise a profit. We have to accept that particular rule.

Since the insurance companies are not offering anybody anything, what we are doing is offering them something—a new group of people to insure who in many cases can afford to be insured, because this is not the heart of darkest Africa. We are a country where even if it is $25 or $35 a month, we can afford at least some payment towards a health insurance policy. It is not bad for the insurance companies to be dealing with us.

Again, my question is whether or not we are getting what we are paying for; not with regard to how much the policy costs, but with regard to the profits the insurance companies may make, especially when they are operating in an environment which is so economically stable, and also stable from the point of view of the health of the people. We have healthy people in this country because of the preventative medical policies of the Government, which results in the risk being minimised, therefore the profits can be maximised.

I think that whatever committees are formed by insurance companies, they will always be looking after their own interests so that at the end of the day they will not be making less profits or go bankrupt. As a Government we are compelling our people to become clients of insurance companies (providers) where our people will exchange money in return for medical coverage.

Who is really being covered here? There was some mention that we did not have people over the age of 65 covered before. We do not have people with social diseases covered. That is my understanding, perhaps that could be clarified for me. Social disease, meaning gonorrhoea, syphilis and all the other things that are out there including AIDS, are not actually being covered. This displays a bit of prejudice towards women. If a man in the Caribbean society who is not totally free of promiscuity and contracts a disease, he could probably share that disease with many more women than the women will share their diseases with. It should also be taken into account that the nature of the social disease could affect the reproduction system if it is not cleared up. We need to try to encourage people with these diseases to come forward and be treated for their illness and ailments. They will not be treated if we make it more difficult by saying that not only is it a 'social disease' and not only do we not want to talk about, but we do not want to pay for it, so it is not covered by the insurance.

It does not cover people over 65, but social diseases could spread very rapidly and we could find a lot of people are affected over a particular period of time. God forbid, but that is also a possibility. It is not always that a person is not responsible—a woman may be a very innocent person trusting the man who goes out and breaks that trust by bringing back that 'unholy' gift. So we have to think about women in this particular situation as well. That type of situation is as bad as discriminating against people because of age.

American insurance companies refuse to insure anything that will cause them to have to pay out of their profits, particularly with AIDS. There is nothing benevolent about the insurance companies at all. They are in there for profits, and if they cannot make a profit then they are not interested. That is their position. If somebody has AIDS in our society, at the end of the day the Government is still responsible for paying for that person. If somebody has a social disease, Government is still responsible. If somebody is indigent... and I know if we come to some kind of social economic definition of that we would see that someone, perhaps making $800 to $1,000 a month (which a lot of people in this country are making that) with two or three children would qualify. If we go into that we might find people who could not afford to pay for the insurance, therefore, Government would be responsible for paying for these people. So, at the end of the day the Government's responsibility has been decreased but not eliminated.

If Government's responsibility is still there it would be interesting to know the cost of treating these people who are partially or wholly uninsurable because of illness—because insurance companies are not going to insure a sick person. They are going to give insurance to healthy persons, and people who are 18 and below. If, when you go to start this thing, you can give everyone a medical examination or screening, they will say 'I can insure you, but I cannot insure you.' We need to know who is going to be on what side. What kind of figures are we looking at? What kind of people will insurance companies be insuring, and what kind of people will the Government be insuring? Will the Government be insuring the people who are going to end up at the hospital every week, and be insuring the people who are going to end up in the hospital every 40 years?

Will our Government which in a humanitarian stance will not refuse to treat people who have AIDS, will not refuse to give them protection, will not refuse a person who has a social disease from getting treatment, will not refuse a prescription, be used at any particular point by the insurance companies? They know that we are not going to let people go with out treatment in this country as our track record shows. We are neither the United States, nor Great Britain with so many people. Our system is small enough to be seen through and examined.

If somebody is compelled to get insurance when they are 18 years old, or you are compelled to insure your children; yet Government will give your children medical treatment during school hours (like they do in a lot of other countries), where is the risk to the insurance companies when they are providing for children? Whether or not the child has to be insured when it is born, or when it is four years of age, or eight years old, it says a 'child'. We need to have some kind of clarification as to what year and at what point that person takes over the responsibility to see that the child is insured, and at what point that becomes the legal obligation of the employer, and the legal responsibility for the employee to tell the employer that the child is there and needs to be insured. I am sure that the Minister will be quite capable of answering me with regard to these things.

These are just observations and considerations that I have been able to spot in the Bill. What I am saying is that Government's responsibility has not ended and will not end with the implementation of a Health Insurance Bill.

I would like to see that Government also profits from what they pay out. For this reason I would actually suggest that we look into creating our own Health Insurance Company. The Government of the Cayman Islands should form a Health Insurance Company. If there are profits, the people of these Islands can share in these profits, because if we have civil servants who have to be insured, maybe that is over $5 million dollars per year that the Government would be paying in regard to insurance. If we have a captive clientele like the civil service to begin working with, the people in the statutory bodies (the Water Authority, Port Authority, Cayman Airways—two hundred and something people we hear) we begin to go out there.

Basically, the whole principle about the insurance company is collective. If you collectively come together and collectively pool your resources you can protect somebody who gets in a problem. That is the concept. So if that concept can be instituted and administered by a private company, why can it not be done by Government? It is in the position to do it because it has the bureaucracy already in place.

So, if we must invest the fruits we would like to see some of the rewards come back to us, and not just go to these insurers that are fly-by-night things—whether they go to Canada, or Bermuda, or wherever they go but they are not Caymanian. We need to collectively, if we are going to be forced to put our money out every month, know that that Capital is accumulating in the Cayman Islands. I think that this is something the insurance companies, of course, will not encourage. They are not going to encourage that. They are not going to sit down on any committees with us and tell us that it is a possibility, but they will talk about group insurance, they will talk about showing us how group insurance is cheaper than one person insuring. But they will not tell us that a nation insuring itself should be cheaper too than one company insuring itself.

The Government has paid so much already—we have paid to build a hospital, we have paid all the overseas bill for these people, we know the health condition of the people in this country, we can weigh it. We know if the people are not healthy. It is my assumption that the people are so healthy that, except in these difficult illnesses or accidents, where usually it is going to cost more than $25,000. The majority of people are in good health.

We have a lot of people who are paranoid, who are neurotic and think they are sick all the time. We come from a society where people think they are sick. The doctor will ask them how they feel.... I used to tell the joke about the old woman who, when asked how she was doing, would say, 'I'm not doing too bad, but I got some arthritis, and my gallbladder, and my rheumatism.....' If you ask somebody how they feel, they will tell you how terrible they are feeling.

We have people who go to the hospital and say that they need to go to Miami, and we know they do not need to go to Miami. The doctors say they do not need to go to Miami, but at the end of the day, to pacify them, we end up having to send them to Miami and pay these big bills. What's wrong with them? Nothing! A lot of those situations exist. But, basically, we have had a healthy population because the Caymanian people throughout history have been healthy people—we have good diets in this island with very good medical care. Our hospitals have always been number one in terms of the treatment.

My contribution is to say that perhaps we should look at this thing from a different perspective. It is not a question of whether or not we can afford health insurance. The question is whether or not we can afford to do without it. We can afford health insurance, but some people cannot afford it. Those people who cannot afford it will be covered by Government anyway, not by the insurance companies. And since Government is being so generous in covering those people who cannot afford it or those people the health insurance companies will not insure, then Government should at least be given the opportunity to reap the profits (if there are any) to be made. That seems fair.

We are not pushing anybody out. Nobody came and said that they were going to do this for all of us. We know that we have had a problem in this country in terms of access to capital. We are always going out to borrow and paying interest, when we could be borrowing from ourselves by exhibiting a little bit of collective common sense. Discollective common sense I will leave, of course, to the Honourable Member for Finance and other people like that to advise us on in the future.

I support the principle of this Bill. I would like to know a little bit more about how much it is going to cost, and if it costs that much, then its going to be a cost to Government.

If there will be a cost to Government, maybe the best thing for Government to do is to look into the possibility of creating its own health insurance company to insure those people of the Cayman Islands it can insure. It does not necessarily mean that Government has to tell the private sector that everybody has to insure with the Government Insurance Company. But, certainly, it would be wise for the Government to consider that if it had its own insurance company it would give people the opportunity to insure with Government.

As long as Government has money it means that the indigent person can be taken care of; it means that a person with a heart condition, or a blood pressure condition can be taken care of. It means that a person with AIDS can be taken care of, and a person with a social disease can be taken care of. When the insurance company has the money it does not mean the same.

Thank you.

The Speaker: Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 3.36 P.M.

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 4.12 P.M.

The Speaker: Please be seated. Debate continues. The Second Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Miss Heather D. Bodden: I rise to offer my support to all the hard work that has gone on in the effort to reverse the present financial strain on Government by providing medical care for the needy.

It goes without saying that making a decision to impose regulations that affect both the employer and the employee comes with great difficulty, and requires much work and input from both the public and private sectors. Mr. Speaker, the Honourable Minister for Health has worked long and hard to bring this Bill to this Honourable House. I know that he has made every effort to deliver the appropriate measure to correct the situation. There are many people in these islands who may not take the necessary steps to protect the health and welfare of their families. This measure is therefore designed to make sure that everyone is covered.

Government is investing a substantial amount of money in the new hospital as well as the district health care clinics which will provide excellent medical services for the people of these islands. However, Government cannot be expected to bear the burden of all costs associated with health care, which is why a new measure to deal with this problem is in order.

Nevertheless, I would like to take this opportunity to solicit further information from the Honourable Minister. I am asking what percentage of businesses on the island do not presently offer coverage to their employees? Do you feel that this Bill will address the problem of Government's present responsibility to settle the unpaid hospital bills of certain individuals who could not pay? People who are responsible are responsible for themselves; people who are not will never be. Is this where the problem lies, and does this measure address that concern? What other solutions were taken into consideration? Is this the only way to achieve the needed results?

Mr. Speaker, I thank you, and I would like to thank the Minister in advance for clarifying these issues. With that I offer my full support for the Health Insurance Bill.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

(4.13 PM)

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I can well recall the time when this country had the system of socialised medicine, and health care was not only widely accessible, but it was free to all and sundry. It was a great source of pride to me, when I left the Cayman Islands in the mid 1970s and went to another jurisdiction which was, comparatively speaking, more modern, industrialised, developed and certainly economically more sophisticated, when I made the observation that our system of socialised medicine and health care was much better off, much more accessible and amenable, particularly to the poor and needy. And, certainly, far less bureaucratic.

Unfortunately, over the ages we have not been able to maintain that system. We got caught up in the throes of 'modernity', as one might express it, and we have found ourselves in the quandary that all of the developed countries (the United States, Canada and all of Western Europe and Japan) have found themselves in: namely, How can we arrive at a system of universal health care which affords the wide range of services to both the rich and the poor, alike, taking the burden for payment away from Government?

As a consequence we have sought a common solution in universal health insurance. This in itself is perhaps the most practical solution—it certainly is the most attractive, and would seem to be the easiest solution; except for the fact that we in the Cayman Islands (like many of these other jurisdictions) have little or no control over the agencies offering health insurance. They are usually private and motivated by the urge and the absolute necessity to make profit—many times, with no regard for the poor and those who have difficulties paying, and in many cases with complete disregard to those people who seemed to be most vulnerable.

I heard a previous speaker express some concerns over the fact that certain social diseases are not covered, and he very eloquently articulated his concerns. I want to go a step further and make the point that it strikes me that in many cases the reason why certain companies are reluctant to cover these diseases is because of a certain prejudice that they may have. They believe that these diseases are common phenomena among only a certain class, and that the people who may be able to pay for these kinds of diseases would seek to be discreet in coming forward, and hence not liable to call publicly on any kind of claim. They would rather settle out-of-pocket for fear of embarrassment, social stigma or otherwise. I believe that in this regard it is a most unfair system.

I was reminded, as I listened to that speaker, that in the West Indies we do not necessarily share the European and the North American stigma about certain things that we are caught up with as a result of certain kinds of social behaviour. While no society is exempt from this kind of phenomena now, the fact that we are not being covered for such eventualities begs the question: Is what we are being offered really in the best interest of all and sundry, or is the offer primarily based on the profit motive?

I am acknowledging that a certain risk is involved on the part of the insurance companies. But, I also have to lay the argument that the reason why this jurisdiction with such a small pool of people is attractive is because historically we have been a very healthy nation. The mere fact that our Government could offer a system of complete socialised medicine for so long means that the Government was not inundated with expense until recently when, perhaps for dietary reasons and a more sedentary lifestyle, we have begun to be affected by certain ailments which basically have their genesis in the fact that our diet has changed significantly; and because of our work habits and lifestyles we do not exercise nearly as much as we should resulting in certain diseases like heart conditions, hypertension, and so on.

Mr. Speaker, the attempt to provide health insurance is a noble one indeed, and this Honourable House was well reminded that this has not been the first attempt. Perhaps the ideal solution will escape for a long time, but it is my belief that we can get a more equitable, comprehensive system and a fairer system; a system that will not seemingly penalise a certain section of our population; a system which, when it comes to identifying certain categories, will make identification in such a way that it is not demeaning.

The problem with these kinds of attempts is that we have categories like the 'indigent', the 'uninsurable', the 'partial uninsurables', and so on and so forth. Those categories in themselves should not be frightening and are not necessarily prohibitive. The challenge comes in with who is doing the labelling, and setting the criterion. If we allow the insurers to set up these categories, and allow them only to pick from the pool they want, quite naturally they are going to leave out those elements they consider to be the greatest risk. To take in high risk people would mean having to take a cut in some of the profits.

Unfortunately, in these instances we have to take the good with the bad. I have to agree with the observation that I would like to see some acceptable definition of these categories made by a body or a caucus of people and have that definition entrenched in the Law. What may appear uninsurable to my particular bent and prejudice, might not necessarily be uninsurable or indigent to someone else who has a totally different perspective, or who approaches the situation from a different point of view.

This leads me to suggest that I would have been happier to see the affairs administered by a commission rather than by an authority, particularly as the Monetary Authority is fairly new in its structure and will have the additional challenges of setting up all the other elements which make up our international financial centre. I would have been happier to have seen an insurance commission, which would not have been farfetched; it could have had in its make up one or two lay members who would have some kind of ideas and feelings representative of what I would call the rank and file. I think in many jurisdictions there are such commissions.

While I am on this note of the commission, this commission could also serve as an appellate body to which anyone who felt that they were aggrieved or not treated fairly could bring their complaint, rather than bringing their complaint to the Monetary Authority. It could be structured in the same way where if one were not satisfied one could go all the way to the Grand Court. I believe it will be bureaucratically cumbersome for the Monetary Authority, with all of its other roles, duties and responsibilities, to take on this responsibility at a time when it is still growing and evolving.

There can be nothing much more controversial than this whole notion of claims against insurance companies. It is sometimes one of the most challenging, time-consuming and fraught with dissension elements that we could ever hope to get into. So I would say that this is an area which could be looked at more fully.

Mr. Speaker, I would have been happy to have had at my disposal the findings of some independent actuarial assessment. That would have allowed me to speak from known facts with regard to what numbers we need to be thinking about in the high-risk pool; what kinds of ailments we are likely to be dealing with, and the kind of expenses which result from the treatment of these ailments. The absence of this kind of information places us at a serious disadvantage in any negotiation with the insurance companies. We are unable to say that we believe that the ceiling should be an amount other than what they are advocating. Remember, we have no fixed ceiling. The rates will vary between $35 and $60, but we have no starting point.

I would have been very happy to have been able to say; 'Here is the cost of a basic package, and this is what the basic package offers. However, if you are desirous of going beyond this here is what you can pay for the kind of coverage that is available to you.' Mr. Speaker, such a situation will enable the consumer to choose according to what he or she can afford. The absence of that does not bode well for any kind of manoeuvrability in terms of those people we might call 'indigent' or who, for whatever reason, might be limited in their ability to buy insurance.

Also, it would allow the Government to be in a position where it could more easily calculate whether it will have to subsidise, or underwrite, and by how much. It would certainly enhance our bargaining position, as well as allow us to calculate whether in years to come this pool was likely to grow in numbers, remain stagnant or decrease.

Here, again, I have to think of this whole concept of social diseases. If one reads The Caribbean Week newspaper, one will see that in almost every island of the Caribbean at some stage or another there is a problem with what anthropologists and sociologists call social diseases. In some cases in the Caribbean they are endemic at times. To exclude this from coverage is downright dangerous because it is forcing persons who have the misfortune to contract these diseases to either go to very great personal expense paying for treatment out of their own pocket, or take a careless attitude and not seek any treatment resulting in perpetuating the problem. In the long run, the ultimate responsibility and moral obligation falls on the Government. Such a situation would certainly be counter-productive to what the Government is trying to do.

Expressed in another way, what I am saying is that some consideration should have been given to the kinds of phenomena one is likely to experience in a jurisdiction such as this, and some provision should have been made for dealing with those phenomenon. We have to be very careful that we are not setting up a situation for the insurance companies where they can choose what they want to cover, taking only the desirables and leaving the undesirables for the Government to pick up the tab. This brings me to the other point I heard the other day.

The Speaker: Honourable Member, before you go to another point, we have passed the hour of 4.30 PM. Would it be convenient to take the adjournment?

Mr. Roy Bodden: Certainly, Mr. Speaker. But when I get like this I could go all night!

The Speaker: I will entertain a motion for the adjournment. The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I move the adjournment of this Honourable House until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The Speaker: The question is that the House do now adjourn until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. I shall put the question. Those in favour please say Aye... Those against No.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it. The House stands adjourned.

The Speaker: I will ask the Honourable Second Official Member to say prayers.

PRAYERS

Hon. Richard Coles: Let us Pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, and all the Royal family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Official Members and Ministers of Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that we may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of our high office.

All this we ask for Thy Great Name's sake.

Let us say the Lord's prayer together: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven; Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up the light of His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

APOLOGY

The Speaker: I would like to advise Honourable Members that I have apologies for absence from the Clerk, Mrs. Georgette Myrie, who is away on sick leave in Miami. On behalf of the Honourable House, I wish her God's blessings and a speedy recovery.

Questions to Honourable Members/Ministers. At this time I would ask for the suspension of Standing Order 23 (7) and (8) to enable us to take questions after 11:00 AM.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE
MEMBERS/MINISTERS

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8)

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I move the suspension of Standing Order 23(7) and (8) to allow questions to be taken after 11:00 AM.

The Speaker: The question is that we suspend Standing Order 23 (7) and (8). I shall put the question. Those in favour, please say Aye... Those against, No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. STANDING ORDER 23(7) AND (8) SUSPENDED TO ENABLE QUESTION TIME TO CONTINUE.

The Speaker: Question No. 97, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 97

No. 97: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister responsible for Education, Aviation and Planning to (a) state the total cost of construction of the Teachers' Centre at the Creek, Cayman Brac, to date; and (b) to further state whether or not the building is completed and, if not, how much more funds will be required to complete this said project.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The total cost of construction of the Teachers' Centre to date is CI$189,421.23. The building is completed and the Assistant Education Officer for Cayman Brac is in the process of moving in. The date set for the official opening of the building is 30th June. Additional funds for landscaping and paving the driveway and parking area will be required and estimates from the Public Works Department on Cayman Brac have set these additional costs at approximately $25,000.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister state if there are any plans to build a cistern for the Teacher's Centre?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: There is a problem with the water there at present in that the well-water being used for the water system is not good. I appreciate the Member bringing this to our attention, and it will put me in a better position to go back and state that a Member of the House is asking for this. They will have to find a solution, if not with a cistern, then they will have to correct this some way.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 98, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 98

No. 98: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister responsible for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works to provide the cost of the Harquail By-Pass construction up to the end of May 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister responsible for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: Up until 31st May, 1997, total expenditure on construction of the Harquail By-Pass is C$1,822,046.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister advise the House whether or not this work is on schedule thus far, and is the Minister in a position to give us an estimated time for completion?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister responsible for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: The project is on line with the expected time, and it is hoped that it will be completed close to the end of this year. Originally we felt it would be in November, and we still feel it will be.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Can the Honourable Minister say if the Public Works Department has done the work which has been completed on the project so far, and, if that is the case, can he say to what level the Public Works Department will take the road before any private parties have anything to do with it?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister responsible for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: The Public Works Department has been fully involved with the road as far as de-mucking and spreading of the rough surface. It is our intention to complete the roughing-in of the road. Thereafter, as far as the surfacing is concerned, I am certain that we will do some of that. It is quite possible that some may go out to contract.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: In the substantive answer provided by the Honourable Minister, he stated a figure of $1,822,046. Can the Honourable Minister, without going into a lot of detail, give us some indication where these funds came from? Were they allocated specifically for this, or did some funds have to be shifted from other votes in order to get this far?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister responsible for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works.

Hon. John McLean: Funds were voted for the Harquail By-Pass, and that is what we have been working with. I know of no virement of funds to work on this. The Government took a decision to do as much as possible in-house, and that is how the project has been going.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 99, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for George Town.

QUESTION NO. 99

No. 99: Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning how the Ministry for Education plans to address the problem of the obvious lack of space for new students who will be registered to enter the Red Bay Primary School in September of this year.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

DEFERMENT OF QUESTION NO. 99

Standing Order 23(5)

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I do not have the answer to this question this morning. May I ask that it be deferred? I apologise for that. I have the draft and I can answer it either tomorrow or the following day. I should point out that I always try to put as many questions as I can, but sometimes even I am not able to get some of them in here on time.

The Speaker: The question is that Question No. 99 be deferred until a later sitting. I shall put the question. Those in favour, please say Aye... Those against, No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED. QUESTION NO. 99 DEFERRED UNTIL FRIDAY'S OR NEXT WEDNESDAY'S SITTING.

The Speaker: Deferred Question No. 90, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

DEFERRED QUESTION NO. 90

(Deferred on Wednesday, 10th June, 1997)

No. 90: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister responsible for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture what procedure is in place for reporting injuries and/or other illnesses of patients of the Kirkconnell Community Care Centre to their immediate families.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister responsible for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Within the programme, if there is an injury or other illness of a resident of the Kirkconnell Community Care Centre, the Supervisor notifies the family member listed on the files as the next of kin. This is done as soon as possible. This is standard procedure through the Adult Special Needs Programme in Grand Cayman and Cayman Brac.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say whether or not a log is kept as to when notification was made to the next of kin?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister responsible for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I do not know, but I will certainly find out and let the Member know.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is deferred question No. 91, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

DEFERRED QUESTION NO. 91

(Deferred on Wednesday, 10th June, 1997)

No. 91: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister responsible for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture to state (a) whether or not a Resident Supervisor has been employed at the Kirkconnell Community Care Centre and, if so, what is the nationality of this person; and (b) to state whether or not a Caymanian understudy has been identified for this position.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister responsible for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: Yes, a Resident Care Supervisor has been employed as of 1st April, 1997. She is a Registered Nurse with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Nursing, Masters of Science Degree in Public Health. Her nationality is Jamaican.

Prior to accepting the post as Resident Care Supervisor, she held the post of Tutor and Clinical Instructor in the Department of Nursing at the West Indies Training College. She has also held the position of co-Director of the Department of Nursing.

Her experience and background as a nursing instructor was a major asset which was felt could be used to provide continuing on-the-job training for those already employed and also to provide training for persons interested in joining the programme to work at the Kirkconnell Community Care Centre.

The answer to part (b): No, the present Care Supervisor was employed on 1st April, 1997, after an advertisement for the post was placed for two weeks in the Caymanian Compass in June 1996. There were only three applicants all of whom were non-Caymanian. However, should a suitably qualified Caymanian be identified, he/she will be considered to understudy the current Supervisor.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Minister say, if a suitable Caymanian is only one part of the commitment to Caymanianise it, if a suitable Caymanian can be found and trained in the interim?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister responsible for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: I would certainly hope so. I will do whatever I can to accommodate the concerns of the Member and others in the community. I give that undertaking.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, that concludes Question Time for this morning.

Other Business. Private Member's Motion No. 3/97, Independent Evaluation of Economic Feasibility of the use of the Port Authority Crane, to be moved by the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Prior to calling on him, I would advise the Mover and the Seconder that this could possibly be a sub judice matter, and I will ask them to be very cautious in their presentations. The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

OTHER BUSINESS

PRIVATE MEMBERS' MOTIONS

PRIVATE MEMBER'S MOTION NO. 3/97

INDEPENDENT EVALUATION OF THE ECONOMIC FEASIBILITY OF THE USE OF THE PORT AUTHORITY'S CRANE

Mr. Roy Bodden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I beg to move Private Member's Motion No. 3/97, entitled: Independent Evaluation of the Economic Feasibility of the use of the Port Authority's Crane, which reads as follows:

"BE IT RESOLVED THAT Government give consideration to an independent evaluation of the crane service on the dock to determine whether the proposed use of the Port Authority's crane is the most feasible or whether other equipment can be more economically operated;

"AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED THAT the findings of any such independent evaluation be laid on the Table of the Legislative Assembly."

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I beg to second the Motion.

The Speaker: Private Member's Motion No. 3/97 has been duly moved and seconded and is now open for debate.

The Honourable Minister for Tourism, Commerce and Transport.

POINT OF ORDER (Sub judice)

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: I am rising on a point of order. Standing Order 35 (1) states that "...reference shall not be made to any matter on which judicial decision is pending in such a way as might, in the opinion of the Chair, prejudice the interest of the parties thereto."

I took the time this morning to obtain a copy of the litigation which has been filed with the courts, Cause No. 367 of 1997, between Thompson Shipping Company, Limited (the Plaintiff), and the Port Authority of the Cayman Islands. That being the case, it seems clear to me that any response by the Government to this Private Member's Motion may disclose information which can or will be used in the judicial proceedings which have been filed. According to this Writ of Summons, it was issued on 9th June, 1997.

Also, in Erskine May 21st Edition, page 326, matters awaiting judicial decisions are discussed. With your permission, Mr. Speaker, I would just like to read what it says: "The House has resolved that no matter awaiting or under adjudication by a court of law should be brought before it by a motion or otherwise. This rule may be waived at the discretion of the Chair. Exceptions have, for example, been made on matters before civil courts which relate to Ministerial decisions or concern issues of national importance, matters which have no likelihood of coming before the courts in the reasonably foreseeable future, and matters which, though touching on issues which are sub judice, are unlikely to affect any judgment. The general rule also applies to motions for leave to bring in bills but the House has expressly resolved that the sub judice rule is qualified by the right of the House to legislate on any matter."

"A motion or an amendment which is the same, in substance, as a question which has been decided during a session may not be brought forward again during that same session. The question has been raised, as to whether this rule would apply as between a motion and a bill but so far no case for the application of the rule has been made out. Attempts have been made to evade this rule by raising again, with verbal alterations, the essential portions of motions which have been negated. Whether the second motion is substantially the same as the first is finally a matter for the judgment of the Chair."

Perhaps for repetition I should say that there is no doubt that a court case is eminent. Any comments, whether by the Mover, the Seconder, or by myself replying, are bound to be used in the court proceedings. I make formal objection to this Motion being debated in this House. I feel, and I put it to you, Mr. Speaker, that this Motion is sub judice.

The Speaker: Before you continue Third Elected Member for Bodden Town, I would like to address the point of order which the Honourable Minister has raised.

It is my understanding that this is asking for an independent evaluation of the economic feasibility of the use of the Port Authority Crane. I have no knowledge of a suit pending other than what I have heard, and I do not know the nature of the presentation that will be made by either side. I am of the opinion that we should hear what the Mover has to say concerning the moving of this Motion. If at any time I feel that he is touching on a sensitive matter, I will not hesitate to stop him; but I do not believe... and I make it very clear that I am not a lawyer, and I am subject to what study I have made on this issue. It was only brought to my attention minutes before we came into the Chamber that a process in the courts had been instituted. I was told minutes before that that there had not been. So, in fairness to both sides, I think I should allow the Mover to move the Motion. I will ask him again (as I did prior to the moving of the Motion) to be very careful in what he says because I cannot allow him to move into a sub judice matter.

The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Mr. Speaker, if I may.... I have a copy of this Writ. I am quite prepared to let you have a copy of it, and ask you to study it before coming to your final decision.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, I noticed that the Minister said that he obtained a copy of the Writ. Is he saying that the Writ was served on the Port Authority? Or that he went to the courts, or someone else, to receive a copy?

This matter rests entirely in the discretion of the Speaker. But I draw to the attention of the Honourable House two facts: One is that the matter of the Port Authority crane was the subject of questioning in Finance Committee on 10th April, 1997. During that time the only mention of Thompson Shipping was by the Honourable Minister. I, as the principal questioner, made no such designation. I draw that to the Chair's attention for consideration.

Secondly, the Motion as tabled makes no mention of Thompson Shipping, or any evaluation of Thompson Shipping. It calls for an evaluation of the Port Authority's crane. If the Minister is saying that he fears an evaluation of the proposed crane service by the Port Authority, then I can understand. But this House does not have any proposal to evaluate anything to do with Thompson Shipping. All it calls for...

POINT OF ORDER (Misleading)

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order.

Mr. Roy Bodden: May I hear the Minister's point of order?

Hon. Thomas C. Jefferson: (Addressing the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town) I am going to give my point of order to the Chair, not to you.

My point of order is that I made no remark or inference that I feared any evaluation. I do not want the Member saying to the public that that may be my motivation.

The Speaker: I think the Minister is right. He did not infer that.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Mr. Speaker, neither did I. I said, "If it is his fear..." I did not say that he made a statement. I said, "If it is his fear, then I can understand..." I mention this because the Minister displayed no apprehension about talking about Thompson Shipping. We are not going to talk about Thompson Shipping.

Mr. Speaker, the matter rests entirely with your jurisdiction. I caution any attempt to stifle democracy under whatever guise or pretext. The ultimate judge of this will not be the Mover or the Seconder, and may not even be this Honourable House.

The Speaker: I will suspend proceedings for ten minutes while I study this document.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 11.33 AM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 2.30 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated. Proceedings are resumed.

The First Elected Member for George Town.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION (Standing Order 31)

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Under Standing Order 31, I would crave the Chair's indulgence to make a personal explanation in regard to Private Member's Motion No. 3/97.

The Speaker: Please proceed, but try to be brief.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: This has to do with being the Seconder of Private Member's Motion No. 3/97. While I respect what has taken place today, I believe that there may be some misunderstanding in regard to the real intent of the Motion.

To quickly refer to the Motion itself, the Motion reads: "BE IT RESOLVED THAT Government give consideration to an independent evaluation of the crane service on the dock to determine whether the proposed use of the Port Authority's crane is the most feasible or whether other equipment can be more economically operated;

"AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED THAT the findings of any such independent evaluation be laid on the Table of the Legislative Assembly."

As the Seconder of this Motion, I had no thought with regard to using the Motion to point fingers at any individual, or any group of people, or in any way to put anyone on the spot. The purpose was—because the people of this country are totally confused about this issue and have formed opinions which when I speak to them I know are wrong—to simply clear the air. That was the whole purpose of the Motion. As representatives of the people, regardless of where we sit in this Honourable House, we have a responsibility to ensure that matters of national importance are open and understood. Regardless of what happens, we are only custodians of their authority—if I may say it like that.

I hope that the intent was not misinterpreted, and, while I respect what is going on, I want everyone here to remember that we have a responsibility to the people of this country, to let them know what is happening when there are matters of national importance. He who thinks that this issue is not a matter of national importance is either tremendously misled, or sadly mistaken.

SPEAKER'S RULING ON PRIVATE MEMBER'S MOTION NO. 3/97

The Speaker: When we adjourned earlier this morning, I said that I was going to attempt to do as much research as I could to make a decision. My decision is as follows:

I ordered that Private Member's Motion No. 3/97, entitled, An Independent Evaluation of the Economic Feasibility of the use of the Port Authority Crane, be placed upon today's Order Paper in compliance with Standing Order 25(1), and with reference to pages 326, 377-379 of the 21st Edition of Erskine May regarding matters relating to and awaiting judicial decisions.

Following the Motion being moved and seconded this morning, the Honourable Minister responsible for Tourism, Commerce and Transport rose on a Point of Order and brought to my attention a Writ of Summons from the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands, Cause No. 367 of 1997, between Thompson Shipping Co, Ltd., and the Port Authority of the Cayman Islands, a copy of which was delivered to me by the Serjeant-at-Arms. After having considered the Writ of Summons together with the Motion, I shall now order that Private Member's Motion No. 3/97 be stood down for the time being.

But since the House has priority to proceed with its business, I will not allow debate to be postponed indefinitely. I will therefore propose that on Thursday, 19th June, 1997, I will entertain a further application for the matter to be debated. I hope that this will satisfy both sides of the House. In the interests of justice to the House and to the parties to the litigation the matter is sub judice and they should proceed swiftly.

We will now move on to Government Business, Bills, First Reading. I will first ask the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning to suspend Standing Orders.

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 46(1)

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I move the suspension of Standing Order 46(1). While the Bills have been circulated for more than 21 days, the Bills have actually not been printed and gazetted. Members did get the requisite notice of them, it is just that the printed copy has not yet been gazetted.

The Speaker: The question is that Standing Order 46(1) be suspended. I shall put the question. Those in favour, please say Aye... Those against, No.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Mr. Speaker. You will have to guide me here, but when there is a motion of this nature put, do Members not have an opportunity to speak to it before the question is put?

The Speaker: This is usually just a procedural matter. But if you desire the opportunity, I will grant it.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, I desire the opportunity.

In regard to this specific Bill, I wish to place on record (having heard the Honourable Minister's explanation) that I am totally against suspending any Standing Order for this Bill to be brought to this Honourable House. A similar Bill was printed in the green form during our last sitting. It was withdrawn because of the controversial matters in it. It has not been gazetted as the Minister has said.

As you just said, sir, it is usually a procedural matter, but I want it clear that if it were left to me the natural course of events would have to take place with this Bill because I believe it is still controversial. This House can move on with its passage, but it will do so without me.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I have now asked the Deputy Clerk to have someone call and find out why the Bill has not been printed. Perhaps the Honourable Member who just objected to this has the answer, because he is the printer. I guess I will ask him: Has it been printed or not? It was issued well in advance. While I take note of his objection, normally a Bill like this would have been printed and gazetted within the 21 days. I am at a loss as to why it is not.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: I have no idea why the Bill has not been printed. I have a faxed copy of the last Gazette which was Monday, 9th June. As the Minister just said, I am responsible for the printing of the Gazette. There are 11 supplements in that Gazette. This Bill is not one of them. From whence it cometh, I know not—I just know it did not come.

The Speaker: Let us not prolong this too much longer. The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I was just rising to state that we have all been aware of this Bill for quite some time. I would just like to say that I have had time to think about it, I think it is a Bill that the House is capable of dealing with at the moment and we should deal with it. It is very important that we do not continue to postpone and procrastinate.

The Speaker: I put the question once, but for clarity I will put it again. Those in favour of suspending the Standing Order, please say Aye... Those against, No.

AYES and Noes.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: May we have a division?

The Speaker: Madam Clerk, please take a division.

Clerk: DIVISION NO. 16/97

SECOND READINGS

THE HEALTH INSURANCE BILL, 1997

(Continuation of debate thereon)

(2.44 pm)

Mr. Roy Bodden: When we adjourned yesterday afternoon, I was making the point that one of my concerns with this Bill was that certain other considerations were not taken into account. The fact is that one of the problems we have in our society is that more and more young women are becoming pregnant at an earlier age. I consider that important, as far as this Bill goes, for two reasons: One is that as it now stands there are some limitations on the coverage for pregnancy. It also speaks something about the behaviour of this society, and it comes back to a point made earlier about certain other conditions, namely, social diseases not being covered.

I would rather have seen a Bill where greater consideration was given to these kinds of situations and circumstances. I believe any Bill which promotes coverage that does not take this into consideration may fall short from the ideal of what we should be seeking at this time.

Past experience tells us that it is not easy to arrive at a Bill which is going to instantly be accepted and pleasing to everyone. We may never arrive at an ideal situation. In this case I believe the Minister can take many pointers into consideration and, if he so desires, can amend the Bill taking into consideration the expressed concerns of Members of this Honourable House.

One of the things which concerns me as well is the fact that the companies offering these policies (and it is my understanding that there may be about three or four interested companies) will have a wholly captive market. When considering that the funds paid into these policies will be significant, I must say that I am an advocate of developing a system in this country where we can do something about the hard currency drain which is almost a natural consequence of these kinds of provisions.

If we take two examples and consider that the premiums (for the sake of argument) will be $60 per month, with roughly 32,000 people in the country, we are talking about $25 million per year—the majority of which will be leaving this country. If we begin from the low end and say it would be between $30 and $35 per month, we are talking about $12.5 million per year.

My argument is that this is bound to have negative effects on our economy. Remember, this will affect every employer—and we are particularly talking about small businesses who will have to contribute for the one or two employees they may have, in addition to the proprietor taking care of himself and his family. What I would rather have seen happen (and I remain to be convinced that it cannot happen) is that when we have to address issues such as this we do it in stages, over time.

I am an advocate of the Government seeking to set up its own captive insurance system, because it will already have a pool of about 2,000 to 3,000 civil servants with which to start. Allow that to exist for a couple of years to see how it works, then the Government could broaden its horizons. Any monies earned could be put into a pool which could then be farmed out for other projects—such as housing for certain segments of the society—rather than all of the money going outside of the country to private investors where the Government has no access to the money; or, if they did, they would have to borrow it at commercial rates which is definitely not in favour of the Government and cannot be beneficial to those people needing the types of resources the Government could offer.

I am bound to say that this is an idea which will not find favour in the Chamber of Commerce and all of these other companies who are in business purely for the profit. I am an advocate of charity beginning at home, and I think that we could really have innovative Government in this case if we looked at something like this. That is another reason why I say I would have loved to have seen this worked out in stages.

Remember too that by the time this is implemented the Pension scheme will have gone into effect—under similar circumstances where the Government will not have access to that money. That will be another hard currency drain on the country. I guess what I am saying in a nutshell is that one of the considerations which must be borne in mind is that as a consequence of these policies coming into effect we are going to lose hard currency which we do not now lose.

There is also this business of arriving at a standard policy which can be affordable to all. It is unfortunate that we have to get the Bill before we get the regulations because the regulations are the important part of the legislation. That will tell us how the day-to-day mechanisms will function. In the absence of that, one can only guess as to what kind of effect certain things will have.

One of my concerns is that any legislation like this should be developed so carefully so as not to make it impossible for those at the lower end of the scale to get adequate health care. I have a concern about certain things. Remember, in our case this Bill is going to make it compulsory for everyone in the Cayman Islands to have health insurance. In certain other jurisdictions compulsion does not enter into the question; people who find themselves at an economic disadvantage are covered either through Government mechanisms, the welfare system, or through private charities and donations.

What I am concerned about in this instance is that the policies will be so structured and designed that people who fall on the lower economic end may not be able to afford the kind of coverage they need. The only way we can provide some sort of guarantee is if we go the route of an actuarial assessment where we can find out some of the common types of ailments these people suffer from, and ensure that these become part of a basic package for people in this economic range.

I have to say that I am in total agreement with the principle. I believe that seeking to provide national health insurance coverage is the way to go. Certainly, as a legislator, I am aware of the increasing pressure being placed on the Government, particularly when it comes to standing responsible for overseas expenses. I have never been an advocate of the Government getting into a position where it has to put liens on people's property in order to ensure that they are reimbursed. This is definitely a progressive step.

That it needs some more ironing out and developing, I suppose some would say is a moot point. In principle it has my support. However, that does not mean that I am going to be voting for the Bill. I have expressed my concerns and school is out until I have heard how the Minister plans to address some of these concerns, as well as others.

I would like to reiterate that I believe that these kinds of cases provide glorious opportunities for our Government to develop mechanisms which will benefit the Government in many different ways. It is a pity that the opportunity could not have been taken for the Government to start out with their own captive insurance policy to take advantage of the economic opportunities this kind of thing presents.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for George Town.

(3.00 PM)

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: The Health Insurance Bill, 1997 (the Health Insurance Regulations, 1997, which is still to be laid on the Table of the House), is perhaps one of the most significant pieces of legislation to come before this Honourable House in recent years. While this type of legislation is needed for the people of this country, it should be understood that the Bill before this House comes to us with a fairly high price tag. This is at a time when our people are struggling to cope with the recently imposed new taxation. We have also been advised that effective 1st July, the Pension Plan will come into effect.

Before continuing, let me quickly point out that while I do not oppose either the health insurance or the Pension Plan, as such, I am nonetheless concerned that the burden being imposed at this time may be more than many of our people can bear—that is, with the insurance and the Pension Plan coming so close together, it would appear to be too much, too fast. As mentioned earlier, our people are still struggling to adjust to the new taxation package introduced during the Budget Session.

“This Bill seeks to establish a system of compulsory health insurance in the Cayman Islands whereby all persons resident in the Islands including the unemployed must obtain health insurance.” Nevertheless, I am pleased that the Bill seeks to establish a standard health insurance contract, and that the prescribed health benefits are defined under the regulations, which as I mentioned earlier are still to be laid on the Table of this Honourable House.

Before moving on, may I congratulate the Honourable Minister moving this Bill for the input he has put into the Bill, and for the withdrawal of the draft Bill and regulations some time last year which allowed him the opportunity for further input, and to also make provision for high risk persons. It is also commendable that a high-risk pool has been established whereby all approved providers will accept and share the risk of insuring high risk persons.

I therefore suggest that the Honourable Minister ensure that urgent attention be given to ascertaining the names and details on all individuals who fall into this category, if this has not already been done. Perhaps in his winding up he can deal with this particular issue.

Underlying all the advantages of having all persons resident in these islands insured, is the high price tag which I referred to earlier. The question at this time is: Can our people afford it? Consider the additional financial burden that will be placed upon the shoulders of the average spouse, whether male or female, who has the responsibility of paying the insurance premiums for a spouse and an average size family of three children. Notwithstanding the good advice given by the Honourable Minister to shop around for health insurance, you can bet that the average premium will not fall far below $70 per month.

Using this example, with one spouse employed, a family of five (that is the employee, with an unemployed spouse and three children) can find himself possibly paying a premium of over $300 per month. Unless, of course, he is lucky to get the discount for the additional individuals included in the insurance premium. This is the reason why I will mention at this point that Government should have ensured that the proper actuarial studies and assessments were done so that a guideline could have been given to the insurance providers rather than leaving it up to them.

I also take the point made by the Fourth Elected Member for George Town, that perhaps the Government should look at the possibility of self-insuring. I think that is a very good idea. The figure of over $300 is a rough one, but it was based on an employee contribution of, say, 50% of a $70 premium (which is $35), his unemployed spouse paying $70, plus $70 for each one of his children; unless, of course, he was to get the reduction that would add up to $315.

I would be very pleased if I were wrong with these figures, but in the absence of any actuarial assessments being presented to this House, I believe that my guess is as good as any. The financial obligations of this family are made even worse by the tax increases I mentioned earlier. And, if that were not bad enough, we are told that pension deductions will be added to an already serious situation.

I congratulate the Honourable Minister for moving ahead with this. There is nothing wrong with health insurance, as a matter of fact it is commendable. But I am concerned that it is too much too fast, especially coming before the pension plan and on the heel of the recent increase in taxation.

The example I gave of the family of five, applies to the category of individuals known as the "compulsorily insured person," where at least one spouse is employed. The question is: what will be the plight of the family where the breadwinner, or both spouses are unemployed? If this is a temporary situation where someone is, say, seasonably unemployed for two or three months, will that employee (provided he had no savings to fall back on) automatically fall within the category of an indigent person? Perhaps the Honourable Minister will elaborate on this point in his winding up.

For the benefit of the listening public, the definition given under section 2 of the Bill before us for an indigent person is as follows: " 'indigent person' means a person who, in the opinion of the Minister for the time being responsible for Social Services acting on the advice of the Director of Social Services, is unable, by reason of inadequate financial resources to pay for health insurance or medical services..." Mr. Speaker, that is fairly broad, but it does leave a question as to what it really means. It would seem that any individual who feels that he falls into the category of "indigent person" should contact the Social Services Department to have his case assessed and to receive assistance.

Having addressed the aspect of affordability on the Health Insurance Bill, I now wish to look at the benefits prescribed by the Regulations. Since this was circulated with the Bill, but not yet been laid upon the Table of the House, it makes it very difficult to debate it. In preparing my notes, I had hoped that by this time it would have been laid upon the Table of the House so that the Bill and the Regulations could have been debated concurrently. This is one of the weaknesses of the system, in that the debate on this would have been more meaningful had the Regulations been laid upon the Table of this Honourable House.

With your permission and that of the Honourable Minister, I would make reference to certain sections of the Regulations.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Mr. Speaker, I had intended to have that tabled, but it was my understanding that the Governor had to ascent to the Bill before the Regulations could be debated. That is why I have not tabled it. If the Honourable Member would like to... of course, it will disadvantage those who spoke earlier, but I apologise for that.

The Speaker: Please continue Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. And I also thank the Honourable Minister.

Accordingly, I wish to draw attention to section 10 of the Regulations, on page 7. Section 10 deals with Maximum Benefits. It reads: "An approved provider shall not be liable to pay on behalf of each compulsorily insured person-

- (a) for [each episode] of illness, more than $25,000 in medical fees;
- (b) during each calendar year, more than $100,000 in medical fees; and
- (c) for the life of an insured person, more than $1,000,000 in medical fees."

While on the surface this may seem adequate for most medical conditions, consider the situation where someone is involved in a very serious road accident and has been hospitalised for several months in an overseas facility where the expenses are in excess of the maximum benefits contained in section 10. Will Government undertake to cover the excess cost where the person is financially unable to do so?

Under section 3(5) of the Regulations (page 4), “The compulsorily insured person shall be entitled to claim and receive such usual and reasonable costs for any in-patient benefits received.” The question arises, based on that statement: who decides what is usual and reasonable costs for any in-patient benefits received? Presumably it is the doctor or the facility prescribing the health care benefits. This should include, but not necessarily be restricted to the list of prescribed health care benefits contained in Schedule I of the Regulations.

Regulation 9, which was referred to in regulation 3(5) states: “Subject to paragraph (3), a compulsorily insured person shall be required to pay for any benefit in Part 1 of Schedule 1 received by him at a health care facility or a registered medical practitioner, 20 per cent of the fee for that benefit.” What that really means is that if a person received a bill at a hospital for $1,000, the insurance company would only pay 80% and the person would have to pay the other 20%. This is referred to as a “deductible.” This may not seem to be a significant amount to some people, but to a very poor family, it is a significant sum.

This regulation is really stating that each “compulsorily insured” person shall be required to pay 20% of all claims—no matter how high the claim is—up to a total of $2,500 per annum. As I said, this is something that is of significance to a lot of people. That is why I said earlier that this Bill, while necessary, comes with a very high price tag. It will create a lot of hardship for many families in these islands because they are already paying some very high costs due to increased taxation and the mandatory Pension Plan might really be more than they can bear. I also wish to point out that I was not exaggerating when I said that many of our people might have to go to the Social Services Department for assistance.

Consider also the time and expenses which will be incurred in maintaining records required under the Law and the Regulations. Not only will the big companies, such as Cable & Wireless, Caribbean Utilities Company, the big banks, etcetera, have to maintain detailed records, but also the small business and private—and I would like to point this out—households employing domestics. If you have a helper, or a gardener, or someone helping as a handyman, you will also have to provide detailed records, which should be available to inspectors appointed by Government.

The following is a detailed breakdown of the records which will have to be maintained. I now refer to section 18 of the Regulations. It states: “Every employer shall maintain employment and earnings records relating to each employee showing-

- (a) the name, address, sex and date of birth of each such employee;
- (b) the dates of commencement and termination of employment;

(c) if such employee is married and has children, the name and address of his spouse and children and if the spouse is employed the name and address of the employer of the spouse;

(d) the name of the approved provider with whom a standard health insurance contract has been effected; and

(e) the amount deducted monthly from the wages, salary or other remuneration of each employee in respect of health insurance.”

This will have to be done by each employer, whether a householder or a big company.

As I stated in my opening remarks, while this legislation is needed, I would like to underscore the point that it comes at a time when our people are really hurting from the high taxes which were recently imposed by Government, and from other pressures that are directly or indirectly related to that. This mandatory Health Insurance Plan comes right on the heels of these taxes; with the prospect of higher costs when the introduction of the Pension Plan becomes mandatory on 1st July. The question is: how much can our people bear? This is too much, too fast.

Notwithstanding the respect I have for the Mover of this Bill and his good intention, I feel that I would be remiss in my duties as a representative of my people had I failed to raise the points I have today. Accordingly, despite my support in principle of what is being done here today, I find it very difficult to support certain areas of the Bill, in particular, the Regulations as they stand at the present time. I am hopeful that in the Committee stage, when we examine the Regulations, the Mover might be able to address some of my concerns.

The Speaker: This may be a convenient time to take the afternoon break. Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 3.32 PM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 4.06 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated. Debate continues on the second reading of the Health Insurance Bill.

The Honourable Minister for Community Development, Sports, Women’s Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: I am very pleased that at long last a Bill to make health insurance mandatory is before us. All of us can remember (and this goes back many, many years, but came to the forefront in 1988 to 1992) when a Bill was brought by the former Member for Health which did not meet the needs as far as coverage or fees that would be charged. In fact, I well remember that an elderly person would have had to pay $179 per individual.

I have heard a lot of things said over the past years and more recently from different groups of opposition that we do not need this now. But I do not hear anyone comparing what we have today with what was offered before. If they did, I certainly did not hear them.

I believe that the Minister and his staff have done well to get this to the stage it is. I congratulate him on getting it. In 1993, the Government took the position that we had to suspend the Bill before us at the time. One does not put legislation together without involving the people concerned. That is what happened to the Bill presented between 1988 to 1992.

I well remember going to Bermuda with my Permanent Secretary at the time, Mr. Leonard Dilbert, to hold discussions with Mr. Reiner, the Actuary who worked on the Law. I found out two things of tremendous significance: the first was that the report he prepared for the Portfolio of the day (which should have been circulated among insurers) was edited prior to circulation by the removal of several pages; secondly, he confirmed our earlier advice at that time that the draft legislation which had been produced was heavily abbreviated. In the final analysis, much was lacking between the draft and the final Law. In substance, what he said was that the former Member messed around with the Actuarial process and report which the Government had paid to have done.

I have taken (and continue to take) quite a bit of stick even though, today, I am not the Minister for Health (and was only the Minister for Health from 1993 to 1994); to the extent that it is being said from public platform that I ran away from the Ministry. Well, any old fool can see that today, the Ministry for Health is but a subdivision of what my Ministry was at the time. In other words, I had the entire thing—Minister for Health and Human Services. So, take off what it is today, and look at what I had altogether. I did not run. It made good sense to split the two, and that is what the Governor did. I have never run from work!

Unfortunately, some people who are on the outside (who criticised me quite a bit from the public platform in Bodden Town the other night), do not understand that they are not Members anymore. They can say that they have a responsibility to talk to the public, but they should remember how far that responsibility goes. At least speak the truth. I have never run from work—I have always considered myself a worker.

Now, a lot of time has gone since we suspended the Health Care Insurance Bill, and many are asking why we are bringing it now when we also have the Pension Plan. Of course, they are also throwing in quite a few other things. The Pension legislation has been around longer than the Health Care legislation. When is this country going to come to grips with it? At one time there was a separation. There was a time when we had one and there was no talk about the other. At one time we spoke about Health Insurance, but we never heard about Pensions. Now that we have the Pension Plan, you are criticising it. What do people want? When do they expect to put things in place?

It is easy for those of us who have a means of getting a pension from the Legislative Assembly, or somewhere else, to stand up and say that we do not need it, or it costs too much so let us suspend it, and all those things that sound good to people who really do not want to pay. But, to those who have nothing, then what? When are we going to start? How often have we seen elderly people in this country who have nothing to depend on? They worked day in and day out for some company for years, and they walk away with nothing. Must we continue to do that? How else are we going to get them a pension? If you do not want Government to pay them social assistance, what are they supposed to do—dry up on the face of the earth?

I say that if we do not do something now this problem is not going to get smaller, it will grow. Now is as good a time as any, regardless of the Budget, or Health Insurance. We must move ahead, because people are going to suffer in the long run. I know that those persons who are talking about it understand that, but they use it as a whipping horse. The same goes for Health Insurance. No one wants to pay, and some people may not be able to. But there is a provision, as I understand it, for those who cannot pay—the Government will take care of them.

One clause in the legislation is being criticised because it refers to having the Minister make an opinion on who is indigent. I can only do that with the advice of the Director. Nevertheless, as Minister responsible for Social Services, I challenge any one of them, or anybody else in authority, to better know who is an indigent person than me, because I talk to them; I see them, they talk to me on the phone and I go to their homes. I do not need a college education to be able to know who is indigent and who needs assistance in this country. The responsibility the Governor has given me is a charge for responsibility for Social Services. I know that job as good as anybody else.

But, if they want to amend the legislation, I certainly did not ask for that. If they want to change it, that is all right with me too. Whatever works best, and as long as the public is being served in a good way, I am satisfied.

There are things in the legislation that I am not entirely happy with. But it is better than nothing, and it is time to move forward. I think the Minister for Health is doing the right thing. I support him wholeheartedly.

When we get down to the bare knuckles of the Regulations and fees, then more can be said. Right now, I will say that I support it.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak?
The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr: I rise to offer my support to a Bill for a Law to Provide Health Insurance in the Cayman Islands. I recall shortly after I was elected in 1988 that two of the issues at that stage of concern to Members of the Legislative Assembly were Health Insurance and a Pension Plan, or Social Security System.

Health Insurance is something that we need very badly in this country. I believe that Government is very wise in moving forward in this direction, in recognising the fact that it is needed; and putting in place the system that is fair, comprehensive and, in my opinion, also affordable.

It is comprehensive from the standpoint that medical services will continue to be offered to all persons in our society. Those who can pay, will be called upon to make a contribution towards health insurance coverage requiring that they pick up 50% of the premium for themselves, their spouses and dependents.

I have seen many sad cases in the need for immediate medical attention in this country. I think that we are very fortunate to have a Government that is as humane as the one we have. I have seen cases where an individual runs into some tragedy and, without a question, he is referred overseas with the support of Government. At the end of the day, the Government is called upon to pay, in some cases, hundreds of thousands of dollars.

This country can no longer take the attitude that Government must pay for everything. We have reached a stage where we must act as partners; individuals must pay their fair share, and employers will pay their fair share. At the end of the day we will have the coverage we need for all of our people in this country.

A provision has been made in the Bill for indigent people, veterans, and the Seamen Associations to ensure that they have the medical services they need guaranteed by Government.

I support the idea put forward by the Fourth Elected Member for George Town in that this requirement should not be taken all the way down to cover domestic workers, handymen or gardeners. In many instances, because the single breadwinner, or in the case of a family where both husband and wife have to work, they need someone to take care of their family. This is no longer a luxury, but a necessity. They would find it very difficult to comply with the requirement of this Law for the keeping of records in regard to their employees.

The Third Elected Member for George Town raised the concern about cost, and whether or not our people can afford this. I believe that our people cannot afford not to have it. I believe that this Government is being very responsible in recognising and putting it forward to this House the need to ensure that a proper health insurance programme is available for everyone in this country at a cost not only to Government, but to those who can afford to pay.

I also support the idea of Government having its own captive insurance company. I believe that it should be available and I believe that it would probably result in some saving to Government. The individual who is obligated to have insurance coverage should also have the option to be a part of the Government's insurance scheme. I believe that we need to move ahead with this legislation. It is long overdue.

I wish to congratulate the Minister for Health and his fine support team in putting forward the provisions contained in this legislation. I give this piece of legislation 100% support.

MOMENT OF INTERRUPTION STANDING 10(2)

The Speaker: It is just a few minutes before 4.30. I will entertain a motion for the adjournment. The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Boddén: Subject to your suggestion, the Honourable Minister has said that he is prepared to begin, if no one else desires to speak.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? (Pause) Are we saying that we will continue on? as the time is now 4.29 PM.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr.: May I suggest that if the Honourable Minister would like to wrap this up this afternoon, we entertain a motion to Suspend standing Orders to enable him to do that.

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? (Pause) If no other Member wishes to speak, I will ask the Honourable Minister if he wishes to reply.

Hon. Anthony Eden: I will be brief, Mr. Speaker, as it has been a long day. I would like to take this opportunity to thank all Members who contributed so positively to the debate on this very important Bill. I will attempt to address some of the points raised by Members, starting first with points raised by the Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

One of the points he raised was the employer's responsibility under this Bill, and the amount of administration involved. This was a concern to the committee, but on the whole...

The Speaker: Excuse Me, Honourable Minister, may I interrupt for just one minute? We need to move a motion to continue beyond 4.30 PM. The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 10(2)

Hon. Truman M. Boddén: Mr. Speaker, I move that Standing Order 10(2) be suspended to enable the Honourable Minister to conclude his reply to the Bill.

The Speaker: The question is that Standing Order 10(2) be suspended to enable the Honourable Minister to conclude his reply to the Bill. I shall put the question. Those in favour, please say Aye... Those against, No.

AYES.

The Speaker: The Ayes have it.

AGREED: STANDING ORDER 10(2) SUSPENDED TO ENABLE THE HONOURABLE MINISTER TO CONCLUDE HIS REPLY TO THE BILL.

The Speaker: Please continue, Honourable Minister for Health.

Hon. Anthony Eden: I was speaking about the administration of this where companies would be involved in managing and collecting information. It was felt that most of the large and medium companies already have this procedure in place. This was the avenue we looked at.

The other area touched on by a number of Members was leaving out the domestics. Our feeling was: Who would ultimately be responsible for these people? I know of a person recently who employed a domestic who became ill and significant costs were incurred because there was no insurance in place for them.

Under the quote I received from one of these insurance companies, that individual could have paid less than $20 for insurance coverage. This was not done, and this person incurred significant costs. For this reason I view the providing of insurance for these people as a moral responsibility.

Another question was raised regarding at what age a child should be insured. It is my understanding that it should be at birth.

Just to point out some figures we have gathered over the past few years in regard to the $25,000 coverage, our statistics have indicated that over 84% of the population of these islands referred overseas, were less than that $25,000. That is one of the areas we have looked at.

Another question raised was in regard to social diseases. I believe this was raised by both the Fourth Elected Member for George Town, and the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town. We could provide coverage, but the exorbitant fees that would have to be paid for these premiums would defeat the cause of providing coverage for those who need it most. Without a doubt, the premiums would sky-rocket.

In regard to indigents, (just for Members' information), in 1996 there were only ten cases referred overseas whose costs went over $25,000. Despite the category they fall into, the costs are not that significant to this country. The Third Elected Member also referred to the child and the single parent. We will undertake to look at this in Committee stage.

The Third Elected Member for George Town mentioned the high price tag and burden this would put on our people. When we look at the flip side of the coin, of what the costs would be if there were no coverage put in place, as I said in my opening remarks, none of us would be able to afford the cost of catastrophic coverage. This is a beginning, and there is no historical data from which sound business judgment could have been made. We will be involving an actuary at the appropriate time.

The Third Elected Member for George Town also mentioned the premium for an employee with more than one dependent. I was pleased to see that in a response from insurers, the highest quote returned to us for an employee with more than one dependent was $190. One of those same companies quoted a premium for a family of $95 per month.

Some of these will be higher, and economically, it will be a burden on our people; but I would say that the majority of our people who work in the banks and the trust companies already have this coverage, or better. What we are trying to do here is cover those who are not covered at this time. I see it as an investment.

The deductible was also mentioned, but I am made to understand that this is one of the mechanisms used by the insurance industry to prevent abuse, where people go to the hospital for little more than an aspirin. The cost of the premiums, because abuse the system, would be totally out of control. That is the reason why we have this in place.

The Third Elected Member for George Town also touched on section 10 of the Regulations and asked what happens when the person goes over the $25,000 limit per illness, or the $100,000. At present we will have to help them, and in the future we will continue to help them. But as I read to you, the percentage of our population this happens to is less than 17%. If we provided full comprehensive coverage for serious accidents, the people we really need to try and help would not be able to afford the premiums.

The question was raised in regard to 'usual and reasonable costs.' This is a typical health insurance term to discourage the inflation of hospital bills beyond what is genuinely needed to treat the patient's condition. This is another mechanism to keep the cost of the premiums down.

The Member also mentioned the maintenance of records for the insurance. As I have already mentioned, this is in place in the medium and larger companies. When I looked at the list he quoted from the Regulations, when it comes to the individual, I think this information could be retained on a 4 x 5 index card.

As I have said, various concerns were raised in regard to the Bill, and I fully accept that as we go along, this Bill (when it becomes Law) will need some fine-tuning. But you cannot fine-tune an engine until you start it up and let it run. That is what we must do with this Health Insurance Bill—it has been lagging along for too long. As we move forward and notice problems, as the responsible Government and Legislative Assembly, we will address them. Members will remember that I mentioned the fact that people will see some things that makes the Law less than perfect. We will work on it until we are finally satisfied that it suits the needs of our people at an affordable price.

We considered other ways of achieving the goal, as questioned by the Second Elected Member for Bodden Town, but in the end we felt that a Health Insurance system was the most appropriate way to go at this time. This is not to say that some time in the future another mechanism might not be used to achieve the same goals. We looked at Government setting up an insurance scheme; but we decided that at this time Government did not want to get into that amount of bureaucracy at this time.

Mention was made of the fact that the health insurance providers are in this business to make a profit. Of course this is true, and I fully recognise this. It is true of all insurance companies, be it life, car, or health. The companies make a profit and the clients benefit by having their risks covered. This is the basis of all insurance—it is a two-way relationship.

On benefits and exclusions, we could go on for hours. But the reality is that, the more benefits included, the higher the premiums will go taking it out of the reach of those who need it most. I have looked at many health insurance policies issued in several different countries. The exclusions on our health insurance scheme are common world wide. The Honourable Minister responsible for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture responded to his position as the one [to make an opinion on who is indigent] but he will be acting on the advice of the Director of Social Services. At this present time, Social Services is the only entity in these islands charged with the responsibility to determine who is indigent.

Social diseases not being included, was mentioned, including a suggestion that they are not because only a particular class of persons gets them. This is absolutely not the case. I well know that social diseases know no class, economic, racial or national barriers. In Cayman, we are presently treating patients who can very well afford to pay, and do. For those who need treatment (both male and female) but cannot pay, we use humane discretion and provide treatment. From a public health point of view, it is only sensible to do so, and this will continue.

In the case of treatment of AIDS, treatment is provided free at the discretion of the Medical Officer of Health. Clearly, this is another situation where in the interest of public health, treatment should be accessible to all who need it.

A reference was made earlier to an actuarial review of the scheme. I would like to state that I have no objection to this taking place once the scheme is up and running. This would be a good time to do it because we would have the benefit of hard data which does not exist at present. But as I said before, we must start the engine before we can fine-tune it.

We must encourage our people to restructure their priorities. Many of our young people will see buying a fancy new car as more important than taking out insurance, or even thinking of considering a pension which will benefit them in their old age.

The question was raised: why bring it now after the Pension Bill? The longer we wait, the more expensive it becomes; and the more pain and suffering our people will go through. We must start now.

In closing, I once again thank all Members who contributed, and I appreciate the support of those who did not speak by supporting this Bill. I thank the committee and the members of my staff, my Permanent Secretary, my Senior Assistant who spent many, many long hours on this. I look forward to joining the other Members of this House in developing this Health Insurance Bill into something which can be a model for the Caribbean, as we read in the Caymanian Compass that Jamaica is also going this route.

Thank you.

PRAYERS

Miss Heather Bodden: Let us Pray.

APOLOGY

The Speaker: I have an apology for late attendance from the Honourable Minister responsible for Agriculture, Environment, Communications and Works who is on an official tour with His Excellency the Governor.

Questions to Honourable Members/Ministers. The first question is No. 100, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE
MEMBERS/MINISTERS

QUESTION NO. 100

No. 100: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development to state whether or not there have been any requests to vire the sums allocated in the 1997 Budget for the Public Works Department's Residential Quarters in Little Cayman, to any other project in Cayman Brac.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The answer to the question is no. We have not received any request of this nature.

The Speaker: Supplementaries? If there are no supplementaries, the next question is No. 101, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 101

No. 101: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development to state what amount of money issued by way of Contingency Warrants for road work on Cayman Brac and Little Cayman has been released since the 1st day of January 1997 to the 23rd day of May 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The amount of money issued by way of Contingency Warrant for road works on Cayman Brac and Little Cayman between the 1st day of January and the 23rd day of May, 1997, is $197,000. This amount covers $135,500 for capital and $61,500 for recurrent expenditure.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Member expand on what is meant by capital, giving a breakdown for that sum?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I will expand the information with some details that I have and I think the Member will then have a better understanding of the amounts as they relate.

As of April 1997, before the release of funds from the 1997 Budget, an amount of $67,522 was spent from recurrent funds on the Maintenance of Roads; and $8,639 on Traffic Lines and Signs; and $271,212 from Capital on Continuing Road Projects. The following amounts were released under General Warrants.

On 3rd January, 1997, a sum of $97,000 for the Continuation of work on Little Cayman, Guy Banks Road, $58,200; and Cayman Brac, Southwest Development Road, $38,800.

On 8th January, 1997, a sum of $52,500 was released for Maintenance of Roads. This falls under Recurrent Expenditure, and this is not allocated to any specific project. This amount is available for the use under the discretion of the Public Works Department. On 8th January, 1997, $4500 was released for Traffic Lines and Signs. On the 28th of February, 1997, $100,000 was released under Capital Expenditure which is for specific projects. Capital mainly deals with infrastructural development. The purpose for which this sum was released was to enable the continuation of work on Little Cayman, the Guy Banks Road for $75,000, and on Cayman Brac Southwest Development Road for $25,000.

On 16th May, 1997, a sum of $55,650 was released under Current Expenditure for Maintenance of Roads, and a sum of $4,770 was released under Recurrent Revenue for Traffic Lines and Signs.

The amounts released under Contingency Warrants were as follows: 3rd February, 1997, $13,000 for the continuation of ongoing road projects. The description of the roads is not specified. On 3rd March, 1997, a sum of $70,000 was released for continuation of ongoing road projects.

On 25th March, 1997, a sum of $4,500 was released for Traffic Lines and Signs work to be carried out. That was under Recurrent Revenue; $52,500 was released for continuation of ongoing road projects.

On 1st April, $52,500 was released for Maintenance of Roads under Recurrent Expenditure; on that same date a further sum of $4,500 was released for Traffic Lines and Signs works.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I wonder if I may get a copy of that from the Honourable Member?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: Yes, Mr. Speaker. This information can be made available to the Member.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Member state how much of what he just stated by way of explanation has been spent, if any at all, from the road vote of $400,000 in the 1997 Budget?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The information available on what was spent only goes through the end of April. As at the end of April, $67,522 were spent.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Member say whether the amount spent was contributed to the roads as specified in the 1997 Budget?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: I have to expand upon the answer that I gave earlier. The amount of $67,522 was spent from recurrent funds on Maintenance of Roads; and $8,639 on Traffic Lines and Signs; and $271,212 from Capital on Continuing Road Projects. I will have to consult with the Budget Unit to determine whether the amount spent so far was in accordance with the roads specified in the Budget.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I wonder if the Honourable Member is in a position to say, if it is found that money from the $400,000 has been used on roads not specified in the 1997 Budget, that the $400,000 will still be at my disposal for the roadwork specified therein?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: To the extent that the $400,000 would fall short, I think it would be necessary for this to be communicated to the Honourable First Official Member with responsibility for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman. It is likely to the extent that any contingency expenditure not included in the overall scope of what was included in the Budget was so absorbed, that supplementary approval would be sought in order to make up that difference.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Perhaps the Honourable Member could explain whether or not the supplementary approval would be to cover the contingency warrants or the $400,000 which apparently seems to be a 'paper' sum?

The Speaker: The Honourable Third Official Member responsible for Finance and Development.

Hon. George A. McCarthy: The supplementary would not necessarily be to cover the contingency warrants. The contingency warrants have been released pending the approval of the Budget itself. To the extent that the amount approved under the contingency warrants would be consistent with the projects as set out in the Estimates, those contingencies would be treated as having been a part of the approval process. The contingency warrants are 'interim approval,' pending the approval of the Budget.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 102, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 102

No. 102: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning if there are there any plans to purchase an ice machine for the Cayman Brac High School.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: There are no plans to purchase an ice machine for the Cayman Brac High School at this time. There has been no request for an ice machine received by the Principal, therefore it was not included as a budget item. However, I understand that an ice machine is necessary for the school and I support it to be included under supplementary expenditure in the next Finance Committee meeting.

The Speaker: If there are no supplementaries, the next question is No. 103, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 103

No. 103: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs what technical courses, if any, are conducted at Northward Prison.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The following technical courses are conducted at the Northward Prison:

- (1) computer technology
- (2) electronics
- (3) ceramics

- (4) needlework
- (5) woodwork
- (6) tailoring

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say if the level of these courses is such that will allow prisoners to find employment in these areas upon their release from prison?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Yes, I believe the technical courses being taught will allow prisoners to find employment in those areas upon release. Of course, it is fair to say that courses can be done at various levels, and jobs can be sought in accordance with qualifications. But the courses will, I believe, enable inmates to find employment after their release.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member state if there has been any attempt to acquaint the public, particularly those people who may be interested in employing these persons, of their availability? Is there is a system at the prison which can help place those inmates who have successfully completed these courses upon their release?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The prison works closely with the former Department of Labour, and the Honourable Minister Responsible for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture has a programme in place which all dovetails into assisting inmates upon their release with getting employment in the private sector.

I am not sure how much publicity this has been given, although there has been some. But, I will certainly discuss the matter and see if we can give the whole issue more publicity.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 104, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 104

No. 104: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs how the Prison Officers' Welfare Fund is administered.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The Prison Staff Welfare Fund is administered by a management committee, as laid down in the Association's Constitution, consisting of a Chairman, a Secretary, a Treasurer, an Assistant Treasurer and two general members who are elected at the Annual General Meeting.

The management committee meets at least once per month and all proceedings are recorded and sent to the President before any decision is implemented. The President is the Director (or in his absence the Deputy Director). All monetary payments must be by cheque bearing two signatures, one of which must be the Treasurer's or the Assistant Treasurer's.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member say if this Fund is subject to a certified audit by a recognised firm of auditors or accountants?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The Constitution calls for the Fund to be audited by a recognised firm.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Member state when the last audit was, and what was the balance of the Fund at the time of the audit?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The Fund has not, in fact, been audited by a certified firm of auditors. I do have the balance on the account.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: May I enquire as to why the Fund has not been audited by certified auditors, and why is the balance in the Fund unavailable?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The balance in the Fund at the moment is $4,107. I am not in a position to say why it has not been audited, but I will certainly undertake to investigate this.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Bearing in mind that a certified audit by a private firm may be rather expensive for such a small amount, has any consideration been given to requesting an audit from the Auditor General or his office during the normal course of auditing Governmental departments?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member responsible for Internal and External Affairs.

Hon. James M. Ryan: I understand that the reason the Member suggests (being the cost) is why a private firm of auditors has not been used. I thank him for his suggestion of using the Auditor General's Department. I will pursue that.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, that concludes Question Time for this morning. We move now to item 3, Statements by Honourable Members/Ministers of the Government.

The Honourable Minister Responsible for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

STATEMENTS BY HONOURABLE MEMBERS/MINISTERS OF GOVERNMENT

THE DALMAIN EBANKS CIVIC CENTRE

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: For the information and clarification of Honourable Members and the public, I wish to provide an update on the Dalmain Ebanks Civic Centre. I do so because some rumours seem to be going around about the project and I have to wonder where they are coming from, and whether those people who say they are committed to seeing the project completed are really so; and whether, indeed, the rumour-mongering and misinformation is not coming from within.

For many years, the community of West Bay has relied heavily on the Town Hall to host many of its civic functions. This facility has served as: A meeting place for various youth, church and community groups, as well as sporting club meetings and practices; MLAs' offices and political meetings, Pirate's Week activities; school and community concerts and also as a hurricane shelter. However, the time has come when this facility can no longer fulfill all of the needs of the West Bay District.

In 1996, money was allocated to convert the Town Halls in West Bay, North Side, East End and Bodden Town into Libraries. The East End and North Side Town Hall conversions were started in 1996, and should be completed in July of this year. However, West Bay and Bodden Town Town Halls could not be converted to District Libraries as they are still considered very crucial hurricane shelters. This made it a necessity to provide a multi-purpose building for West Bay, as the Bodden Town

Civic Centre could serve as an additional hurricane shelter for that district.

Funds were provided in the 1996 Budget for the West Bay Civic Centre, but, unfortunately, we were unable to get this project started in 1996. Therefore the funds were lost. I have to wonder about that also.

This Civic Centre, when it is finished, will serve many needs of the West Bay Community and, indeed, those of the people of these islands. Among the functions is the important role of a hurricane shelter. This Civic Centre will be built to meet or exceed the specifications of the Cayman Islands Building Code, which will allow it to withstand hurricane force winds. It is proposed that this structure will be able to house between 360-400 people in the event of a hurricane or any natural disaster.

It should be clarified here that this facility is not a "sports centre," even though it can be used for indoor sports (as most Civic Centres can) such as: table tennis, boxing, volleyball, badminton, netball and basketball. In addition to serving as a hurricane shelter and a venue for indoor sporting events, this facility will also be capable of seating some 1,000 people on the main floor for staged productions such as plays, concerts and choral performances.

The Dalmain Ebanks Civic Centre will be used for various public and private functions for the benefit of the people of these Islands and, in particular, the residents of West Bay. When one considers that the current population of West Bay is approximately 7,770, and that the growth rate is around 5%, it is not difficult to understand why a Town Hall which was built around 1939, and is severely space and acoustically deficient, needs to be functionally replaced.

I look forward with anxious anticipation to the completion of this purpose built multi-functional facility, and to the conversion of the Town Hall into a long overdue District Library. I trust that after this explanation that those persons, whether they be from Public Works, the Glass House or within the National Team, will stop spreading the rumours that this is a sports centre. It is a Civic Centre, and a hurricane shelter—and it will be built!

SHORT QUESTIONS (Standing Order 30(2))

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr.: Mr. Speaker, I wonder if, in accordance with Standing Order 30(2), I may be allowed to ask the Honourable Minister a few questions?

The Speaker: Yes, please continue.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr.: I wonder if the Honourable Minister would give us an update as to where we are in regard to the project, as far as Planning approval and the award of the contract, etcetera?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister Responsible for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: As I understand, it has passed all of the Planning stages and is now out for contract. Hopefully it will be started in the very near future. That is, if it is not sabotaged again.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for West Bay.

Mr. John D. Jefferson, Jr.: Can the Honourable Minister say, once the contract has been awarded, how long we will have to wait before the project is completed?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister Responsible for Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

Hon. W. McKeeva Bush: The project is scheduled to be completed in 18 months, once started. I repeat, that is if I am not sabotaged, because it seems that anything the Ministry of Community Development, Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture does today, is not supposed to get done. But, it is an 18 month period.

The Speaker: No further questions? The next item is Government Business, Bills, Second Reading.

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS

BILLS

SECOND READINGS

THE MISUSE OF DRUGS (INTERNATIONAL CO-OPERATION) BILL, 1997

Clerk: The Misuse of Drugs (International Co-operation) Bill, 1997.

The Speaker: The Honourable Second Official Member.

Hon. Richard H. Coles: I beg to move the second reading of a Bill entitled, A Bill for a Law to give Effect to Those Provisions of the 1988 United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic and Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Respecting Mutual Legal Assistance Between Parties in Criminal Matters Specified in Article 3 Of the Convention and for Connected Purposes.

The Speaker: The question is that a Bill entitled, The Misuse of Drugs (International Co-operation) Bill, 1997, be given a second reading. The Honourable Second Official Member.

Hon. Richard H. Coles: The 1988 United Nations Convention, which I have just referred to in the long title to this Bill (which is somewhat of a mouthful, and I do not intend to keep referring to it in that long way throughout my presentation this morning), is universally known as the UN Vienna Convention, because it was a convention signed in Vienna, Austria.

It is probably the most significant drugs convention in the world, and the UN has given the lead in counter-drug conventions and in anti-drug measures.

This convention, as Members can see from its date, was initially signed in 1988. It was extended to Cayman on 8th February, 1995. However, I should reassure the House that although it was only formally extended to Cayman in February 1995, the Cayman Islands had been complying with its recommendations and directives since the convention first came into being.

Article 3 is mentioned in the long title of the Bill, and I think it behoves Members to look at Article 3 for the sake of ease, really, and to use a phrase 'user friendliness,' the full text of the Vienna Convention can be found at the back of this Bill which is why the Bill appears at first sight to be somewhat lengthy. In fact, the convention is considerably longer than the Bill itself. But I felt it helpful to have it as part of the Bill because it is generally good legislative practice to try and avoid people having to look in different places in order to discover what a piece of legislation means. So, you will find the convention at the back of the Bill.

Article 3 sets out the offences which the convention is designed to cover. It sets out those acts which require signatories to the convention to make offences in order to comply with the convention. I am pleased to tell you, Mr. Speaker, that the Cayman Islands has criminalised all of those offences and has done so for many years.

There are, in essence, all drug offences (this is a drugs convention), and they relate to the possession, the distribution and trafficking in drugs, and also the laundering of drugs proceeds. All of those are criminalised in our Misuse of Drugs legislation.

The other Article that Members would do well to look at is Article 7 of the convention. That is the Article we are essentially dealing with today, because it deals with Mutual Legal Assistance. We call it in this Bill "International Co-operation," the same thing by another name. It sets out exactly what Mutual Legal Assistance is required to be given, in what circumstances, and by whom. Cayman has recognised that although we have been giving assistance when requested, nevertheless, we need a specific piece of legislation in place so that we comply fully and completely with the convention.

I might also mention (as I am sure Members are already aware) that Cayman was the subject of a Mutual Evaluation Report by the Caribbean Financial Action Task Force. Coincidentally, in February 1995, just shortly after the Vienna Convention was extended to Cayman, and not unnaturally, one of the questions that was asked by that team conducting the evaluation was the question of Mutual Legal Assistance under the convention. In fact in paragraph 81 of that report (and it is only a two line paragraph so, if I may, I will read it verbatim) it says: "It is expected that procedures for assistance will also be put in place to implement the 1988 Vienna Convention ratified by the United Kingdom which was recently extended to the Cayman Islands." So Members will see that the legislation before them today was contemplated by the CFATF (the Caribbean Financial Action Task Force) back in February 1995. I dare say that Members do not need reminding of the significant contribution Cayman makes to that Task Force, and the fact that the Honourable Judge Smellie, QC, takes a very active and leading role in that Task Force.

There was a previous Bill before the House during the last Meeting, which was essentially the same Bill. But at that time it was entitled, The Mutual Legal Assistance (1988 UN Vienna Convention) Bill. It was felt that that title might give some confusion with our very well-known Mutual Legal Assistance (United States) Law, which implements the Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty between the United Kingdom and the United States. So, it was decided to try and come up with another title which would not cause confusion.

I thought that it would fit in well if we linked it with our other Misuse of Drugs legislation and we chose the phrase "International Co-operation," which is Mutual Legal Assistance by another name. But I think it links it in well with our other drugs legislation, and makes it clear that it is there to deal with drugs and drug trafficking only.

The previous Bill was withdrawn by (I was going to say myself, but I was absent from the House on official business at that time) the Acting Attorney General. It was withdrawn to allow further consultation to take place on the terms of the Bill. This has taken place with the private sector and others. Those concerns have been taken into account in preparation of the Bill before you now.

Perhaps I can just mention the sort of consultation that has taken place because I understand the feeling that it was unfortunate that the Bill had not been gazetted before coming before you today. I do not know why that has not happened, but, nevertheless, it is unfortunate. Perhaps when I explain the sort of consultation that has taken place, Members will feel reassured that those who wish to make a contribution to this Bill will have ample opportunity to do so.

It first came before the Government's Private Sector Consultative Committee back in February of this year. It has been considered by them on a number of occasions. The Green Bill under its previous title was published and gazetted in April of this year. The present Bill before you now has been subject to further consultation, was also circulated to all Members of the Government's Private Sector Consultative Committee on 5th May. It then came to the House and was circulated to Members on the 21st of May, complying with the 21 day notice set out in the Standing Orders. The Press was aware of that because they telephoned me about it and had a copy of it. So, I hope that Members will feel reassured that anybody who wished to see the Bill and consider it, has had ample time to do so.

There have been some changes to the Bill, but not many changes of real significance. I am not going to go through each one, because some are extremely minor, but I will mention the ones that I consider significant. If those who are debating the Bill later wish to raise different areas, I will deal with them in my winding up.

I can turn Members to page 8 of the Bill, Clause 6. The change that has been made there (and those of you who have the previous Bill will readily see the change), is that under the previous draft the jurisdiction that is requesting assistance, requests it for a specific purpose. Sometimes it may be necessary, and they may wish to use it for another purpose. The Law makes it clear that they are only entitled to do this with prior written consent. They are not entitled to use it for any other purpose than that for which it was requested without prior written consent. The previous Bill made provision for that consent to be given by the Central Authority in writing, and the new Bill adds a further safeguard which is subclause (2), which says: "Before the Authority gives consent [if it is considering giving that consent] under subsection (1) it shall apply to the court [that is, the Grand Court] which ordered the production of the information or evidence for directions." So, there are two safeguards, the Central Authority and the Court itself, if, indeed, the Central Authority thought it appropriate to allow it to be used for the other purpose.

The next Clause I would like to draw your attention to is Clause 10, on page 9. What we have done here is where the request for assistance is that evidence be taken, someone is asked to testify and give evidence. Previously it was the Authority that gave a certificate and, if necessary, a subpoena was issued by the Grand Court (a subpoena being a document that requires someone to come before the Court). In the new Bill we have stated that in those circumstances the Central Authority would make application to the Court for the Court itself to receive the testimony. In other words, Counsel would go along to the Grand Court, make an application to the Judge and, assuming the Court granted that application, the Court would call that person before it to give evidence and testimony as requested. The Court would be able, if it wished, to issue a subpoena and take the evidence on oath.

We have also put in a safeguard which is, I suppose, the most significant benefit of this new clause, which is subclause (4). That says, "A person shall not be compelled in any proceedings under this section to give evidence which he could not be compelled to give in criminal proceedings in the Islands." That effectively says that nobody has to incriminate themselves. So, if the evidence they are being requested to give could in any way incriminate them, they are entitled to say to the Court, "I decline to give this evidence on the grounds that it might incriminate me." Of course, that is always a reason for not having to give evidence. It is one of the fundamental principles of justice in these islands—no self-incrimination. That is an important change which can be readily understood.

The final one that I wish to bring to your attention is on page 15, Clause 21, where one of the offences has now been deleted. If you have access to the previous Bill you will see that only the old Clause 1 remains and the previous Clause 2 has been withdrawn. That was the Clause that made it an offence to attend the Court to give evidence. You may recall that is what I said a subpoena is—it requires you to go to Court to give evidence. The previous Bill made it a criminal offence if a person refused to do that. The reason that offence has been withdrawn is not because there will not be any penalty if someone refuses to comply with the subpoena, but it is not necessary to put a specific penalty in any more. As I explained, the Court will be granting the subpoena, the Court has an inherent power to enforce its own orders. So, if a subpoena issued by the Grand Court is not complied with, it is contempt of Court, and the Court has ample power to deal with it. In fact, it has more powers than we would be giving it under this Law. So, we do not need it, and it has come out.

There are other alterations, but I think it is easier if I deal with those (if there are any) that may cause Members' concern. I would also like to mention the legislation under which assistance has been granted up to now, because I did say that we have been able to give some assistance, and have done so.

At the present time we do so through a Privy Council order called the Evidence Proceedings in Other Jurisdictions (Cayman Islands) Order, 1978. That is an order that is nearly 20 years old. It is a Privy Council Order from England that was extended to the Cayman Islands back in 1978. It has been used many times, and I am sure will be used in the future, but not for these purposes as soon as this Bill is passed by the House today.

Its deficiency is that it does not cover the investigative stage of an enquiry—a drugs enquiry in this case. It is only available once a prosecution has actually commenced. At the very earliest, it is only available once a person has been charged with an offence. If you look at Article 7 of the Convention, you will see that that is not good enough, because we have to give assistance at both the investigative stage and at the prosecutory stage. In fact, in paragraph 1 of that Article, it says, "The Parties shall afford one another, pursuant to this article, the widest measure of mutual legal assistance in investigations, prosecutions and judicial proceedings..." and then it goes on to define the offences and so on.

So, it is necessary for us to have this legislation so that we can give that assistance at the investigative stage, and there are many safeguards built into the Bill, a lot of which are taken verbatim out of the Convention. After all, it is the Convention which this Bill is seeking to implement.

It might be helpful if Members turned to the Memorandum of Objects and Reasons, which is set out on pages 3 and 4 of the Bill. I have no intention of reading this all out, because Members are capable of reading this for themselves (and I hope they have done so), but you can see in the third paragraph that it sets out the purposes for which a request can be made; taking evidence; searches; production of documents, and so on; immobilising criminally obtained assets; assisting in proceedings relating to forfeiture and restitution. It also sets out what a request shall contain. I have to say that this is not the Law itself, and is no substitute for looking at what the Law says, but it does give an overview of the purpose of the Bill and, for someone to get a feel of what the Bill is trying to do, it is useful to read this Memorandum of Objects and Reasons.

It sets out what the requests shall contain in detail, and then it also sets out (on page 4) a further number of requirements that are necessary in the request. I must say that some of these come from the Convention itself, Article 7, but we have chosen to go further because we have the benefit of experience in implementing the Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty with the United States, and we felt that it was prudent for us to include some further requirements so that we have the greatest clarity possible of what the requesting jurisdiction was seeking before we had to deal with it.

There is good reason for this. If the request contains all of this information when it first comes through to the Authority, there is every chance that the Authority can make a decision as to whether to go ahead or not. Whereas, if the information given is sketchy and does not include all of these things, then, regrettably, it is more than likely that there will be a letter going back to that jurisdiction requesting further information or clarification. Of course, this leads to delay—sometimes considerable delay—which is undesirable from anybody's point of view. These were included to try to avoid that.

The other area I would just like to mention is the Central Authority itself. Not a great deal has changed on that since the original Bill. The Central Authority under the UN Vienna Convention is the Attorney General. I am sure that all of you will spot the difference between that and the Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty with the US, where the Central Authority there is the Honourable Chief Justice. He has, in fact, delegated that to Judge Smellie.

The reason is twofold: first of all, because the function performed by the Central Authority under this legislation is entirely different from that performed by the Central Authority under the US Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty (MLAT). In that legislation, a judge is the Central Authority, although he is not acting in a judicial capacity. It is not an easy thing for someone who is not a lawyer to understand how, a judge can be a judge and not act in a judicial capacity. But it is possible, and that is how it is dealt with. Nevertheless, he does exercise a number of judicial functions.

In this legislation the Central Authority does not act in any judicial capacity at all. The function of the Central Authority here is entirely an executive and administrative function. It is true that the Central Authority is another tier, or safeguard so that in addition to going to the courts the Central Authority also has input. For example, when a request comes through to my office, I would review it first. If I do not consider that it complies with the requirements of the Bill (some of which I have just covered), then it gets no further. It is only if I agree that it does comply would an application be made to the Grand Court. Nothing can happen—no assistance can be given without an application being made to the Grand Court. And all the assistance is then given by the Grand Court judge. That is the accepted way nowadays that international cooperation is dealt with. It keeps the administrative function away from the judiciary. It is far easier to deal with in an office environment, which I obviously have, rather than within the Courts. But it leaves the judicial decision-making where it should properly be—with the Grand Court judge.

That is the real reason. Quite simply, the other reason is because that is the way that every other jurisdiction now administers Central Authorities. Cayman is unique in having the Chief Justice as a Central Authority. There is no other jurisdiction that has that. It works well for Cayman. This was one of the first jurisdictions to enact that legislation. At that time it was a perfectly logical and reasonable thing to do, but now it is accepted that a Central Authority is either the Attorney General, or in some countries it is the Minister of Justice. In England it is the Secretary of State for the Home Office. It matters not, really, because it is an executive/administrative function.

All of the orders are made by a Grand Court Judge, and if we turn to the Bill, Clause 10 will tell us what some of those orders are. We have already discussed that Clause 10 is one of the clauses which has been altered in this new Bill. We have already discussed that any testimony to be given has to be ordered by the Court. (throughout this Bill when it says "Court", it means the Grand Court), and they actually take the testimony in the Court. So, that is the giving of evidence.

Clause 11 is what we call "production orders." That is when particular documents have to be produced or are requested to be produced. Again, an application has to be made to the Grand Court. In practice, that would be one of the Crown Counsel on my behalf making an application, or it could be a police constable empowered under the Misuse of Drugs Law for an order to produce that material. The Grand Court can either grant or refuse that application. The material is then ordered to be produced. It sets out the procedure which has to be followed and the safeguards in that procedure.

Clause 12 is search warrants. Same, again, if I had been requested that we undertake a search of premises, then an application is made to the Grand Court and the Grand Court judge decides whether or not a search warrant will be granted. It sets out here what has to be dealt with in that application. Obviously, the Grand Court judge has to be satisfied that there I, or the Crown Counsel, have met the grounds required before he will grant the search warrant.

Those are the orders that can be made under this Bill. The final thing I would like to mention is that Members had notice on their desks this morning of two Committee stage amendments that I intend to move if the Chairman grants me permission to do so. I appreciate that this has only been put on Members' desks this morning. These amendments are brought at the request of members of the private sector who asked if we would consider making these amendments. I was happy to do so.

The first amendment is to Clause 2(2) of the Bill. As amended, this Clause will read, "In this Law references to an offence to which this Law applies are references to such of the offences specified in Article 3(1) as are offences of the same or a similar nature under the Laws of the Islands.” It was felt that this would clarify that particular Clause. I am happy that the meaning is exactly the same, it does not detract from it in any way, and if that helps to clarify the meaning, then I am more than prepared to include that amendment. That is why I have done so.

The second amendment is in Clause 3, which sets out the purposes for which assistance can be requested. You will see that in the final sub-paragraph (i) the amendment would delete the reference to collection of fines. Members may have already spotted that when I was going through the Memorandum of Objects and Reasons, I did not refer to fines when I talked about the requests that could be made. The reason that has come out is because this Bill is to give effect to the Vienna Convention, and that does not refer to the collection of fines. There is no provision in there for that. I included it originally because it is in the US MLAT, we are allowed to deal with fines for the US. But I accept that it is not included in the Vienna convention. I do not think that it detracts in any way from our ability to cooperate and assist. So, I accepted the point that it was not in the Convention and that we should not include it in here, and I deleted it.

Those are the only two amendments. I do not really think there is anything else that I need to address at this stage other than the fact that if Members wish to raise anything that I have not, then I will do my best to deal with it in the winding up. I would just say that this Bill will ensure that the Cayman Islands continues to fully comply with the terms of the UN Vienna Convention, and with the recommendations of the Caribbean Financial Action Task Force. I therefore commend the Bill to this House.

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 12.05 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated.

Debate continues on the second reading of, The Misuse of Drugs (International Co-operation) Bill, 1997. The Third Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. Linford A. Pierson: I rise to make my contribution to A Bill For Law To Give Effect To Those Provisions Of The 1988 United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic In Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Respecting Mutual Legal Assistance Between Parties in the Criminal Matters Specified in Article 3 of the Convention and for Connected Purposes. The Honourable Mover of this Bill went into the details of Article 3.

As stated in the Memorandum of Objects and Reasons, “This Bill seeks to give effect to those provisions of the 1988 United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic substances [which basically means the mind-altering kind of drugs] deal with mutual legal assistance in criminal matters specified in Article 3 of the Convention.”

The Mover of the Bill quite wisely decided in his presentation to refer to the shortened form of this Bill as the Vienna Convention. I believe I will adopt this same procedure.

The Memorandum of Objects and Reasons also states (even though the Mover felt it unnecessary to read this, I think that it is important enough to be read so that the listening public has a better understanding of why this Misuse of Drugs (International Co-operation) Bill is being brought before this House.): “It provides for the establishment of the Central Authority which shall be responsible for responding to and acting upon requests for legal assistance from those Parties who had ratified the Convention.” The Memorandum of Objects and Reasons gives a detail of the Mutual Legal Assistance expected. It states: “Mutual legal assistance in criminal matters specified in Article 3 (1) of the Convention may be requested for any of the following purposes-

- (a) taking evidence or statements from persons;
- (b) effecting service of judicial documents;
- (c) executing searches and seizures;
- (d) examining objects and sites;
- (e) providing information and items of evidence;
- (f) providing originals or certified copies of relevant documents and records, including bank, financial, corporate or business records;
- (g) identifying or tracing proceeds, property, instruments or such other things for the purposes of evidence;”

In his wisdom, the Honourable Second Official Member (the Mover of this Bill) has added to the requirements of Article 3(1) of the Vienna Convention. I think the reasons are better known to him and the Committee that dealt with this, but it did not seem necessary in the wisdom of the architects of the Vienna Convention that (h) and (i) should be included. However, we here in the Cayman Islands saw it necessary, notwithstanding the protections under the Misuse of Drugs Law and the Proceeds of Criminal Conduct Law which already address these problems. These two items which were added to the Vienna Convention’s requirements are: “(h) immobilising criminally obtained assets; and (i) assisting in proceedings related to forfeiture, restitution and collection of fines.”

The Mover of the Bill has indicated that a Committee stage amendment will be brought to delete the collection of fines. I have to question why that was added in the first place, and how much thought was given to the effect that such an addition could make on the time of the Court’s office.

Before moving on in my presentation, I would like to refer to a report made in the Caymanian Compass on 3rd June, 1997 about the introduction of this legislation. In that report it suggested that the private sector (specifically meaning the Private Sector Consultative Committee) had asked for a few little changes for emphasis and clarification which had been agreed. The implication in that statement was that the Private Sector Consultative Committee supported the legislation. I believe that is the understanding the public got from that statement. I have been reliably informed that this is not the case; that the Private Sector Consultative Committee does not support this legislation and that they were misquoted.

It is also my understanding that the objections raised by the Private Sector Consultative Committee, were not little things, but fundamental issues of principle. Further, I am also reliably informed that the Law Society does not approve this legislation in its current form. So, when we heard the Mover of this Bill say that the matters queried had been looked into, we need to analyse that against this information I just revealed.

There are 34 articles contained in the 1988 UN Convention (Vienna Convention) which was adopted by the United Nations in December 1988. These articles form an integral part of this Bill. The specific areas of mutual assistance in criminal matters which involves the Cayman Islands, as referred to in Article 1 of the Convention, are more specifically detailed (as mentioned by the Mover of this Bill) in Article 7 which is found on page 33. This very important article is central to this whole Bill.

I have already touched on the major areas of this Article and what mutual legal assistance is required under the Vienna Convention. But I would like to stress that the Vienna Convention in Article 7, paragraph 2, only requires assistance in (a) through (g), but (h) and (i) as I mentioned earlier is an inclusion by the Mover of this Bill and his Committee.

This Article 7 outlines the scope of legal assistance considered necessary by the architects of the Vienna Convention. Perhaps the Honourable Second Official Member (Mover of this Bill), can give this Honourable House a more reasoned and detailed explanation as to why it was found necessary to add the two additional clauses, especially with this provisions being made in the Misuse of Drugs Law and the Proceeds of Criminal Conduct Law, to deal with subsections (h) and (i). It is obvious that the additions, section 3(h) and (i), excluding the section dealing with the collection of fines, goes far beyond what is required by the basic scope of the Vienna Convention. In my opinion, this is unnecessary.

As stated earlier, restraint orders and confiscation orders are appropriately dealt with under other relevant Laws. For example, what mechanism is now proposed for the collection of fines (which, in his wisdom the Mover, saw necessary to delete)? I wonder if he would comment further in his winding up as to the basic reason for this in the first place. It has caused much controversy, not only among Members of this House, but in the Private Sector Consultative Committee. As I understand it, this would have been the first time the Grand Court would have become involved in the collection of fines for other Courts. Yet, the Honourable Mover of this Bill, who also introduced the Committee stage amendments, referred to it as a fairly simple matter; when, in fact, it is a major issue under this Bill.

Successive Governments developed the financial industry in these islands which, today, is the envy of the whole world. We have become so sophisticated that we are now the 5th largest financial centre in the world. What took many years to build can disappear overnight with the introduction of legislation which could have a destabilising effect on the financial industry of these islands. Legitimate investors must be made to feel that their investments are secured, and that they are not unnecessarily harassed. It is our responsibility as legislators and representatives of our people to ensure that we protect this legacy which has been entrusted to our care. It is with this realisation in mind that this, or any other similar legislation should be dealt with in this House.

I am nonetheless pleased to note that the Mover of the Bill has incorporated a number of the recommendations made by the Private Sector Consultative Committee, and some of the concerns raised by Members of this Honourable House. But, in my opinion, more needs to be done. I do not believe that the present draft is a major improvement on the previous draft. It is also worthy to note that these islands have demonstrated to the world, through the enactment of appropriate legislation, such as the Misuse of Drugs Law and the Proceeds of Criminal Conduct Law, and the signing of the Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty with the United States back in 1986, that we will not tolerate the illicit trade of narcotics, drugs or psychotropic substances in these islands, or any matters related to such offences.

We should therefore not allow any foreign influence, however well meaning, including the United Kingdom, to pressure us into adopting conventions or treaties without first giving them very careful scrutiny. When the Mover of this Bill, and those who support it, have departed these shores, we will still have to work and deal with the effects of these Bills. That is no negative reflection on the Mover, for whom I have a great deal of respect. But, what I am doing here today is what I was elected by the people to do, that is, to provide the best possible representation that I can. We must consider what is in the best interest of these three islands.

I am pleased to note the improvements in this Bill. However, there are still a few areas which give me major concern. In terms of public perception and, indeed, within our own Constitution there is (and really should be) a distinction in the separation of administrative powers and those of the judiciary. Accordingly, I do not feel it is appropriate that the Attorney General should be named as the Central Authority under section 4 of this Bill. That reasoning is based on the following: It is felt by many (including myself) that the role of Attorney General (and I am separating this from the position of Honourable Second Official Member) is a quasi-political role, at best, and can possibly be influenced by the political directorate of these islands. That is a very important point when we consider why, under the Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty 1986 Law, that the Chief Justice was named as the Central Authority, and not the Attorney General. It was mainly based on that particular issue—that the position of Attorney General is a quasi-political one and, as such, can be influenced by the political directorate of the country.

On the other hand, the role of the Chief Justice, or a Judge of the Grand Court, is an independent position. It is therefore against this background that I question the wisdom of making the Attorney General the Central Authority, notwithstanding provisions in the Bill to ensure that requests must be made through the Grand Court in most cases by the Central Authority.

I would like to clarify that in this context within the Bill, the Attorney General is named as the Central Authority.

Some may say that political interference is an unwarranted concern. But it is central to the whole issue under section 4 of this Bill in naming who will be the Central Authority. As a matter of fact, similar concerns were raised in the case of Sherman, cause 56 of 1996, when the Chief Justice stated (and I quote), “It smacks of political interference with the Courts.” He thus refused the application made on behalf of the Solicitor General. Also, under the MLAT with the United States it was considered appropriate to name the Chief Justice as the Central Authority for the Cayman Islands.

A similar provision to section 5 of the MLAT with the United States 1986 Law is also absent from the Bill before us. This particular section of the MLAT USA Law 1986 provided for the Attorney General to be free to make representation to the Central Authority on questions of public policy relating to the Cayman Islands. This has been very conspicuously absent from this Bill; the reasoning being that it would make a mockery of this Bill because the Attorney General is the Central Authority and would, if that section was brought in, become judge and jury. In the Bill before us, the Attorney General is both the agent of the requesting country and guardian of the Cayman public policy, and, effectively, both judge and jury. This would seem to be a most unsatisfactory position.

I now wish to move to section 18 of the Bill which deals with confidentiality in regard to a request. Although in many respects section 18 is analogous to section 13 of the sister legislation, namely, the Mutual Legal Assistance (USA) Law, 1986, there is a significant difference in that confidentiality is preserved under the MLAT (USA) Law, 1986. This does not seem to be the case under this Bill. This observation is of significant importance when one considers the diversity and background of the individual countries which are parties to the United Nations Convention (the Vienna Convention), as opposed to saying the bilateral agreement which was entered into with the United States of America under the MLAT (USA) Law, 1986.

Also of major concern is the implementation of the Law. Will the Law be strictly adhered to, or should we now obtain the assurance from the Foreign and Commonwealth Office that parties to the convention will not seek to obtain information on their nationals, which information is, strictly speaking, not an offence under any of our Laws? I am speaking specifically about information on taxes, what is commonly referred to as “fishing expeditions” from any of these countries. We have seen extradition orders being made by some of these foreign countries, so this is a valid concern.

As regards section 24 of the Bill, which lists the parties to whom mutual legal assistance may be given by the Central Authority, much care should be exercised when complying with requests from those countries known to be abusers of human rights. Such requests should be carefully scrutinised. Examples of such countries are: China, Cuba, Iran, Afghanistan and others, where the practice of human rights abuse is prevalent.

As I stated in my opening remarks, this is a very important piece of legislation, and I do not wish for anyone to get the impression that I oppose any measures designed to protect these islands from the illicit trade of narcotics. That is not the case, otherwise I would not have been one of the key persons behind the support of the Mutual Legal Assistance (USA) Law, in 1986. My major concern is that in all of our efforts to cooperate that we continue to have the interest of these islands uppermost in our minds.

In closing, I reiterate my concerns on those questions I have raised, and say that there is still, in my opinion, much scope for improvement in this Bill. While I feel that the Bill is a move in the right direction, as its underlying principle is to offer cooperation to member countries of the United Nations in our fight against the misuse of drugs, I nonetheless feel that the concerns I have raised are too significant to give my support to this Bill in its present form.

I therefore trust that the Mover of the Bill will undertake to make certain necessary Committee stage amendments that will meet with my satisfaction.

The Speaker: Proceedings are suspended until 2.15 PM.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 12.42 PM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 2.27 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated. Debate continues. The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: I rise to make my comments in respect of the Misuse of Drugs (International Co-operation) Bill, 1997. It is my intention to deal briefly with the different sections of the Bill giving rise to my genuine concern.

First, section 43(8) of the Misuse of Drugs Law (Revised) states that an order under subsection (2) (that is a production order) contains a provision for an order to be made in relation to material in the possession of the Government. As far as I can ascertain, the Misuse of Drugs (International Co-operation) Bill has followed section 48(8) of the Misuse of Drugs Law (Revised) verbatim, except for this provision relating to material in possession of the Government which has, for whatever reason, been deleted. The Honourable Second Official Member may wish to address these concerns as he sums up in relation to the proposed Law.

Moving on to section 11(9), it is an offence for a person who makes a disclosure “. . . knowing or suspecting that a request has been made, or that an investigation into any matter to which a request is made is taking place, . . .” One will note that throughout the entire Bill, the term “request” is utilised. The word “investigation” only appears to be introduced in section 11(9). The significance of this is that section 11(9) an offence is committed in respect of both a request and an investigation. If a person, knowing or suspecting that a request or investigation is made, makes a disclosure “which is likely to prejudice the request or the investigation. . .” commits a statutory offence and on conviction there is a fine and mandatory imprisonment up to five years.

The Bill then proceeds to set up a defence in section 11(10). This reads as follows: “In proceedings against a person for an offence under this section, it is a defence to prove (a) that he did not know or believe that the disclosure was likely to prejudice the investigation. . .” no provision is made for the defence of such a person not knowing or believing that the disclosure was likely to prejudice a request. Again, I seek clarification from the Honourable Second Official Member. Perhaps he can explain whether or not it was a scrivener’s error, or intentionally drafted. If the latter was the reason, it would assist me in making my final decision whether or not to support this proposed legislation.

With regard to section 11, “Where, pursuant to a request, the Authority considers it necessary to obtain material from any person he shall direct a constable to apply to the Grand Court for [a production order].” By contrast, section 43 (1) of the Misuse of Drugs Law which has been tried for a number of years, refers not just merely to material, but to the particular material, or material of a particular description. Does this mean that the Authority can make the order, subject to all material, save that which was considered legal, privileged material? Moreover, why was it deemed necessary to deviate from the terminology as set out in section 43(1) of the Misuse of Drugs Law, especially when most of the proposed Law, loosely speaking, can be said to be the shadow of the Misuse of Drugs Law?

With regard to the offences this Law relates to, does it include as an offence that of storing, consuming, administering a narcotic drug, or any psychotropic substance, contrary to the 1961 Convention as amended by the 1991 Convention? Further, is the offence for issuing a prescription without being authorised included in this article 3(1)? If not, why has it been excluded? Article 3 (4) (a), (b), and (c) makes provisions for our domestic Law (which, in this case, is our Cayman Islands Law) to provide for, in addition to some minor cases, alternatives, if and when a conviction or punishment measures deemed necessary. Alternatives suggested in the article are as follows: Treatment, education, aftercare, rehabilitation, or social integration of offender. I was unable to find any such provisions in this Bill, and it is my respectful view that if this Bill is passed, that such a provision should be contained therein.

Although I adhere to the theory that prevention is better than cure, I believe that sentences must have a deterrent effect. Let me also hasten to say that rehabilitation is just as significant in this war against narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances. I would also seek clarification from the Honourable Member as to whether this Bill makes a statute of limitations period to commence for proceedings which would fall within the ambit of this Bill. If there is a statutory limitation period, will it be a two-tiered period whereby those persons who intentionally succeeded in evading the administration of justice would attract the tougher penalty.

With respect to section 14(3) which makes provisions for notification in writing, does it incorporate the Postal Rule? If so, has it taken into consideration modern-day technology, that of a Fax? If it does consider these two elements, is a three day period deemed sufficient, or should it be specifically stated to accommodate the modern technology?

I also note that the proposed Bill does include protection for persons disclosing confidential information which would normally be a breach of our Confidentiality Law. I submit that if the Bill before us this afternoon is passed, there must be statutory protection for persons finding themselves in such circumstances.

There does not appear, from my scrutinisation of the Bill, to be a provision containing a general penalty. Perhaps the Honourable Member may wish to intimate whether or not such general penalty is necessary.

My other area of concern is that the parties to whom this Law will relate to practically includes the entire world. It is my humble opinion that if passed, it would fall into the category of a new world order, which I cannot adhere to. I take note that section 24 of the Bill says that the Governor in Council has the power to amend Schedule I. I wish clarification on whether this power will be extended merely to the addition of new countries, or whether this power can also delete some of the countries now included therein.

I get the distinct feeling (rightly or wrongly so) that this piece of legislation, if not carefully scrutinised and analysed, can be another step toward eradicating tax havens such as the Cayman Islands. However, out of an abundance of caution, let me hasten to make it real clear that I support measures which can assist in the detection, prevention and punishment of drug offences. But I do not agree that any of these efforts should be used as a ‘fishing expedition.’

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation.

(2.39 PM)

Hon. Anthony Eden: I rise to offer my contribution on the Misuse of Drugs (International Co-operation) Bill, 1997.

This type of legislation has been enacted in at least 150 other countries throughout the world. My feeling in regard to this situation, as the Minister for Drug Abuse, is that the overall pressing concern here is the dealings in narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances. I feel that whatever we need to do to tighten this up, must be done at any cost.

Clause 8 of the Bill indicates that “The Authority may refuse to comply with a request- (b) if the request does not establish that there are reasonable grounds for believing- (i) that the criminal offence specified in the request has been committed; and (ii) that the information sought relates to the offence and is located in the Islands.” If the application is made and it does not deal with drugs, that should be the end of the case.

Most people have dealt with the first part of the Bill, but for the benefit of the listening public, I will go back and refer to the preamble and background of the Vienna Convention adopted on 19th December, 1988 by so many of these countries. It states: “Deeply concerned by the magnitude of and rising trend in the illicit production of, demand for and traffic in narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, which pose a serious threat to the health and welfare of human beings and adversely affect the economic, cultural and political foundations of society, “Deeply concerned also by the steadily increasing inroads into various social groups made by illicit traffic in narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, and particularly by the fact that children are used in many parts of the world as an illicit drug consumers market and for purposes of illicit production, distribution and trade in narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, which entails a danger of incalculable gravity,

“Recognising the links between illicit traffic and other related organised criminal activities which undermine the legitimate economies and threaten the stability, security and sovereignty of the States,

“Recognising also that illicit traffic is an international criminal activity, the suppression of which demands urgent attention and the highest priority; [As has been said earlier, we all know that Cayman is now rated the 5th largest financial centre in the world. For too long our image has been tarnished with the idea that bad money comes here. Whatever needs to be done to clear up this image must be done.]

“Aware that illicit traffic generates large financial profits and wealth enabling transitional criminal organisations to penetrate, contaminate and corrupt the structures of government, legitimate, commercial and financial business, and society at all its levels,

“Determined to deprive persons engaged in illicit traffic of the proceeds of their criminal activities and thereby eliminate their main incentive for so doing [In this area the Cayman Islands went a long way last year by passing the Proceeds of Criminal Conduct Law.]

“Desiring to eliminate the root causes of the problem of abuse of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, including the illicit demand for such drugs and substances and the enormous profits derived from illicit traffic,

“Considering that measures are necessary to monitor certain substances, including precursors

[this is the substance from which other substances are formed], chemicals and solvents, which are used in the manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, the ready availability of which has led to an increase in the clandestine manufacture of such drugs and substances,

“Determined to improve international co-operation in the suppression of illicit traffic by sea [We know the difficulty we have here trying to patrol our boundaries for incoming drugs in canoes and other means.],

“Recognising that eradication of illicit traffic is a collective responsibility of all States and that, to that end, co-ordinated action within the framework of international co-operation is necessary [We are not an island onto ourselves. Without this cooperation none of these territories can be successful in this attempt.],

“Reaffirming the guiding principles of existing treaties in the field of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and the system of control which they embody,

“Recognising also the importance of strengthening and enhancing effective legal means for international co-operation in criminal matters for suppressing the international criminal activities of illicit traffic,

“Desiring to conclude a comprehensive, effective and operative international convention that is directed specifically [And I would like to emphasise that this convention is designed specifically against illicit traffic.] against illicit traffic and that considers the various aspects of the problem as a whole, in particular those aspects not envisaged in the existing treaties in the field of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances.”

In Article 2 of the Convention it states: “1. The purpose of this Convention is to promote co-operation among the Parties so that they may address more effectively the various aspects of illicit traffic in narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances having an international dimension. In carrying out their obligations under the Convention, the Parties shall take necessary measures, including legislative and administrative measures, in conformity with the fundamental provisions of their respective domestic legislative systems.

“2. The Parties shall carry out their obligations under this Convention in a manner consistent with the principles of sovereign equality and territorial integrity of States and that of non-intervention in the domestic affairs of other States. [I know that this was one of the concerns of some Members, but I am convinced that by sticking to the main drive behind the Convention—illicit drugs—this can be dealt with.]

“3. A Party shall not undertake in the territory of another the exercise of jurisdiction and performance of functions which are exclusively reserved for the authorities of that other Party by its domestic law.”

I think that it is also my responsibility to share with the public Article 3 of the Convention which touches on the offences and sanctions. It states:

"1. Each Party shall adopt such measures as may be necessary to establish as criminal offences under its domestic law, when committed intentionally:

(a) (i) The production, manufacture, extraction, preparation, offering, offering for sale, distribution, sale, delivery on any terms whatsoever, brokerage, dispatch, dispatch in transit, transport, importation or exportation of any narcotic drug or any psychotropic substance contrary to the provisions of the 1961 Convention, the 1961 Convention as amended or the 1971 Convention."

It lists as offences and sanctions: "(ii) The cultivation of opium poppy, coca bush or cannabis plant for the purpose of the production of narcotic drugs contrary to the provisions of the 1961 Convention and the 1961 Convention as amended." This is the driving force behind the Vienna Convention of 1988.

Continuing with section 2: "2. Subject to its constitutional principles and the basic concepts of its legal system, each Party shall adopt such measures as may be necessary to establish as a criminal offence under its domestic law, when committed intentionally, the possession, purchase or cultivation of narcotic drugs or psychotropic substances for personal consumption contrary to the provisions of the 1961 Convention, the 1961 Convention as amended or the 1971 Convention."

Section 4 of that same Article: "(a) Each Party [each country] shall make the commission of the offences established in accordance with paragraph 1 of this article liable to sanctions which take into account the grave nature of these offences, such as imprisonment or other forms of deprivation of liberty, pecuniary sanctions and confiscation.

"(b) The Parties may provide, in addition to conviction or punishment, for an offence established in accordance with paragraph 1 of this article, that the offender shall undergo measures such as treatment, education, aftercare, rehabilitation or social reintegration. [This was mentioned by the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.]

"6. The Parties shall endeavour to ensure that any discretionary legal powers under their domestic law relating to the prosecution of persons for offences established in accordance with this article are exercised to maximise the effectiveness of law enforcement measures in respect of those offences and with due regard to the need to deter the commission of such offences;

"7. The Parties shall ensure that their courts or other competent authorities bear in mind the serious nature of the offences enumerated in paragraph 1... [And I cannot emphasise enough that this is dealing with drug trafficking].

"8. Each Party shall, where appropriate, establish under its domestic law a long statute of limitations period in which to commence proceedings for any offence established in accordance with paragraph (1) of this article, and a longer period where the alleged offender has evaded the administration of justice. [We must take whatever action is needed to deal with the traffickers of these narcotic substances.]"

Article 5 4(ii)(b) "(b) Following a request made pursuant to this article by another Party having jurisdiction over an offence established in accordance with article 3, paragraph 1, the requested Party shall take such measures to identify, trace and seize proceeds, property, instrumentalities or any other things referred to in paragraph 1 of this article for the purpose of eventual confiscation to be ordered either by the requesting Party or, pursuant to a request under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, by the requested Party." Without cooperation this effort cannot be successful.

A previous speaker touched on Article 7 of the Convention, asking why items (h) and (i) had been added after items (a) though (g). I ask: What is wrong with the addition of this? As far as I am concerned, it was necessary. There is a strong message that we must send to these drug people: We must not, and we will not tolerate them. The more sanctions and the harder we hit them, the better off we will be. There is no way we can compromise in dealing with drugs.

The final Article I would like to touch on is Article 24. It says: "APPLICATION OF STRICTER MEASURES THAN THOSE REQUIRED BY THIS CONVENTION: A Party may adopt more strict or severe measures than those provided by this Convention if, in its opinion, such measures are desirable or necessary for the prevention of suppression of illicit traffic."

Over 150 countries have endorsed this. It is time we stopped pussyfooting around when it comes to drugs in this country. They are literally destroying us. Whatever we have to put in place we must do so now, or the Cayman Islands will be lost. Thank you.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

(2.54 PM)

Dr. Frank McField: I would like to begin my contribution to this debate by complimenting the Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation for taking us back to the preamble. I think that therein we find the reasons we are really discussing this Bill today.

The technical part is perhaps best handled by those who are schooled in dealing with legal technicalities. I would like to look at the motives, the intentions behind this. If we are always dealing with the fact that Laws are by no means perfect, we will see that this Bill has quite a bit of merit.

I say that because it appears that the tradition in this country is to discuss Laws when we are dealing with white-collar crime. I think that this is a Law which also attempts to criminalise and discourage white-collar crime which we know is the essential part of drug trafficking today. Fortunately for those white-collar criminals (and unfortunately for the children that drugs destroy), they can hide behind lawyers; they can hide behind bankers; they can hide behind economic interests. So, while we are talking about protecting the sovereignty of our country by refusing to accept that there is a benevolent interest on the part of the United Kingdom in assisting us by introducing this Law, we forget that the Jamaican canoes and the containers we occasionally gossip about passing through this country with drugs, would all be unsuccessful if we did not provide the type of banking and legal system for these people to escape punishment.

It is important for us when dealing with these technicalities to remember that white-collar criminals deserve no more justice than the normal people who traffic these drugs on a lower economic scale. When we make Laws to send our people to prison for two or three years for being in possession or using ganja, what is so perfect about that? There is the question of rehabilitation and whether or not we are providing sufficient rehabilitative measures, but the Laws have been passed and the judges are carrying out the sentences today without this system being perfect.

Therefore, I think it is important for Members to realise, when approaching this Bill, that we cannot as a society afford white-collar criminals a sense of security any more so than those trafficking on a lower level. Therefore, there remains the question if the Law, as administered, can be perfect? I would prefer the Law to be imperfect than to continue to encourage people to traffic in drugs because of the economic incentives. The economic incentives will always exist as long as bad money can be integrated into good money.

We know that bad money follows good money. If we have good money in the Cayman Islands, we will have bad money seeking to be a part of this good money. Because we in the Cayman Islands keep our financial industry as clean as we can, we have to be more vigilant because we know that bad money follows good money.

When I hear some of the talk about why this Bill may not be right, it reminds me of those shoo-shoo/hush-hush kind of gossip type of attitudes where people are so superstitious that everything that comes from a particular direction has to be bad: yet, at the same time, they are holding out the other hand to get from that same party they are afraid of, certain types of benefits. We have to remember that we became a tax haven, or a financial centre because of our political and legal connections with the United Kingdom. We should not be referring to the United Kingdom as any 'foreign' power or country, because the United Kingdom is not a 'foreign' country—it is the parent country.

What we are is as a consequence of our relationship with the United Kingdom. If they have not put obstacles in our development up until now, why is it that we are assuming that somehow this Bill is an attempt to derail our success? We have to have a little more faith in ourselves. We have to have more faith in our society, and we have to have more faith in our fellow human beings. We should not always think that somebody is coming to take something away and coming to destroy what we have instead of coming to contribute. I say that because I really do believe that the majority of those who will speak against this Bill are speaking because of superstition and not because of any fact which is founded.

I think that most of us agree that there is a degree of separation of power in this country; but that power is occupied by human beings. In other words, in every position of authority in this country, we have individual human beings. Those individual human beings have weaknesses. Again, the assumption is that somehow that individual who holds that particular office, just like we hold these public offices, can overcome some of these human weaknesses and pettiness. If we can come into this Legislative Assembly and say that we are representing the best interest of the people when we speak on these Bills, then we should accept that the best interest of the people could also come from across the floor of this House in the sense that it comes from the Honourable Second Official Member who has moved this Bill.

I think that I have been criticised in this country for being a bit prejudiced against people. But I believe that it is sometimes better to use one's common sense than to use suspicion and superstition. Whatever I feel about someone is as a result of my experiences; not as a result of superstition, or what I have heard or what I think they are going to do—put me in a pot, boil and eat me! I feel that kind of attitude surrounds the back room discussions I have heard in regard to this Bill, as if the wrench is going to be thrown into the wheel.

Since the 1980s, when the first Mutual Assistance Treaty was brought in, we have had the attitude of 'it's going to destroy this country;' and, 'they want to take over;' and, 'they're jealous because of the prosperity of the Cayman Islands'—forgetting, of course, that our prosperity has something to do with our honesty and our ability to face up to our responsibility to the international community. If we do not face up to our responsibilities, and wait for others to lead, and we to follow, my suggestion is that we lead this crusade against drug trafficking because drugs are at the root of the destruction of modern society—be it in America, be it in China, be it in Cuba or Japan; be it Communist, Fascist, or Capitalist. We are all faced with the same factors threatening to destabilise our countries. This is one reason why Communist, Democratic, rich countries and poor countries, got together and made a pledge to seek to drive the evil which exists in the form of drugs and drug traffickers from the face of the earth.

I think it is very important not to say that China abuses human rights, but to look at the human disgrace that drug addiction creates; the kind of human disgrace that drug wars create. What is greater? Allowing that to continue, or allowing ourselves the opportunity to work along with countries like Cuba or China or Japan, who ever are members of this Convention.

I say all of this because I think it is important to have this Bill supported, not just by the Government, but by Members of the Backbench. I think it would give the people a bad impression if they were led to believe that the Bill went through the House simply because the Government had the numbers to carry it, and that the Backbenchers were not of the impression that the Cayman Islands must continue to show their Christian principles of trust in other people, and the ability to support others by enacting this Bill into Law.

I know that there were some clauses which bothered some people in the financial community, which the Private Sector Consultative Committee, the Law Society—and I have never known the Law Society to be satisfied with any legislation ever brought to this House. Lawyers can bicker and argue about everything. So, the fact that they might not be 100% convinced that this will serve this country well, does not have anything to do with my considerations today. I think that I have enough common sense to understand why the Mover of this Bill has brought it before this Parliament, and why this Parliament should accept the spirit of this Law and the spirit of co-operation being asked for. I understand that, therefore I am supporting this Bill without any kind of bickering or hesitation.

As mentioned by the Minister for Health, the Authority may refuse to comply with a request. The power to make a decision remains within the Islands. But are we saying that we do not trust the person to make the decision? Well, if that is the case, then you should deal with the person who will be making the decision and put another person in his place; but passage of the Bill should not be prevented simply because of superstition.

It says that the person should think of the essential interest of the Islands. Again, it suggests that the Honourable Attorney General, because he is not a born Caymanian, does not think as much about the interests of the Cayman Islands as, say, Members of this Legislative Assembly. Well, why is he the Attorney General? Why do we continue to hire persons of his background if those persons cannot look after the interests of the people of the Cayman Islands the same as someone like myself? I believe that that has to do with superstition. I believe that we have had Attorney Generals, for instance, Mr. Barwick, who looked after the interests of the Cayman Islands much better than I would have been able to because of his abilities and skill, and because he had it in his heart. That is why that man continues to live here in the Cayman Islands today, and that is one reason why his wife continues to beautify the Cayman Islands with her painting and plants.

If the superstitious reasons for objecting to this particular Bill has anything to do with people's ethnic background, then I say that we should push that out of our minds and hearts, and we should accept that the Mover of this Bill has given us sufficient time to complain in the back rooms, and that we need to bite the bullet, stand up and take a position and not wait for others to take a position when it comes to fighting crime and seeing that the criminals do not enjoy the profit of their crime.

Thank you.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 3.15 PM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 4.14 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated. Debate continues.

The Honourable Minister for Community Development Sports, Women's Affairs, Youth and Culture.

(4.14 PM)

Hon. W. McKeever Bush: I rise, and I will be very brief. Over the years, successive Governments have built up our financial industry of which we can all be proud. It is the lifeblood of our country, the mainstay of our economy. We will always be concerned about what we can do to strengthen, or rectify Laws that we must work with.

Only the lawyers can give us guidance on the present piece of legislation. We have to depend upon them to guide us. I have had different concerns, some of which have been answered. There is still one on my mind—the fines. That has been explained. I know that the Honourable Attorney General will explain it again.

The Authority has been explained, and I am sure that he will reiterate what has already been explained. Nevertheless there are persons with questions on their minds, and we must bear in mind that there must always exist (or appear to exist) a separation between the executive and the judiciary. In this instance, as I was told by one legal mind, a very fine line exists.

There are no two ways about it; in recent years we have put through a fair amount (for any Government) of regulatory Laws. No one can say that we are playing cat-and-mouse games with any jurisdiction outside. Our Laws have been amended and we have put in new Laws. Whether this will continue to satisfy either the United Kingdom or the United States remains to be seen. We will have to wait and see where they both head.

But, from different articles I have read, I know that there will continue to be concern. For instance, in The Offshore Financial Review for June, one US official is quoted as saying (in regard to tax shelters), "I see the governments of the world losing the ability to tax business, and I am not persuaded that as a general matter of social policy letting people with the sophistication to hide their assets offshore avoid taxes and have their neighbors pay the cost of running society is a good thing."

No doubt, the United States will continue to be unrelenting in their efforts to hamper tax havens. We hope that at all times the people who are supposed to protect us will have our best interests at heart. But, thank God, we are seen as a well-regulated financial centre. We have gone through quite a bit of legislation. We are well regulated, and want to stay that way. But now we need to move forward to give our law-makers and policy advisors a chance to move on and be on the cutting edge of legislation that will further enhance our financial industry.

We have been working at many Laws, to the extent that our local Laws which should be strengthened are falling behind. There are several pieces of legislation that should come before us because it will strengthen the financial industry and bring money in to this jurisdiction.

That is what we want! We can talk all day long and find as many excuses as we want, but the bread and butter of this country is the financial industry. The day that anything is done to scare off what is lawful in this country, Caymanians and those who call Cayman 'home' will be the ones to suffer, although some of them could move.

We, the law-makers, will be held responsible. The people will look to us. We have the Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty, the Narcotics Treaty and several other pieces of legislation which are strong. We just passed the Proceeds of Criminal Conduct Law, which is a good piece of legislation. That took a lot of hard work and effort, including a trip to London. So, both jurisdictions (that is, the United Kingdom and the United States) must now realise that we have done our part, and that this territory will continue to be a well-regulated tax haven. We will continue to be a financial industry that offers a good business. To put any other kind of pressure on us now would not help us. We need time to be, as I said, on the cutting edge to strengthen and bring forth business, to give policy advisors time to think and time to sit down to put pen to paper.

This is a good time to pay tribute to our Financial Secretary and those people who advise him in his Ministry; the Deputy Financial Secretary and those from the private sector who do so much for the country along these lines. I thank them for the hard work they put in, because it is not often done publicly.

While we will go ahead with this piece of legislation, those questions will be cleared up. But it is now time for one and all to realise that we must move forward in bringing amendments, or new legislation (such as the Star Legislation) which can be good for the country.

Thank you.

Presentation of Papers and Reports. The Health Insurance Regulations, 1997. The Honourable Minister for Health, Drug Abuse Prevention and Rehabilitation

PRESENTATION OF PAPERS AND REPORTS

DRAFT HEALTH INSURANCE REGULATIONS, 1997

Hon. Anthony Eden: I beg to lay on the Table of this Honourable House the Draft Health Insurance Regulations, 1997.

The Speaker: So ordered. Please continue.

Hon. Anthony Eden: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I must give thanks to everyone for expressing some of their concerns, yet supporting the Health Insurance Bill, 1997. I particularly appreciate the constructive comments that were put forward by Members of the Legislative Assembly during the debate on the second reading of the Bill and the atmosphere of goodwill which prevailed throughout. This has certainly been a most rewarding and encouraging aspect for me as I piloted what could have been a very controversial piece of legislation up to Committee stage.

I would have preferred for the Health Insurance Regulations 1997 to have been debated immediately following the passage of the Bill into Law, but procedurally this is not possible. However, tabling them at this time allows further opportunity for input prior to the debate at the next meeting of the Legislative Assembly later this year. This, in fact, gives me another opportunity to reflect further on the comments and recommendations made during the debate on the Bill, and I shall certainly take advantage of the opportunity that has been afforded me. Indeed, I am hopeful that at that time the work on the "high-risk pool" concept will have been finalised and that the provisions in the draft Health Insurance Regulations for the "high-risk insurance persons" can be further enhanced.

As you can well imagine, passage of the Law does not signal the end of the task for me. As I said previously, fine-tuning the engine must now take place.

I will now comment specifically on the proposals in the Draft Regulations that relate to the "high-risk insurance persons."

Clause 4 of the Bill makes provision for the "high-risk insurance person" to be insured as prescribed by regulations made by the Governor-in-Council. This provision is therefore set out in the Draft Regulations, sections 4 and 5. Section 4 acknowledges that the approved provider of health insurance coverage may, in some instances:- (1) decline to provide cover to the high-risk insurance person; or (2) provide cover, but at an increased premium, which shall be no greater than 200% of the standard premium; or (3) provide cover but with an exclusion or limitation of cover in respect of the medical condition which causes the applicant to be a 'high-risk insurance person.'

Section 5 of the Draft Regulations seeks to provide health care for the 'indigent uninsurable and the 'partially uninsurable,' and Government shall, every month, collect from each approved provider of health insurance, an amount ranging from $5 per individual person to $10 for an individual with one or more dependants each month for every standard health insurance contract issued by that approved provider.

Section 5 (4) provides for funds so collected to be paid into a segregated fund administered by an administrator to be appointed by the Cayman Islands Monetary Authority acting upon the advice of the Financial Secretary. Clause 3 (5) (b) of the Bill provides that the 'partially uninsurable person' who is not an indigent shall repay the cost of such health services to the Government.

I will now share with you some other highlights of the draft Health Insurance Regulations, such as: Who will be required to be insured? The Law will require the following persons to be insured: an employer, his unemployed spouse and children, employees and their unemployed spouses and children (for example, a self-employed person, his unemployed spouse and children.)

Who will be exempt? Some persons will, because of a medical condition or a history of illness, not be able to be provided with cover under a standard health insurance contract. These persons are deemed to be 'uninsurable' and, as stated previously, Government will make provision for those who cannot pay their health care costs. Those 'uninsurables' who can pay will be required to pay for their health care.

The maximum benefits to be provided under regulation 10 will be: For each episode of illness, $25,000 in medical fees; for each calendar year, $100,000 in medical fees; and for the life of the insured, $1,000,000 in medical fees.

Payment of claims under regulation 9 will be: For Out-patient benefits, the following:-

- Routine physicals, tests, x-rays: a limit of $100 each calendar year.
- Haemodialysis: no limit.
- Emergency medical service: a maximum of $4,000 each calendar year.
- Ante-natal services (in the Cayman Islands): a maximum of $500 per pregnancy.

For In-patient benefits, the following: The insured person will be required to pay 20% of fees for in-patient benefits and the approved insurer 80%, subject to the maximum benefits set out in section 9 of the Regulations. In any calendar year the approved insurer shall pay all medical fees charged after the first $2,500, subject to the annual limit of $100,000 as specified in section 10 of the Regulations. This means that the insured person's expenditure will be capped at $500 in one calendar year, provided that person does not exceed the $100,000 maximum.

I would like to stress that the benefits as previously proposed have not been cut or altered in any way in these draft Regulations in order to reduce the premiums that were previously put forward. In addition—and contrary to what has been erroneously stated in recent political meetings—there is provision for in-patient benefits at health care facilities overseas. The draft Regulations, section 3, Sub-section (5) states, and I quote “Subject to Regulation 9, where a compulsorily insured person is required to receive treatment at an overseas health care facility and the Chief Medical Officer or two registered medical practitioners have provided written confirmation that such treatment cannot be provided at a health care facility in the Islands and that such person requires the treatment as alleged, the compulsorily insured person shall be entitled to claim and receive such usual and reasonable costs for any in-patient benefits received.”

I will now comment on the likely range of premiums that we can expect to see. I have tried to give examples of these in the table of figures which I have provided for you. As you will note, I requested quotations on premiums for the following categories:

- a single employee;
- an employee with one dependant;
- a employee with more than one dependant.

For a single employee the lowest quote was $34.64 which would be split into halves: half ($17.32) paid by employer, and half by the employee. The highest quote was $65 with half ($32.50) paid by the employer, half by the employee.

For an employee with one dependant, the lowest quote was $67.60. The employer would pay half the employee's premium which would be, $17.32 and the employee would pay $50.28 which is for the other half of his premium plus the full premium for his dependant. The highest quote was $130, with $32.50 paid by the employer and $97.50 paid by the employee.

For an employee with more than one dependant, the lowest quote was $94.38. Once again, the employer would pay half the employee's premium, which would be $17.32, and the employee would pay the other half of his premium plus the whole premium for his dependants, and this would be $77.06. The highest quote for such an employee was $190, with $32.50 paid by the employer and $157.50 paid by the employee. It is also understood that discounts will be given for groups that will vary according to the size of such groups.

These figures represent a cross-section of those which have been submitted to me by some of the local providers of health insurance, however I would like to sound a note of caution here against assuming that these figures are cast in stone. Premium rates are subject to such forces as competition in the market place and whether a person is insured under a group policy. As I pointed out, last year we talked about the $60 premium and it was intimated to me that if we set that figure at $60 the insurance companies would make no effort to lower that premium. It would stay at that rate for as long as we said so. But, if we allow the market forces to work, we can see these figures being driven down. Both of these factors work in favour of the insured and his dependants by easing the premium downwards.

As can be seen by what I have termed the 'likely range of premiums,' it pays for anyone seeking insurance coverage to shop around. I would like to encourage people to take out health insurance which is in excess of this basic package. The money spent will be very well worth it in terms of the even greater sense of security that increased benefits would bring.

I would like to conclude by once again thanking the members of the Health Insurance Advisory Committee who have devoted many long hours to the task of bringing the Law and draft Health Insurance Regulations to fruition. The Members of this Committee are:-

The Speaker: Item 3, Questions to Honourable Members/Ministers. Question No. 105, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTIONS TO HONOURABLE MEMBERS/MINISTERS

QUESTION NO. 105

No. 105: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable First Official Member what procedure is in place for handling complaints against the Police Officer in Little Cayman.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The procedure in place for handling complaints against the Police Officer in Little Cayman is exactly the same procedure as exists for dealing with complaints against other Police Officers. Reports/complaints are investigated by the Complaints and Discipline Branch of the Royal Cayman Islands Police under the direction of the Deputy Commissioner of Police.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Member can say whether or not there have been any complaints to date?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: There was one complaint against this officer. It was investigated and found to be unsubstantiated.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 106, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 106

No. 106: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable First Official Member to provide a list of criminal offences committed by the public in Little Cayman six months prior to the Resident Police Officer's recruitment and six months after his recruitment.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The list of criminal offences committed in Little Cayman six months prior to the Police Officer's recruitment and six months after his recruitment is as follows: From 1st January 1995 to 30th November 1995, two offences were reported on Little Cayman. From 1st December 1995 to 1st June 1996, nine offences were reported.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Member say how many of these resulted in prosecution, if any?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: The offences were all investigated, but I do not have the information as to whether the alleged offenders were actually prosecuted. I can undertake to give that in writing, if the Member so wishes.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 107, standing in the name of the First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

QUESTION NO. 107

No. 107: Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly asked the Honourable First Official Member to say whether there are any Caymanian Police Officers working in Little Cayman.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: There are no full-time Caymanian Police Officers working in Little Cayman. Caymanian Police Officers from Cayman Brac may work in Little Cayman occasionally to assist or relieve the Resident Constable.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Can the Honourable Member say whether or not any Caymanian police officers relieved the resident English police officer during his recent vacation period in Little Cayman?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: It is my understanding that another police officer did relieve the resident officer during his recent vacation.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman.

Mrs. Julianna O'Connor-Connolly: Was the officer Caymanian, or an English officer? I was not clear on that point.

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: It is my understanding that the officer relieving was a Caymanian.

The Speaker: The Fourth Elected Member for George Town.

Dr. Frank McField: I am just seeking a point of clarification as well, because I was not sure if she was talking about Caymanian by nationality, or Caymanian by force or by service, since it is the Royal Cayman Islands Police Service, I would think that the officer was Caymanian in that sense.

The Speaker: You do not have a question then?

Dr. Frank McField: I was seeking a point of clarification because I was concerned as to why the Member was asking whether the person was being relieved by 'Caymanian' police officers. If that is a point of concern then I am wondering why the officer in Little Cayman is not Caymanian by nationality.

The Speaker: I am still not quite clear. Are you addressing a question to the Honourable First Official Member?

Dr. Frank McField: It was an observation. I did not understand, because we are using the word 'Caymanian'.

The Speaker: I understand that part, but this is Question Time.

The Member for North Side.

Mrs. Edna M. Moyle: I wonder if the Honourable First Official Member could say, since Government is committed to Caymanising the Civil Service, if there is a Caymanian being considered to understudy this officer in Little Cayman with a view to replacing him at the end of his contract?

The Speaker: The Honourable First Official Member.

Hon. James M. Ryan: Yes, there is every intention of finding a Caymanian police officer for Little Cayman, but I do not think there is any need to have a Caymanian understudy this particular officer.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 109, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTION NO. 109

No. 109: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning what facilities are in place to allow students who were scheduled for external examinations to maintain their studies whilst at the Alternative Education Centre.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The Counsellor, who is attached to the Alternative Education Centre, also functions as the school's liaison officer with feeder schools. When students, in their final year of studies, are placed in the Suspension Unit of the Alternative Education Centre for a period exceeding seven days, the following procedure is adopted to ensure their ongoing course work and examination work.

(1) The school counsellor will liaise with the Head of Year 12 at the John Gray High School in order to determine which, if any, external examinations the student is scheduled to sit. These may include CXC, IGCSE, C of E, City of Guilds, RSA and Pitmans. It is the duty of the liaison officer to contact every teacher who is responsible for the teaching and overseeing of the student's examination work are completed.

(2) It is the responsibility of the individual teachers of the High School to expeditiously make available the student's course work and examination requirements to the counsellor.

(3) The school counsellor provides the teacher in charge of the suspension unit with the student's course work. The teacher in charge of the suspension unit provides this material for the student and oversees its completion in accordance with the individual examination boards' requirements. All course work completed by the student is sent by the school counsellor to the High School teachers for marking and correction as appropriate.

(4) In the case of all examinations, the Principal of the John Gray High School permits the suspended student to attend the John Gray High School to sit his/her external examinations, with the provision that the student complies with the rules and regulations laid down by both the High School and the individual examination board.

Students assigned to the tutorial unit are not normally of examination age and to date near all have been reintegrated into the high school by the time of examinations. On the rare occasion that a Year 12 student may be assigned to the tutorial unit, the procedures outlined above are put into practice.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say, in the case of these students, if any file containing information as to the type of exams they are taking and the requirements of this exam accompanies them at the time they are referred to the alternative education centre, so that those in charge can be absolutely certain of what steps need to be taken?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The answer is yes.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say if there is any student currently at the alternative education centre who falls within this category of taking an external exam?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: There was one, but he is on study leave.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, the next question is No. 110, standing in the name of the Third Elected Member for Bodden Town

QUESTION NO. 110

No. 110: Mr. Roy Bodden asked the Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning what strategies are being effected to deal with the problems of group activities, delinquency and alienation at the George Hicks and John Gray High Schools.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: While the vast majority of students continue to attend school at John Gray and George Hicks High Schools without experiencing any problems, both schools have initiated a number of strategies to address not only areas of actual problems, but also those areas of potential problems.

George Hicks High School works closely with the Juvenile Bureau of the Royal Cayman Islands Police, Social Services, parents and school counsellors. General Home School Association meetings have addressed the concerns mentioned. Interest centred workshops have been offered to parents by the pastoral team which is comprised of senior staff, Heads of Year, tutors, counsellors and the nurse. This team has also been responsible for home-school contact not only when there is a problem, but also when there is a positive report to be made. Sanctions used at the school include community service, detentions, withdrawal from classes, suspensions and occasionally the strap.

Parents' conferences are always encouraged when there is cause for concern or to 'nip' a problem in the bud. Students are rewarded through a merit system which includes verbal praise, house points certificates and badges. Motivational speakers are used at assemblies, talented students are showcased and religious assemblies are held.

Services outside the school have also been utilised to deal with individuals and groups, e.g. Cayman Counselling Centre and Mental Health. Other strategies employed have included group and individual counselling, redirection of energies into sport and extra curricular activities.

John Gray High School uses similar strategies such as group counselling through the Royal Cayman Islands' Police Juvenile Bureau. Parent Teachers' Association meetings are also held to discuss concerns with parents, Social Workers have recently completed workshops at this school on "consequences of offending."

The pastoral system comprising a team of senior staff, heads of years, tutors and counsellors is used effectively in dealing with cases of misconduct. Detentions and suspensions are used as sanctions. Positive reinforcement is also given in tangible ways through the merit system, good reports and similar methods.

While cases of alienation are relatively small, individual and peer as well as contact with the home and social workers are employed whenever such cases present themselves.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: The Honourable Minister stated in his answer that community service is utilised. Can the Honourable Minister elaborate what forms this community service takes?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: This is almost always carried out at the school. For example, it may be painting the wall of a building, or it could be clearing trash, areas such as that within the school itself.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister say if any thought or attention has been given to expanding this notion of community service, particularly among the older juveniles, to where they may be required to visit with the elderly and do simple chores or reading for them on the weekends? These kinds of things would inculcate a sense of community and respect, and would also give those youngsters a sense of self-worth.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: While I think there is merit to what the Member has said, most of the time the service is done within the school because supervision is quite ably carried out. I will, however, pass the Member's suggestion to the principals of the schools to see whether we can expand the service along those lines, and then see how it develops.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister also state if there currently exists any organisation at the schools such as the Boy Scouts, or Girl Guides, which allows the students to form into groups where their activities and interests can be constructively channelled, and where they can participate in meaningful after school activities?

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: The Scout association operates at the primary level. At the secondary level there are things like Key Club, which is a very active, well organised club. The Member mentioned Girl Guides. That also operates at the primary level.

The Speaker: The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

Mr. Roy Bodden: Can the Honourable Minister give an undertaking to investigate whether it would be feasible to set up some kind of cadet corps where girls and boys might be able to meet to channel their energies and interests after school? I know that these organisations have been very effective in some jurisdictions. The idea of a uniform and a rigid programme seems to be attractive and have a therapeutic effect on some of these kinds of problems. I am asking if the Honourable Minister would give an undertaking to investigate into the possibility of having this included in some after school activities, probably with the cooperation of the Royal Cayman Islands Police Service, or the Fire or Prison Service.

The Speaker: The Honourable Minister for Education, Aviation and Planning.

Hon. Truman M. Bodden: I will undertake to look into this because I know that in other jurisdictions a cadet corps has operated effectively in a more or less select area. I should point out that there are perhaps too many extra curricular activities at the schools, if I may use that form of language to stress what is there. There is Piano Club, the Saxophone Club, there is a sports club, band, dance, music. I know what it is like with my 11-year-old: There is such a range of things for the children that sometimes it is a dilemma to fit so much into the time they have.

But I think the Member has raised a good point, and I will have it assessed to see whether a cadet corps could be added to the activities of the High School.

The Speaker: If there are no further supplementaries, that concludes Question Time for this morning. Moving on to Government Business, Bills. Continuation of the Second reading of The Misuse of Drugs (International Co-operation) Bill, 1997.

The Third Elected Member for Bodden Town.

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS

BILLS

SECOND READINGS

THE MISUSE OF DRUGS (INTERNATIONAL CO-OPERATION) BILL, 1997

(Continuation of debate thereon)

(11.05 AM)

Mr. Roy Bodden: This is one of those Bills where I would have exercised my option to remain silent, especially more so after reading the editorial in today's Caymanian Compass. However, I find it necessary to briefly express some areas of concern that I have with this Bill.

I am cautioning my listeners, as I am cautioning myself, that my area of expertise does not extend into the legal aspects of this Bill which I think have been very ably debated by other speakers. I shall merely confine myself to some areas of general principles and concern which I think have to be expressed by those of us who speak for the conduct of the Cayman Islands with regard to these kinds of requests and demands.

The first point I wish to make is that the Cayman Islands, since my brief time in this Legislative Assembly, has always been forthright and forward in the attempt to remain a responsible and meticulous jurisdiction in regard to avoiding certain pitfalls and encouraging certain types of activities. Therefore, I am mystified by the increasing number of requests and demands being placed upon us. I have to say that as a legislator I am concerned that what we are doing is stripping away our veil of attractiveness. I see not so much a move to curtail the negative aspects of drugs and the proceeds of drugs as much as an attempt to destroy the financial basis of jurisdictions that have set themselves up like the Cayman Islands—Guernsey, the Channel Islands, the Isle of Man and all these other jurisdictions.

I am especially impressed that this is so when I read journals like the Economist, which in the issue of 31st May - 6th June featured an article entitled "The disappearing Taxpayer." The article goes on to say that the developed countries, particularly the European Union and some outside of the European Union (what is called the G-7) decided to take a concerted effort to rope in the many billions (if not trillions) of dollars which they claim are evading them by being placed in financial centres such as ours. The article goes on to draw reference from two other articles written by experts in the field which suggest that with the introduction of electronic media these countries have an increasing challenge and commitment.

There is no need for a rush to judgment. There is no need for any cloud of suspicion to be hanging over our efforts in the Cayman Islands. On our own initiative we have taken what we considered necessary and prudent steps. When I look at the list of countries whose requests we will now have to submit to I have to call upon my sense of humour, because some of these countries are international pariahs themselves. Can you imagine the Cayman Islands having to entertain a request from places like Iran and Iraq, or Libya? It almost borders from the sublime to the ridiculous.

This country has never had the kind of infamy that some of those countries have had; and for us to be placed at the whim and fancy of their requests.... As a responsible legislator, I have to express my concern. It reminds me that these things are not necessarily motivated by the need for justice, but by power and influence. Our situation here is not unlike the situation millions faced in what has become known as the Melian Dialogue, when the Melians sat down with the Athenians to tell them they were not going to offer them any resistance in their struggles with the Spartans because they considered that they had been doing the right thing. They told them to settle their scores without their assistance. While it is true that we have no might and no power, we have a conscience and the will. I am willing to place on record my strenuous objection to our having to subject ourselves to this kind of business.

I could also say that I am concerned about this whole business of a Central Authority not being as it is in other legislation of this nature—resting with the courts. I understand and appreciate that from the Central Authority in this case it will have to go to the court for the final say. I am not casting any aspersions on the present holder of that post, but if the Central Authority emanates from the Attorney General's office, I have to concede that it is a quasi-political position. Because of that, some pressures can be brought to bear. We would have to acknowledge that. While it may not be so, there could be attempts to influence. I wonder if this piece of legislation could not be amended to comply with other legislation where the Honourable Chief Justice has the power (as under the Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty) to delegate a person to be a representative of the court to make these decisions.

I do not know what the future will hold for us, but I see an increasing encroachment upon what we have set up as our veil to legitimacy in attracting responsible finance in this country. I sound the warning that, as much as we are dedicated to avoiding the scourge of drugs, our ability to earn and offer the people of this country a reasonable economic standard is striped away, that is the time we will have problems with drugs.

In the final analysis, I would suggest to the Government that, if it has not already been done, we seriously consider developing a Web site where we can make all of the steps the Cayman Islands have taken available on the internet, in case anyone is in doubt of our efforts. We can propagandise and make available our position of responsibility and meticulousness.

There are other people who are concerned about these kinds of encroachments. I crave the Chair's indulgence to read from the Hansards of the House of Lords, a debate which took place on 11th June regarding the dependent territories. Baroness Hooper rose to call attention to certain of the challenges and problems faced by the developing countries. I would like to quote from Baroness Hooper's contribution.

"I should now like to make some further brief points on matters about which much more could be said. Sometimes common solutions are proposed for the dependent territories, but they may not necessarily be appropriate to all. The level of regulation of financial services that is appropriate for the Cayman Islands—the fifth largest banking centre in the world after London, New York, Tokyo and Hong Kong—may not be appropriate for the Turks and Caicos Islands which have a much smaller and less significant financial services base. Similar points could be made—and I am sure that they will be—in relation to Bermuda which leads in the insurance field. We should look imaginatively at special issues and special needs and try to find very specific solutions to them."

What has been offered here is certainly not a special solution—it is as general as they come. I end with a note that if we continue to give ground, it will soon be like the gentleman who was well dressed, standing on the corner of a business street in Montreal in the wintertime: He saw a hobo passing by shivering from the cold. First, he gave the hobo his overcoat, but the hobo complained that he was still cold; so he gave him his shirt and trousers. The hobo proclaimed that he was still cold. Finally he gave him his underwear, but the hobo still complained he was cold—leaving the gentleman standing naked.

Thank you.

The Speaker: The First Elected Member for George Town.

(11.18 AM)

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: This Bill before us today is called The Misuse of Drugs (International Co-operation) Bill, 1997. I listened very carefully to the Mover, and also to the other Members who spoke on the Bill.

When it was first brought here, I raised an objection because we had to suspend Standing Orders. Let me say that I have some major concerns with the effects that this Bill, as it has been presented, is going to have on our overall picture, once allowed clear passage.

It has been said that the welfare of the people is the paramount law. While I am not a lawyer, that is language that I do understand. I stand here today taking that statement on board, even at the risk of being chastised by others. The other thing I need to say is that I am going to be making points that will not coincide with the thoughts of the Mover and possibly others. Having said that, let me say that my thoughts will not be based on any superstition. I heard it said in here that those who are speaking against this Bill are speaking out of superstition. I am not a superstitious person. Let me make that clear.

I will attempt to use a few examples proving, first of all, that we in the Cayman Islands have gone way beyond the call of duty when it comes to dealing with money laundering, etcetera, ensuring that there is as little of it as possible passing through this country. I hold firm to the belief that no other country operating as a (loosely termed) 'tax haven' has gone beyond us when it comes to doing what is right in that regard.

If we call ourselves a state, then "Nothing doth more hurt in a state than that cunning men pass for wise." We need to remember that. There is also another statement that was made by Lord Byron. It is simple, but effective. He said, "A thousand years scarce served to form a state; an hour may lay it in the dust." I trust this is not that hour.

With your permission, Mr. Speaker, I would like to quote from some recent periodicals. The first one is: "The Cayman Islands transformation over the past 40 years from an economy that was based largely on fishing and turtle farming, into one of the world's leading off shore financial centres and holiday resorts has been encouraged by a consistent economic policy. There are no direct taxes or exchange controls. Frequently upgraded legislation has taken the territory far beyond its earlier attractions as a tax haven. Political stability and a close link to the United Kingdom through the Cayman Islands' Crown Colony status have all been of significant benefit." So say, officials and business leaders. However, the economy, which is narrow and open, is vulnerable to forces outside the territories control. External political forces can be equally worrying. Our financial services sector is vulnerable to the politics and policies of other Governments."

I think this Bill proves that last statement to be correct.

I am going to use an example to show that we have always been on the right track. There is an article with the caption "Concerted efforts to purge the banking system of dirty money are paying off." The section I will read is as follows:

"When Mr. David Harrod arrived in the Cayman Islands with a work visa and a letter from the Deputy Financial Secretary confirming his employment as Chief Executive of the Islands' new Stock Exchange, he thought opening a new bank account would be a simple matter. He soon discovered that it was not. The bank required references before it would even consider his request. The caution reflects steps to eliminate criminal financial activities in the Cayman Islands."

"A legal Assistance Treaty with the United States signed in 1986 and ratified in 1990 provides for the exchange of information between law enforcement agencies. Legislation in 1992 made the laundering of drug money a criminal offence and obliged banks to report suspicious transactions. Last year, the Cayman Islands followed that by extending its money laundering legislation to cover all serious crimes.

"We are proud of the fact that the new Proceeds of Criminal Conduct Law is a flag-flying operation. It states exactly what kind of business we are prepared to look at and what we are not. Our confidentiality legislation does not shield criminality. It defines the basis on which information should be shared. Anyone using it as a shield is deluded."

That quote was from the gentleman walking into the Chamber.

I have a couple more. Before I read them, let me say that the reason I am doing this is because I believe that there are a lot of people who live among us who really do not understand the pains we have gone through to do this thing right; much less those who are far removed but who seem to want to decide which side of the bed we get up on in the morning.

"The distinctions between an off shore and an on shore centre have started to blur. We are preparing ourselves more to places like New York and London, than in other off shore centres." That is a quote from a well known banker here.

The last that I wish to quote is from an article entitled, "Paradise under Pressure." I do not know if that rings true to you, but that is what I see happening to us today—we are a paradise under pressure. "Like most other off shore centres, it has come under strong pressure from on shore countries, especially the US, to jettison its banking secrecy laws and open its books to outside authorities. But, unlike many other tax havens it has been making efforts to meet its detractors half way." The 'it' here, is us. "The enforcement of a Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty with the US in 1990 and the enactment of the UK's Proceeds of Criminal Conduct Law in 1996 have won grudging praise from the authorities in Washington." I can see them now!

Of course, the US officials say that the provision which does not extend to tax crime could go further. Of course they would say that! That is why they are the US and we are the Cayman Islands. It is as simple as that. Now, if they want us to be them, and they be us, then let us go there and let them come here; but they certainly cannot expect us to be like them and retain our identity. That is really asking a bit too much.

It is my understanding that what really attracts people to the Cayman Islands is not so much that we do anything so different here; it is that we have developed systems which do not off-load a bunch of bureaucracy and yet still achieve the same goals.

But let us look at it in a different light. If what we offer is not innovative enough to seem better than what those people have in their own back yards, why would they come to us? What do these people expect out of us?

Let me close off with what I am reading: "As the 5th largest banking centre in the world and a leader in off shore debt issuance and securitisation, the Colony's future hinges on its ability to compete with onshore rivals and stay ahead of its off shore counterparts in the Caribbean." Exactly right! I contend that this Bill as worded does not give us a chance to do that. By whose design is another matter, and I am not so sure that I am prepared to delve into that—but, you never know.

"The new Monetary Authority (which will be headed by Mr. Neville Grant, an advisor to the International Monetary Fund) will put the Cayman Islands on an even footing with unitary supervision bodies in other centres. By de-linking it from the Civil Service it will also enable the Colony to pay its regulators higher salaries. The acting Head of the Body said, 'We plan to increase our supervisor staff by 50%. We are strongly aware of the need to have the best regulation we can get and to be able to carry out better cross-border supervision.'" I want to know what more do they want?

Before I get into the various sections of the Bill. . .

The Speaker: Would this be a good time to take the morning break?

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Proceedings are suspended for 15 minutes.

PROCEEDINGS SUSPENDED AT 11.35 AM

PROCEEDINGS RESUMED AT 12.37 PM

The Speaker: Please be seated. Debate continues. The First Elected Member for George Town.

Mr. D. Kurt Tibbetts: When we took the break I was about to move on to another area which I think will assist in my argument. If we revisit the year 1995, we will recall that the Caribbean Financial Action Task Force did an assessment of the Cayman Islands. There are certain areas in their report which are valid to my line of argument today. In their report, they stated: "The Government of the Cayman Islands had taken decisive and sustained steps to curtail the money laundering problem. A series of measures, including laws, have already been passed and implemented." This was in 1995, and they went on to say that further measures were being planned.

They stated: "There is a clear perception that the implementation of effective measures to prevent and control the laundering of illicit proceeds will enhance the reputation of the Cayman Islands as a financial centre."

They went on to say: "The banking community is very close knit with a high level of awareness and understanding of the problem of money laundering and the importance of keeping the banking system as free as possible of drug money." Bear in mind that we are not judging ourselves; these are people who have come to judge us, and this is what they are saying.
